Commerical Telegraph Preceded Phone Here

SUNDAY VISITORS

It all happened three Sundays ago. The bitter, record-breaking cold spell had been broken and the day dawned clear and bright. The moderation in Temperture, the lovely blue sky and the always welcome sunshine promised a good day.

Over a leisurely breakfast, the hope was expressed that this would turn out to be a good bird day.

The feeders had been piled high with tasty tidbits and we were enjoying the antics of the nuthatches and tufted titmice when something flew into a nearby maple tree.

At first glance we thought it was a dark female cardinal — the size and the top-knot were about right. A close look, however, belied our first impression. We were looking at a Cedar Waxwing.

☆

BUT I'M GETTING ahead of myself because it was some time before we identified the bird by name. This was not because identification was hard, it was just simply that there was so much going on we hated to leave the window.

Hardly had we a chance for a good look at the first bird before the trees were alive with lovely waxwings. Such activity.

They flitted from tree to tree and branch to branch — and who could leave such activity to check the bird books.

It is surprising how a bird, who at first glance seemed so dull and colorless, could, upon closer inspection, prove to be so colorful.

Although superficially resembling a female cardinal in size and shape, the likeness is really not so great. The waxwing is a smooth all-over brown with definite and brilliantly colored trimming.

The end of its tail, which, by the way, is fairly long but blunt, is tipped with bright yellow. A black stripe, sometimes hard to see when the bird is moving about, is right above and accentuates this yellow. Each wing is patched with a single red spot and a faint suggestion of a white stripe.

☆

THE BREAST is a soft brown which shades to yellow near the flanks. The under tail coverts are white. The crest is quite pronounced.

Other identifying head characteristics are a dark bill and black markings around the eyes. One is impressed with the "stepped-out-of-a-band-box" neatness and soft appearance of the feathers.

On this particular Sunday, if you will remember, there was still much snow on the ground. Our February thaw had just started and there were numerous puddles in the snow.

Bathtubs.

Our waxwings were a day late with their Saturday baths, but their thoroughness quite made up for the lateness.

☆

AFTER MUCH splashing and fluttering in the puddles, they would fly into the nearby trees to shake and dry out in the bright warm sunshine.

Such preening and fluffling out of feathers. It took almost an hour and a half for the entire flock to bathe and then, in a loosely held group, they left.

Although it was impossible to make an accurate count of the flock, we know there must have been 40 to 45 birds.

At one time we counted 25 not 20 feet from my window and, of course, there were some flying and changing perches that we didn't count.

Our big regret is that there was no dried fruit on the feeder for them. My camera was aimed on the big feeder, but since the waxwings weren't interested in suet, sunflower seeds or scratch feed, we have no pictures.

The bird books say they are fond of fruit, both dried and fresh, but whether they would have been enticed to a feeder full of apples and raisins we, of course, don't know.

Although we've been on the lookout for a return visit by these lovely brown birds with their red and yellow markings they have not as yet reappeared.

We're not giving up hope, however, and who knows, maybe someday our Sunday Visitors will come back again!

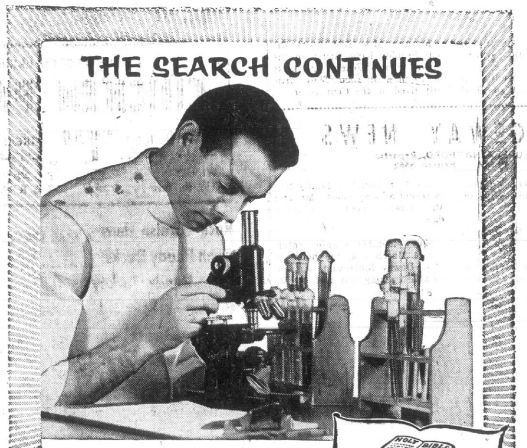
FOR ALL WE HOLD SACRED . . . ATTEND CHURCH!



Throughout the history of mankind runs the account of a double quest:

Man searching for God . . . our restless eagerness to understand and please our Creator has paralleled the centuries of progress.

God seeking Man . . . ceaselessly, patiently, His Love has lighted the ages, ever reaching toward our hearts, encompassing our souls.

Yet no powerful lens ever devised will aid in this search. Our quest finds its consummation not beneath the lens of a microscope—but beneath the spire of a Church!

What man does not recognize his own inability to cope with the complexities of life?

There awaits you next Sunday in the Church of your choice the peace and assurance that generations have sought . . . the FAITH which unites Man and God

HOLY BIBLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest force on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

INTERNATIONAL COMMUNISM

(The Communist Mind)

WEDNESDAY, MAY 29, 1957

United States House of Representatives,
Committee on Un-American Activities,

WASHINGTON, D.C.

STAFF CONSULTATION

The following consultation by the staff of the Committee on Un-American Activities was held at 2:55 p.m., Wednesday, May 29, 1957, in room 226, Old House Office Building, Washington, D.C.

Staff members present: Richard Arens, director; William F. Heimlich, consultant; and Richard S. Weil, staff member.

Mr. Arens. Dr. Schwarz, will you raise your right hand and be sworn by Mrs. Eduora Bernard, the notary public.

Mrs. Bernard. Do you solemnly swear that the testimony you are about to give in this hearing will be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God?

Dr. Schwarz. I do.

TESTIMONY OF DR. FREDERICK CHARLES SCHWARZ, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, CHRISTIAN ANTI-COMMUNIST CRUSADE

Mr. Arens. Kindly identify yourself by name, residence and occupation.

Dr. Schwarz. Mr. name is Frederick Charles Schwarz, S-C-H-W-A-R-Z. My official home address is 142 Concord Road, Concord, Sydney, New South Wales, Australia. My American address is Christian Anti-Communist Crusade, Box 890, Long Beach, Calif., and I am the executive director of the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade.

Mr. Arens. Dr. Schwarz, on behalf of the staff of the Committee on Un-American Activities, I am happy to welcome you here for this staff consultation, which is pursuant to the overall policy of this committee in which we try to contact and make a record of statements of people who have had extensive experience and can shed some light on many of the facets of the world Communist conspiracy.

Would you kindly, for our record, give us a word about your own personal history and background?

Dr. Schwarz. I was born in Brisbane, Australia, on the 15th of January, 1913. I was educated at the schools of Brisbane and I attended the University of Queensland, which is the northeastern state, of which Brisbane is the capital. At the university I studied, first science. I graduated in science with major subjects mathematics and physics. I later graduated in arts in which I studied philosophy and political economy. After teaching school and being a lecturer in mathematics and science in the Queensland Teachers College, I graduated in medicine and surgery from the University of Queensland Medical School. Following graduation, I established a general medical practice in Sydney and, for a time, was psychiatrist for the Cathedral Marriage Guidance Clinic of Sydney and the New South Wales Community Hospital.

I am a evangelical Christian of Baptist denomination and have been a lay preacher for many years.

Mr. Arens. Doctor, would you kindly tell us how you became interested in your work in the anti-Communist movement?

Dr. Schwarz. At the University of Queensland, in the late 1930's, I was active in the Inter Varsity Christian Fellowship while the Communists were also active in the university in the Labor Club. We entered into a dispute on the philosophical conflict between God and materialism. I had my first debate with a Communist in 1940 when I debated with Max Julius, a very prominent Communist, now a member of the Central Committee of the Australian Communist Party.

Following this debate my interest quickened, and I read profoundly of the Communist text of Marx, Lenin, and Stalin and challenged other Communists to debate. Over a period of years I was active in lecturing against communism and debating with Communists within Australia, with special emphasis on the philosophic conflict of God and the value of the individual, as against materialism and the individual's insignifcance in relation to the state.

Most of my activities were confined to church and religious circles and conducted in association with my medical practice.

In 1950 I made my first trip abroad, visited in America and returned to Australia. The response to the message was such, and the need such, that my medical practice is now closed; and I am on my sixth world tour and I am now executive director of the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade, which is active in America and Australia and indirectly in many other parts of the world.

Mr. Arens. Thank you for that background information, Doctor.

May I pose this general question to you as a point of departure in your consultation with us today: How would you characterize or describe the ideology and morality of communism, and how, in your judgment, can that ideology and morality be countered or met in this world struggle?

Dr. Schwarz. The ideology of communism is applied Godless materialism. The problem that perplexes many people is the overwhelming appeal that communism apparently exercises for the student mind.

Mr. Arens. What is the nature of that appeal, Doctor?

Dr. Schwarz. The nature of that appeal is a promise that the student can achieve two things by association with the Communist Party. He can participate in the conquest of the world, and following the conquest of the world, he can then participate in a program to change human nature, perfect human character, and popculate the entire earth with a new quality of personality infinitely superior to any that history has ever known. The appeal that attracts the young student is almost a religious appeal that his life can be utilized for the regeneration of all mankind.

Mr. Arens. Would you care to elaborate on that theme, Doctor?

Dr. Schwarz. When you ask the Communist a simple question: 'How are you going to change human nature?" they would answer with one word, and that word is "science." We are scientists. Science has changed the material world. Science has changed the world of agriculture. Science has changed the world of animal husbandry. We can use science to change human nature itself."

This sounds very appealing. You can understand how this sounds to a young student infatuated with the techniques of science. To participate in using science for its greatest achievement is a seductive vision.

However, to be scientific you must follow scientific laws, and communism then proceeds to give it three scientific laws. These laws are as follows:

The first one is "There is no God." They are proudly, unashamedly atheistic in theory and in practice. When they deny God, they simultaneously deny every virtue and every value that originates with God. They deny moral law. They deny absolute standards of truth and righteousness. An entire civilized code of moral and ethical values is destroyed so that they are free to erect in their place new moral and ethical standards as the occasion demands.

The second law of communism is that man is a material machine. He is matter in motion and nothing more. Man is a body, and he is completely describable in terms of the laws of chemistry and physics. Man has no soul, no spirit, no significant individual value, no continuity of life. He is entirely an evolutionary product, the specie Homo sapiens, and subject to modification, adaptation, and transformation by the applied, established laws of animal husbandry.

William Z. Foster, chairman of the American Communist Party, expresses it in his book, the Twilight of World Capitalism, which he wrote in 1949. In the last chapter, The Advent of the Socialist Man, he writes:

Henceforth, the evolution of human species must be done artificially by the conscious action of man himself.

Their second law, therefore, is the material animal nature of man.

The third law of communism is economic determinism. It states that the qualities of human intelligence, personality, emotional and religious life merely reflect the economic environment; that in the last analysis what we think, what we feel, what we believe, whom we love, and whom we worship is simply an expression of the environment in which we are raised; and since that environment is primarily concerned with economic forces, in the final analysis, man is a determined economic being.

Mr. Arens. I can hardly restrain myself at this point from posing this question, even at the risk of breaking the theme: If the Communists' major premise is correct, that you and I are not morally responsible, then why would the Communists in the same breath turn around and try to assess moral responsibility against what they describe as the capitalists?

Dr. Schwarz. In the final analysis they do not do that. They consider themselves as superior to the capitalist as the farmer is superior to his animal. Moral responsibility is not involved. They understand capitalist motivation as the automatic outcome of capitalist economics. Since the root is evil the fruit must be so. It is their duty to destroy the root and frequently the fruit. The concept of his moral guilt does not enter into it any more than when a farmer destroys an animal giving a positive tuberculin reaction. You do not consider that animal morally responsible. He belongs to a certain class which by reason of its association, has developed a certain potentially dangerous character, and no matter how splendid the animal, its destruction is obligatory.

Communism rests on a class concept. They believe the proletariat class is the progressive class of history and that the capitalist classes, the degenerate classes, are discarded by history and must be destroyed. To them this is the law of historical development. To argue on a bourgeois moral basis merely reflects degenerate class origin.

Economic determinism is the third law of communism.

Applying these laws, communism asserts that the environment of capitalism is a degenerative environment and it creates degenerate people. The responsibility for individual evil, for vice and crime, for selfishness and greed in all its manifestations is not that of the individual. It is the projection of the capitalist environment into the individual.

The Communist believes that if you are going to change the individual, if you are going to change mankind, it is foolish to think that you can do it while the degenerative capitalist environment exists. First, you must conquer the world and, having conquered the world, you must destroy the capitalist environment which is built on profit, selfishness, and greed. You must replace it by socialism which is built on service, cooperation, and unselfishness, so that from birth the experiences of the environment will build into the character unselfishness, cooperation, and service, and as these children mature to adolescents and adults everyone will work because they love to work; everyone will give because it is better to give than receive; the hand of no man will be raised in anger against his brother; there will no longer be any need for government and government will wither and die. There will be no need for a police force; there will be nothing for police to do. There will be no need for an income-tax department because everyone working, according to his natural impulses, gives of his best for the general well-being, and out of the abundance thus created retains only his own personal needs. Farewell anger, lust and greed, envy, malice and strife, pestilence and war; enter golden, companionable, cooperative brotherhood; mankind will live together in the glorious day of communism that has dawned on the earth.

Mr. Arens. Doctor, may I pose this question: How, to the Communist mind, is this world of goodness and of plenty and of unselfishness and love, consistent with the program which we see in effect in Communist regimes, a program of bloodshed, of deceit, of inhumanity, and the like?

Dr. Schwarz. It is the justification for it all. You see the goals. To sacrifice one or two generations is not a very big price to pay for such a glorious goal from their point of view.

The Communists are confronted with this problem: When they conquer the world, they are left with those people who have been brought up in the capitalist environment. They have had their experiences. It has formed their character and personality. Naturally, if you leave the babies and the children with them, they will impress that character and personality upon them, so the Communists are confronted with a problem of what to do with the adults of established character and personality once they have conquered the world.

Being thoroughly materialist scientists, they do not hesitate. They say they have no alternative, naturally, they must dispose of these classes. To them it is not murder. Murder is a bourgeois term which means killing individuals for bad reasons. They are going to kill classes for good reasons.

Mr. Arens. It is your theme, Doctor, that the practice of communism in the world is consistent with the theory of communism?

Dr. Schwarz. Exactly. Inherent within the theory of communism is the greatest program of murder, slaughter, and insanity conceivable.

Mr. Arens. It is your theory that to the Communist mind the practice of communism and the theory of communism are coextensive, that they complement one another?

Dr. Schwarz. Exactly.

Mr. Arens. What is your appraisal of the murder, deceit, and treachery which even the Communist regimes assess against Stalin?

Dr. Schwarz. To the Communists murder, treachery, and torture are frequently moral acts. They cannot regenerate human nature until they have destroyed the capitalist system. They cannot destroy the capitalist system until they have conquered the world.

Mr. Arens. What would be the mental processes by which Khrushchev could condemn Stalin for murder?

Dr. Schwarz. He did not condemn him. He justified him. In his speech on Stalin, that is the most amazing feature. We say Khrushchev condemned him beause we read his report on Stalin's incredible acts and mental attitudes. We pay no attention to Khrushchev's climax. He portrayed Stalin's acts which were the most fiendish, the most brutal, the most evil in the record of man. He shows Stalin as a multiple murderer. He shows him the murderer of millions. He shows him as sadistic and insane. He shows him personally dictating the torture of his own friends. He showed, for example, when the Jewish doctors were arrested and accused of poisoning Zhdanov, Stalin called in their interrogator and said, "If you don't get a confession, we will shorten you by a head." After he portrayed the whole macabre spectacle, he finished up with this statement, in effect: "Mind you, don't misunderstand. Stalin was a good man. He did these things as a Marxist-Leninist. He did these in the interest of the working class. He was no giddy despot."

He finished up with a moral justification of Stalin. That leads us to Communist morality. Morality is relative and related to the objective situation.

You cannot regenerate mankind until you have destroyed the capitalist world, and you cannot destroy capitalism until you have conquered the world. The process of world conquest involves waging successfully the class war. Within the present phase of the world struggle, at the heart of existence, there is this universal war. As Lenin stated, "Proletarian morality is determined by the exigencies of the class struggle."

Mr. Arens. Could I interpose this question to perhaps clarify our record: Khrushchev, as we all know, had charge of the liquidation of the Kulak class. About 10 million of his countrymen were liquidated, what we would call murder. A crime of such enormous scope that the average human mind could not begin to comprehend it. In your appraisal of the Communist philosophy and motivation in life, could Khrushchev, as a dedicated Communist, have a twinge of conscience about those murders?

Dr. Schwarz. None whatsoever.

Mr. Arens. Why, doctor?

Dr. Schwarz. Because these murders were in the interest of the advance of Communist power and world conquest and in the direction of history's will; therefore, they were moral and righteous acts. Any twinge of conscience would be a remnant of Khrushchev's bourgeois upbringing and a failure of his Communist personality.

Mr. Arens. Could you give us a further word, Doctor, on this ideology of the Communists on the inevitability of communizing the world?

Dr. Schwarz. Yes, sir. Their basic theoretical concept derives not from Stalin, not from Lenin, but from Marx. The concept is the universality of class war. This is their theoretical concept. War is a state of being. War exists between the proletarian class, which is the future class of mankind, and the reactionary bourgeois class. The waging of this war is the great duty of all class-conscious proletarians; the future is the triumph of the proletarian class. The Communist Party is the brain of the proletarian class, and the war that manifests itself within a state is a conflict between the Communist Party and the state government until the Communist Party destroys and conquers that state. Once that is done, it manifests itself in the international realm in a state of war between those countries that have been conquered by the Communists and where their power is established and those countries as yet unconquered. The basis of Communist policy is the existence of the class war. To them it is a fact of being.

So within this framework every act which advances their triumph is righteous. Every statement that helps their cause is true.

Mr. Arens. They overlooked the Christian philosophy.

Dr. Schwarz. They wiped it out entirely.

Mr. Arens. The philosophy that the end never justifies the means.

Mr. Schwarz. The end creates the means. Any act, however brutal, and no matter how many people are killed, that advances the Communist conquest, is a peaceful act.

Within this framework of ideology and morality, no Communist can tell a lie in the interests of communism because by definition, if it is in the interest of communism, it is the truth. A person is only a material machine and truth is merely a set of electronic impulses that circulate within his brain. The ultimate truth is the will of the Communist Party. Every basic term that we use has been redefined by the Communists in terms of the class war. For example, as you well know the word "peace" is one of the great words in the Communist vocabulary and most folks think they are hypocrites when they use the word "peace."

Mr. Arens. Certain people in high places in government have professed that the Communist regime in Soviet Russia wants peace.

Dr. Schwarz. They do want it.

Mr. Arens. What kind of peace do they want?

Dr. Schwarz. You have to understand that their basic concept is that class war is a fact of being and that peace is the historical synthesis when communism defeats the remainder of the world and establishes world Communist dictatorship, which is peace. If you ask a true Communist to take a lie detector test and ask him if he wants peace, he would pass it with ease. He would look at you with a light in his eye and say he longs for peace.

Mr. Weil. Communist peace, not peace as we understand it.

Dr. Schwarz. Every act that contributes to the Communist conquest is a peaceful act. If they take a gun, they take a peaceful gun, containing a peaceful bullet, and kill you peacefully and put you in a peaceful grave. When the Chinese Communists murder millions, it is an act of peace. When the Russian tanks rolled into Budapest to butcher and destroy, it was glorious peace. Peace is wonderful and within their framework of ideology whatever helps their conquest is peaceful, good, and true.

Mr. Weil. I would like to ask one question of you as a psychiatrist as well as an analyst of the Communist ideology. There comes a point when all this reevaluation and redefinition has progressed to a point where it is no longer reconcilable with reality, and even the Communists themselves must recognize this. Have they not reached that point?

Dr. Schwarz. I do not believe they have reached it. They have reached the point of insanity.

Mr. Weil. You think Khrushchev still believes in the classic theories as you expounded them?

Dr. Schwarz. I believe that paranoia is at the heart of communism and that their theoretical concepts are far more convincing to them than the evidence of the facts. I believe, for example, that they, in their own mind, believe that the riots in Hungary were organized by the vicious American imperialists. There is this element of paranoiac self-deception at the heart of communism. I do not think that they are just hypocrites; they have merged the techniques of hypocrisy with the virtues of sincerity, creating a very powerful instrument.

Mr. Weil. Mass paranoia itself is a term which can be quite deceptive.

Dr. Schwarz. It is a powerful instrument. That insanity is manifest in the world hysteria they stirred up about the Rosenbergs. The Communists manifested their tremendous efficiency as agitators around the world on behalf of the Rosenbergs. The name "Rosenberg" became the best-known American name throughout the world. There were riots in many countries, and actually quite a number of people died in these riots on behalf of the Rosenbergs. Everywhere the Communists and their friends were heart stricken and desperately miserable because of the dreadful anti-Semitic conspiracy that was leading to this cruel persecution of these two poor Rosenbergs.

In the midst of it all, they suddenly arrested a lot of their own leading Jews in Czechoslovakia, men of position, power, and Communist character; and after a farce of a trial, which occupied about two weeks, they publicly executed them. The outsider looking on would say, "What sort of people are these? How hypocritical can you be?"

The two Rosenbergs had been given a fair trial. The trial was before a jury of their peers, conducted by an impartial judge. Appeals were heard and every civil liberty granted that the fairest judicial system in the world can provide. In Czechoslovakia, these Jews were practically murdered after the most summary of judicial farces. What hypocrisy! You would expect the Communists to have at least some sense of guilt and inconsistency, but there was no manifestation of it whatsoever. If anything, their tears on behalf of the Rosenbergs flowed more freely. Their agony became more intense. To us they were utter hypocrites, but not to themselves. The execution of the Rosenbergs was an act that would retard Communist world conquest. Therefore, it was an evil act. Therefore, the Rosenbergs were guiltless. Therefore, the evidence against them was perjury. Therefore, those who gave the evidence were perjurers and criminals. Therefore, every progressive and moral proletarian heart must be emotionally disturbed because of this dreadful and evil act perpetrated with cruelty, brutality, and injustice. On the other hand, the arrest and execution of the Czechoslovak Jews would advance Communist world conquest; it would please the Arabs; it would set the stage for Communist influence in the Near East, which we see coming to fruition today.

It was an act in the interest of world conquest by communism; therefore, it was a good act. Therefore, they were guilty. Therefore, they were criminals. Therefore, the evidence against them was true. Therefore, every progressive heart must feel a sense of elation and rejoicing that justice triumphed with their death.

FUTURE HOLD? NOT MUCH ----

UNLESS — Your children, and their educators, quit swallowing whole the false, sugar-coated, one sided description of vicious communism supplied by dedicated Communist sympathizers.

UNLESS — Americans generally begin to understand that Communism is NOT just another political party.

UNLESS — Otherwise well-meaning Americans begin to understand that "academic freedom" without morality leads to national suicide.

COMMUNISM IS OUT TO DESTROY YOU!

Mr. Weil. I think the theory behind that is excellent. But the evidence we have today seems to point to the fact that the Communists wanted the Rosenbergs executed, as a matter of fact, because they felt the Rosenbergs alive might be witnesses against the Communist apparatus. That bears out the impression of hypocrisy.

Dr. Schwarz. There is nothing inconsistent in their moral framework of believing all that and wanting them executed at the same time. There is nothing inconsistent in that because each individual is merely an expendable animal; and if their dying is going to help the Communist cause, then it is a good act. They could want them executed and yet feel compassion for them and anger against their brutal executioners. We have established that inherent within Communist ideology and morality there is a program of murder, treachery, and brutality and that the theory of communism translates these acts into highly moral acts. The theory of communism destroys every basic moral value on which civilization, and particularly Christian civilization, is built.

Mr. Arens. Doctor, is there some kind of analogy that could be made between what you are saying and what your experience must have been as a surgeon, namely, that a surgeon, as he undertakes to eliminate a cancerous cell or organism of the body, cuts into noncancerous material and does it feeling he is doing so on perfectly moral grounds because he is trying to save a life? Is that the approach that you are saying that Communists have toward the ultimate goal of redemption of the world by communism, that they can take lives, innocent lives, because the overall objective is one of saving humanity?

Dr. Schwarz. The tragedy of communism is not simply that it murders, but it transforms murder into a moral and righteous act. When a person does evil and he is conscious he is doing evil, you have a basis of approach; but when evil becomes good, you have no starting point, you have nothing about which to argue. The great evil rests in the philosophic, basic concepts of communism when it rejects God, when it materializes and bestializes man, and when it denies the inherent dignity and value of human personality and individuality. Upon that ruthless amoral, materialistic basis it builds an edifice which destroys evermore every civilized, moral, ethical, and spiritual value.

Mr. Arens. Before we get to the second side of your coin, you have told us, first of all, on the basis of your background experience and study, the ideology and morality of communism, and you propose to tell us, as I understand it, how to meet and defeat this ideology of communism.

Before we get to the second side of the coin, could I ask you a question or two, if you please, Doctor?

How do you account for the fact that this ideology of communism, which is contrary to all that you and I as Christians — and I say it in the broadest term — people who believe in God and believe in spiritual values, how do you account for the fact that this force called communism, evil as it is, unappealing as it is to those with any sense in them of goodness, is sweeping across the world with a speed that is hitherto unknown in the history of the world, that it now encompasses about one-third of the population of the world from a start of about 50 years ago? How do you account for that?

Dr. Schwarz. First, the reason is their recruitment of the student intellectual, who is susceptible to the appeals of communism by reason of his educational conditioning. He accepts that materialist foundation on which Communist ideology and morality is built. He is recruited in terms of his ideological pride. He is more intelligent than the average man, and he sees the opportunity to mold man and create history, whereas the dull, brutal driven herd sweeps on unaware of the forces that create it and drive it forward. He is one of the elite, the chosen, and the intellectual aristocracy. In combination with this intellectual pride, the religious nature of man demands a purpose in life; they find in this vision of human regeneration a religious refuge for their Godless hearts.

Second, theirs is superb organization. The origin of effective communism came with totalitarian organization, the formation of the Bolshevik segment of the Russian Democratic Labor Party under Lenin. Communism illustrates the truth that the disciplined, dedicated scientific, intelligent, and organized few will be able to exploit and direct, deceive, and conquer the selfish, undisciplined, disorganized multitudes. Communism is advancing in terms of its recruitment of students, the organization of these students into the Communist Party and the scientific exploitation of group needs, grievances and ambitions to advance their party to power. The goal of communism is conquest, not conversion. They convert a few and conquer the many.

Mr. Arens. It is our information, Doctor, that there are in the world today approximately 25 million Communists. Is there any cohesive force that is opposing them?

Dr. Schwarz. Unfortunately, no.

Mr. Arens. Is there any monolithic force of any comparable size?

Dr. Schwarz. Unfortunately, I know of none. I know of no monolithic, conscious, dedicated, directive force to oppose them. What is needed, and that brings us to a second point —

Mr. Arens. I would like to ask you, before you get to your second point, if there is a fallacy in undertaking to appraise the strength of the world Communist movement in terms of numbers?

Dr. Schwarz. A very definite fallacy involved.

Mr. Arens. Why?

Dr. Schwarz. Because it is trying to determine the validity of the hull of the boat by relating the area of the holes to the area which is sound. One hole can sink the ship. Communism is the theory of the disciplined few controlling and directing the rest. One person in a sensitive position can control, manipulate, and if necessary, destroy, thousands of others.

Mr. Arens. To use this illustration of your boat, you need only one man to pilot the wheel.

Dr. Schwarz. That is right. If he wants to run it aground, the fact that the other thousand people want to keep it at sea has little bearing on the result. Lenin's slogan was fewer but better; the dedicated, disciplined, who will conquer and control the great multitude.

Mr. Arens. Doctor, on the basis of your extensive study of communism, is it conceivable that we can negotiate ourselves out of the struggle, negotiate with the Soviets, the international Soviet operation?

Dr. Schwarz. To negotiate true peace with people who are utterly dedicated to the concept of the historical inevitability of class war and their victory is impossible. To think that we can do it is to indicate a failure to understand communism so completely that it approaches mental illness. To the Communist every negotiation is an act of war. Every delegation is an act of war. Every peace petition is an act of war. Every disarmament conference is an act of war.

Mr. Arens. Could we trust them in negotiating with them in a disarmament conference?

Dr. Schwarz. As long as keeping their promise would advance their program of conquest, they could be trusted to keep it. The moment that keeping their promise hindered their program of world conquest, it would be their moral and righteous duty to break it. Actually, crazy as it sounds, to them breaking their promise would be keeping it.

Mr. Arens. Doctor, with this record reflecting your comments on the ideology and morality of communism we would be very happy to have you proceed to give us your views on how the free world can meet and defeat the ideology of communism.

Dr Schwarz. The first step of Communist conquest is the ideological conquest of the student mind. That is always the first step. Our first step should be the immunization of the student mind against that conquest by the Communists.

The Communists have never been able to make progress until they have been able to get these student intellectuals to be their standard bearers. This poses a problem both within and without the country. Within the country the educational system, the legislative system, the family, the religion, and all cultural influences should be so tuned that they build a mind and a character with an understanding of the American heritage and moral values; a confidence in your constitutional system, your government by law, your economic systems of free competitive enterprise. Associated with this understanding, there should be a national patriotism that will immunize the youth against the very insidious Communist propaganda.

The first thing is to educate young people who believe in their God, their country, their family, their Constitution, their liberty under law and who are proud of their heritage. They then will not easily be swayed by Godless, materialistic concepts.

Mr. Arens. May I pose a question at this point, Doctor: Have not the Communists even perverted these institutions, such as loyalty to Government, such as the true tenets and principles of the Constitution?

I know when this committee has hearings in which we subpoena before us people who are identified under oath as hardcore members of the Communist conspiracy, they very cleverly attack the committee as though we are the ones out to destroy the Constitution, as though they are the ones who are defending the Constitution by invoking the fifth amendment; and they have a significant segment of the so-called liberals of the country who go right down the line with them.

Dr. Schwarz. Exactly. This is the paradox. Here are our very precious, cherished liberties that did not come about by accident, that are the envy and admiration of the rest of the world; here is a group of people, the Communists, openly dedicated to their total destruction and yet these Communists are able to take advantage of these very liberties and to hide behind these liberties for their purposes of destruction and to recruit as their "runners of interference" well meaning American citizens. This is the paradox that confronts us. The problem is, and I know this is a problem that confronts your committee all the time, how can we rout them out, expose and disarm them without doing damage to the constitutional system and liberty under law which are so cherished in America? I believe it can be done, it must be done; and it is being done.

Mr. Arens. I would like to have you elaborate, if you please, sir, on the way in which, in your judgment, the ideology and morality of communism can be exposed for what it is, the fallacies of it actually exposed and how to actually meet it with a superior and more sound ideology.

Dr. Schwarz. I believe that the problem is largely an educational one, but it is also a spiritual one.

If I may say so, I think your committee has done a magnificent educational job. I do not know if that is the prime function of your committee, but you have certainly done a splendid educational job in revealing not only the theory but the actual practice and character of communism and Communists.

I believe that communism should be taught in the educational system, but I believe it should be taught with a moral directive, in the same way that a medical student is taught that cancer is evil, that tuberculosis is evil and education about them is directed to their elimination and defeat. I think the teaching of communism without a moral directive can be very dangerous. Teaching it with a moral directive, should emphasize the basic foundations of American civilization, revealing the enemy threatening their destruction, the erroneous beliefs leading the Communists to undertake the destruction of freedom, the methods by which they propose to destroy, and what must be done to defeat them. If it is presented without moral direction, it appears simply as an alternative economic system with certain superior virtues. This has frequently been done in the past and instead of opposing communism, it tends to recruit to communism.

I believe there is a great problem before the American people: to provide education with a moral dynamic that reveals communism as a rationale of murder and lying and the destruction of freedom. It is totally immoral, and mental and emotional barriers against it should be erected in the minds of the young.

Then there is also the problem of what is to be done throughout the world, because communism is advancing by a pincers movement. It is advancing by internal deception, confusion, misrepresentation and weakening and external growth of power. They believe that by a combination of the internal confusion and degeneracy, in combination with the growth of the external threat, the final act of conflict can be consummated without war and their violence can follow later.

Mr. Arens. Do you remember the quotation from Lenin on that, that they will encircle the United States and it will fall in the hands of the Communists like an over-ripened fruit?

Dr. Schwarz. That is their program. The tragedy of our approach to the Communist danger throughout the world is that it is almost entirely on a materialistic plane that we are trying to defeat them.

Here is the great paradox. The Communists profess themselves to be materialists, and we profess ourselves to be idealists and spiritual people. As a consequence of these beliefs, the Communists are winning the world by first winning the students ideologically, while we try to combat them by material means. Basically the program, at least if you look at it budgetwise, is about $40 billion approximately for military weapons, then about $3 billion to $4 billion for material assistance, and a tiny fragment for purposes of information, education, and spiritual warfare.

The paradox is this: Basically, much of our program to combat communism rests on a Marxist foundation. Marxism teaches that the ideas of the mind, as well as the emotions of the heart, emerge out of the material environment.

When we want people of the world to resist the Communist idea and to embrace the idea of freedom, we think that if we give them material benefits this will automatically come to pass, and so the idea is to give economic aid and military assistance in the expectation that communism will lose its appeal and freedom will triumph.

The foundation is wrong. Materialistic measures do not control the minds and and the hearts of the people. This must be done in a more direct fashion. We need a scientific approach that will utilize the moral, cultural, and spiritual values of these countries. We need a loving, friendly, cooperative spirit and a direct approach to their minds and hearts to mobilize them against communism.

Let us consider India. The Communists want India. If they conquer India the consequences are incalculable. The average Indian must have a reason for being against communism. What reason is significant to him? You cannot say it is against his economic well-being. His economic well-being is so low that it is difficult to make it any lower. You cannot say it is against his constitutional liberties. He does not quite understand what they are. It must be against something which to him is meaningful and significant, it must threaten something to him that is valuable. The Communists very cleverly deceive and hide their destructive program from each group as they exploit their needs and conquer them.

There are certain forces which, properly organized, will mobilize the people against communism. To the Indian his religious faith, whether it be Hindu, Moslem, or Christianity, is important. His family relationship is important. His moral code is important. His national aspirations are important. Communism is against all these things; but in its approach to the Indian, it appears to be favorable to them.

I am informed by Indians that the majority of Christians in India vote Communist. The reason they vote Communist is not because they approve of Communist theories, they haven't the faintest idea what they are. They vote Communist because the Communists sent a very fine young student to their village with glorious magazines showing them how much their life will be improved under communism.

Mr. Weil. What do we do; send more magazines?

Dr. Schwarz. Not so fast. First the Communists had to win the student who takes the magazines. We need an ideological offensive. That is what I am trying to do. I am an evangelical Christian and there are evangelical Christians in India. We have a basis of fellowship. Communism threatens us both. By personal association and contact we can build the understanding of the Communist danger. We have the tools that can help them convey the message to other Christians and the Indian people. It is much better that they should do it. We can help them. Our material advantage can now be effectively used when dedicated freedom-loving people, encouraged by our love, equipped by our support, carry the message of the value of the individual and the spiritual heritage of man, interpreted in the light of their specific faith, motivated by the dynamic of their conviction, when they carry this message and the corollary of the Communist threat to their own nationals.

Mr. Arens. On the basis of your worldwide tours, background and experience, what is your appraisal of the progress of internal communism as opposed to the forces of freedom at the present time?

Dr. Schwarz. I regret to say that, by every standard test, the Communists have been making terrifying progress; and they are winning and we are losing.

Also in regard to your opinion, I think that the following illustration may be significant: Recently, for the first time, I saw the mechanical brain, the Univac machine. The firm was quite a small firm and yet to them it was so important that they paid $1,000 a month rental for it. They explained to me its purpose: They fed into it the statistics of the past, and the machine analyzed them and then predicted future trends. These trends were so accurate that they formed the foundation for their policy.

I said to the president of the firm, "Let us feed in the statistics of Communist advances of the past 50 years and see what year the Univac predicts the Communists will conquer the world. Lenin established Bolshevikism with 17 supporters in 1903. He conquered Russia with 40,000 supporters in 1917, and today they have conquered more than 900 million." The president of the company said, "I am afraid to try it."

The Communists claim victory is certain for the following reasons: They say it is inevitable, because we are the product of our own environment which has created us so intellectually dishonest, so unwilling to face the evidence, so selfish, so greedy, and so intoxicated with entertainment that we will never have the honesty, the intelligence, the courage, or the dedication necessary to do what must be done if we are to survive.

Mr. Weil. What must be done if we are to survive?

Dr. Schwarz. We must face honestly the gravity of the situation. We must give it priority in our thinking and in our actions. We must build a strong base of freedom-loving people articulate in their faith, in their love of country, in their love of God, in their love of home, and in their love of law, and we must rally the spiritual forces in the heart of man and recruit dedicated personnel to raise barriers against communism in every area of the world.

The fundamental foundation of opposition to communism is an informed public opinion and a dedicated public character. On these alone the necessary legislative, administrative, judicial, military, and economic and educational programs may be built.

We have set to work urgently building the foundation for Communist defeat. Most of our present program, such as the military program and economic program, are temporary measures which may hold back the flood for a short period and give us a little more time to find a permanent solution.

In conclusion may I say that assessing all the evidence on a worldwide scope the Communists' continuing advance is terrifying, and the possibility of the fulfillment of Khrushchev's boast, "We'll bury you," looms closer every day.

Mr. Weil. If the present rate of Communist advances continues, how long do you think it will be, in your analysis of world events, before the Communists take complete control of the world?

Dr. Schwarz. I think the Communists have more or less tentatively set the deadline for about the year 1973. Mao Tse-tung and Stalin in their last conference thought it would take 4 more 5-year plans, approximately 10 years for the conquest and consolidation of Asia, with the immediate threat to Africa and Europe, while the weakening, softening, and degeneration of America continues, and avoiding an atomic-hydrogen war, their conquest is contemplated about that time.

Mr. Weil. You mean 10 years from now for the consolidation of Asia, and this program does not envision a hydrogen bomb war?

Dr. Schwarz. The basic Communist stategy in 1952 renounced the inevitability of World War III. World conquest without war, which is called co-existence, became their basic strategy. I would not be surprised that they would like some disarmament, as all they look to from military might is a stalemate. If they can reduce the armament burden and retain this stalemate, they will have more funds available for propaganda, and political and economic warfare.

Mr. Arens. Thank you very much, Doctor. We deeply appreciate your contribution in this staff interrogation.

(Thereupon, at 4:15 p.m., Wednesday, May 29, 1957, the consultation was concluded.)

Membership Drive Rolls

Just five days after a concrete Chamber of Commerce plan was proposed, 38 business and professional men had agreed to join.

The membership drive, which is expected to continue until the end of this month, would seem to be rolling along smoothly and on schedule.

The plan, which was worked out by a nucleus of men anxious to see Tecumseh have a Chamber, embodies these main point:

1. A full-time, trained executive secretary would be hired through United State Chamber of Commerce channels for a salary of about $7,000 per year.

2. Prospective secretaries would be interviewed and after studying Tecumseh and meeting people here, would each propose a three-year program.

3. A goal of 100 members has been set, providing a budget which would cover secretary salary and running expenses.

4. Members will sign up for three years, at $100 per year. The first year's dues will be made in the form of a check and submitted with a signed, printed agreement. The checks will be cashed only after the $10,000 has been received.

Rent-free, space, which housed the old Chamber, has been offered.

Men signing up have unanimously agreed that the need in Tecumseh is for a top-rate, active, vigorous Chamber.

One mentioned a nearby town where there is a part-time arrangement with dues of $10 a year. "And that's just what they have, a $10 Chamber," he related.

Tecumseh is a growing, going town.

Although it offers some pretty wonderful facilities, most agree there is room for improvement and additions.

Certainly, there is need for organized promotion of facilities and places of business.

Bringing more industry into the area has been mentioned numerous times — an ideal challenge for an on-the-ball Chamber.

The Herald congratulates the folks who have already gone on record as wanting to join the new Chamber and recommends membership to every business and professional man in the area.

140 Enjoy Spaghetti At Dinner

A total of 140 attended the spaghetti dinner at the Presbyterian Church Monday evening which the Senior High Fellowship group served.

The film, "One Great Hour of Sharing," was shown and a short dedication service was held for the men who will attend the National Council of Presbyterian Men to be held in Chicago.

Teenagers, Please Take Note

Teenagers, please take note.

Last week, we ran an article about the needs of your Teen Club—and it attracted lots of attention.

There were things not included in the article which we'd like to mention.

First of all, this is your club and you're going to have to take the responsibility of keeping it as clean and well-run as possible.

You're mighty lucky to have an angel like Bill Sage, who will give you quarters rent-free.

When someone in your number smashes a perfectly good door, or someone tears a railing off, you are the ones who must act.

We're sorry the impression was given in our story that such things in the Teen Club were old and antiquated. To the contrary, these two items were in good repair.

We made a tour of your club Thursday and found it to be a pretty nice place—except where members had been downright destructive and where furniture was just plain worn out.

We're positive the destructive antics came from about 2% of the kids using the club, while the other 98% are mighty proud of what they have and treat it as they would their own home.

So, it's up to the majority to see to it that a couple of thoughtless youngsters don't spoil the club for everyone.

One of the things which was brought out in Mary Seager's story was the need for adult interest in the Teen Club.

Again, teenagers should take it upon themselves to do a selling job—talk to mom and dad about this problem, suggest that they volunteer.

Better yet, the young people might set about the task of forming a "Moms and Dads of Teenagers Club." Toss a party for them, show them the club, work out some games they might play, get them interested in the Teen Club.

Once you have parents together, sell them the idea of adult participation.

To The Editor

I have a rock, and mineral collection, and children in our neighborhood seem interested in rock formation so I have decided to have a novice class for them.

If any children from town are interested they can call me at 7028-W. We plan to start in April.

I would prefer to have children who belong to other groups like the Girl Scouts, and Boy Scouts —then they can teach their own groupsc as I will have to limit the size of class.

I became interested in rocks and minerals when I was a small child as I lived in Bisbeen, Arizona at that time — and — most people know is famous for the copper mines.

I enjoy reading articles on historical houses. When I lived in Adrian my family owned the Merrick house (where Mann's Chevrolet Sales is now located.

We now live south of Tecumseh in Henry Ford's beloved Green Lane, both of these places have an interesting history.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Clare Handy

REALTY VIEWS

"We would like to buy a house," said Charlie, a stocky young man. "But we've heard it's tough to get a loan now. It seems the best time to buy anything was a year ago."

"Cheer up," I said to Charlie. "Financing has improved and should get even better. For example, the bank which loans money to savings and loan associations has just reduced its interest rate. Money for real estate loans is getting more plentiful."

"Good," Charlie said with a smile. "But can I borrow enough?"

"There again, the situation is improving," I replied. "For instance, the F.H.A. recently announced certain revisions in its credit policies for home buyers with F.H.A.-insured loans. The net effect is to increase the amount which a family of average means may borrow."

Charlie nodded. "Fine," he said, "I guess we shouldn't hold off buying any longer."

If you have been POSTPONING the purchase of a house because of "tight money," come in and talk things over. Chances are good we can help YOU find a way to buy NOW.

Plenty of Feed Is No. 1 Secret for Good Heifers

Big secret to raising good heifers for herd replacements is plenty of feed for normal growth and good health.

Michigan State University extension dairy specialists recommend eight weeks old calves be fed all the good hay they can eat plus two to four pounds of grain a day.

The exact amount of grain will depend upon the quality of roughage.

Silage can replace part of the hay after heifers are about four months old. Have hay available at all times.

WHEN HEIFERS are big enough to eat 15 to 20 pounds of corn silage a day, no extra grain needs to be fed.

Calves between four months and one year of age that are put on pasture will need a little grain. Feed two to four pounds of coarsely ground grain a day, depending on the quality of the pasture.

As calves become yearlings, they'll do all right on just good hay, hay and silage or pasture.

A separate pasture near the barn for smaller heifers still getting grain may be desirable.

Strenghten Link Between Farmer and Consumer

Another move to strengthen the link between the producer and consumer of farm products has been made by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service.

Louis G. Hall, Lenawee county agricultural agent reports that a Detroit Area Marketing Agent has been assigned to work with marketing firms.

The local agent describes the new marketing agent's duties as learning more what consumers want and need in the way of farm products through processors and distributors.

This, Hall feels may be a help to the Lenawee county farmers.

Forrest Strand, with experience in teaching and extension marketing work, will fill the new assignment working from the Wayne county Extension office in Wayne.

He will work closely with the entire marketing team which includes the consumer marketing information agents in 10 major Michigan cities.

Blissfield Farmer Buys Lewis Orchard

Robert Kapnick of Blissfield has purchased Lewis Orchards near Britton.

He assumes ownership in mid-April, changing the name to Kapnick & Sons Orchard. His sons Charles and Arlan will work with him.

The orchards contains 80 acres, 50 of which are in peaches, apples, pears and cherries.

There will also be a full line of produce raised, states the new owner.

WORK CONTINUES — Three concrete supports have been poured at the Red Mill bridge as progress continues on this construction job. One more support at the far end of the structure will round out this phase, then, the steel work will begin.

Mrs. Haight Is City Chairman for Red Cross

Mrs. Vincent Haight of 108 Maple street is the Tecumseh area chairman for the American Red Cross and the person to whom you may send voluntary contributions.

Donations also may be sent directly to the Lenawee County Chapter office at 204 North Broad street in Adrian.

This is a critical year for the Red Cross. Its reserves have been wiped out by the great disasters that have buffeted the country during the past two years.

Now it is faced with the task of maintaining and even expanding its varied humanitarian services and at the same time rebuilding these reserves, which will be needed in the event of any great national calamity.

Because the Red Cross belongs to the Community Chest no special fund drive will be made in this city, but it is hoped that voluntary contributions will be made through the above mentioned channels.

McDowell Speaks at District Tea

HOLLOWAY — Northeast district tea of Michigan State University Extension women was held Tuesday afternoon in Holloway Presbyterian Church.

James McDowell, superintendent of Tecumseh schools, spoke on special education.

A solo was sung by Mrs. Williams German and organ music played by Mrs. Fred Shober. There also was group singing.

In an election, Mrs. Kenneth Kopke was chosen for a two-year term on the county council, replacing Mrs. Huge Mitchell, who is retiring.

Tea and cookies were served, with Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Sarah Lowery pouring.

Mrs. Donald Judd Heads Seal Sale

Mrs. Donald Judd will be in charge of the Easter Seal Sale for Britton and Mrs. W. D. Carlson for Clinton.

Tecumseh Young People of the Methodist church will have charge of canisters.

Ann Kempf and Betty Kiser will have charge of the Lily sales.

County School Head Talks to Circle 1

Dessert luncheon was served to Circle 1 of the Presbyterian Church Tuesday at the home of Mrs. M. R. Blanden with Mrs. James Elliott Ruby Preston and Mrs. Jens Touborg as co-hostesses.

Mrs. H. H. Hanna, program chairman, introduced Milton Porter, the Lenawee County Superintendent of Schools, who spoke on "Specialized Education in the County" to the 30 members present.

Mrs. Charles Stephenson had charge of the devotions which included further study of Luke and she spoke of Luke as a Historian.

Mrs. Blanden told of the eight basic principles of the Presbyterian Church Laws.

Mrs. Ray Schlegel is the representative of the Circle for the candy sale and anyone wishing to order Bowers hard candy may contact her during the day.

Mrs. Ralph Helzerman will be the hostess for the group April 1 at her home on W. Chicago boulevard.

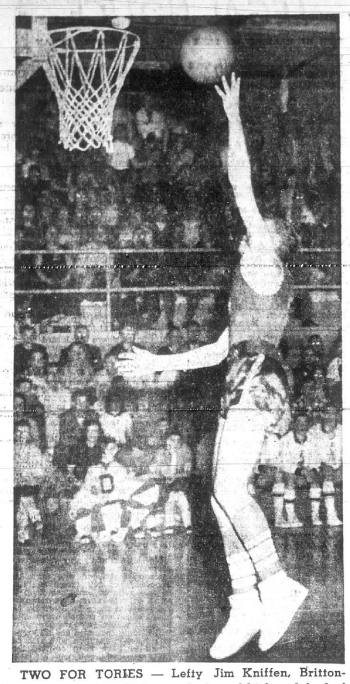
Britton Wins District Title



TWO FOR TORIES — Lefty Jim Kniffen, Britton-Macon star, was all alone as he leaped high and dunked a field goal in the rugged Clinton game, which saw the Tories win their district. This Tecumseh Herald photo is by Paul Surratt.

REGIONAL PLAY

Britton faces Memphis Friday night at 8:30 at Eastern Michigan College in Ypsilanti in regional play. If the Tories win, they'll go again Saturday at 6 on the same floor for the title. Next step would be the state quarter finals March 19, on a floor to be named next week.

Britton basketball fans went wild Saturday night when their Tories captured the school's first district tournament championship, edging Clinton 39 to 37.

Undefeated Britton, ranked third in the state among Class D schools, rallied in the fourth quarter to bring boosters pouring out of the stands onto the floor for the celebration.

What ended in an uproar started rather inconspicuously for Britton.

☆

CLINTON MOVED into a 11-point advantage early in the first period and seemed destined to end the Tories win streak and prevent the Britton-Macon school from copping its first tourney title.

Britton closed the gap before the initial stanza ended to 19 to 12. The Tories outscored the Redskins in the second period 9 to 6, trailing at the half, 25 to 21.

Midway in the third period Britton tied the count at 27-27 and enjoyed a brief 28 to 27 lead before Clinton spurted to a four-point lead to start the final quarter.

☆

DEAN CLEMENT, hit on two jump shots to tie the score before Jim Kniffen netted one from the side to put Britton in front for good, 37 to 35.

Kniffen tallied again, hiking the Britton lead to four points, before the Tories started stalling with a little over a minute to play.

Clinton broke up the stall with Pat Porter driving in to score, cutting the lead to two points. With seven seconds left Jerry Benedict missed a free throw for Britton with Clinton grabbing the rebound.

Clinton's Wally LaSavage then missed on a long jump shot, the ball hitting the back of the rim as the gun sounded.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS from the Bible

In the day of my trouble I will call upon Thee; for Thou wilt answer me.—(Psalm 86, 7.)

How wonderfully blest are those who are so strong and steadfast in their faith—who, whenever it wavers for an instant, affirm it at once restored! They shall never be long desolate or sorrowed, for they live in God.

Andrew Reynolds of Foosland, Illinois, father of Mrs. Bert Bruder of West Chicago boulevard, was celebrating his 89th birthday anniversary when this picture of five generations was taken. Mrs. Bruder is at the right of the picture, Mrs. Hamilton F. Moore of Britton, daughter of Mrs. Bruder, is at the left; her son, H. Dean Moore of Smith road, Tecumseh in the center and his daughter, Deborah Lynne, is held by Mr. Reynolds.

Another Great Year

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Thanks to Hard-Working Coach

Carol Sheffer is a former top-notch semi-pro basketball player — and she knows how to teach others the fine points of the game.

Since 1955, Miss Sheffer has instructed classes in girls physical education at Tecumseh high and coached the two feminine hoop teams.

Over a three year span—which includes 23 games—Miss Sheffer's teams have never been beaten.

Monday night her varsity and JV squads polished off Chelsea units, 40 to 13 and 70 to 28, closing another unbeaten year.

Julia Boyce netted 27 for the varsity and Joyce Partridge 13 for the JVs against Chelsea.

☆

BUT WINNING is only half the story, states Miss Sheffer.

"Our prime purpose is meeting people and improving inter-school relationships," she explains.

"Some of our girls write to kids they played against," the GAA mentor went on.

A "visiting hour" after each game during which foes on the floor gather for a snack and chat, help the young ladies get to know one another.

☆

BASKETBALL HAS long been a part of Miss Sheffer's life. Her playing career began at Woodville (Ohio) high school and continued during her years as a student at Bowling Green State University.

She joined an eight-team semi-pro circuit in Toledo, playing there two years prior to taking the Tecumseh job.

Her mark of 42 points in one game still stands as the all-time scoring record in the Toledo league.

Miss Sheffer is a tough-but-understanding taskmaster and her gals love every minute they're on the hardwood.

"The girls have terrific desire and that make my job twice as easy," the coach said.

☆

SPECIAL THANKS from Miss Sheffer go to parents and friends of players who have attended games and filled the gym with cheers.

"The girls really enjoy it," Miss Sheffer says.

In her coaching, Miss Sheffer puts emphasis on ball handling, passing and tight defensive play.

Tecumseh opponents have consistently had little success in scoring, attesting to the value of Miss Sheffer's philosophy on close guarding.

On the offensive side of the ledger she believes, "It's more important to be able to move the ball than to shoot."

Again results uphold her thinking.

Her forwards flash passes back and forth so fast that at times opponents hardly know where the ball is. This usually results in a Tecumseh player ending up all alone under the basket for an easy shot.

It was another great year for Tecumseh girls — thanks largely to a devoted and hard-working coach.

TECUMSEH HERALD PHOTO

DEFENSE VITAL — Tecumseh's girls' basketball coach Carol Sheffer has always put great emphasis on stopping the other teams from shooting. This close guarding was demonstrated in this scene from Monday's JV game. Camilla Grigg leaps to harass the Chelsea shooter as she fires and Grace Dennis, at right, closely tags her opponent. Other Tecumseh guard, Mary Lou Layton, is in the background.

THE JUNIOR PLAY, A MELOdrama, "He Ain't Done Right By Nell," is a play with a stereotype plot. It is in the style of drama that was popular around the turn of the century.

The conversation, if it were isolated, would be trite by our standards, but it is right in keeping with the plot.

Actually the play is a basic one, the struggle between Good and Evil.

Here is a summary of the characters and the human traits they represent:

The Villain—Evil

The Hero—Courage, strength

Little Nell—Sweetness, purity

Grandmother—Helplessness

Lolly—Troublemaker

Burkett Carleton—the change from poverty to wealth

Mrs. Marge Rohweder is recovering at University of Michigan hospital from her recent accident in which she suffered a broken hip. Mrs. Rohweder expects, to return home within a few weeks.

Teacher Club Devices New Report Card

As a result of a recent study by the Teachers' Club, Tecumseh elementary schools are developing a completely new report card card for the second semester of this school year.

There is to be a card for the kindergarten; a card for grades one, two, three; and a card for grades four, five, six.

The new report cards were developed by a committee of Elementary Teachers with Mrs. Rose Crawford as chairman.

Others on the committee were Mrs. Bertram Updike, Marvel Steinhoff, Mrs. Joe Thomas, Mrs. Steve Illeck, John White, Marjorie Wickwire and Thomas Gillam.

Their efforts were reviewed and augmented by the administration and board of education before approval for use by our schools.

☆

THE NEW CARDS will include the customary marks of A, B, C, D or E in each of the basic subjects. The basic subjects will have subheadings and spaces for marks.

There will be a place for each marking period to indicate the reading level of the pupil. The marks for the pupil will show his scholastic achievement as compared to the other students in the room.

Included on the card is a revised chart for indicating the social achievements of the pupil. Here the student will be marked with a plus or minus sign for the traits that apply during this marking period.

The cards will be issued four times during the year. Twice each semester cards will be given out, at the completion of ten weeks and the end of each semester.

The first marking period for this semester will end Friday, April 4. The cards will be given out Friday, April 11.

"It is sincerely hoped the new cards will enable us to present a more accurate picture to the parent, of the child's school work," states Earl Greene, director of elementary education.

Burma Missionary Write Letter Read at Society Session

Members of the North Rome Missionary Society and their husbands met at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Blair Bashore Monday evening.

A potluck supper was served with Rev. Bashore pleasing the hungry group by serving his specialty — rice and curry.

Mrs. Earl Kimball presided at the meeting and Mrs. Bashore led in Lenten-centered devotions.

The completed White Cross quota and a love gift of $11.55 were dedicated.

☆

A LETTER FROM Mrs. Della Negus, who is a patient at Howell Sanitorium, was read and members were urged to write to her.

Mrs. Zearl Stoddard read a letter from Ruth Daniels, a Burma missionary who is well known in this area having been a former member of the North Rome church and a graduate of Tecumseh high school.

She will retire in September and will make an extensive tour of Europe with a fellow missionary.

The April meeting of the group will be held at the Nelson home when an election of officers will be held.

Kiwanis Ups Donation to $75

When Kiwanis clubman talked about putting on their second annual Square Dance Jamboree, they decided to help out two organizations.

Proceeds would be split between the Forney W. Clement Foundation at the University Hospital in Ann Arbor and the Tecumseh Teen Club.

"Let's give about $25 to the Teen Club," someone volunteered and that's the way it was to be.

The dance netted $105 and the donations were about to be made when last week's Herald appeared with a story about the needs of the Teen Club.

☆

AT LEAST THREE members quickly called Fred Halley, who was chairman of the Jamboree, and recommended that more go to the young people in town.

Fred reports that the figure was raised to $75 and the balance of $30 would go to the Foundation.

"If the money is needed here," Fred said in his rich Scotch Brogue "The club would prefer to keep it in Tecumseh."

The check for $75 was turned over Wednesday to Jon Weakly, president of the Teen Club, at the noon luncheon of Kiwanis.

☆

AT THE JAMBOREE itself, 300 attended and danced to the music of the Sun Valley Boys from WBSE of Hillsdale with Alex Rise of Britton as leader.

Eight callers from the area, who donated their services were Mrs. Raymond Mattis of Sand Creek, Virgil Fish of Brooklyn, Joe Karli of Hudson, Mrs. Mary Ferguson of Tecumseh, Harold Sneider of Adrian, Doug Grady of Britton, Dermont Poley, Jr. of Tecumseh and Art Smith of Pittsford.

Michigan's outstanding young farmer will be named Saturday night in Adrian.

And he may be from the Tecumseh area.

Saturday's banquet, being held at Adrian College, is under auspices of Adrian Jaycees, who this year host the annual state selection.

Michigan's winner will compete against similar victors from 43 states, Hawaii and Alaska for the national title.

With Reservations

Although a resolution was passed by Tecumseh's community chest board favoring a Lenawee county drive, one of its members gave his approval with reservation.

John Thompson, president of the United Savings Bank, said he would go along — providing the general public wanted fund-raising handled in this manner.

Mr. Thompson has expressed the thought that should Tecumseh join other county communities in an annual campaign, this city might be the looser.

He has recommended that the public express its opinion on the matter.

(Editor's note: Tecumseh's Community Chest board has gone on record in favor of a Lenawee County United Fund. This article helps explain the objectives of the proposed county-wide drive.)

A county united fund is primarily designed to obtain acequate financial support for social service agencies and alleviate the problem of multiple appeals in the county so explains Howard White, chairman of the county fund development committee.

The county fund as planned will be Lenawee county's own plan, he said. It is not duplicated in methods of operation by any other county.

The plan was evolved by a citizen's committee with representatives from all parts of the county.

☆

THE LOCAL community chests will retain their share from the first funds collected in the campaign for local agency needs, Mr. White said.

Shares will be based on the total percentage of each local chest campaign. If a local chest collects 95% of its goal, it will receive 95% of its fund requests.

If the goal is over-subscribed, the local chest's share would be based on the percentage of over subscription.

Each local chest will be responsible for collecting outstanding yearly pledges made in the campaign with the exception of those from corporate and industrial employees, Mr. White said.

Contributions from corporate and industrial employees will be collected by the county fund.

In communities in which there is no local chest, the collection of pledges will be accomplished by the county united fund.

A revised edition of the grading manual for muskmelons is now available from the Lenawee county extension office, according to L. G. Hall.

The manual, published by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, summarizes Michigan regulations dealing with the grading, packing and marking of muskmelons.

Practical interpretations of United States grades for netted and heavily netted types is also a part of the manual's contents.

ARTISTS AT WORK — L. L. Weaver (at left) and an associate do a delicate bit of artwork high above the central altar of the Methodist Church during its extensive re-decorating. The entire interior of the church is being re-done with emphasis on the chancel, reports Rev. James Nixon.

'STRENGHT AND BEAUTY ARE IN HIS SANCTUARY'

Methodist Church Decorated

Sanctuary of the Tecumseh Methodist Church is getting a face-lifting.

G. H. Schanbacker & Son Co. of Springfield, Illinois, church decorating firm, is concluding a two-week job in sacntuary and entrances.

Walls are being given shades of rose-stone.

Artwork in the chancel, created by L. L. Weaver, incorporates figures suggestive of the Trinity.

The words of Jesus, "I am the vine, you are the branches," also find expression in the chancel painting.

☆

THE DECORATING is part of a total program having several specific parts.

The Tecumseh Electric Co. is rewiring the entire church. At the same time new lighting is being completed in the sanctuary.

This is to include special lighting for the chancel area as well as new suspended fixtures in the nave.

Chancel furniture is being created in a special design by Ossit Church Furniture Co. of Janesville, Wisconsin.

Delivery is expected in late March. To be included will be central altar, pulpit, lectern, clergy pews, communion rail and dossal and canopy behind the altar.

The basic remodeling of the chancel, archway and choir lofts was the work of Howard Truesdale, local contractor. This provided the new setting of open chancel in the sanctuary.

☆

THE METHODIST Church has been contemplating remodeling for some time.

In late fall the official board authorized appointment by the pastor, James D. Nixof, of a Sanctuary Planning Committee. A basic policy of remodeling was adopted and the committee was empowered to proceed.

On the committee are Mrs. Clifford Deaner, Mrs. Robert W. Bonner, Mrs. Maynard Lucas, Wilfred Waldron and Carlos W. Jones.

The committee has met with the pastor on alternate Tuesday evenings during this period.

☆

LAST SUNDAY, service was held in the church social rooms.

The congregation will return to a fresh and inspiring sanctuary this week.

Plans call for completion of the project by Holy Week. The Union Good Friday Service will be held there on April 4.

For the decorating, eight tons of scaffolding was assembled in the sanctuary. Nearly half a ton of paint was put on walls and ceilings.

During the decorating program, passersby have seen a quotation from the 96th Psalm in the outdoor bulletin board, "Strength and beauty are in His Sanctuary."

40 Jehovah's Witnesses Attend Bible Seminar

About 40 area Jehovah's Witnesses will attend a Bible seminar at Jackson, March 14-16, announces Kenneth Ball, presiding minister here.

The conference will be held at the Jackson County building and will include delegates from Monroe, Milan, Ann Arbor, Plymouth, Adrian, Howell, Albion, Battle Creek, and intervening cities.

Mr. Ball declared the purpose of the gatherine ot me for ministry improvement.

Said Mr. Ball, "As a society of ministers, Jehovah's Witnesses are continually trying to better their ministry. This takes study and comparison of the Bible's prophecies with world events. We do this individually and congregationally but to insure our all speaking the same thing we periodically get together for group instruction and training. This uniformity of belief and worship," he continued, "binds us together like a big family.

"Just as a typical family enjoys an occasional get-together, so do we as a spiritual family," he asserted.

The principal speaker for the asembly will be Peter D'Mura of New York, district representative of the Watchtower Bible Society.

The opening session will be at 6:45 p.m. Friday, when Mr. D'Mura will set the convention theme by a lecture, "Fulfilling Our Ministry."

All sessions are free and open to the public.

Maumee Street and Chicago Boulevard Was Once Center of Tecumseh

By CLARA WALDRON

Time's pendulum has swung through the slow are of more than a century and Tecumseh's civic center has now returned to the place of its beginning.

"A Public Promenade" and a Court House Square were two of the four parks set aside by the town's founding fathers for "the public good".

Our new city hall stands on the Promenade.

Both parks bordered what was then the principal street, now called Maumee, but at that time, Miami.

Where it crossed the LaPlaisance Bay road (Chicago boulevard) was the town's "four corners" and there were located the town pump, the first log store, the first frame house, which was also an inn and later the county's first court house.

☆

THE STORE, OPERATED by an Indian trader from Monroe, stood where Dr. Hammel's office in now. General Brown's inn, the Green Tavern occupied the southeast corner and the court house was built in 1832 in what is now called Adams Park.

Until the coming of the railroad in 1838 the civic life of the community centered about that corner.

The first town meeting, in the spring of 1827, was held in General Brown's tavern. It was to organize, not the village government, but that of the township.

And what a township!

Tecumseh included the north one-third of Lenawee county and men rode as far as 20 miles to vote.

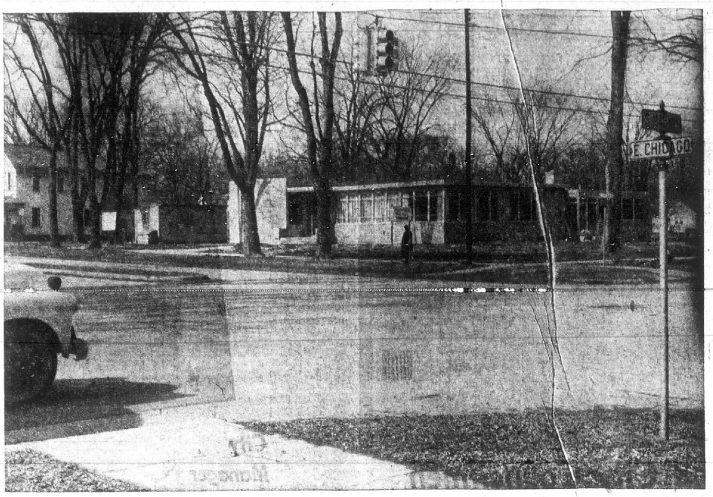
Subsequent meetings were held in the school house, a little frame building just west of the city hall, in homes and, after 1832, in the "new" court house.

Not until 1837 — 13 years after the first settlement — did Tecumseh become an officially incorporated village. Again its organization meeting was held on the "four corners", this time in the court house.

Council meetings and village elections continued to take place there during that building's checkered career, transferring sometime in the 1850s to Union Hall, now the Sage building, with an occasional meeting in the upper floor of the Bidwell block, now Palman's.

☆

AFTER THE Civil War there was increasing interest in the building of a village headquarters, mainly to house needed fire-fighting equipment. A fund of $2,000 was voted by the council and the present fire station on Evans street was completed in 1871.



It housed a handdrawn, steam fire engine and provided a meeting place for the council for village caucuses and elections and even for the local band.

Two years later was added the bell tower and the bell, which for so long doubled in brass as a fire alarm and as a mellow call-to-meeting when the council was in session.

Sometime during this period the fire engine set fire to its own house and the town was nearly without a fire station.

In 1885 additions were made — 12 feet on the north side for a "lock-up" and 20 on the back as a stable for the horses that were to draw a new fire truck.

A matter of much pride — those horses.

No motor-truck could possibly stir so much excitement as their galloping dash. At this time also an upstairs apartment was arranged for the driver of the engine.

Not until 1950 did the village attain the dignity of a business office. Each village clerk had, as it were, carried the office in his hat, working from his own place of business.

☆

THEN THE SMALL house beside the fire station was purchased and became the center of activity.

That house, itself, is worthy of passing notice.

Originally built on the site of the Wright Drug store, it was the first home and office of one of the town's heroic early figures, Dr. M. A. Patterson.

Almost single-handed he brought the community through its first struggling years when the dreaded "fever 'n ague" was so universal that there were not enough well people to care for the sick. He and his house deserve honorable mention.

The names of the men, through the years, who have held village office and served on the council read like a roster of the town's leading citizens.

Oddly enough the very first president did not live near those main four-corners.

He was Seeleck Boughton, a store keeper from "the other side of the creek", in Brownville, but an important figure in the town.

He represented the community on the legislative committee which drafted Michigan's constitution.

☆

MEANWHILE, Maumee and Chicago street, as a main intersection, had withered on the vine.

The Green Tavern had burned after 10 years of use and been replaced by the Frazier house, which in turn, was moved back to make room for a filling station.

The log store had long since disappeared and in its stead was the house now owned by Dr. Hammel, which had been built during the Civil War as a tavern, called the "Bee Hive".

In 1879 the Promenade had been turned over to the school district as the site of the East Branch School, the building which was razed to make way for the new city hall.

Even the Court House had lost its glory. Adrian, having grown in population and political acumen, convinced the state legislature that she deserved to be the county seat: so the building, erected with so much pride was available now to serve other through useful purposes.

It housed three educational institutions — The Academical School, a Branch of the University of Michigan and the Tecumseh Literary Institute.

With the opening of the public high school in 1856 its career came to a rather ignominious end as an axe-handle factory and the land has served as a park, more or less successfully, ever since.

Now that the pendulum has swung back again who knows what may happen at the crossing of Miami and LaPlaisance Bay Road.

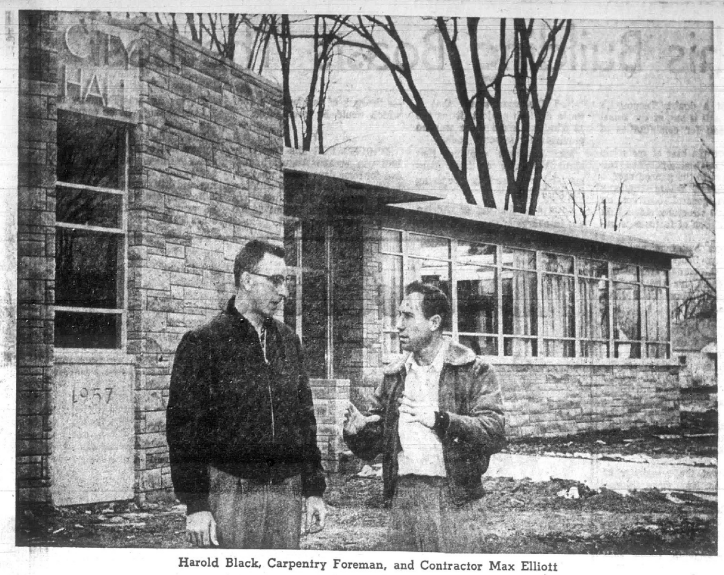
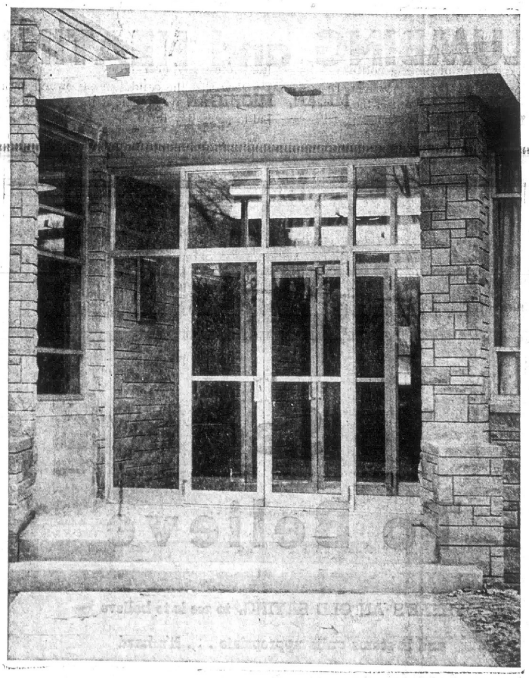
WE'RE MIGHTY PROUD THAT WE BUILT TECUMSEH'S NEW CITY HALL



Harold Black, Carpentry Foreman, and Contractor Max Elliott

. . . WE HOPE YOU ARE AS PROUD OF IT AS WE ARE



FIVE YEARS AGO, our firm was founded. One of the first contracts awarded us was a sidewalk job for the city. It amounted to $300. That was the humble beginning of Elliott Construction company. In the years since 1953, we have tackled many building projects — each one being a little tougher, a little bigger than the previous one.

To date erecting Tecumseh's $95,000 city hall is the highlight of our history.

We are extremely pleased to have been general contractor on this building and hope you'll agree that this is indeed a structure of which we can all be justly proud.

This Building Boasts 'The Best'

Without a doubt, Tecumseh's new city hall is one of the finest in Michigan for communities of this size.

In it are the best of materials — from its highly-polished terrazzo floors to the poured roof.

Max Elliott, whose company served as general contract on this $95,000 structure, states that its combination of features is unusual.

"In some buildings you will find terrazzo floors," states Max, "But not the stone exterior facing. In others, it's the opposite way around. Here, both have been used."

☆

SO IT IS with the lighting, which combined utility and beauty. In council chambers, Industrial Electric Co. of Adrian installed ultra-modern fixtures, using incandescent bulbs.

Above each position at the councilmen's desk is a built-in unit, which spotlights the area immediately in front of each man.

Throughout the remainder of the building, long, sleek fluorescent tubes fill the ceilings, providing a high rate of foot-candle power in every nook and crany.

Industrial Electric also handled all the wiring and this was a major undertaking. Great care was used to insure adequate electrical facilities to avoid any possible overloading.

☆

PLUMBING AND heating installation was awarded to Young & Ost of Milan and here, again, nothing was spared in the way of quality equipment.

Forced-air natural gas furnace, with several thermostats strategically located to control temperatures in various portions of the building, provide heat.

Decorating the city hall was a project which required 175 gallons of paint.

Don Gallant, owner of Gallant Decorators which did the painting, said all the colors were custom mixed. Starting with white, he fashioned beige, green, woodland rose, gray and yellow.

☆

THE BUILDING'S architect, Lyle Sisler, who died suddenly last month, originally suggested the use of venetian blinds on all windows.

However, the idea was rejected and drapes substituted. The Rosacrans store in Tecumseh was awarded the contract.

Ned Rosacrans states that it was a difficult project fitting the 12 windows, since there was no provision for traverse rods.

Mr. Rosacrans explains that about 150 yards of fibre glass material was used in preparing the draperies.

Enterprise Roofing of Adrian was in charge of the top-most job — the task of fashioning a roof which would be trouble-free.

☆

GROUND FOR the new city hall was broken August 5 and, but for some days of bad weather, work progressed rapidly with the crew of 10 to 12 Elliott Construction Co. men. About 20,000 man hours were needed.

Moving day was February 19.

Landscaping will be completed this spring by city workers.

The building affords 4,000 square feet of room on the main floor, with an additional 1,000 square feet in the basement heating and utility room.

Records are kept in two walk-in vaults, one 12x12 and the other 8x12.

To See Is To Believe

THERE'S AN OLD SAYING, to see is to believe and it seems quite appropriate . . . it's hard to put into words the beauty and dignified lines of Tecumseh's new City Hall . . . one has to see it to believe. We're sure Tecumseh folks will agree after they "see." Our concern is happy to have worked on lighting and wiring of this structure.

Banquet Honors Herricks

Warm tribute was paid to Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Herrick at Saturday night's city hall dedication banquet.

More than 250 filled the United Products Workers hall for the roast beef dinner which climaxed the all-day event.

The Herricks were spotlighted for their continued aid to Tecumseh schools, churches, hospital and city government.

The thanks of Tecumseh were encompassed in a certificate presented to the Herricks at the conclusion of the banquet by toastmaster Rev. B. O. Bashore. It read:

"In appreciation of the blessing of Almighty God and a long record of service to the residents and the community of Tecumseh, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Herrick are hereby awarded this Certificate in Commemoration of their fulfilling God's Will."

The award was signed, "By the citizens of Tecumseh, Michigan March 15, 1958."

☆

EARLIER, Rev. Bashore introduced some hi jinx into the otherwise serious affair, announcing that one Raymond Patrick O'Herrick had been accepted as a member in the Tecumseh Gaelic League.

Going along with this was a "shillalah" — a miniature baseball bat wrapped with green ribbon — and a small piece of "blarney stone".

Speakers at the banquet included Jim McDowell, representing the school system; Glenn Kohler, the hospital board; Don Purkey, city government; and Rev. Bashore, churches.

MR. PURKEY pinch-hit for Mayor H. H. Hanna, who was unable to attend because of illness.

He traced the growth of Tecumseh during the past 15 years, following the realization of a dream — building refrigeration compressor.

"Tecumseh has some of the finest housing to be found anywhere," he related. "A drive around town will prove that."

He praised the part that Mr. Herrick had in helping the city grow.

☆

IN MR. McDOWELL'S portion of the program, he recounted broad steps made in educational facilities here from 1948 thanks greatly to large contributions made by Tecumseh Products Co. and Tresco Co.

He told of the gains in enrollment over the years thus requiring new buildings. Herrick Park school, moved into that day was built on land donated to the board of education by Tecumseh Products.

Mr. McDowell pointed out that local structures rate with the finest in the land. Patterson won a national award three years ago and by request has been entered into competition for functional design again this year.

"Our schools are doing good jobs — and that includes our parochial school," the superintendent told the audience.

☆

GROWTH OF THE Herrick Memorial Hospital was charted by Mr. Kohler.

"It was the dream of Dr. H. H. Hammel and Mr. Herrick," the speaker related.

Popular subscriptions in 1937, numbering about 400, were received and construction started on land donated by Henry Ford.

Right from the start, the hospital played a vital role in community living, Mr. Kohler related, then told of additions since then which have swelled the local institution from a 16-bed to almost 90-bed hospital, from 11 employees to 100.

"And not a single penny has ever been charged tax payers," he said.

☆

REV. BASHORE commented on the role of Herricks have played in growth and prosperity of area churches — much of which no one but the immediate benefactors know about.

The toastmaster was introduced by Bob Moore. Wally Whiting led group singing and Mrs. Glenn Driscoll presented organ selections.

Invocation and benediction were by Rev. James Nixon.

THANK YOU — Say the Herricks as they accept congratulations following the city hall dedication banquet which honored them. The gathering attracted 250, was a "hometown" affair with four local men telling about schools, churches, hospital and government in Tecumseh.

HEAVE HO — Everyone on the maintenance staff pitched in Saturday and Sunday in the project of moving into Herrick Park school. Mrs. Gordon Garlick, teaching-principal, polishes a globe at right, as four huskies, from left, Red Shaw, Doug Fairbanks, Bill Every and Bob Purkey, move desks into place. Students started there Monday, without losing a single day of instruction, thanks to administration plan, worked out last spring, to start all future Herrick Park classes as units at Central.

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

WITHOUT A DOUBT, THE man who got as much fun as anyone "out of" Saturday's banquet was the master of ceremonies.

Rev. B. O. Bashore, who drew the assignment only a little over a week before the event, told the audience this was the first time he had ever MCed a banquet.

Then he went ahead and performed as if he had been doing it all his life.

THE YOUNGEST MEMBER OF our staff is Arthur Collingsworth, an eighth grader at Central school with a desire to become a newspaperman.

A few weeks ago, Arthur was moaping around because he heard Rubinoff and His Magic Violin was going to perform in Morenci and how come he wouldn't visit Tecumseh.

Arthur is a lover of classical music and the thought of having a performer of Rubinoff's stature so near and yet so far was frustrating.

Shortly after, Dick Hicks of the Kiwanis Club reported to us that his group was bringing Rubinoff here April 8.

We couldn't resist, so assigned Arthur the job of doing a series of Rubinoff stories for issues prior to the concert. Our youthful scribe has been furiously pounding out copy ever since.

You might have noted in last week's paper a piece by Arthur on Rubinoff. It was one of his proudest accomplishments.

Now he opinions a "Day in the Life of Rubinoff" would make a wonderful feature — and he'd be happy to get all the facts, if he could be excused from classes.

Arthur says that the violinist will be giving concerts in the Central and St. Elizabeth schools the morning of April 8, have lunch at the Country Club, visit Parrett Nursing Home, dine with Rotary, then give his evening performance at the high school.

We're inclined to think that Arthur could do a pretty good job on such a yarn.

A GOAL OF 100 members by April 1 has been set by the provisional committee, which has been doing the preliminary Chamber work.

At a meeting Tuesday night in the new city hall, the list of potential members, who have not been personally contacted as yet, was carefully checked.

It showed at least 68 more who probably will want to join, thus almost assuring a sucessful drive.

Those already signed will each contact several, explain the Chamber idea, answer any questions.

The Herald office serves as a temporary headquarters, where information about the new Chamber can be obtained by anyone interested.

Ray R. Eppert, Executive Vice President of the Burroughs Corporation, Detroit, will be the guest speaker at an organizational meeting of the Lenawee County United Fund. The dinner meeting will be held Wednesday evening, March 26, at 6:30 p.m. at the Madison Township School on Treat Road.

Mrs. Rentschler Honored Sunday at Vesper Service

Special tribute in the form of a "Thanks Badge" was presented to Mrs. Truman Rentschler by her troop of Girl Scouts Sunday during the Vesper Service held at Presbyterian Fellowship Center.

Jackie Rucker presented the badge speaking for the troop in appreciation for the extensive time and effort Mrs. Rentschler has spent as their leader during their Senior Scouting Days.

This troop of girls will graduate not only from high school this year, but also from Senior Scouting, the first troop in many years.

This in itself is a tribute to the untiring efforts of their leader.

Mrs. Rentschler is a charter member of the Girl Scout Association which was organized 13 years ago in Tecumseh.

Troops 7 and 9 under the direction of Mrs. Julius Vincze and Mrs. Clifford Cameron were chairmen of the vesper service which was held at 4 o'clock with Mrs. Fred Dickinson presiding at the organ.

Mrs. Robert Anderson, president of the Association welcomed the guests. The program included singing, flag ceremonies, the promises, prayer, a dedication ceremony and special tributes.

Good Friday Service Planned by Ministers

Arrangements are being made by the Tecumseh Ministerial Association for the annual Good Friday service April 4 from noon until 3 p.m. in the Tecumseh Methodist Church.

Seven of the local ministers will be speaking during the afternoon at this traditional service.

As in the past, the business places will probably be closed to enable employees to attend the services or a part of them.

Explosion, Fire Hit Jones Sealing Midnight Tuesday

An explosion, followed by a fire at midnight Tuesday, seriously damaged the Jones Sealing Service at 6 S. Occidental road.

Neighbors hear the blast about 11:40, spotted flames in the building.

An oil stove is believed to have caused the blaze, which burned through the roof.

There was extensive water damage, fire chief Cecil Alderdyce reports.

☆

Fire destroyed the R. T. Davis trailer-home and its contents in a Sunday noon blaze at Paul's Trailer Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis had gone out to dinner when an over-heated oil heater apparently started the fire.

Tecumseh's department was unable to save anything.

Tuesday, local smoke eaters were called to the Harold Ashenfelter residence at 505 W. Chicago boulevard when a chimney burned itself out.

The house filled with smoke, but there was no damage from flames.

127 Are Employed at Training School

Thirty-five members and guests of the Tecumseh Monday Club went on tour of the Girls Training School in Adrian Monday following a talk concerning the operation of the school by the superintendent, Mrs. Watt.

In her talk Mrs. Watt said that 127 people are employed there including teachers, nurses, a doctor and a protestant minister. A Catholic chaplain visits the school each week.

The school includes 23 buildings on about 70 acres of ground. The girls live in cottages with a housemother for each one and each girl has a room of her own.

Tecumseh Views New City Hall at Open House

BY ARTHUR J. COLLINGSWORTH

"WITH THE WILL OF GOD we dedicate this beautiful city hall trusting that always it may be a place where the government is such that the least shall be heard and considered side by side with the greatest."

So Rev. Alvin Brazee closed his speech at the formal dedication of the Tecumseh city hall Saturday afternoon.

Speaking before a packed council chamber, Rev. Brazee related past historical incidents at the present location.

He pointed out how buildings there had changed since his childhood. The text of his speech was "Life's Eastern and Western Windows".

Due to Mayor Hannah's illness, John Hamilton introduced Rev. Brazee.

Following the dedication speech city manager Edward Nelson accepted a flag from Clifford J. Curran of the Tecumseh VFW post.

☆

THE CITY HALL COST $95,000, was completed and moved into last month.

A clock for the lobby was donated by the Highway Department in memory of Arthur B. Harding, a long time employee.

A settee was given by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

☆

THE CITY HALL CONTAINS offices for the mayor, city manager, city engineer, city clerk and three secretaries; a lobby, public rest rooms, two large vaults and council chambers.

The police station has two cells, office for the chief, lobby, locker rooms, interrogation room and storage rooms.

In the basement is the future communication room for civil defense, office for heads of the water and electric department and the boiler rooms.

☆

FLOWERS BEDECKED BOTH the police wing and the city hall proper as many visitors passed through the structure during open house.

☆

THE AMERICAN LEGION told city officials it is giving a flag pole, which will be placed in front of the building when it arrives.

☆

REV. ROBERT T. BERGMAN of the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church asked about purchasing a 49x170-foot strip of city property at the southwest corner of North Evans street and Brown street.

The church recently acquired Brownville school near the intersection.

Council told the pastor his request would be taken under consideration, and the city would have something to offer at the next meeting.

☆

IN OTHER ACTION, council voted to pay the Board of Reviews $20 per day for its services, and $1.25 per hour plus lunch and dinner to those working on the election board.

Since the city election is to be held April 7 in the council room, the next regular meeting will be held April 8.

NEW CHURCH SITE — The old Brownville school, which had served as a kindergarten until Friday, is now the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church. First service of the congregation will be held Sunday morning at 10:30, reports Rev. Robert Bergman, pastor.

Opening Service

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Gloria Dei Moves into New Location

Gloria Dei Lutheran Church will hold its first services Sunday in the recently purchased Brownville school building at N. Evans and Brown street.

The congregation, with the aid of the Michigan Synod of the United Lutheran Church, purchased the building for $17,500. It was formerly run by Henry Ford as an eight-grade school, and until this week used by the Tecumseh school district as a kindergarten.

A house adjacent to the school property has also been purchased for use as a parish Hall. The home was previously owned by Mr. and Mrs. Homer F. Coy.

The two properties give the church two acres of land.

The Church services will be held at 10:30 a.m. and the Sunday School at 9:15. The worship service will be in the Brownville school buiding and the Sunday School will be held in the Parish Hall, 105 Brown street.

Harry Farrell is chairman of the property committee which will direct the conversion of the school into a chapel.

☆

CARL KENNEL was selected by the committee to supervise the work which will be mainly by the men and women in the congregation.

Mrs. James Tonneberger and Mrs. Elizabeth Wing are serving as the women's voice on the committee.

The congregation has been holding services since August, 1957, and was formally organized on February 23.

Up until now the facilities of the public schools were used under special arrangements in connection with the negotiations for the purchase of the Brownville property from the school district.

SO FAR AS statisticians can figure, he has already netted well over 100,000 points during his career.

All of which puts him in a class by himself as one of the game's all-time greats as a practioner of the serious side of the sport.

His age has been estimated anywhere from 38 to 99 but Tatum admits being "only as old as Jack Benny." At times, he is also as much a comedian.

Recently he was asked about the many "mosts" and "firsts" in his long career, he said that the one that stood out farthest was the fifteen minute "bit" engagement in Rome.

Tatum had been playing to packed houses in the Italian Capitol when Pope Pius XII asked an American Embassy official if he could arrange a demonstration of the crowd-pleaser's game.

The engagement was added to Tatum's busy schedule and a basketball court was improvised in a Vatican courtyard.

Goose held a 15 minute intersquad exhibition for the Pope then stood still while his Holiness, now a basketball fan, fired questions at him about the popular sport.

"It was my greatest thrill," says Goose reviewing 24 years of hardwood excitement. "He was plenty interested in the game and I was so nervous I could barely talk."

Tatum may have been at a loss for words in the Vatican Court, but fans have never found him at a loss for laughs or a high point performance on the cage court.

With the coming of spring, not only the birds return to the Northland but also those Tecumseh residents who have been spending the winter months in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Munger were recently seen on Tecumseh's main street nicely tanned from their winter in the sun.

Mrs. Earl Wood also returned a couple of weeks ago.

√

Mrs. Louis S. Schneider is in Florida for the second time this winter. She is accompanied by Mrs. Owen A. McCullough of Blissfield, Michigan.

They visited the Citrus Tower located on U.S. Highway 27 between Silver Springs and the Cypress Gardens March 10.

The weather there was a sunny 78 degrees that day.

√

Others are having wonderful vacations during this "phew" weather here in Michigan. Among them are the Max Elliott family, which left Sunday to spend two weeks in Arizona with Mrs. Elliott's relatives. After the effort spent on the new city hall, it is a well earned rest Max is enjoying.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kelso left Saturday morning to enjoy a trip into Mexico and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith left Sunday for the the same area.

√

Mrs. Roy Whiting has returned from a trip to Washington, D. C. where she met with other members of the National Council for Catholic Women, returned on the train seated with Mrs. Charles Eberhardt of Detroit, who is the mother of Mrs. Thomas Riordan of Tecumseh.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rice of Cincinnati, Ohio were called to Tecumseh for the funeral service of her grandfather, Louis Sinelli.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cornell and Ward were callers in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Renwick of Plymouth Sunday. They also visited their daughter, Cathy, who is a student at the University of Michigan.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Packard celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary March 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herman in Clinton.

A tiered cake was presented to them by their friends and neighbors and they received many lovely gifts from their family and friends.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Clough are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary March 25 at their winter home at 2029 Pinehurst, Florida.

A celebration is planned in their honor when they return to Tecumseh later in the spring.

√

Mrs. Richard Coak, Mrs. Cecil Smith, Mrs. Robert D. Moore and Mrs. W. T. Clarton of Britton attended the First Detroit Area Hospital Auxiliary Workshop Tuesday at the new Veteran's Memorial building in Detroit.

Mrs. Henry Howard entertained 17 girls of the high school basketball team at the Howard home on North Evans street Friday evening for a pizza party.

She was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Thomas Gallant, Sr. of Adrian, Mrs. Frank Robinette and Mrs. Ronald Muckensturm.

The girls enjoyed games and 17 pizzas during the evening.

Eight of them held a slumber party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kunkle following, happy in the thought that they were secure in the home of a registered nurse. Fortunately no one was ill.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Day will be in Kalamazoo Sunday afternoon to hear the Women's Glee Club of Western University sing with the Kalamazoo Symphony orchestra. Their daughter, Betty, is a member of the Glee Club.

AS THE TIME FOR THE PRESentation of the Junior plays approaches the cast and the committees work harder and harder.

The plays, a melodrama and a drama, will be presented by the 11th grade thespians Friday and Saturday, March 28 and 29, promptly at 8 o'clock.

A play of any kind involves a lot of hard work by everyone concerned. Usually for high school plays it takes about eight weeks to get them in shape for production.

The final offering is a big thing because it is the total of many arts: writing, directing, acting, and set decoration.

Just to get the actors and actresses ready without the sets is a great effort.

Cast members were given one week to learn their lines, but with a three-act play they are usually given about two weeks to get a general idea of what they were supposed to be doing.

The first-day rehearsal is spent mostly in the directors shouting criticisms at the action as it is happening on the stage. The cast is frequently stopped to have the criticism explained and enlarged on.

During the first week a good share of the blocking is done. Blocking is telling the actors where to move and how to do it. This prevents them from bumping into things, other actors and making wasted motion.

By the second and third weeks, the cast knows the rough blocking and rough lines pretty well.

During the rest of the eight-week rehearsal period, players perfect their lines, stage business and blocking.

By March 28 two months will have been spent on the play.

The stage crew has been working for a week now on the scenery for both one-act plays.

The properties committee has borrowed "period" clothes for the melodrama. There is even a tinny old piano to be played for background music in the melodrama.

The rehearsals, which are about one-and-one-half to two hours long, are lots of fun to watch—the cast and director usually have a good time, even though they are working hard.

At this late date instead of shouting criticisms, the director writes them down and gives them to the actors after the whole play has been staged. This way the continuity of the plot is not disturbed.

Although the scenery is, as yet makeshift, the action is moved around what is missing. Only representations of the main props are seen.

In between the short plays, the cast and director joke with each other to relax.

To the actors there are a few other ways of relaxing. One of the boys with the lead parts in the drama insists that standing on his hands makes the blood rush to his head and that this relaxes him. It's fun to watch whether it does or not.

No serious complaints are registered. The most often heard was some joking remarks about too much food to eat during rehearsals.

If the audience is able to enjoy the play half as much as the cast is, giving it, it will be a big success.

THE TEEN CLUB HAS MADE some changes in the constitution to strengthen it.

At the well-attended dance Saturday night at the Teen Club a general meeting was held.

An election committee volunteered to nominate a new vice-president, representatives from each class, and chairman and co-chairman of the committees.

There will be two representatives from the eighth grade, two from the ninth, two from the tenth, two from the eleventh, and one from the twelfth grade.

Greg Mason has moved up from the vice-presidency to the presidency.

A committee was appointed to supervise the use of the pool table—co-chairmen of the committee are Dave Champanois and Greg Mason.

Report cards for the first six-week period of the second semester were given out Friday.

The Teen Club is having a dance Friday night with an election of officers during the evening.

There also will be a dance Saturday.

Civil Air Patrol Expands Program in City Squadron

The Tecumseh Civil Air Patrol is now accepting new cadet application and renewals. An increase in senior membership has made a larger cadet program possible, states Harold Davenport.

The new program offers complete pre-flight instruction and a chance to participate in actual flights as observers. The Air Force has made available aircraft for the Tecumseh Squadron.

Cadets will be flown with parents permission only and all flights will be made by pilots holding CAA and CAP ratings. There will be a minimum of one ride per cadet a month.

New courses covering theory of flight, aircraft and engines, meteorology and navigation are being started.

All cadets will have the opportunity to compete for National Encampments; Maxwell Field at Montgomery, Alabama for girls and Chanute Field, Rantoul, Illinois for boys.

Those who are interested are invited to come to the American Legion Home Tuesday, March 25, at 7 p.m. to receive further information.

Britton Five Finally Falls in Tournament

An overtime loss Saturday night to Dimondale at Ypsilanti dumped the Britton Tories from the race for the state Class D championship.

The Tories, ranked third in pre-tourney polls and the best basketball team in the school's history, nearly salvaged the regional title game after first half jitters gave Dimondale a 26 to 15 lead.

Britton, outscoring its opponents 19 to 15 from the field, connected on only 6 of 16 free throws while Dimondale was cashing in 13 of 25 attempts.

Coach Bill Hetrick's club gained the finals by rallying against Memphis Friday evening, 40 to 38.

A full court press, which almost proved fatal for Dimondale, befuddled the Memphis team which led Britton by 12 points at the half.

Grain Produced in Violation Not Eligible

Any oats, barley or rye produced in violation of leases restricting production of surplus crops on Federally-owned land will not be eligible for price support in 1958.

While the basic support rates are established for grades as indicated in the listing of support prices, minimum eligibility requirements for obtaining price support on the four grains are included in the program as follows:

Oats—Grade No. 3 or better, or No. 3 garlicky or better.

Barley—Grade No. 4 or better, or No. 4 garlicky or better.

Grain Sorghum—No. 4 or better, Grade No. 4 smutty or better, or Grade No. 4 discolored or better, and containing not more than 13 percent moisture.

Rye—Grade No. 2 or better, or Grade No. 3 because of test weight only, and containing not more than 1 percent ergot.

☆

DISCOUNTS ARE provided to determine support rates for grains grading below grades for which basic rates are set. Premiums are provided for oats grading above the basic grade of No. 3.

No premiums are provided for the other three grains. The premiums and discount provisions are the same as in previous programs. County rates will be announced later.

The national average support prices announced today compare with support prices for 1957 crops of 95 cents per bushel for oats, and $1.18 per bushel for rye. These rates reflected 70 percent of parity prices as of the beginning of marketing years for these grains.

Said Mr. D'Mura, "The present world and generation appears to be engulfed in fear.

"It is not natural", D'Mura continued, "to live in fear and dread. Man was meant to Be happy with the feeling of fearlessness; to act at will within the bounds set for him by God. It in turn would result in a climate of security for him and his family."

So Far, Farmers Have Signed Up for Half Million

Lenawee county farmers who did not have a chance to sign up for the Acreage Reserve might care to examine some of the features of the Conservation Reserve program.

Only about one-half a million of the more than $6 million allocated to Michigan for the 1958 Conservation Reserve program has been signed for.

Arthur Capper, chairman of the Lenawee County ASC committee, said farmers may sign contracts under this program until April 15.

He said farmers should come into the county office to talk over conservation practices which will earn them payments under the Soil Bank program.

He called attention to some of the changes in the 1958 Conservation Reserve program that may make a more desirable contract for farmers than was available last year.

For example, beginning in 1958, farmers may sign 5 or 10 year contracts for land to be put into trees or shrub plantings for shelterbelt, windbreak, or wildlife habitat purposes.

Before this, all trees and shrub plantings were under 10-year contract only. The 10-year contract will still apply to tree plantings for forestry purposes.

He said another important point is that the Conservation Reserve program is open to all farmers, whether or not they have an acreage allotment for "basic" crops.

A Tribute to Mr. Herrick

When Ray Herrick was a toolmaker for the Ford Motor Company, he became a close friend of Henry Ford.

That association deepened over the years. As Mr. Herrick struck out on his own and in 1934 formed Tecumseh Products, Mr. Ford lent guidance and encouragement.

Something else helped broaden the relationship between the two men — a mutual love for the city of Tecumseh and its surrounding farmlands.

Both did much to help nuture its growth.

It was most natural that Mr. Herrick should seek out Ford Motor as a customer. He had an open door — but once inside he had to be able to produce.

And produce he did.

Over the years, Ford has been a steady Products account because it more often than not could get the job done faster and better and cheaper.

When folks in Tecumseh decided the city hall dedication banquet would be an opportune time to display formal appreciation for the things Mr. Herrick has done for the community, a note was sent to Ford's telling of the affair.

In response came a letter from Henry Ford II, president of the firm. It was read at the banquet by Harold Kohlmeir, a personal representative of Mr. Ford.

We think that this letter does much to sum up the feelings of the occasion. It read:

"Dear Ray,

"I am very sorry that I am not able to attend the dinner that your friends in Tecumseh have arranged in your honor. But I do want to take advantage of the occasion to send you my warmest personal congratulations.

"It seems that almost every time your name comes up, it is in connection with another service you have rendered your community.

"I am delighted that your fellow citizens in Tecumseh are making this public acknowledgement of your contributions.

"You know of the great esteem that my grandfather had for you. You know, too, that we at Ford Motor Company are proud of our long business association with your company.

"But beyond this, I want to congratulate you as a friend on your distinguished record of civic accomplishment, of which the community building you are dedicating is a most appropriate symbol.

"Very Sincerely,

"Henry Ford"

This Could Save Your Life

Your chances of being killed or injured by a driver who shouldn't even be permitted on the roads will be greatly increased if a bill passed by the Michigan Senate is also passed by the House and signed by the Governor.

About two years ago, when people were shocked into action by the high number of traffic deaths, much study was given to ways to reduce accidents. It was decided that the best way to get quick improvement was to get accident prone, consistent violators off the roads.

As soon as this and other steps were taken, the number of traffic deaths did start downward.

The Secretary of State was authorized to set up a board of examiners to interview drivers whose records of arrests and accidents indicated they were a threat.

About 28,000 such hearings were held last year. In some instances driver licenses were revoked; in other cases suspended. Sometimes the driver was warned. All decisions were subject to review of the courts.

Now comes a senator to argue that the Circuit Court should conduct these hearings and decide what should be done with the drivers.

This is a job so big that circuit judges are appalled at the thought. They cannot handle it properly. Jammed circuit dockets are already a source of haggling. Cases are months behind.

If these 72 courts are given the huge task of holding 28,000 or more hearings per year, it is plain that most hearings will not be held.

If hearings are not held, drivers who should be off the roads will be driving. More people will be killed, more property damaged.

Contact your representative and tell him you favor the existing plan which has resulted in thousands of lives being saved. Tell him that you want a practical plan which will protect you most when you are on the highway.

Cub Scouts Plan March 24 Session at Dustin Home

Plans were made for the monthly meeting of Cub Scout Pack 4 at the home of the Cubmaster, Dr. Richard Dustin on March 10.

Mrs. Phena Anderson, Den Mother of Den 5, will be idea chairman for the meeting which will be at the Union Hall March 24, when a talent show will be presented.

A discussion was held concerning the April Pack meeting when Mrs. Douglas Hall and Mrs. Paul Wilcox of Den 8 will be idea chairmen. The theme will be "Keeping America Beautiful."

Dens 3 and 4 reported a recent visit to the State Police Post in Clinton and Den 1 reported a visit to the local Telephone Company and plans for a tour of the Police Post and the WABJ radio station.

NEIGHBORHOOD GOSSIPING

A definite pattern has appeared in our locale. Every day the Neighborhood Gossiping Association convenes. The latest news and "did you know" is systematically carried from house to house; they almost work on a time table.

Main participants in these daily tete-a-tetes are Lady, Duke, Rivets, Penny and Sport. Of course we're speaking of dogs—what else!

Our Lady, a tri-color Llewellyn setter, is kept on a long chain so every day she does her receiving at home. When weather permits and his owners let him out, Ginger, a cute little red rocker pup is Lady's first guest.

Early in the morning this little red streak comes dashing across the creek, straight for Lady.

After thoroughly discussing all that has happened since their last meeting, they play a little bit and then Ginger is off on a neighborhood tour.

☆

DUKE AND RIVETS are old stand-bys. Several years Lady's senior, Duke, a big German Shepherd type dog finds it beneath his dignity to spend much time on trivial neighborhood matters.

He comes over several times a day, however, and although the visits are short, they are apparently long enough to impart all that is newsworthy.

Rivets, who has the soul of a Gypsy, loves to roam and is therefore usually kept on a long chain. Often he can be seen sitting at the end of his chain, quietly studying all that goes on in his domain.

When loose, he takes a jet fast trip around the neighborhood barking a quick hello and good-bye as he zooms through.

All the slow-moving sadness of a hound is personified in Sport, the beagle. The friendship tentatively started last fall was cemented by several hunting trips so now Lady and Sport are bosom buddies.

The first thing done by whomever is loose is to go calling on the other. A big setter and a little beagle present a ridiculous picture but they certainly have fun.

Honorary members in this neighborhood association are Yi and a big Irish setter we call Big Red. With the slowing down of age and the closer surveillance given to a house dog, Yi no longer roams the neighborhood as he once did.

☆

BRISK MORNING, afternoon and evening walks, however, keep him on the scene and make him part of the group. A cocker spaniel, Yi is coal black and has long silky ears and enormous floppy feet of his breed; his little black face is now mustached in old-age white.

Big Red's trips around the neighborhood in person are rare but her moral and vocal support are invaluable.

She also adds class and beauty —few things are prettier than the sight of a large Irish setter, whose red coat glistens and shines in the bright fall sunshine, working a good pheasant field.

"There's one in every neighborhood" describes Penny.

A short haired, short legged, black and white dog—somewhere in his background there must have been a dachshund—we'll not speculate as to the rest of the ancestry.

Friend to the whole world, Penny wanders about the neighborhood adopting everybody and everything.

From utility men installing new equipment to new children exploring the creek, Penny supervises all.

Nothing goes on without his knowing it and as a 'member in good standing', he dutifully reports all.

☆

IN ADDITION to keeping well informed on what's going on, the canine conclave has other purposes. Being civic minded they have organized a community chorus. Just let a siren wail or the church bells peal and they tune up.

Such artistic and musical howling. What they lack in quality they make up for in dependability.

Be it the fire siren, police car or an ambulance, they are instantly alert. They are equally atune to the first bell that sounds Sunday morning.

The group has also worked out an effective warning system.

When one member spots anything amiss, something that should be barked at, he knows that the whole neighborhood will lend support.

Woe to the hapless prowler who mistakenly thinks this might be a good spot for a midnight stroll. The instant he is spotted the whole neighborhood will be alerted.

At times it's comforting to know that we have such an ever ready, always alert alarm.

Good judgment has prevailed until now, but before someone makes the inquiry, may I reassure all that, no, the West end of Logan Street has not completely gone to the dogs!

(Next week: "Outside—Nothing!"

At the meeting of the Tecumseh Grange Thursday evening plans were made for the fish supper which is to be held March 20.

During the meeting it was reported that members had replaced three pints of blood at Herrick Memorial Hospital, also that a committee will appoint a girl to compete in the Dairy Queen contest.

A dance for the benefit of the Cancer Society will be held at the Union Hall April 5 under the sponsorship of the Grange.

Another dance at the Grange Hall will be held March 22 with the public invited.

☆

FOLLOWING the business meeting, the lecturer presented a quiz on Grange work and a film on "Leader Dogs for the Blind" from the school at Rochester, Michigan.

The next meeting will be held March 27 with the public invited for an open house begining with a potluck supper to be served at 7.

Baptist Choir Hears Recording of Its Cantata

The Choir of the First Baptist Church and Rev. B. O. Bashore accepted the invitation of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Coak to enjoy coffee and cake in their home, while listening to the tape recordings made by Dr. Coak of the Christmas Cantata and Wednesday evenings practice period.

The Choir, spent the remainder of the evening organizing into a unit to further the music and social interests of the group and to promote activities.

Organization consisted of election of officers and they were president, Mrs. Richard Coak; secretary, Mrs. Benjamin Antrobus, treasurer, Mrs. Vern Manwaring; sunshine chairman, Mrs. Earl Woods.

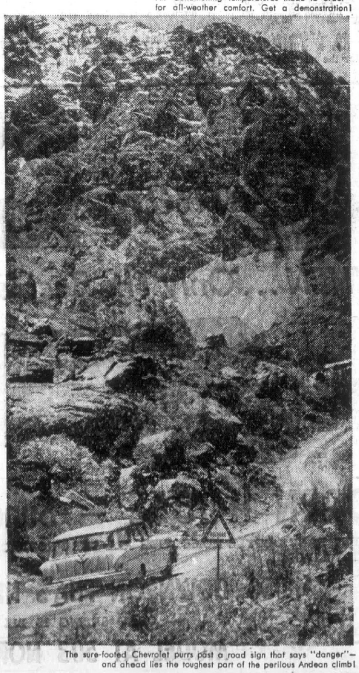
CHEVY'S NEW V8 LEVELS THE HIGHEST, HARDEST HIGHWAY OVER THE ANDES!

To prove the durability of Chevrolet's radical new Turbo-Thrust V8,* the tremendous flexibility of the new Turboglide transmission,* the incredible smoothness of Full Coil suspension, we tackled the most challenging transcontinental road in the world — the 1,000-mile General San Martin Highway. To make it harder, the Automobile Club of Argentina sealed the hood shut at Buenos Aires — no chance to add oil or water or adjust carburetors for high altitude.

So the run began — across the blazing Argentine pampas, into the ramparts of the forbidding Andes. Up and up the road climbed, almost 2½ miles in the sky! Drivers gasped for oxygen at 12,572 feet — but the Turbo-Thrust V8 never slackened its torrent of power, the Full Coil springs smothered every bump, the Turboglide transmission made play of grades up to 30 percent. Then a plunge to the Pacific at Valparaiso, Chile, a quick turn-around and back again. Time for the round trip: 41 hours 14 minutes — and the engine was never turned off!

*Extra-cost option.



The sure-footed Chevrolet purrs past a road sign that says "danger"— and ahead lies the toughest part of the perilous Andean climb!

The Pentecost Farm Bureau met Saturday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gove with 41 members present.

The topic for discussion was "Agricultural Research or Bust for Michigan." A report by the Blue Cross secretary was given on the "datamatic" machine to take over the duties and be in full working order by the end of two years and replace 250 employees.

The machine was seen by many on TV, however, to refresh and introduce the information about the machine, Mr. Gove stated "The machine costs (out of operating costs including the men's salary to operate) $37,000 rent a month.

It takes up the space of three large rooms the size of the Farm Bureau auditorium at Madison Center.

It prints data on any one person in one second. Prints 60,000 digits and 950 lines per second. This machine will take over the duties of the Blue Cross secretaries in as much as Farm Bureau members will pay their Blue Cross payments and be notified of these payments in the near future, direct from Detroit.

The Blue Cross secretaries of the Farm Bureau Groups wish to emphasize, however, that all information such as deaths, births, marriages, etc. of the Farm Bureau members are to be given to your group or the County Blue-Cross Service Chairman if you have had your name transferred to this group, and taken off the list of the Farm Bureau in your neighborhood, because of inactive work with that group.

Get any information to these secretaries so coverage of the added person or persons may be changed and in some cases not covered. This must be done within 30 days after the event took place.

This is the responsibility of each individual Farm Bureau member, not the Blue Cross Secretary whose duty is only to report these facts to the Adrian office, to be tabulated on the datamatic machine, after the information has been given to her.

Also, all 19-year-old people must be reported to the Blue Cross Secretary or they will not be covered upon their 20th birthday.

If a person marries before they are 21 they must apply for separate Farm Bureau membership for the two and automatically are not covered by the family plan, and must take out Blue Cross coverage for two.

These facts are most important to Farm Bureau families and Blue Cross secretaries are not responsible until this information is in their hands to be sent in triplicate to the Adrian office.

Social Security numbers must be given to the Blue Cross secretaries for the datamatic machine to "identify" your family.

These Twins Love To Sing

Confusion in the Michigan Men's Glee Club, which sings in Tecumseh March 27, often exists because of a set of identical twins in the tenor section.

Ed and Fred Farran of Grand Rapids, Michigan, have been interested and active in music for a number of years.

They have been singing together in quartets since the seventh grade.

ED AND FRED FARRAN

In 1955 under the auspices of SPEBSQUA, their quartet won first place in the annual Grand Rapids area contest.

In addition to this vocal experience, each has studied the piano and trumpet.

Despite their many remarkable similarities, they do have varied interests in th academic field. Ed is a junior in the Literary College and majoring in Zoology while Fred is a Junior in the Engineering School and majoring in Aeronautical Engineering.

Despite the fact that much confusion still exists in the Glee Club over which is Ed and which is Fred—they are proving to be a great addition to the Glee Club.

The visit is being sponsored by the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"We'd like to have you inspect and list our house," a lady said one day on the phone.

When I arrived, she explained that they wanted to list with several brokers.

I told her that their house was a good property and deserved the best in selling treatment. "In my opinion," I said, "that means an exclusive listing with just one broker. Such listings get preferred attention."

"Sounds reasonable," she said, "but I'll have to talk it over with my husband."

Later I called for an appointment to talk with both of them. "My husband was skeptical," she said, "when I first mentioned the idea. But I told him you had been in business long enough to know what you're doing. That seemed to convince him. Come on out, we will sign the exclusive listing."

I, too, was sure her "salesmanship" had convinced her husband because he willingly signed the listing without much comment.

Within 60 days, we SOLD their house at the exact listed price.

As I handed him the Sales Contract to sign, her husband commented, "I was somewhat reluctant to give the listing on our house to just one firm. But I'm definitely convinced now. Thanks for a job well done."

May we help you sell your property too?

There is so much Patterson Home Fair news to tell this week we hardly know where to begin.

Many colorful posters telling about our Fair were made by the fourth, fifth and sixth grade children and prizes were awarded to Kingsley Dunne, Christine Pence and Linda Callihan.

Maps will be available to all visitors, to direct them to the various booths.

A checkroom will be provided for those who wish to check their coats. This will be supervised by Frederick F. Dickinson.

☆

AT THE HAT BOOTH, Mrs. Purnell Osburn is chairman with Mrs. Homer Colson, Mrs. A. L. VanWinkle, Mrs. Edgar Buttolph and Mrs. Carl Kennel. There will be cowboy hats, top hats, pixie hats, hats with various school names, pirate hats and indian head dresses for sale.

For those who would like a silhouette of a child or relative, Frances Baker will be drawing them at her booth. She will be helped by Mrs. Robert King, Mrs. Keith Barron, Mrs. Winthrop Winfield, Mrs. Carleton Cook, Mrs. Robert Anderson and Mrs. Raymond Kempf.

An added attraction at the candy booth will be many colorful Easter baskets. They will be various sizes and filled with candies and toys.

☆

AN INTERESTING new feature this year, is the Sample Booth. After purchasing a shopping bag one is entitled to a free sample, with many sample products available.

MARCH 22 IS the deadline for entering students with Mrs. Leslie Kampa, 821 Vine street, Adrian who is the chairman of the Interlochen Scholarship committee.

Several clubs in Tecumseh are anxious to sponsor students to this contest, but have not been able to find other interested students.

Gerald VanValkenburg Marries Danish Girl in Copenhagen Rite

Mr. and Mrs. Faye VanValkenburg and other relatives and friends have received announcements of the marriage of Gerald VanValkenburg to Kim Holm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Emil Holm of Copenhagen, Denmark.

March 1 was the date of the wedding which took place in the bride's church in Copenhagen.

A part of the Danish service was given in English and the couple were attended by Rita and Bjome Holm.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bridal gown of white with a veil and carried a bridal bouquet. Instead of the usual love songs used here in America for such occasions three hymns were sung during the ceremony.

☆

DURING A FAMILY dinner, tributes were given to the newly-married couple by each one present as is the custom in that country.

During the reception gifts were opened and dancing was enjoyed with the newly married couple dancing alone to the clapping of hands in time with the music of one of the hymns.

Those clapping closed in on the dancers until they were not able to move any longer; then all joined in the dance.

Instead of throwing the bridal bouquet each girl present tore a bit from it to keep for good luck and the ceremony ended with rice throwing as in our country.

☆

MR. AND MRS. VanValkenburg toured England for two weeks including a visit to London returning to Copenhagen on March 16.

They went from there to Frankfurt, Germany where the groom is a specialist third class with the Security Agency of the U.S. Army.

They expect to come to the United States about May 1 following his discharge from the army after three-years service.

Mrs. VanValkenburg would like to continue with her education after entering the United States. She speaks and writes English and spent one year studying in London, following her graduation in Copenhagen.

☆

MR. VANVALKENBURG graduated from Tecumseh High School and the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor in 1955 as a civil engineer and before entering army service was employed by the State Highway Department.

He was given a leave of absence from there and will resume work in his former position upon returning to Michigan.

He entered army service May 13, 1955 and has been in Germany since August 1956.

Is That So!

By CLARA WALDRON

Modern bridges, for some reason, seem to lack individuality. Perhaps they do not even think of themselves as bridges.

They are just filled-in, leveled-up continuations of a highway. They completely ignore the water beneath them.

The motorist driving on Evans street near the Episcopal church scarcely knows he is crossing a bridge. The creek, even in its most rampageous moments, is almost unnoticed.

Will the new bridge in Brownville be able to "high-hat" the river? Here-to-fore, the Raisin, at high water, has always made itself felt.

If steel and cement can blot out the roar of white water over the dam it will be the first time since it was harnessed in 1824.

☆

IT HAS GIVEN a lot of useful service—and a lot of trouble—since then. For the first two years it sawed lumber and ground grain quite serenely, then, in 1827, with the spring run-off the dam and bridge went too.

Now-a-days that would be a nuisance. Then it was a catastrophe. The bridge of course could be easily replaced once the water went down. It was the dam that was so vital to the town.

This time they needed a stronger one and it would cost money—all of $400!

And they did not have it. They did, however, have determination and they knew "the right people." So a long-term loan was arranged with the recently organized State Bank of Michigan at Detroit, and in 1828 a new dam and bridge were built.

In the meantime grain was carried to Monroe for grinding, often literally carried on the back of the hungry settler.

☆

THAT SECOND DAM must have been of sturdy construction for it is not until 1855 that we again find the laconic bad news that the "bridge was out."

By this time the Red Mill (from which the pond gets its name) had been built and the artificial channel, or race, dug along the north side of the river so there were now two bridges; one over the dam and one over the narrower race.

Records do not tell us much of the construction of the new bridge, but they do tell how "traffic" was handled until it was done.

Grading was ordered at the north end of Maumee street, where it then scrambled down the clay bank to the river. The river was forded at that point and a temporary bridge was built over the race, which was too deep to ford.

Prices must have gone up by 1868 when the river went on a rampage again for the next new bridge cost the village $550 with the township making up the remainder.

How much the remainder was we have no way of knowing, but in 1872 the iron bridge near the Globe mill cost $3,000, including the stone abutments; while, in 1840, Evans creek had been spanned for an even $100.

There was at least one more washout between 1868 and the turn of the century, but we do not know exactly when, and in 1874 a life was lost in the spring freshet. George Hamilton, one of the owners of the White mill tried to free a log from the dam and was swept away.

☆

MEMORIES OF THOSE years may be vague, but no one who lived in Tecumseh in 1907 will have forgotten that spring and summer.

The night of May 1, 1907 was a memorable one. Between the hours of 1 and 7 a.m. a bad fire broke out in the business section, there was a serious train wreck on the NYC railroad and the dam and big bridge went out in Brownville.

What a morning, for small boys!

It was called the "big" bridge because there had been three in a row; one over the race on the north side of the river; one over the flume of the paper mill on the south bank and the largest one over the main dam.

All were of wood; all had railings about waist high and all gave the traveler a clear, not to say intimate, view of the water.

You did not ignore the river then, especially if you were driving a temperamental horse who did not like the best of bridges.

This time the town fathers were determined to put the river in its place, once and for all.

A contract was let for a steel structure that would span the entire width of flume, dam and race and would be strong enough and high enough to defy spring floods.

They did pretty well at that for it stood solidly for 50 years.

But, not being prophets, they had guaged its width by the then accepted standard — free clearance for two loads of hay.

Time proved that that was not enough.

☆

AS TO THE cost, they had not heard of state and Federal aid; the village paid 10% and once more the township, "the remainder."

It took most of the summer to complete the bridge (the dam of course belonged to the Electric Light Co.) and once more drivers had to use the old route of Maumee street.

There were two bridges, very temporary ones, and the road went across the "island" and up the bank behind the electric plant.

It was an obstacle race for the town's early motor cars and nervous drivers of nervous horses either went around by Newburg or stayed at home.

It was the pedestrains, however, who really enjoyed that summer. They had a ferry service.

Docks were built on the north and south shores of the pond and the Mull brothers, who were given the titles of "Admiral and

It was the pedestrains, howboats day and night.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"Sound Idea"—But—

Hap Wilson is a young fellow on our paper—and crazy about that little daughter of his. But like all of us he's learned that kids can present problems.

"Every night I have to read her the same story," he complained. "The most sugary one in the book—about Billy Bumblebee!" So I finally recorded the story on a tape recorder. Showed her how to play it whenever she wants.

"Know what she says? That it sounds fine but that she can't sit on the machine's lap!"

From where I sit, Hap had good intentions, but he has to understand his daughter's point of view, too. Many of us often make the same mistake. For instance, you may like tea. I prefer a glass of temperate beer. The important thing is that we both understand each other's point of view. There are two sides to every "story".

County Superintendent States Opinion on Aid

Archie O. Wallace, Lenawee county superintendent of schools has taken exception to editorials opposing Federal aid to education which appeared in The Adrian Daily Telegram.

Mr. Wallace wrote the Telegram, also sent copies to the six weekly papers in the county.

Following are portions of that letter:

"Historically, federal aid to education has always been existent in Michigan. The Ordnance of 1787 states 'schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged.' In keeping with this philosophy, section 16 of each township was reserved for financing Michigan's schools and this became the basis for the Primary School Fund.

"Adrian City and schools are currently receiving federal aid through 'money in lieu of taxes' from the Air Force Plant owned by the General Services Administration and now occupied by Bridgeport Brass.

"Adrian's Bixby Hospital was financed in large part from federal aid. Some roads and bridges in Lenawee county have been built with federal aid and still others are in the planning stages.

"Many airports in the state have received federal aid both for construction and certain maintenance problems.

"Many Michigan veterans received college educations or special training in vocational fields because of federal aid under the G I bill of rights.

"Thousands of Michigan children are able to have nutritious noon lunches because of federal surplus commodities or federal subsidies.

"Still more Michigan students have benefitted from vocational training partially financed with federal funds.

☆

"WE WILL READILY agree that there has been abuse in certain federal programs. So, too, has there been abuse on local and state levels. We believe however that much good has evolved from federal aid programs such as those mentioned previously.

In Lenawee county the school population has more than doubled in the last 20 years. An examination will show the pupil increase to be much higher than the national average.

	Public Schools	Parochial Schools	Total
1938	9,719	413	10,132
1948	10,915	469	11,384
1958	18,780	1,831	20,611

The national budget rose from 33 billions in 1946 to a proposed 72 billions for 1958 and it has usurped the taxation reserve from local and state governments. It is possible the time has come for either (1) substantial reductions of federal taxes, or, (2) a return of federal funds to state and local governments?

☆

OUR GREATEST resource is in our people. When local and state legislative units cannot, or will not provide educational opportunity for development of these resources in our youth, where should we, who are in public education, look for aid if we are to fulfill the demands placed on us?

The statement that "federal aid will bring federal control" cannot be fully accepted nor entirely refuted. But good federal legislation has been written and well administered.

"Federal agencies may control some standards to be achieved in airports, school lunches, roads, bridges, hospitals and school where federal aid is given.

"Federal agencies may audit accounts to determine if funds have been spent in accordance with the laws. We feel that such practices are good business in any level of government.

☆

A LIMITED NUMBER of schools in the state received federal aid under Public Laws 815 and 874 of the 1950 Congress.

"Federal officials from the United States Office of Health, Education and Welfare and the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency were most considerate and helpful to those schools in legal, engineering and architectural problems as well as considering the social aspects of the communities where aid was given.

"A number of bills relating to federal aid for education are currently before the United States Congress. Only by examining them carefully can one formulate an opinion as to their relative merits.

"Isn't is possible that some of them might be helpful to education and worthy of our support?"

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

IT'S TOO BAD PROFESSIONAL basketball in Detroit hasn't caught on as well as in other cities—so far.

If Fred Zollner's backlog of cash holds out for another couple of seasons and his Pistons win a title, the Motor City might make the grade along with Boston, St. Louis and the others.

This writer watched the Pistons Saturday, in their playoff battle with the St. Louis Hawks.

Here, I mused to myself with an inner grin, is a real game. It can hardly be called basketball, that is, as one usually thinks of the game.

The pros allow body contact—something frowned upon in high school and college ball. There are referees, but the only time they call fouls is when a shooter is attacked bodily.

How these boys get the ball hoopward under such conditions—and most often sink it—is pretty amazing. But somehow they do; conditioned reflexes, I guess.

Only one jump ball was called in the entire game. This speaks volumes for the pro ball idea of "let the boys decide for themselves who should have possession of the ball."

I had seen these same fellows on television, but here is one time that even the zomar lens fails to pick up the real action—the "in fighting."

The size of the players is another eye-catching item—the boys range from 6-4 (the midgets) to 7 feet. Then, out of no where comes someone like Slater Martin of St. Louis at the unheard of 5-10.

It was Martin, however, who iced the game for the Hawks last Saturday and here's how he did it. As the giants fought to the death under the basket, fireball Slater twice snatched the ball and dumped in fast goals.

That's what makes pro basketball so exciting to watch in my book—you never know what's going to happen.

VAN'S BAKERY IS BECOMING a mighty popular spot for tours by Brownie Scouts.

Joe Church reports that six groups have made trips through his shop this month.

Brownies who were Joe's guests Wednesday were treated to a view of commercial baking operations as Joe put through a batch of cookies and decorated Easter pastries.

Mr. Church is happy to have groups see his bakery, just phone him at 450-J and arrange for a time and date.

E. J. Nelson, city manager, announced Tuesday that city trucks will pick up trash every day next week, starting Monday. Residents wishing trash removed are asked to place it at the curb during that time.

Beating Speech Problems

Classes Help Students in Tecumseh System

One out of every 10 children in the Tecumseh school system has some type of speech difficulty.

In most cases it is minor.

When it isn't, special speech correction help is needed and thanks to a program set up here some years ago, children are receiving assistance.

Special classes, which total 20 hours each week, are conducted in Central, Herrick Park, Patterson, West Branch and Ridgeway buildings.

One of the speech correctionists, Mrs. Donald Berkley who lives at 716 Ternes road, explains the program.

Its major objective is to overcome incorrect syllable pronunciations, which may have been caused by a variety of reasons.

"Like the doctor, we don't care how they got 'measles' we just want to cure them," Mrs. Berkley smiles.

Seeing how she and her fellow instructors perform the cure is quite an experience. It's an exacting science.

Being assigned to the special classes places no stigma on the youngsters, she explains. In fact, they are considered something extra special.

Each student has a particular difficulty, which he works on. It might be an inability to sound "th" or "r" or "s", or "l".

Using a carefully-prepared plan, which includes some interesting games, the teacher guides the conversation so that words used will contain those troubled sounds.

As an example, Joan Donovan, a senior at the University of Michigan from Erie Pennsylvania, handles first graders under the direction of Mrs. Berkley.

Joan sat in a circle with her four first-graders at Central school as this writer observed.

She had a felt board propped against a chair with the outline of a face on it. In her lap, she held a small box containing a variety of multi-colored pieces of paper.

First she called on Billy Filber, a smiling lad, wearing a light-colored sweater. Looking directly at Billy, so that he could see the movement of her lips and tongue she asked,

"What would you like, Billy? Would you like something red, or something green, or something brown?"

As she spoke, she placed particular emphasis on the word "something." Billy's problem revolves about the "th" sound.

Billy was very serious as he replied, slowly "I would like something brown," attempting to copy exactly the way Miss Donovan said it.

The teacher beamed. As she fished the cut out of brown paper, she told the others, "Billy, I like something brown."

Then she turned to Kinda, following the same pattern, this time dwelling on "s". Next came Bonnie and finally Debbie.

The children were enjoying themselves, but there was more fun to come.

Again, Miss Donovan started around the circle, this time asking each child to state what the paper represented to the outline of the face.

Billy had the hair and proudly put it in place on the felt board, explaining to the others what he had done. The girls added eyes, cheeks and mouth.

To the children, this was a fascinating game. To Miss Donovan, it was a bold step forward in the youngsters' effort to lick their speech problems.

OUTSIDE WORK—Older children who receive special attention to help them overcome speech problems sometimes do special work outside school. David Radant, a fourth grader (standing left) shows his instructor, Mrs. Don Berkley, a newspaper article in which he had underlined all words containing the speech sound he is licking. Others in this class are Gary Kinsman, Ricky Nighswander, Kenny Miller, Frank Havens and John Simpson.

WARM ENCOURAGEMENT—Joan Donovan, at right, is a senior at the University of Michigan, majoring in speech correction. She is currently working in the Tecumseh system two days a week, helping first graders overcome speech difficulties. 2 New Model Homes Holding 'Open House' This Weekend

Tecumseh's booming home construction industry takes another giant step forward this week with introduction of two completely new houses.

1. Town and Country Homes is opening its "Tri-level Ambassador" in Indian Acres.

2. Templeton Construction will show an all face brick with air conditioning at Indian Hills.

Each has three bedrooms.

Both homes will have open house this weekend with the general public invited to inspect them.

The tri-level, which will be sold through Kohler Real Estate, is priced at $15,500.

Templeton's structure, with sales by Rena Fitzpatrick Realty, goes at $15,975.

It is billed as the only house in Lenawee county, at this price, with face brick and built-in range and oven.

The tri-level boasts a large 19x34 family room, which can be partitioned. Bedroom closets feature double folding doors.

Both houses are completely furnished by DesErmia.

Rubinoff's Violin Insured at $100,000

By ARTHUR J. COLLINGSWORTH

Rubinoff is bringing his famous Romanoff Stradivarius violin for his appearance here April 8, under the sponsorship of the Kiwanis Club.

He will appear at Patterson, Central, West Branch, Central and St. Elizabeth's elementary schools and Parrett Nursing Home.

His main performance is in the evening, from 8:15.

Rubinoff is classed as one of the best living experts on the violin.

Rubinoff is not only a performer, but also a composer.

An interesting side note is that when Rubinoff plays the "Warsaw Concerto" he uses some 60 pounds of pressure.

A habit he has formed is to arrive an hour ahead of his evening performance and practice.

His famous violin is insured for 100,000, but probably could be called priceless. It is said to be the rarest in the world, formerly belonging to the Romanoff Family, one-time ruling house of Imperial Russia.

Tickets may be obtained from the D & C Dime Store and members of the Kiwanis Club.

CAP Cadets Up in Air Sunday

Response of young people at the CAP meeting Tuesday in the American Legion Home was excellent, says Bill Davenport.

Group headquarters was represented by Commander Major Sutton with his staff, Captain Vitek and Lieutenants Coller and Jenkins.

Lieutenant Coller presented an indoctrination film on the CAP and Major Sutton gave a welcoming address to the group.

Official announcement was made of the appointment of the new commander Jack Gooding.

He has an excellent background in aircraft and his present rating covers single engine planes to four engine bombers. He is presently employed by the Tecumseh Products in experimental engineering.

The resigning commander, Lieutenant Richard Jacobs, has been active in the squadron for some time and will remain active in an executive position.

Gooding is a life long resident of Tecumseh who served in the Air Force during World War II as a pilot.

The CAP aircraft will be at Tecumseh Airport Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. for cadet rides.

Commander Gooding stated that pilots available for flight duty will be Lieutenant Jacobs, commercial pilot, and William Davenport, commercial pilot and flight instructor.

These two men have a combined total of more than 2,500 hours logged time.

Kroger Offers Scholarships to 101 in Area

A total of 101 outstanding high school graduates will begin college studies in agriculture and home economics under the Kroger Scholarship Plan for 1958.

This was announced by Carl Fuller, vice president of the retail food firm's Toledo division which operates stores in this area.

The $250 one-year scholarships will be available next fall at land-grant colleges in 19 midwestern and southern states in which the company operates as well as California and Florida where Kroger produce procurement offices are located.

☆

DESIGNED TO encourage young men and women to enter college who might not otherwise be able to do so, the program was begun more than a quarter of a century ago.

Winners are selected by scholarship committees of the various colleges on the basis of high school scholastic achievement, evidence of leadership qualities and need.

Application forms can be obtained from Michigan State University and should be sent directly to the dean of the college of agriculture or the dean of home economics.

"Aid to education is both an obligation and a privilege of business," said Mr. Fuller, pointing out that the scholarships are part of the company's broad educational program, designed to help develop better citizens of tomorrow.

Patterson Fair Nets $1,100, Many Smiles

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Patterson school was filled with excitement, activity and the laughter of happy children, their parents and friends Saturday when the Home Fair was staged.

If the building had not been of good construction it would certainly have burst at the seams from the flurry of youngsters trying out their skills on the different games and contests, eating goodies from the various food booths and in general having a wonderful time.

Four young men used ingenuity when they jointly purchased a luscious homemade cake, split it four ways and merrily made their way about the fair munching the huge portions.

☆

TO SAY THE fair was a huge success is a "masterpiece of understatement."

About $1,100 was realized. It will be used by the PTA to make purchases which could otherwise not be had at the school, but to this writer the success seems more aptly measured by the happy faces on the participants both child and adult.

JoAnn Green smiled her happiness at receiving the Jelly Bean Jar for being the one to guess the closest number of beans inside.

☆

MRS. FRANK HORTON won the homemade stole, the Rev. James D. Nixon, the Easter Basket; Carolyn Dennis, the large lollypop; Sheldon Pease, brush; G. Racey, the snack set; Del Posky, the stuffed kitten and LeRoy Schlegel, a decorated cake.

A total of 3,151 tickets were sold by the energetic little salesmen and their friends.

They and the committee in charge would like to thank everyone who has in any way assisted in making this annual event such a success.

City Police Having Busy Week

It has been a busy week for Tecumseh police.

Wednesday morning at 2:20, they picked up Billy Calloway, a 28-year-old Air Foreeman from Clinton who was driving under the influence of alcoholic beverages.

Calloway was taken to the county jail in Adrian. Police learned he had been booked in Saline Saturday on a similar charge.

On top of that, jail officials said that Calloway became violent during the night and Air Police were called from Selfridge Air Base to pick him up Wednesday.

☆

TWO MEN were booked here for writing fraudulent checks.

One of them, Troy Martin, 29, of Columbus, Ohio, was bound over to circuit court after passing three a week ago.

The other, Richard Avis of 600 N. Union street, was scheduled to be arraigned Wednesday afternoon.

He gave checks to Kroger for $20.47, Vern Manwaring for $45 and Randolph Gulf for $15 in a 10-day period, all drawn on a Clinton bank.

☆

TROY LEE HARRIS was ticketed Monday for driving with an expired chauffer's license.

There were two auto accidents Monday and in the most serious Mrs. Herman Dinse of rural Tecumseh suffered a broken knee.

Returning from Adrian on S. Adrian highway with her husband, the Dinse car collided with one driven by Ted Templeton of 504 Stacy.

Templeton reported he started a turn, stopped when he saw the Dinse car, but the two cracked up causing damage to the right front of the Templeton vehicle and the front of Dinse's.

The other mishap involved a police car, driven by patrolman Richard Simpson of 8997 N. Union street. It rolled into a parked car owned by Gordon Whittman of 215 N. Oneida street. The Whittman car was damaged in the rear.

☆

IN A SUNDAY acident, Rudoph Garcia ran into a parked car owned by Carol Jean Jedele of Clinotn. Garcia was charged later with failing to report a property damage accident. The right front fender of the Jedele auto was smashed.

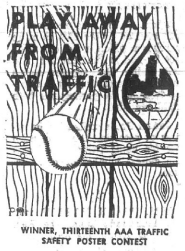
Butler Motor Sales told police a dealer's license plate 12261 was lost or stolen in Toledo Tuesday.

Warm Breezes Bring Children into Streets

The first warm breezes of March bring Michigan's children outdoors for their "spring training."

In the excitement of games, the last idea to enter young minds is to watch out for traffic.

Therefore, Automobile Club of Michigan urges parents to help find off-street recreation areas for their offspring to allow them to "Play Away From Traffic."



WINNER, THIRTEENTH AAA TRAFFIC SAFETY POSTER CONTEST

Motorists should be extra alert in school and residential areas where children may be playing.

To bring this advice directly to the youngsters, Auto Club has distributed 11,000 full-size copies of this poster to Michigan schools.

In the department's continuing effort to enforce no-parking restrictions along Patterson street in front of Tecumseh Products, 10 violations were issued Tuesday and Wednesday morning.

Police report no progress on the $200 theft from Wright's Drug Store last Wednesday.

Intensive Campaign to Promote Michigan

An intensive campaign to promote Michigan through retail establishments as a part of Michigan Week, May 4 to 10, is being launched.

Heading the drive is Howard C. Grimes, president and general manager of the J. W. Knapp Company of Lansing.

"Increased participation by retailers in all fields throughout the state will be sought by the committee," Mr. Grimes said.

"We come in contact almost daily with all residents of the state and this affords us an opportunity to tell the Michigan story in many ways."

Featuring of Michigan's products, displays of local business and industry, advertising features of Michigan, use of banners and placards with the Michigan Week emblem and slogan, display of the state flag and wide use of photos of Michigan scenes is a part of the program, Mr. Grimes, president of the Michigan Retailers Association, said.

Two THS Seniors Win Honors

Two seniors at Tecumseh high school have been commended by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation for their outstanding performances on a nationwide college aptitude test according to principal Neville Hart.

Honored were Barbara Boynton and David Lamkin. Barbara plans to attend Kalamazoo College and David the University of Michigan.

The Tecumseh high school students were Michigan runners-up in the 1957-58 Merit Scholarship competition.

Each will be sent a letter of recommendation by National Merit Scholarship Corporation for use in applying to colleges.

"While the students receiving this commendation did not quite reach the final of the 1957-58 Merit Scholarship competition, each of them has demonstrated highly superior ability and outstanding promise to benefit from college training," declared a representation of NMSC.

The theme of the seminar held that day was "Feelings and Emotions on Two Sides of the Desk."

Mrs. Coak attended the mid-year board meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Michigan State Medical Society as the only delegate from Lenawee County and was appointed District Director for a two-year term to take office in the fall.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to publicly thank the men of the city's Fire Department for the prompt and efficient control of the fire in my shop last Tuesday night.

Also, I thank the Police Department for their vigilance, by very frequent inspections throughout the night to make sure there was no reoccurance from smoldering embers. I am very grateful to both departments.

1tc Carlos W. Jones

We wish to sincerely thank our friends, neighbors, relatives and all who have been so kind and generous to us since the loss of our trailer home on March 16. Our thanks, too, to the Fire Department for their prompt and excellent work. To the one who wishes to remain anonymous: Thank you for the generous gift. We would like to thank you personally. May each of you be richly blessed for the blessings you gave.

MAIN STREET—This is Londrina, Brazil, the home of a former Tecumseh girl, Mrs. Charles Anderson, who was Norma Comfort. She and her husband teach in the Bible Seminary there.

Flying Sparks Keep Passengers on Alert

Editor's note: Here is the other half of the story about a set of Tecumseh twins, Marion and Norma Comfort, who each married foreign missionaries. Recently we presented an article about Marion and her husband Dale Neff, who live in East Africa. This piece is about Norma and Charles Anderson, who live in Brazil. The twins are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Comfort.

By MARY SEAGER

The Charles Andersons, missionaries who live in Londrina, Brazil find traveling any great distance by one of the common wood-burning trains quite an adventure.

These trains spew live sparks from their smokestacks. Passengers who know, wear old clothes to prevent their good ones from being burned.

The other travel method for any distance is the airplane just as it is in our country.

Living in Brazil for almost three years they have become used to the unusual surroundings.

Actually the weather isn't too different from the Michigan climate. The weather is pleasant without snow in the winter.

☆

LONDRINA IS IN the interior of Brazil in the coffee-growing region of Parana. The city is good sized for its 20 years.

When it rains, the red earth in the area turns into sticky mud. Because of this, travel by jeep or horse and buggy is the most practical means.

Even though the mixed population of Germans, Japanese and various other Europeans is friendly and helpful, all the small houses have high walls around them to foil thieves and scavenging dogs.

The walls have gates in them and Brazilians coming to call do not knock but clap their hands loudly at the gate.

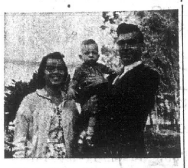
☆

AS IN MOST countries of Spanish or Portugese colonization rice and beans are the main staples of the diet. They are highly flavored with garlic and onions.

Of course in a coffee-growing region a lot of strong black coffee with plenty of sugar is drunk by the local people. Everything is cooked in peanut oil.

Often Mrs. Anderson isn't sure whether her one-year-old son Andy is talking Portugese or English. He is actually a native of Brazil, having been born in Londrina.

The Andersons enjoy their teaching jobs in the Bible Seminary, but they will be glad to return to the United States on furlough next year.



Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson and their son, Andy, who speaks Portugese as well as he does English.

WINS MASTER'S DEGREE

MADISON, Wis.—Ralph Everett Peotter, Jr., 311 E. Shawnee street, Tecumseh was awarded the Master of Science degree by the University of Wisconsin as the first semester of the State University's 1957-58 school year came to a close recently.

Wearing Bifocals? Here Are 5 Tips

Five rules to help you get used to bifocals were issued today by the Michigan Optometric Association as a part of Enjoy Youthful Vision Week. They are:

1. Try not to look at your feet when walking. You never did before.
2. When reading a newspaper, fold it into half or quarter size and move IT rather than your head until you can read comfortably.
3. Be sure your frames are properly adjusted so that the lenses are in the right position. Do not hesitate to return for proper adjustment.
4. Wear your bifocals continuously for the first week or two until you become accustomed to them, even though you need them only for some tasks.
5. Remember that about 30 million other Americans wear bifocals and trifocals comfortably, and you can too.

Dr. Wayne H. Chapman, Charlotte, President of the Association, offered "mature vision" as a pleasant substitute for "presbyopia" which means old sight. He said that with the aid of modern science, one can see as well at sixty as at sixteen.

PLAN SKATING PARTY

There will be a roller skating party for Pack 73 Saturday, March 29. The boys will leave the Scout Cabin at 12:30 and will return by 4 p.m. They will be accompanied by the fathers.

LOOK AROUND — HERE THEY COME!

Much of the anticipation about spring is anticipation. Long before warm weather arrives we begin to eagerly look for sure signs of winter's death and hints of spring's approach.

Each day holds new promises and among the most welcome harbingers of things to come are the birds. What a lift their bright flashing colors give to our winter weary spirits.

Lately, thanks ot some thoughtful Tecumseh Auduboners, we have been enjoying a bird list—a schedule of arrival.

Compiled by Cranbrook Institute, this is a list of birds who are summer residents in southeastern Michigan or who are transitory visitors, stopping here for only a short stay before heading farther north.

Since our birds do not return with the regularity of the swallows at Capistrano the chart's dates are averages of past records. They do, however, give a good indication of when to start looking for what.

☆

FOR INSTANCE: during the next few weeks we can be looking for the towhee or chewink, the vesper sparrow and the great blue heron.

Easily recognized is the happy multi-colored towhee.

Usually seen on the ground scratching away dead leaves to get at the tasty insects that find cover in the moist leaf humus, the towhee is about eight inches long and has large white areas at the corners of his long rounded tail.

The black back and hood are set off by a white breast and long wide brown stripes under each wing. Yellow under tail coverts and red eyes complete the coloration.

Vesper sparrows are among the earliest of the more than 10 species of sparrows which come north in the spring time. To those of us living on the creek, the great blue heron is something special.

We are occasionally treated to the sight of this big, 40 to 50 inch bird, carefully plodding his way upstream. What a thrill in the early morning as the mist is slowly rising to look out and see Big Blue stalking his breakfast.

☆

MANY BIRDS, aside from out year round residents, are already here. Although we don't begin to see them all through our window, we have spotted some returnees.

Our first robin appeared March 10 and what a big red breasted fellow he is.

The sleek, streamlined grackles arrived ahead of schedule; listed to show up the seventh of March, we saw our first ones the fifth.

Although not seen, we heard our first flock of Canadian geese early one Monday morning, March 3 to be exact. It was about 5 a.m. when their loud honking woke us.

Other birds which are well known and should be back by now are the eastern blue bird, the belted kingfisher, the eastern redwing, the killdeer, the phoebe, the cowbird and the red headed woodpecker.

☆

THOSE SCHEDULED for arrival during April are: yellow bellied sapsuckers; the fourth; purple martins, the 11th; brown thrashers, the 12th; barn swallows, the 17th; the happy and beloved house wren the 18th; [illegible] the 20th; catbirds a[illegible] bobolinks, the 28th; Baltimore oriole ,the 29th; and the wood thrush, the 30th.

To those interested in taking bird walks, the marshy water areas should be most rewarding. Already returned should be the common black duck, the mallard and wood duck.

Resident summer ducks and other water or shore birds scheduled to return in April include: pied-billed grebes; common loons; Wilson's snipes; teales; and coots.

Most of the ducks and shore birds seen are migrant but their stop-over period ranges from one day to many weeks. This indefiniteness makes their coming and going difficult to schedule.

A brief listing would include redheads and ring-necked ducks, scheduled to appear March 31st; and ring-billed gulls, April 6th.

☆

TO BE TRUTHFUL I must admit that the information about duck and other water birds, I'm reporting not from first hand experience, but according to what the lists say.

Whether resident or migrant is extremely controversial and any argument you might have please take it up with the book.

Bird-walk addicts can also, during the month of April, expect to find the eastern winter wrens, theoretically scheduled to arrive the 2nd; hermit thrushes, the 7th; ruby-crowned kinglets, the 13th; myrtle warblers, the 24th; northern pine warblers, the 30th; and the palm warblers the same day.

All these birds are migrants and if they do visit our locality, will be here only until the urge to move farther north hits. Very fortunate is the person who sees or hears them.

☆

DO YOU REALIZE it was a year ago to this very week that Roff's Pond played host to several flocks of Whistling Swans.

As these great white birds settled on the peaceful surface of the pond, which is completely visible from the road, I wonder if they realize what a commotion their presence would cause.

For miles around people flocked to see the big beauties.

After resting about three weeks, the birds, whose number was estimated to be around 75, departed flock by flock until all that was left was a fond memory and an often expressed hope for their reutrn another year.

☆

IN FAIR WEATHER whistling swans are notoriously high flyers. Often flying above human sight and making few stops, their appearance on a nearby pond is not common. If they do come again this year we can consider ourselves twice blessed.

Here's to good looking and please remember that bird lists are not infallible. They are to be used as starting points — not a good reference book or a knowledgeable person be your final guide.

(Next week, for sure—OUTSIDE —NOTHING!!)

Sharing the Profits

Kroger employees in this area received credits from company profits totaling 99½ cents for each dollar they saved under the employees' profit sharing and retirement income program during 1957.

Five-hundred-sixty-eight employee-members are sharing $6,071,948 for the year. In addition, they saved $4,072,215 in 1957.

Under the plan, a portion of company profits is credited to the accounts of employees in proportion to the amount each has saved during the year.

BEGUN IN 1951, the fund now totals $30,950,490.

Employees, through the plan, are the second largest Kroger shareowner, now owning 60,309 shares of Kroger stock, as well as stocks and bonds of several other leading firms.

In the company's annual report for 1957, Kroger president Joseph B. Hall said this employee ownership of shares in the company has increased interest in improved results.

Kroger sales and profits during the year were at an all-time high.

REALTY VIEWS

"I've got a problem," said Bert, a forthright businessman. "I own an extra house which I've had for rent. However, it hasn't worked out very well for me. I can't seem to keep good tenants, and part of the time I can't even collect the rent. Just to sum up the whole situation, it gives me an itch which I can't seem to scratch!"

Bert continued, "My only hope is to sell out. How much can you get me for the house?"

Before answering, I looked at it. It proved to be a remodeled, older home. The "new and the old" didn't blend together very well. I realized it would hold back a sizable loan.

"The amount we can sell this house for depends on the terms. If you insist on a cashout or substantial down payment, it will be one figure. But, if you would take a small down payment and reasonable monthly payments, the figure would undoubtedly be higher. People are willing to pay more to get easy terms. And, in many cases, it makes the difference between being able to handle it or not. What's your idea on the terms?"

Bert shrugged. "Gosh, I don't especially need the money. Just so it's sold to a person with a good credit rating. Go ahead and sell it on reasonable terms."

We did. And Bert's "itch" disappeared!

May we help you dispose of a "problem property" too?

Public May View Bouts at Prison

Is That So!

By CLARA WALDRON

Power beneath the bridge.

It would be too bad to leave the impression that the Raisin has brought our town nothing but trouble. Its power was all important to the early settlement.

It even decided the location and, because the water was too high to ford it dictated that the first home in Lenawee county should be built on the spot now marked by the little Boulder Park rather than near our new city hall as had been planned.

The wagons were forced to skirt the long loop of the river and compromise on a site on the north bank. That compromise split the town for many years and caused jealousy and dissension but it did provide good water power.

The official center of town was far to the south, but early manufacturing clustered about the Brownville dam.

☆

DURING THAT first busy summer of 1825 the pond area was cleared of trees, a dam thrown across the river and a flume and water wheel built for a saw mill on the north bank.

That mill was a fairly primitive affair, with a vertical rather than circular saw but it worked.

It provided lumber for the floors, roofs and doors of those first log cabins and material for frame buildings for several years.

There was a gala Fourth of July celebration two years later when a grist mill was completed on the south bank and the town's first wheat was ground into flour.

Nearly every settler had helped in some way with the building of both mills and the dam. These were the town's "utilities" and vital to its existence.

They were owned and largely financed, however, by the company of Wing, Evans and Brown, the three men who had promoted the settlement.

☆

BY 1831, INCREASED crops of wheat necessitated another and a larger mill and as now new capital was available, the company sold land for the Red Mill.

Construction on the approximate site of the electric light plant, its water wheel was turned by water through an artficial channel dug north of the river, practically as it exists today.

Within a very few years this mill was producing a "name brand" flour, "Superfine," in sufficient quantities to ship to New York. It was Tecumseh's first export.

With the widened channel there was more water than even the three mills required and other smaller projects took shape.

A cooper shop made barrels for the flour. Chairs, beds and cabinets were made in a furniture factory on the south bank near the grist mill and wool from local sheep was converted into yarn, blankets and cloth in a carding and weaving mill.

The 1830's must have been busy days t[illegible]nt oxen views as they waited for lumber, flour or meal, while the "old pocket mill" rumbled, the water wheels creaked and the saw screeched its way through oak and walnut.

☆

DAVID VAN TINE and Hiram Adams built and ran the furniture factory, but its product was sold at VanTine's "main street" store.

Albert Anderson, first of three generations of Chicago street merchants, advertised woolen goods made at his factory" at the junction of Maumee and Mill street."

Things were made at the dam, but sold down town. It all emphasized the division of the town.

There were other industries of which we have less record. Contracts made in 1834 mention, "water privileges for sash and pail making" and "water from the flume to drive a six-foot tub wheel, with tail race, for the purpose of chair, cabinet, and machine making, wheel wright and sleigh making;" all things needed for a new community.

☆

FIRE SEEMS to have been an ever present hazard to those early mills. The Red Mill burned in 1867.

Rebuilt as the White Mill by George and David Hamilton and later sold to the Heck brothers, it also burned about 1890 and was not rebuilt.

Meanwhile the original mills had fallen into decay and into the water and other power developments had taken place up and down the river. Newburg, the Globe pond, Blood road and the Quaker all had their saw and grist mills.

The furniture factory and the water power in the main channel had been purchased by forefather of the electric company, Henry Smith and in 1869 he erected a paper mill on the south bank. That institution deserves a story by itself.

It operated successfuly for almost 30 years ,turning out as much as four or five tons of dark brown paper each day and, as the main ingredient was straw, forming a profitable outlet for local farms.

It also produced an aroma which still lingers in the mental nostrils of all who remember those days.

By 1902 the Smith Co. had purchased all the land and water power at the Brownville site and, having acquired the infant electric company which began as a steam operated concern on the bank of the creek near the Episcopal church, built the now idle electric plant with its water-driven generators.

Expect Slight Dip

The nation's turkey growers can expect to receive slightly lower prices this fall.

In spite of a 22 per cent drop in the December-to-February poult hatch over last year, a Michigan State University farm economist expects this year's September-to-December farm price to average slightly below the same period last year.

'Tacky Party' Means Weird Combinations

The Progress Extension Club enjoyed a "Tacky Party" at the home of Mrs. Edwin Bunge March 18.

Each member came looking as "tacky" as possible in silly color combinations and absurb costumes.

The roll call was answered with each member giving her own nationality. It was interesting to note that German was included in almost every answer.

The project "Child Safety" was presented by Mrs. Avery Lee.

Mrs. Richard Hinkleman, Mrs. Melvin Purple and Mrs. Ronald Purple volunteered to work out the exhibit for the annual Lenawee County Achievement Day and will meet April 10 for this purpose.

An invitation was read from the Tri-Town Extension Club to attend its meeting June 16 when a hair stylist from Ann Arbor will be the speaker.

A report of $23 profit from the recent bake sale was made. Katherine Beich golden crumbles candy is still on hand to be sold and anyone wishing to order may call Mrs. Ronald Purple.

The next meeting will be held April 15 at the home of Mrs. Roy Richards at 4020 Allen road at 8 p.m. The event will be a "Make Your Own Easter Hat Party."

Now Is Time To Get Birth Certificates

LANSING — Parents of children who will enter kindergarten or first grade for the first time next fall are urged to obtain copies of the children's birth certificate as soon as possible instead of waiting until the school registration period later this spring.

Dr. F. S. Leeder, director of disease control records and statistics for the Michigan Department of Health, said unavoidable delays in filling requests for copies sometimes occur because of the flood of requests during registration months. He said parents can avoid these delays by asking for copies now.

Carol Finnegan Becomes Bride of Roger Simpson

In a double ring ceremony Sunday at Holloway Presbyterian Church, Carol Kay Finnegan became the bride of Roger Simpson.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Roy Cadmus of 5920 Centennial road and the late John H. Finnegan.

The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Simpson of 607 W. Kilbuck street.

Dr. Howard Emrick, pastor of the church and professor of religious education at Adrian College, performed the rite.

The bride wore a ballerina length gown fashioned of many tiers of nylon lace over satin taffeta. The bodice was fitted with square neckline and short sleeves with lace mitts.

Her shoulder length veil was held in place by a sequined tiara and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses with an orchid center.

She wore a wrist watch, which was a gift from the groom. Her brother, John Roger Finnegan, escorted her to the altar and gave her away.

☆

THE BRIDE'S sister, Mrs. Clair Manwaring of Suttons Bay, was the matron of honor. She was attractive in pale green nylon net over taffeta with a bouquet of yellow roses.

The best man was Robert Arwood of Tecumseh. The ushers were Clair Manwaring of Suttons Bay and George Derby of Tecumseh.

Mrs. Roger Richards of Adrian was the organist.

The altar was decorated with hampers of white gladioli, snapdragons, and mums with a background of palms. White bows marked the family pews.

☆

THE BRIDE'S mother wore a dress of smoke blue lace with a corsage of yellow roses and navy accessories.

The groom's mother was attractive in flowered silk with a corsage of red roses and black accessories. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Addie Finnegan, wore navy blue with a corsage of red roses.

After the ceremony, a reception for 200 people was held in the church dining room. A lace-covered table held the beautiful four-tiered wedding cake, baked by Mrs. Robert Betz of Holloway.

Mrs. Melroy Lewis of Lansing cut the cake, assisted by the groom's sister, Mrs. Stanley Dobek. Mrs. Marvin Bacon, Mrs. George Derby, Mrs. Ralph Sager, Mrs. Sarah Lowery and Mrs. Robert Arwood also served at the refreshment table.

Anne Rebottaro registered the guests while Mrs. Clair Manwaring and Connie Kahle assisted the bride and groom with the gifts.

☆

WHEN MR. AND MRS. Simpson left on their wedding trip through the southern states, Mrs. Simpson was wearing a charcoal sheath dress with the orchid from her bridal bouquet pinned to her shoulder.

A 1957 graduate of Tecumseh high school, Mrs. Simpson is now employed in the offices of the Clinton Engines Co.

The bridegroom was educated in Bedford, England coming to America in 1952 where he has since made his home. He has served three years with the U. S. Paratroops and has been employed by the Tecumseh Products Co.

He plans to enroll in the Toledo Barber College April 2, so for the present they will make their home with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Cadmus on Centennial road.

The bride was honored at a miscellaneous shower March 20 held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Sager. Twelve guests presented her with lovely and useful gifts and enjoyed several games, followed by a buffet luncheon.

WHAT'S COOKING IN TECUMSEH

Brown Bread

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Mrs. Forest Abner of 520 Outer Drive is our cook this week with a recipe for old-fashioned brown bread made in cans.

It is a moist delicious bread as we in the office found out when our photographer came back with two loaves Mrs. Abner made that morning.

The recipe is one that she inherited from her mother who had made the bread for years before.

The family have a wonderful way of honoring her memory, one or two of them always make this bread when they get together for family dinners.

It necessitates quite a bit of bread since there are about 30 grandchildren and they all enjoy it.

School.

Gary plays the drums in the high school band and also is interested in the CAP. He is never happier than when setting the beat for the new dance band formed by he and several school musicians.

☆

MR. ABNER repairs and services all makes of furnaces besides doing repair of appliances and most anything that needs fixing.

Besides cooking Mrs. Abner enjoys raising African violets and sewing for herself and daughter.

At present she is planning an Easter dress of pink with unpressed pleats for Jane. She also enjoys making furnishings for their home such as draperies.

She is an active member of the Presbyterian Church and Circle 5, also the Pythian Sisters.

Mr. Abner likes to fish when he can get away from his work and the whole family frequently indulges in an evening of dancing.

☆

HERE IS the recipe for brown bread:

1 cup sugar
1½ cups raisins or ½ pound of dates
2 tsps soda
1 tbsp shortening

Pour over this mixture 1½ cups of hot water. Let stand over night. Next morning add

1 egg
1 tsp salt
nut meats
Juice of one orange
2¾ cups sifted flour

Grease 3 No. 2 cans and bake in 350 degrees oven for 55 to 60 minutes. When dates are used let stand 2 or 3 hours, not over night. Serve with butter or Philadelphia cream cheese.

☆

The Abners have two children, Gary, Jr. 16 years and Jane who is six years old and on Monday attended the first grade in the new Herrick Park

Baptists Stage Father-Daughter Banquet Monday

A musical program with a ventriloquist and a magician will be featured when the Baptist Church holds its first Father-Daughter banquet.

The event is to be Monday in the Youth House with dinner served at 6:30 p.m.

Tickets are available from Mrs. B. O. Bashore at the parsonage.

Plastic Film Greenhouses Are Popular

Plastic greenhouses are becoming more popular. Home gardeners and others are finding they work nicely for production of flowers and vegetables or plants for transplanting.

One big selling point has been the low cost. In general, the plastic greenhouse will cost around one-fourth as much as a conventional glass greenhouse.

The plastic structures are also relatively easy to construct. No millwork or glass is involved. A plain wood frame is erected and covered with two layers of plastic film—one layer on the outside and one on the inside.

Bottled gas heaters warm the house satisfactorily. Heating costs are moderate because the two layers of plastic film insulate the structure.

The plastic greenhouses do have one drawback, though. And that's moisture, according to E. A. Kazarian, agricultural engineer at Michigan State University. The "tightness" of the house holds moisture.

Kazarian adds that mechanical ventilation can successfully handle the moisture problem.

Plans for two types of houses are available. One is for solid construction and the other is for panel construction. Copies are available at the Agricultural Engineering Department, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Downing of Milan were Sunday guests of his sister Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Palmer and family Sunday.

BELLES OF HARDWOOD — If the basketball season wasn't dead by last Thursday, this band of hoopsters probably killed it. They're Tecumseh high school faculty members, who faced a team of students. The gruesome details appear in this week's "With Tecumseh Teens" column. In case you can't readily recognize them, from left, they're John Pobuda, Charles Gross, Vic Lawson, Doug Murdock, Don Berkley and Bob Breniff.

With Tecumseh Teens

BY MARY V. SEAGER

The assembly in the high school gym Thursday, March 20, served a double purpose. The basketball, wrestling, and cheerleading awards were presented first, then the play-offs of the intramural program were held with a game between the Senior All-Stars and the Faculty Team as a finale. Half of sixth and all of seventh hour classes were omitted for the assembly.

Coach Bob Breniff presented the Varsity and J.V. letters to his wrestling squad. Those receiving the Varsity letters were: Charles Baird, Ron Johnston, and Dennis Irelan. J.V. letters were received by Dave Schmidt, Larry Hand, and Charles Holdridge.

The boys that received their freshman basketball numerals from Carl Beattie were: Pat Holdridge, Dave Grigg, Mike Tucker, Larry Titley, Jerry Quinn, Jon Aho, Mike Robison, Dean Eddy. Bill Ross, Ben Brantingham, Bill Sisson, Tom Barton, and Ken Beevers, manager.

The J.V. squad with a 14 won, two lost record had eight men lettering this year. Those receiving letters from Coach Doug Murdoch were: Dave Weakly, Jim Poley, Bob Dick, Tom Walters, Jim Curth, Dave Hohenstein, Gary Elliott, and Terry Hendricks.

Nine out of the 12 boys on the Varsity basketball team lettered with the most sophomores of any year receiving the award.

John Elliott, the captain, also won the most valuable player award this year. Dave Elliott, Gary Greene, Gary Hanna, Larry Yoskum, Bob O'Neil, Dick Stephenson, Steve Kruger, Jack Sisson, and the managers Charles Hartsell, Leonard Penrod, Gerry Woodward, and Roger Williams also got Varsity letters.

The cheerleaders that received letters from their coach, Carol Sheffer, were Suzie Rohweder, Donna Nixon, Karolyn Mueller, Carol Spangler, Mary Colgrove, and Jeanie Hohenstein.

After the letters were given out, two play-offs intramural games were held. These games were highly enjoyed by everyone, but the best was yet to come.

The Harlem Globetrotters (the Senior All-Stars) played the Faculty Team consisting of Charles Gross, Donald Berkeley, John Pobuda, Douglas Murdoch, Robert Breniff, and Victor Lawson. The Elliott twins, Duke and Dave, refereed.

The Seniors covered themselves with burnt cork, wore Bermuda shorts, Argyle knee socks, crazy caps and signs telling who they were.

The Faculty dressed in skirts and fancy hats, some of the combinations were hilariously funny. But even with all the clothing that they were unaccustomed to, the Faculty won by a wide margin after an overtime. The student body agreed with each other that another of these student-faculty basketball games should be played real soon.

Saturday, eight GAA girls traveled to a play-day in Ypsilanti. They enjoyed playing games with girls from neighboring schools from nine in the morning until 3:30 in the afternoon. All the girls were divided into about 20 different teams, competing against each other during the day.

Swimming, trampoline, social dancing (with partners from Eastern Michigan College), volleyball, deck tennis and shuffleboard were enjoyed. Everyone had a chance to try most of these activities. The girls that attended from Tecumseh all had a good time.

Those who went were Carol Kapnick, Marcia Kunkle, Joan Kempf, Linda Hanna, Karin Marine, Suzie Rohweder, Linda Godfrey, and Sherry Tucker.

Congratulations to Marilou Layton for winning first place at the District Forensics Contest in Adrian! She placed first in the declamation category with her declamation, "Gift of Love." She won over seven other contestants. Placing first makes her eligible for the regional contest.

The Chorus received three "Good" ratings at Jackson, Saturday. The possible ratings were: Superior, Excellent, Good, Fair, Poor. Tecumseh would have a very good chorus if there were a greater interest shown in it by the boys.

The girls began practice for the annual Girls' Class Basketball Tournament on Friday. They will be divided into class teams and then they will play teams from other classes.

The Junior Class will present two plays "They Ain't Done Right By Nell" and "Five On Judgement," Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Teacher John Babcock is directing.

☆

ABOUT 40 GIRLS HAVE signed for cheerleading try-outs that will be held later in the month.

Five teachers will choose the best 10 out of the 40 and then the whole school will vote to pick the six for the varsity cheerleading squad.

Only girls from the eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh grades are eligible for the try-outs.

☆

SOPHOMORE CLASS RINGS arrived Friday. They were ordered through Eggleston's Jewelry in Tecumseh.

☆

THE HALLS ARE QUIET while the seniors are gone. They left 7:30 Saturday morning on their Senior Trip to Washington, D. C. They will return on Thursday.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Our father who art in heaven we thank thee for all the blessings thou give us, help us to not forget thee, help us to live our days in peace and love thee ever more. We ask all of this in your name.

Amen.

Mrs. Guy Grieves

Dear Editor:

As a member of the Tecumseh Community Chest Board I wish to give reasons why I voted "yes" on the motion favoring the idea of a Lenawee County United Fund and having our board affiliate itself with same. This was not a hasty decision because I have been attending meetings over a period of months where a Citizens Committee under the chairmanship of Howard White has discussed both the advantages and disadvantages of such a plan. Other local board members have done likewise. I firmly believe that a Lenawee County United Fund would strengthen and extend the services of many welfare, health, and recreational agencies which have been accepted as a necessary part of our way of life. Therefore, I am convinced that

1. the plan is sound. I can find no reason to believe that pressure or coercion would have to be used to raise the necessary funds for the agencies because human beings by nature are willing to contribute what they can at the hour to a cause that is just and presented well;
2. the plan would in no way interfere with the local community chest;
3. the plan would produce more revenue, especially from the unorganized rural and town areas.
4. according to a recent survey, industry has expressed a kindly feeling toward the idea and favors the pay-roll deduction plan;
5. the slogan "Give where you work, it works where you live", explains the whole setup when analyzed;
6. furthermore, I have learned so much by serving as a local representative on the Admissions and Budgets Committee of the Michigan United Fund, Inc., that it is easier to see the need of a Lenawee County United Fund.

In conclusion may I say that perhaps the plan is so simple that it seems complicated. Please endeavor to attend the public meeting in the new Council Rooms on Tuesday evening, April 1st, when the board will discuss the matter with any who are present.

Sincerely,
Ruth V. Rentschler

Dear Sir:

Isn't there an ordinance on Tecumseh's law books which forbids the reprehensible practice of spitting upon the city's sidewalks? If so, let's see some enforcement, with good, stiff discouraging fines levied against the offenders. If not, I heartily urge the powers that be to put such a dictum into being.

This filthy practice is not only aesthetic abomination but it is also a definite factor in the spreading of a host of unwelcome diseases, from the common cold to pulmonary tuberculosis.

Sincerely,
John D. McColl

Don't Overfeed Dairy Heifers at Calving Time

Having dairy heifers in a fattened condition at calving time can be costly.

Research indicates that overfeeding tends to depress milk production and conception rates in addition to wasting feed, states L. G. Hall, Lenawee county agricultural agent.

A study of more than 100 heifers which were fed various levels of nutrition during early growth shows these results:

Calves being overfed at first calving required an average of 1.42 services per conception compared to only 1.25 for calves fed properly. Overfed calves weighed more than the normally fed animals but produced less milk, Hall notes.

☆

AT SECOND CALVING, the average number of services required per conception by overfed calves was 2.14. An average of only 1.41 services were required by the normally fed calves.

But milk production for the overfed animals averaged only 9,445 pounds—more than 1,000 pounds less than the normally fed animals.

The agriculturist continues that other observations indicate that the milk producing cells in udders of fattened heifers were less well developed when compared to other animals in the test.

Hall adds that the study shows nothing to favor the fat group for the commercial dairyman who makes his income from selling milk. However, dairymen with outstanding cattle who often sell heifers might want them in fancy condition to attract buyers.

The best practice is to feed heifers adequately and avoid extremes of either over or under feeding, Hall concludes.

2 from Britton Win State Farmer Degrees

BRITTON — Two members of the Britton-Macon Future Farmers of America were awarded State Farmer Degrees at the annual Michigan convention of FFA at Michigan State.

Honored were Don Dickerson and Karl Kimerer.

☆

DON, THE SON of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dickerson of rural Milan, is in partnership with his father.

They raise cash crops and feed out 75-100 beef steers each year.

Don has served as Chapter and Regional FFA Secretary and been active in all FFA and school activities.

Don graduated last June and just completed eight weeks of General Agriculture Short Course at Michigan State University.

☆

KARL, SON OF Mr. and Mrs. Harley Kimerer of rural Britton, is a dairy farmer in partnership with his father and graduated from Britton-Macon in 1957.

Karl earned this degree with outstanding work in vocational Agriculture and FFA. He was active in all school activities.

Cal Rohrback and Jim Kniffen were official delegates representing the Britton chapter at the convention.

A special luncheon for chapter advisers was provided by Michigan Electric Suppliers. Russ Spalding and Jack Anderson were guests.

Mr. Anderson, Britton's new Vocational Agriculture teacher, accompanied these FFA members to East Lansing for the state convention.

HOW LONG, MOM?

"How Long Should Twins Be Dressed Alike" was the topic of discussion at the meeting of the Twin Mothers Club Tuesday. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Henry K. Smith with 10 members present.

Farm Grain Weight Switch Is Tabled by Ag Department

A plan to use hundredweight (cwt.) rather than bushel as the unit of measurement for marketing farm grains may not go into effect as originally scheduled.

U. S. Department of Agriculture officials had set July 1 at the change-over date. But pressure from grain trade organizations not wanting to make the change has caused the officials to reconsider.

Many vegetables and some fruits were switched to the hundredweight on July 1, 1957.

A farm economist at Michigan State University explains that the battle is over grain marketing problems that may arise as a result of the change. The proposed system has several advantages as well as some disadvantages.

On the advantage side, the economist lists a standardized system. Now both hundredweight and bushel units are used.

On the disadvantage side, he first lists the confusion resulting in the first few months after the change.

Laying flock management usually becomes easier as spring arrives. But Michigan State University poultry specialists remind that special attention still needs to be paid to feeding, culling, ventilation and egg handling to keep quality high.

Dairy Farms in 1968 Will Have Big Herds

Dairy farming 1968 will be considerably different from today's typical operation, believes L. H. Hall, Lenawee county agricultural agent.

Changes probably won't be spectacular but they'll be pretty definite, feels the agent.

One of the first things we can expect to see will be larger and fewer herds. Present technology points to at least two-man farms with 25 to 35 cows per man or 50 to 70 cow herds.

Along with this there will be almost complete mechanization of materials handling. Mechanical handling of hay, bedding, feed, milk and manure can be expected.

☆

ACCORDING TO L. H. Brown, farm management specialist at Michigan State University, one of the tightest bottlenecks dairymen will have to squeeze through will be "hidden delays."

Brown includes in this work habits that slow down the operations. He cites research studies which show that there can easily be differences of a minute or more per cow between two men milking the same herd.

Also, changes in routine will cause a farmer to milk at a different rate without knowing he changed.

More specialization in dairy production can be expected, too, Hall says.

☆

INCLUDED WILL be custom milking and heifer production separate from cow herds. There will probably also be more purchasing of services like feed grinding and mixing and record keeping and analysis.

The small dairyman will feel the pinch most, Hall predicts. Frequently, a seemingly innocent change can lead to changes which may easily get a farm family in deep water both with reference to financial and managerial requirements.

The agriculturist concludes that a small dairyman confronted with expansion problems should do a lot of figuring before he spends his money.

Atomic Bombing Effect Subject at Study Club

Rev. Blair Bashore spoke on effects of atomic bombing to Child Study Group 2 March 13 when it met at the home of Mrs. James Danforth.

He outlined the possible effect of fallout and destruction due to a blast hitting several different vital defense areas.

He explained how victims might protect themselves and how they might aid civil defense workers in case of an emergency.

He also outlined the possible dangers of a tornado or cyclone and related measures that have already been taken in our community to set up hospital and communication facilities.

A question and answer period followed.

☆

MRS. WILLIAM SISSON and Mrs. George Burkhard were cohostesses while Mrs. Kenneth Kitson and Mrs. Frank Humble had charge of the favors.

During the business meeting Mrs. Lee Prettyman asked for volunteers to attend the spring planning board meeting in Mount Clemens April 12.

The banquet of the combined Child Study Clubs, to be held in May, was discussed and committees were appointed to work with the committees from Group 1.

Mrs. George Halberstadt had charge of the program for the evening entitled "Happy Committees" and introduced the speaker.

The next meeting will be held April 10 at the home of Mrs. George VanCamp at 501 Center Drive.

She lived her entire life as a devoted Hoosier, having been born and raised in South Bend, Indiana.

Her husband is Coleman LaMaster, manager of the Tecumseh Protane Bottled Gas Co. He has received BS and MBA degrees from the University of Indiana.

Last year she taught kindergarten in Cincinnati, Ohio.

She and her husband moved here last September when Mr. LaMaster was transferred.

She teaches seventh grade social studies, and eighth mathematics classes. Her seventh grade social studies classes have been studying the geography of the United States and have been making maps of outlines of the nine different divisions of the United States.

She is a member of the Hospital Auxiliary, Pi Lambda Theta (national educational honorary) and of the Kappa Alpha Theta (national social fraternity).

At her home, she has a collection of foreign dolls (over 100) in various sizes.

These dolls have been gifts of friends of her family. Among them are dolls from islands that were completely destroyed during World War II. The smallest dolls are 1/2 inch in height (from Puerto Rica) and the largest is a Chinese doll. Since they are dressed in native costume, they are quite interesting.

☆

THE FIELD TRIP PLANNED to the Toledo radio and television station, by the eighth grade chorus class has been cancelled, because the school allotment has not arrived from the state.

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

LOST NOTES FOUND: YES, it happens every once in a while in this newspaper business.

When the Brownville school closed two weeks ago, we planned a story about Percy French, the 77-year-young guardian of children going to and coming from kindergarten there as they crossed the busy N. Evans street.

But the slip we jotted our notes on was misplaced — finally turned up Tuesday.

We're sorry we goofed, but we don't want to let the Brownville school closing pass without saying "well done" to Percy.

☆

WHO SAID THE MOVIE BUSINESS is on the skids?

Walt Nichol, manager of the Strand Theatre, was grinning from ear to ear when he totaled up attendance for the past week.

It cracked every previous one-week record which had been set since his arrival here as manager 17 years ago.

Which goes to prove, a good film — in this case, "Old Yeller," — well promoted, will still pull them into the show.

☆

THERE'S SOME EXCITING news brewing on the industrial expansion scene.

One item, which has been causing no end of scurrying about by the seven-man industrial development group, was a letter which arrived last week, addressed to the Chamber of Commerce.

It sought information about our community, stated that the firm (now located in the Detroit area) had no room to expand and would soon be in need of 50,000 square feet in an out-state local.

If this weren't enough, there are several other items on the fire, which might develop in the immediate future.

Keep your fingers crossed.

☆

FOR ABOUT TWO HOURS Thursday evening the hands of time swung back 30 years.

Talented voices once more rang through the New Bradley Theatre — better known now as the Strand.

To the older citizens of Tecumseh, it was the opera house and once featured some of the finest voices of the midwest, some of the top names in show business.

Turning back the years was the University of Michigan Men's Glee Club, which was brought here by the Jaycees.

The old stage, the walls backstage covered with ancient show bills would probably have smiled were they human.

For those precious 120 minutes, this was the New Bradley again.

Patsy Lou Purcell Wed to Lawrence W. Geresy

Single candles in tall candelabra with stock and white bows marked the center aisle at the First Presbyterian church for the wedding of Patsy Lou Purcell and Lawrence W. Geresy Saturday afternoon.

Rev. George E. Walworth, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony and Willis Patterson sang "O Perfect Love," The Lord's Prayer" and "Wedding Song."

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Purcell wore a street length gown of Delphinium blue lace with matching accessories, and a shoulder corsage of Eucharist lilies and pale pink rosettes.

Mrs. Geresy wore a street length gown of coffee lace over green taffeta with green accessories and a shoulder corsage of Cypripedium orchids in pale yellow and green.

Presbyterians Will Celebrate 130th Birthday

The Presbyterian Church will commemorate its 130th anniversary of incorporation Easter Sunday during the morning worship.

Folders inserted in the bulletins with the history of the church and pictures will add interest to the commemoration.

On April 6, 1828, 10 people were enrolled as charter members and one baby baptized, thus beginning the life of this church and adding to the history of the then small town of Tecumseh.

Twenty-eight ministers have served the church since that time and many of its members have given much of their talent to its cause.

Membership at the time of the anniversary stands at 486.

LETTERS
TO THE EDITOR

Gentlemen:

As you know April is Cancer Control month and Lenawee County's quota is $12,500 —the same as last year. Unfortunately, the quota was not reached then. Let's go over the top this year.

The first county event was a Kick-Off Luncheon, Tuesday at the Eagle's Hall.

There is an educational program of films available for showing to groups. Please contact Mrs. Richard Hurlbut in Adrian, telephone Colfax 3-1534.

Thank you for the wonderful cooperation you have always given cancer drives—and with the continued help of the press we know that Lenawee County can come through in its fight against this common enemy.

500 Enjoy Concert by Men's Glee Club

Nearly 500 enjoyed last week's concert by the 65-voice University of Michigan Men's Glee Club at the Strand Theatre.

The event was sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Under the direction of Dr. Philip G. Duey, the Glee Club began with a serious selection of songs, which led to an interesting hymn, "Tobacco", written during 1654.

For the younger set there was "Barnical Bill the Sailor," "Clementine." During these songs the members of the club followed the song spirit with a varied amount of acting.

Then back to the more serious and several patriotic selections.

The "Friars," a group of eight Glee Clubmen gave a performance. During their selections there were many jokes, which from the general reaction, seemed to be greatly enjoyed by the audience.

BUSY SUNDAY—Tecumseh's Civil Air Patrol squadron enjoyed a busy Sunday as new members were recruited and given hops in the three CAP ships flying out of Meyer strip.

With Tecumseh Teens

BY MARY V. SEAGER

THE JUNIOR CLASS OF TECUMSEH High School presented two one-act plays, Friday and Saturday nights.

The drama, "Five in Judgement," was a story set in the Midwestern farm belt during a dust storm.

Embittered farmers were willing to believe that two college boys murdered a local girl.

The farmers were all ready to lynch the boys but were prevented when one of the farmers kills another.

The play was well done with realistic sets and acting.

The cast included Dave Champanois, Dave Rutherford, Dave Hohenstein, Mary Lou McConnell, Dave Holden, Greg Mason, Bill Fielder, Bob O'Neill and Ken Wallace. The assistant director was Sondra Hathaway.

The comedy, "He Ain't Done Right By Nell," was a melodrama done in the style of the 1890's. Its plot was, in a nutshell, the triumph of Good over Evil.

Most of the costumes were beautiful period pieces with the furniture blending with them. It was well acted by a cast of seven.

The cast included Sandra Ross, Ann Marie Haughn, Ron Johnson, Sharon Muhn, Karen Golat, Jerry Woodward, Gordon Greiman. The assistant director was Carol Spangler.

Permit Needed to Burn Grass

If you want to burn out a field, be sure to get a permit from the Tecumseh fire department.

It's a state law—and probably would help avoid another day for the department like Tuesday.

Three times the trucks rolled out to smother grass fires:

11:30 a.m.—Brown street along the railroad.

1:30 p.m.—Bihlmeyer road near M-50.

4:45 p.m.—woods back of Meyers Airport.

Golf Course Opens Saturday

The Tecumseh Country Club golf course officially opens for the season Saturday, course pro Leo Bishop announces.

The greens and fairways have been rolled and cut, ball washers put out at the tees, and flagged pins are in the cups.

The course is in excellent shape for early golfing, and a few local linksters have already jumped the gun and played a couple of rounds.

This season will mark the 10th year of play here and the 11th year here for Leo who built the course.

☆

THE PRO SHOP will be open Saturday and daily thereafter. It will not open until 3:30 Monday afternoons until after school lets out for the summer.

The shop will have carts to rent and displays of new golf clubs, bags, balls and other equipment for the opening day.

Most of the course rules which applied in previous years will continue in 1958. Club members may bring a resident guest to play only twice a year, except on Mondays when guests may be brought any number of times.

David Lamkin will work in the shop with Leo and is a candidate for the Evans Scholarship. He is a senior at Tecumseh high school and in the top 30 in the class.

TECUMSEH HERALD PHOTO

HEAVYWEIGHT—That's the way to best describe the beam which floats gently into place on the new Red Mill dam bridge. This little fellow is 82 feet long, packs 150 pounds to the foot—more than 12,000 pounds per beam. This steel work started last week and was completed Tuesday.

Rotating Vent Cools Grains, Is Not Dryer

Rotating ventilators for the roofs of grain bins can act only as cooling devices—not grain driers.

If you want to dry grain, you need a unit especially designed for that purpose, point out agricultural engineers at Michigan State University.

Walter Sheldon and Carl Hall tested a 16-inch ventilator, a common size, to determine its effectiveness.

Their results showed that this ventilator will cool or aerate 1,000 bushels of grain with an average wind velocity of 8 miles per hour. Up to 3,000 bushels can be cooled if the average wind velocity is 10 m.p.h. These wind velocities are common to Michigan.

☆

SHELDON AND HALL say that such a rotating ventilator can help cut moisture losses in stored grain. But the moisture level content of the grain must be at the correct level at time of storage.

The researchers stress this point—some kind of ventilation is needed even though moisture content is proper at storage.

In unventilated storages, the moisture moves through the grain. This is when the damage occurs.

The 1,000 bushel samples used in this test would fill a bin measuring 10 feet by 12½ feet to a depth of 10 feet. A round bin 14 feet in diameter would be filled to a depth of nine feet.

2,000 View Brick Model Home

Indian Hills never enjoyed a better open house.

Ted Templeton, the contractor, and Rena Fitzpatrick, in charge of sales, reported more then 2,000 registered and inspected their new brick, ranch-type home over the weekend.

The full-face brick, three-bedroom home offers numerous features not often found in the $15,975 class.

Among these are . . .

Year around air conditioning, an extra deep basement, built-in range and oven, all-birch kitchen, spacious rooms, attached garage, silent electric switches, storms and screens.

It also has select oak hardwood floors, copper plumbing and full concrete drive and sidewalk.

Local suppliers are being used exclusively for materials to build these homes, states Mr. Templeton.

☆

FINANCING CAN be secured through VA, FHA or conventional mortgage with minimum down payment.

"You can custom plan your homes," according to the builder, "By choosing any of the divider plans offered between the living room and kitchen. The model home features hutch-effect book shelves. A large selection of wall colors and floor tile colors are being offered."

19 Million Baptists Holding Day of Prayer to Start 'Advance'

Nineteen million of the twenty three and a half million Baptists are being called to a Day of Prayer on June 1, 1958, in preparation for their Baptist Jubilee Advance.

The year 1964 marks 150 years of Baptist work in North America. Seventy-five thousand Baptist Churches in United States and Canada are asked to pray for their five-year advance in evangelism which begins December 31.

In issuing the call to Prayer the Rev. Dr. Jitsuo Morikawa, Director of Evangelism for the American Baptists, said, "we must resist the temptation to create a program on which to ask God's blessing. We must rather open our lives and minds to receive God's purposes as our own."

In directing the Baptist Jubilee Advance in Michigan the Rev. Cecil F. Wagstaff, Director of Evangelism for the Michigan Baptist Convention said that "this is one of the great opportunities to witness our historic principle of diversity of method within a unity of spirit. We have a unity in the evangelistic spirit. We have diversity of method in evangelism to best promote the Gospel through each Convention."

Prayer meetings in 75,000 Baptist Churches in the United States and Canada, on December 31, 1958, will inaugurate this Advance. Special prayers in preparation for this Advance will be the emphasis of the June 1st Worship Service in Baptist Churches throughout Michigan.

Proclaims Easter Lily Sale

Whereas, last year Easter Seals helped 132,392 children to walk, talk, and live like other children, and had a vital part in helping 26,114 adults on their way to rehabilitation.

Whereas, the service to crippled children and adults requires continuation and expansion in Tecumseh as reported by the Lenawee County Society For Crippled Children and Adults and

Whereas, to carry forward this vital work, more money will be required for special equipment, tuition to Rackham School, training in rehabilitation centers, and resident and day camp programs; and

Whereas, by carrying forward this service we strip the words "crippled" and "handicapped" of silly superstitions and bring, through our contributions of time, money and energy a measure of relief and rehabilitation as well as self-esteem to the less fortunate; and

Whereas, the Annual Easter Lily Sale for funds to continue and expand these important services to crippled children and adults in Tecumseh will be April 5;

Now therefore, I, H. H. Hanna Mayor of Tecumseh, do hereby proclaim Saturday April 5, 1958 Easter Lily Sale Time in Tecumseh and I call upon all citizens in Tecumseh to extend the fullest support to this worthy cause.

Greetings to Firemen

Charles Manley of the Tecumseh fire department has thumb-tacked "A Salute to Firemen" on the bulletin board of the local station.

As his follow smoke eaters read it, they probably react the same way Charley did when he first saw it—"That's for sure."

Here's the salute:

When the fire trucks are delayed 40 seconds in traffic, people say: "It took them 20 minutes to get here."

When the truck races at 40 mph, it's "Look at those reckless fools."

When four men struggle with an eight-man ladder: "They don't even know how to raise a ladder."

When firemen open windows for ventilation to reduce heat in fighting a fire: "Look at the wrecking crew."

When they open a door to get at the blaze: "There goes the axe squad."

If the chief stands back where he can see and direct his men, people say: "He's afraid to go where he sends his men."

If they loose a building: "It's a lousy department."

If they make a good "stop" people say: "The fire didn't amount to much."

If lots of water is necessary: "They are doing more damage with water than the flames."

If a fireman gets hurt: "He was a careless guy."

If a citizen gets hurt: "It's a crazy department."

If a fireman inspects a citizen's property: "He's meddling in somebody's business."

If he gets killed and leaves a family destitute: "That's the chance he took when he joined the fire department."

These comments came from the Chicago Firefighter magazine.

Father - Daughter Banquet Attracts 200 on Monday

An Easter color theme was carried out for the first Father-Daughter banquet held at the First Baptist Church Monday evening with about 200 attending.

Arrangements of forsythia and pussy willows decorated the windows of the Youth House while yellow chickens and ducks centered the tables and a white cross on purple background formed the covers of the programs.

Mrs. Harold Kelso, Mrs. Robert Smith and Mrs. Carl Kempf were in charge of decorations.

Lee H. Prettyman and George Green, Jr. arranged the program following the invocation by the Rev. Bashore and dinner.

☆

MEL PARTRIDGE was toastmaster presenting Laine Holden who led the group singing.

The welcome to the daughters was done musically by a male quartette consisting of Laine Holden, Harold Black, Dean Jones and George Green.

The response to the Fathers was also done musically by a daughters choir made up of Catherine Maples, Emily Manwaring, Laura Wright, Joan Langham, Pamela Brooks, Linda George, Gloria and Jo Ann Green.

☆

A MAGIC ACT was presented by Belinda Ambler of Clarks Lake. Gay Wilson of Dundee, capably amused the guests with ventriloquism.

Presentations were made to Fred Sheldon, Don and Priscilla Baldwin, Chet Richards and Vern Brown.

Mrs. George Green had charge of the dining room, Mrs. B. O. Bashore, tickets and Mrs. Floyd Barrett, the kitchen.

A Mother-Son banquet is being planned for April 28 with Mrs. Vern Manwaring making arrangements.

City Hostess Idea Could Be Used Here as C of C Effort

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Mrs. Almond Curtis writes to friends here of the Newcomers Club in Hillsdale Michigan where she and her husband and children have moved to their new home.

She is most enthusiastic about Hillsdale, already having become acquainted with the city hostess, Noma Duryea, who greets all newcomers to the city, and tells them of the various facilities available there.

Recently a picture of Mrs. Curtis with Miss Duryear was published in the Hillsdale paper telling about her husband, Al, newly appointed Hillsdale County Boy Scout Executive, and their children, Marilyn and Spencer, and their move from Tecumseh.

In the past five years this lady has called on more than 300 women, greeting them with these words:

"Hello, I'm Noma Duryea, city hostess. I know that you are new in the city and I've come to visit with you and tell you about Hillsdale. Do you have time now or shall I come back again?"

☆

HER CONTAGIOUS smile and cheery disposition have evoked tears and confessions of loneliness on many of her visits.

When new couples come into the city, the husbands have their work to keep them busy and they meet new people on the job.

When the wives get their homes pretty well settled, loneliness creeps in. Just about that time Noma appears on the scene.

Besides extending an invitation to the next meeting of the club which is purely social, Noma tells her new friends about the churches, doctors, stores and answers any questions they may have concerning the city.

☆

SHE HAS 20 sponsors and is employed on a contract basis through a chain of Newcomers Clubs that are now in operation throughout the United States.

Though she is paid, money is not her main interest in her work. She enjoys meeting these new people and doesn't forget them when she leaves their homes.

She invites them to visit her and call her at any time when she may be able to help with any problems they may encounter.

This writer believes that Tecumseh could well use the services of a city hostess who would extend friendliness to those newly arrived in our town.

Could this be one of the first efforts for the newly-organized Chamber of Commerce?

Grange Sponsors Saturday Dance for Cancer Fund

Tecumseh Grange is sponsoring a dance for the American Cancer Society Saturday at the Union Hall from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

Both round and square dancing will be enjoyed to the music of Guy Nixon and his 20-piece band from Morenci.

The United Products Workers are donating the use of the hall for the event since the Grange hall has proven to be too small for the number attending in previous years.

4-H Club Agent Meeting Guest of Lucky Clover

The Lucky Clover 4-H Club met at the home of Mrs. Raynor Sweet March 26 when a purposed plan for meeting places and dates was read and approved.

During the business meeting members voted to have membership dues of 25c a month. The County Kiwanis Award 4-H Club contest was explained and discussed.

New members Onalee Cote, Gary Klingensmith, Mark Blatchford, Dale Lee, Tommy Creger and Mary Lynn Blumerick.

Demonstrations were presented by Linda Starkey on the feeding record of her colt; Gloria Swee, wild flowers; Diane Handy rabbits; and Raymond Sweet, swine.

John Comstock, Lenawee County 4-H Club agent, was a guest and held a question and answer period on 4-H Club activities.

Refreshments, featuring a birthday cake, honoring the anniversary of Gloria Sweet, were served by Mrs. Sweet.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Donald Blatchford on Matthews Road Tuesday.

Cap Orr Named Highway Attorney

His office will be located in the State Highway building in Jackson, Tennessee.

Mr. Orr received his BA degree from Adrian College, his LLB from Cumberland University School of Law at Lebanon, Tennessee and also attended classes at Vanderbilt University.

THS Grad Completed 48-Week Course in 32

Beverly Kay Champenois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Champanois of 715 Outer Drive, graduated from Stautzenberger Secretarial School March 14, completing a 48-week course in 32 weeks.

Tri-Level Has Variety of Features

S. Brooks Barron, president of Town and Country Homes, reports that much time and thought had gone into the designing and construction of the firm's Tri-Level Ambassador in Indian Acres.

"This home offers the comfort and privacy of separated living and sleeping areas," Mr. Barron continued "which in the past was only available in a two-story home. And yet we have eliminated a lot of unnecessary walking up and down stairs.

"The beauty and convenience of tri-level living is at its incomparable best in the Ambassador.

"The spacious functional living area on the main floor with a studio ceiling lends expansive unity to the living room and dining room. Yet they are separated at floor level by a modern shelf divider.

"The kitchen is something special—truly the housewife's delight. A ratox screen partitions it from the dining room. The compact work area, a real step saver, is adjacent to the ever-useful breakfast nook.

☆

"A FEW STEPS down to the lower level is the family room, custom finished by option to suit your family's need. This 19 by 34 foot room can be left as is—complete with furnace, hot water heater and laundry tray—to be finished by the "Do It Yourself Man of the House" at a later date.

"Or, you may prefer to have the room finished when the house is built.

"A few steps up from the living room . . . the wrought iron railing leads to the sleeping area. Three large bedrooms provide comfort away from the living areas.

"The master bedroom has double closets with center folding doors. The other two larger-than-average bedrooms have double folding closet doors.

"The open hallway may be screened from the lower level by drapes hung on traverse rods provided by the builder.

"The master bath has ceramic tile, tub with shower, and built-in vanity with flat formice top and colored fixtures."

The house is priced from $15,500 with FHA financing available.

The tri-level model at 512 Seneca street in Indian Acres can be shown by calling Kohler Real Estate Co.

The model has been furnished in Early American by DesErmia's Furniture Co. of Tecumseh.

TRI-LEVEL VISITORS — Among the throng which looked at the new Indian Acres Tri-Level Ambassador was the James Vallie family. Mr. Vallie holds daughter Vicki, 2; Mrs. Valli stands on the upper level with Sandra, 5. This wrought iron railing is one of the many attractive features of this new Town & Country-built homes. It will be open late Friday afternoon and evening, Saturday, 1 to 9 p.m.

Wheat Acreage Allotments Now Available at ASC

Farmers with land on which no wheat was seeded in either 1956, 1957 or 1958 and for which a 1958 wheat acreage allotment was not established, may apply for a 1959 wheat acreage allotment.

Arthur Capper, chairman of the Lenawee Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, makes the announcement.

The owner or operator of such a farm must apply in writing to his ASC county committee by July 1.

Otherwise, 1959 wheat acreage allotment will not be established for the farm.

MR. CAPPER further explained that 1958 wheat acreage on a farm which did not have a 1958 wheat storage allotment does not qualify as wheat history acreage for the purpose of establishing acreage allotments.

A 1959 old farm wheat acreage allotment will not be established for a farm without wheat history in 1956 and 1957 and on which wheat was planned in 1958 without a 1958 wheat acreage allotment unless an application is filed by July 1, 1958.

Blank application forms are available at the ASC County office for use in filing requests for allotments.

Nearly 800 Michigan high school students are expected to attend The University of Michigan's all-state music and drama program at Interlochen.

Through My Window

OUTSIDE — NOTHING !!!

No matter how well the window is situated, no matter how lovely is the picture it frames, there are times when the view is comparatively unimpressive. Fortunately these days are few and far between.

For us, one of the times they are apt to come is during the period of transition when one season ends and another begins.

There are usually a few dull, cloudy days as the old struggles to stay and the new fights to take over and become dominate.

At such times, we turn from the window and browse the book shelves. Whether the black moods are outside the window or inside ourselves, a friendly book will quickly dispel all gloom.

☆

A MOST DELIGHTFUL book is "Wings At My Window" by Ada Clapham Govan — We have read it several times and enjoyed each reading.

The wings at Mrs. Govan's window are the thousands and thousands of birds who have learned to come to her for food and protective shelter.

As she chats about her bird friends her enthusiasm is contagious. It's a wonderful book—one which the whole family can enjoy.

Starting with a handful of bread crumbs thrown to a wee chickadee on a cold, blustery morning, her bird world, at book's end was encompassed in a recognized 10 acre bird refuge and sanctuary.

This is a detailed account of that growth and development. The charm of the book is explained in the author's foreword when she admits that instead of enjoying her birds from a scientific point of view, they are to her "beloved feathered friends."

☆

THE BIRD caracteristics of each species is described but more attention is given to individual birds and their idiosyncrasies.

For example, one catbird, after once tasting steamed raisins refused ever after to eat them unless they were thus prepared.

As the Govan Family's interest in birds grew they improvised feeders and shelters.

They definitely proved what we've always maintained—it is not style or elaborateness in which the birds are interested, they respond best to simple loving kindness and consideration.

Living in an ideal location and possessing an unboundless enthusiasm, Mrs. Govan had an almost unparalled success in attracting birds to her large back yard.

☆

AT ONE TIME she says "Fully 75 evening grosbeaks were busily telling me how empty they were—as were 75 tree sparrows, several English sparrows, 40 to 50 finches, about 75 goldfinches, 25 to 35 juncos, seven pine siskins, two pairs of white-breasted nuthatches, one pair of tine red-breasted nuthatches, two brown creepers, four downy woodpeckers and a dozen blessed chickadees."

Of course, as their bird population increased so did the food consumption. During one 12-month period her birds ate "four hundred pounds of wild bird seed; at least 100 extra of sunflower seed; 25 pounds each of chick feed, hemp and millet; many beef and lamb bones; and great quantities of bread crumbs, minced table scraps, raisins, currants, peanut butter, pie crust, cake and always plenty of suet."

☆

TO BE TRUTHFUL, we must admit that Mrs. Govan is disquieting at times. We turn slightly green with envy when she talks about winter wrens, wood thrushes and myrtle warblers.

Things are camparative, however, and I know our thrill at having a red-breasted nuthatch on our feeder was just as great as her's when she found a hundred redpolls in her sanctuary.

Although not a new book, the copyright date is 1940, it's subject material is timeless. After all, the beauty of a rose-breasted grosbeck is the same today as it was 18 years ago and becoming acquainted with a new friend is always thrilling.

Space prohibits a more detailed discussion of this book and besides I don't want to spoil things for you by telling all. There is an interesting chapter on bird banding and suspense and excitement live on the pages which rescribe the predatory which describe the predatory

This is also a book of courage. Intermingled with the interesting bird stories, Mrs. Govan tells an inspiring tale of personal courage.

It's a wonderful, wonderful book—happy reading!

Is That So!

By CLARA WALDRON

THE PENINSULAR HOUSE OF GENERAL BROWN

Should a workman at the new A & P building return for a tool some dark and stormy night and hear a jungle of harness, a creak of heavy wheels and the snort of tired horses, eager for stable and oats, he might well pride himself on having "extra-sensory perception."

It might scare him out of a year's growth, but it would only be the shade of one of General Joseph Brown's stage coaches arriving at the Peninsular House after a hard trip from Detroit.

The "Western Stage Company," with offices on Woodward Avenue, corner of Jefferson in Detroit, advertised during the 1830s, "three daily lines of coaches", one of which ran via Ypsilanti, Tecumseh, Jonesville, Niles, White Pigeon, and Michigan City to Chicago. Making the run in three and one-half days".

That line was owned and operated by Tecumseh's General Brown.

It was in 1827 that he leased the Green Tavern, which he had built two years earlier on the corner of Chicago street and Maumee and erected the Peninsular House on the square where the new A & P store will stand.

☆

IN AN AGE of impressive stage coach inns it was outstanding. Built in the style architects call "Greek Revival", it had a three storied main structure with pillared facade, flanked by two large, story-and-a-half wings with a kitchen ell and stables at the rear.

For those with a taste for the classical it was without doubt the most imposing structure the town has ever seen.

Facing Mill street (now N. Evans), it stood not far back from the road on what was at that time a fairly high hill.

The pillared portico opened, through a wide front door, into a spacious hall where a graceful walnut staircase, one of three in the front of the inn, led to the second floor.

The window and door frames were of white wood, the huge frame timbers of oak and the many doors were solid walnut. According to tradition much of the timber used in this inn had been cut from the floor of the mill pond when it was cleared.

☆

HUNDREDS OF western travelers were entertained there and in spite of its size it was said to be crowded every night during the rush of migration.

If it sounds out of the way to travel from Ypsilanti to Jonesville by way of Tecumseh, it was. However, the "back road" to Saline, (through Macon) had been opened at that time and the General's coaches brought the passengers to the General's tavern rather than to the rival Clinton Inn.

Harriet Martineau, the English traveler and author, writes in 1836 of spending the night at Wallace's Inn near Saline and having breakfast in Tecumseh, where she had her first taste of wild strawberries.

The third floor was a large ball room, with a famous "spring floor" and many social affairs were held there in the heyday of the public.

One of the most important of these gatherings, on August 9, 1838, was the celebration of the arrival of the first train in Tecumseh.

Drawn by a wood-burning engine, over the wooden-rails of the "Palmyra, Jacksonburgh Branch" of the Erie and Kalamazoo RR., it brought three cars of "distinguished visitors" from Adrian, Monroe and Toledo, all of whom were entertained at dinner by General Brown.

☆

THERE WAS an element of irony in his hospitality to the mayor and other dignitaries of Toledo for just a few years before he had led the Michigan Militia against those same men in the short but bitter "Toledo War".

That day was probably the beginning of the end for the spacious tavern for the railroad, together with the lessening of western migration, spelled the end of the stage coach era.

Just when and by whom the tavern was first dismantled we do not know, but prior to the Civil War the wings were removed and converted into at least two and probably three houses, one of which remains as the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kopka on Water street.

It has the characteristic white wood window frames and heavy frame timbers to some of which the bark still clings. When it was remodeled several years ago it was discovered that the roof boards were all of walnut.

The picture above shows the gaunt skeleton of the main structure not long before it was razed in 1910.

It had been occupied intermittently as a dwelling, until a man, whose name and tragedy have both been forgotten, hanged himself in the attic.

After that it was "haunted" and left to the owls, bats and shuddering visits of small boys.

Youths Help with Dishwashing

BY DR. MARY LEE HURT

EAST LANSING — Most seventh and eighth graders not only help with family meals but with buying the groceries and dishwashing.

A recent survey of these young adolescents in three Michigan communities showed the girls give more help with meals than boys, although boys are efficient help.

Appetites may be sporadic at the "betweener" age level and parents and teachers can be of much help in planning meals and snacks that will taste good and look appetizing so the whole family will enjoy them.

☆

WITH FAMILIES up and off to work or school in a hurry and at different times, breakfast may easily be passed by — resulting in tired feelings and malnutrition.

A little thoughtful planning and preparation the night before may insure each family member of having an adequate breakfast every morning.

Young people may be shown how to fix "quick" breakfasts that are nourishing.

Dishwashing can be less of a chore if the dishes are washed right after the meal and are scraped, rinsed and stacked before washing. Games, riddles and singing may help to make the dishwashing job a pleasant one, and many an adolescent problem has been solved when mother or dad shared in the dishwashing.

Graduate of THS Named President of Insurance Firm

H. John Lowry, brother of Margaret Lowry and a former resident of Tecumseh, was elected president of the Michigan Mutual Liability Company in Detroit at the directors' meeting following the annual meeting of the company last Thursday.

Mr. Lowry was born in Tecumseh, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Lowry, and graduated from high school here in 1917.

He studied business administration at the University of Michigan, graduating in 1922 and immediately entered the employ of Michigan Mutual Liability.

He has served in several key positions in the past 35 years.

He has been vice-president for four years and a director since 1952. He is a member of the Tecumseh Chapter of F & AM and formerly sang in the Presbyterian choir here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowry have a son and daughter, both married. They live in Bloomfield Hills.

Dairy farming in 1968 will be characterized by larger and fewer herds, complete Michiganization, and more specialization, believe farm management specialists at Michigan State University.

Light-weight building blocks made with ground corn cobs works all right for farm buildings. But to be long lasting, the blocks must be sealed with a protective coating, say Michigan State University agricultural engineers.

"TWO IS COMPANY, THREE IS A CROWD"

—*(Author's Name Below)—

For thousands of years the two ancient professions of medicine and pharmacy have unitedly served the health of everyone. In order that they may do this properly all physicians and pharmacists spend years studying at a college and must pass a state examination to prove their knowledge.

Recently, untrained persons, grasping an opportunity to make some quick money are selling vitamins and other medicines from door-to-door. They even presume to tell people how to take them. Your health is not to be trifled with. Be wise. You are safe when you depend on your physician and pharmacist.

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

MABEL LOCKWOOD, EDITOR of the Tecumseh Products employee publication, has been hospitalized with a bum left shoulder the past few days.

Mabel received a happy lift Monday when she learned that 300 copies of her March issue were being flown to Italy for the annual Industrial Fair in Milan.

The "TP Broadcasts" were requested by the firm's Italian representative. They'll be given to folks who visit the booth which will display Tecumseh hermetically sealed and conventional compressors.

Dean Jones of the Products export division made all arrangements, including the shipment of compressors for the display.

As for the "Broadcasts," Dean explains that the TP representative in Italy wanted to show his guests how an American company keeps it workers informed through the pages of an employee publication.

We might add here, Mabel has a darn nice one.

AN AWFUL LOT HAS BEEN written about the American system of education—or lack of one—in recent weeks.

Our nation's schools have been severely taken to task and with justification in most instances.

How do we stand right here, in Tecumseh?

You'll find the answer to that question in a well-prepared article written by Neville Hart, our high school principal, appearing on page 4 of this issue.

Neville doesn't just explain what our high school offers and let it go at that. He probes into the part parents play in keeping academic standards high—which is one item we've probably been all too casual in considering.

This writer highly recommends Mr. Hart's article.

AT ABOUT 1:20 SATURDAY afternoon, Recreation Field was dotted with gayly-decorated Easter eggs.

Along narrow lanes stood several hundred pre-school, kindergarten and first grade students. In their hands they clutched some sort of paper bags or basket.

The annual Easter egg hunt was about to begin.

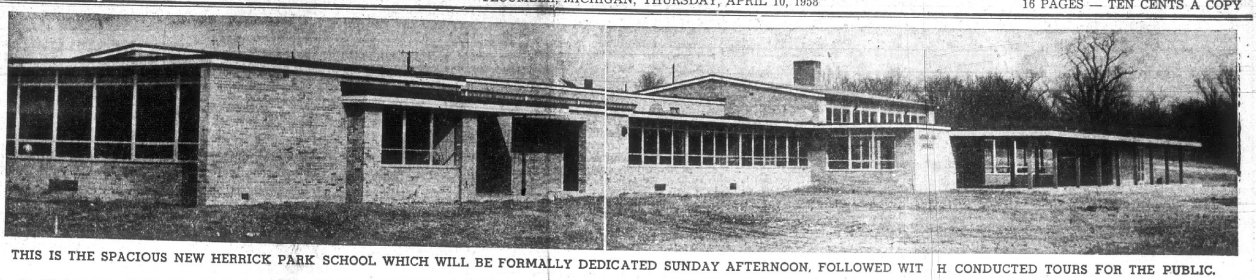
A shrill whistle cut through the still air.

Now it was 1:21. There wasn't an egg on the ground as a low cloud of dust wafted skyward.

Later this was repeated, this time with children of the second, third and fourth grades.

If an army sergeant could train his GIs to police up the parade ground with this speed and efficiency, he'd be deemed the world's champ.

Our congratulations to the Girl Scouts who put on this hunt. They did a really grand job.



THIS IS THE SPACIOUS NEW HERRICK PARK SCHOOL WHICH WILL BE FORMALLY DEDICATED SUNDAY AFTERNOON, FOLLOWED WIT H CONDUCTED TOURS FOR THE PUBLIC.

$1,000 Fire at Field

Damage amounting to $1,000 was caused to electrical transformers at Recreation Field last week by a grass fire.

This was the most serious of several the local department has had to battle in the past six days and helped prompt a burning ban here.

The ruling has been handed down by the state Conservation Department, which ordered a "stop" on issuance of burning permits until after a rain fall.

Other grass fires occurred at the Ford Mudgett farm on Pennington road and at the north end of Red Mill Drive in River Acres.

The department also had to answer three calls at the city dump southeast of the hospital—two Friday and one Tuesday.

Citizens are reminded that any volunteer weed or grass burning must be done by permit only. These can only be obtained from the fire department.

In more conventional calls, a defective chimney at the home of Mrs. Rose Smith, 504 W. Cummins street, was extinguished Saturday, while Sunday, local smoke eaters doused a fire on a Consumers Power pole on E. Cummins, near the Cities Service bulk plant.

Damage was minor in both of these cases.

4-H Spring Show Opens April 10

Lenawee County 4-H Spring Achievement opens April 10 at Adrian College. Seven-hundred winter projects completed by members are expected to be entered. The public is invited to attend the Friday evening open house for 7 to 10 p.m., which follows th day's judging.

Dedicate School Sunday

The $371,000 Herrick Park elementary school will be formally dedicated Sunday in a program under direction of the PTA there.

"Everyone is invited to the ceremonies," states president Bill Damon.

They will begin at 2 p.m. with conducted tours by PTA members following until 5 p.m.

At part of the festivities, a flag will be presented by the VFW for outside display, also one for each classroom.

A life membership to the Herrick Park PTA will be presented to Ray Herrick in recognition of his efforts to see the betterment of educational facilities in the community.

The new building, which will serve first-through-sixth graders in the northeast section of Tecumseh, was completed last month and moved into March 17.

Its enrollment is 252.

The building offers the finest in facilities, including a self-contained kindergarten, which is in the form of a separate wing.

The gymnasium has basketball hoops eight feet off the floor instead of the usual 10.

First and second grade rooms have self-contained toilet facilities.

Dave Rubinoff Has Power-Packed Day

Rubinoff brought his "Magic Violin" to Tecumseh Tuesday as a guest of the Kiwanis Club.

It was a typical, power-packed day for the man billed as "the world's greatest violinist."

Certainly, he is one of the world's finest showman, completely captivating his various audiences, which included school children, old folks in a rest home, as well as those attending his evening performance.

And he plays an extremely beautiful violin.

His two-hour evening show at Tecumseh high school covered a wide range of selections, from "Clair de Lune" to "Fiddlin' the Fiddle."

The rendition of "The Ballad of Davy Crockett" was a highlight, enjoyed by young and old.

In next week's Herald, Arthur Collingsworth will present a feature story entitled "A Day with Rubinoff."

Arthur followed in the violinist's footsteps Tuesday and was a pretty weary lad by nightfall—but his notebook was loaded with interesting jottings.

Auxiliary Hears Writer

Forty-five members of the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary attended the meeting Tuesday evening when Allen Seager spoke advising the beginning writer.

Britton members of the Auxiliary were hostesses.

COMEDIAN, TOO—When Rubinoff dropped in to meet Mr. and Mrs. Ray Herrick at their home before his evening performance, he thrust his $100,000 violin into Mr. Herrick's hands and told him to play. Then he went into this act. Whether the audience is two or 2,000, Rubinoff is every bit the showman.

His wife, Mary was admitted to Bixby Hospital, having suffered chest and head injuries.

Ronald R. Henkel, Richard's brother, who was in the jeep, also entered Bixby Hospital with possible rib fractures.

A Thought to Remember

When the American wants something done and is willing to go out and work at it, the project is usually completed in jig time.

Witness the new Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce.

Looking at this effort chronologically, these dates form the milestones:

March 6 — Wheels went into motion this week to organize a new Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce.

March 13 — A total of 38 business and professional men agree to join.

March 20 — the membership climbs to 45.

March 27 — it spurs to 70.

April 2 — the goal of 100 members is reached!

This drive didn't just happen. In about 95% of the cases, new members were signed after from one to six personal contacts by the original nucleus of 17, who began the ball rolling the evening of March 5.

This was the ever-widdening circle.

One businessman is sold on the idea and joins, then contacts the fellow next door. He in turn joins, tells his coffee-break buddie about the organization, he signs.

So it went, until, presto, the magic number was reached. In fact, it has since been surpassed and unofficially as this was written early in the week, about 105 were "in".

It's interesting to note that there are approximately 275 business and professional folks in Tecumseh. Some day, most of them will probably want to join. The more members there are, the less each individual's dues will be.

As you might guess, there were some pessimists who made it quite plain from the start that they "knew" a Chamber could never again be formed here.

When told the minimum membership goal was set at 100 they scoffed and said it never could be done.

What they hadn't reckoned with was the good old-fashioned determination among their fellow citizens who wanted "something done and were willing to work at it."

And now the Chamber movement will soon be underway. Let's hope these same people will remember the success of the membership drive before they begin handing out any dour comments on each new promotion.

Of Things Historical Here

Clara Waldron, our city's unofficial historian brings up a vital question in her column this week: what can be done with things of historical significance to this community?

Clara's comment comes after receiving a rare item, the first newspaper printed in Tecumseh.

It's an extremely absorbing item and should be carefully saved and at the same time made available for interested persons to view.

This would seem to suggest some sort of Tecumseh museum and that doesn't appear like a bad idea at all.

Where or how or when are logical questions and if anyone has any answers we'd be glad to hear them.

Wit & Wisdom Club Officers Re-elected

There were 32 members of the Wit and Wisdom club at the April meeting Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Partridge. The hosts were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Jones and Clara Waldron.

By a unanimous vote the club re-elected the present officers for another year of service.

They are President, Earl Greene; vice-president, Marjorie Wickwire; secretary, Mrs. Perry Hayden and treasurer, Wilfred Waldron.

The group also made preliminary plans for the May banquet which will be the next meeting of the club.

Mr. Greene, who was both president and program leader, introduced Mrs. T. Rentschler who gave a talk on the subject of "Bells" of which she has made a collection.

Telling of their use and associations in the various countries of the world she displayed many during her talk.

Editor, Tecumseh Herald

Will some one please explain why the Tecumseh Community Fund Board voted in favor of uniting with the now experimental Lenawee County Fund when the preponderance of opinion, as I observed it at the public meeting held at the City Hall April 1st, indicated disapproval.

It was my understanding that this advertised meeting was held to determine public reaction as to such a move for the express guidance of the local Board.

Respectfully,
Edna C. Codling

Dear Sir:

Kindly renew my subscription to The Tecumseh Herald again.

I wasn't going to include a note, but I want you to know I appreciate the many photos you are now using; having been away from Tecumseh a number of years, the changes are now quite apparent to me, and the unchanged views are equally appreciated, (and the pictures of people, too.)

By brother, Jack Carlson, has recently returned here to the San Francisco area, and enjoys the Tecumseh paper too, as do my parents in Marion, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Don Carlson are now living in Denver, Colorado.

In enjoy Marda Gene's column, of course, and I hope you'll say "hi" to her for me if you happen to think of it. My three children keep me busy, but I'll try to write her soon again.

Best regards,
Mary Lou Carlson Hasey

P.S. Loved the picture of the old Brownville School, since we used to live at 24 West Brown St., I'm very fond of that scene.

Editor, The Herald:

It seems that I cannot neglect to congratulate the young people of the community on the wonderful Easter Sunrise service at Hidden Lake Garden.

Such an undertaking always means much thought and work for a long time ahead and a lot of doing at the service.

The setting was especially good, with the night's rain bringing back the green to the brown slopes of the day before and the rays of the morning sun penetrating the rising clouds of mist from the lake below.

Surely everyone of the 100 present were better for having listened to the inspiring music and the thoughtful and inspirational message of the young speaker.

I do not know how many similar services are held each Easter morning, surely hundreds.

Some are nationally known, as Natural Bridge, Virginia, Garden of the Gods, Colorado, Grand Canyon, Arizona and perhaps ending with Hollywood Bowl, California.

I am sure none were better planned and carried out than that of our own community. It is not every year that our northern climate will permit such an outdoor gathering, so we must enjoy and appreciate the opportunities we have.

Again, hats off to our home folks!

Most sincerely,
W. G. Waldron

Mr. and Mrs. Leo H. Stoll and son, Jeffry, from Bedford, Indiana spent Easter weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Robinson and they entertained Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith and family for dinner on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cameron and family spent Easter Sunday at their cabin in the Waterloo area, coming back to the city on Monday.

Tecumseh High Rates Above Average In Its Science Courses

By NEVILLE L. HART

Tecumseh High School Principal

With the advent of Sputnik, there has been a great deal of concern because the Russians are seemingly in advance of America technologically.

Some sources lay the blame for the Russian advance to our shortage of trained scientists, pointing out that some of the basic tools of these scientists—mathematics, chemistry, biology, and physics—are taught to a lesser degree in today's high school than previously.

Various statistics have been cited to prove that youngsters today are taking the "snap courses."

It must be remembered, however, that America is attempting to educate all of its youth—the only country in the world attempting to accomplish this task on such a large scale.

☆

FIFTY YEARS ago such was not the case, and as a consequence, only the more academically able were likely to be found in high school.

In 1890 only 6.7% of the youths ages 14-17 were enrolled in public or private schools. This must be kept in mind when comparing figures of 30 to 50 years ago with the present day. Percentages prove to be misleading in this case.

For example, in 1890 a total of 45.4% of the high school students were taking algebra. This was 92,150 pupils. In 1953, the percentage dropped to 24.6%, but nearly 12 times as many pupils were taking algebra.

Using some of the figures that have been published, I will attempt to present the ways in which we in Tecumseh compare nationally.

The main source used was the 1954 United States Office of Education report on mathematics and science. This study shows that 25% of the public high schools in the United States do not offer plane geometry; 33⅓% do not offer advanced algebra; nearly 25% offer neither chemistry or physics.

☆

A REPORT completed in 1956, not yet published, shows no basic change. It further indicates that 34.4% of all high school students take chemistry; 24.5% take physics; only 32.2% go beyond elementary algebra; trigonometry is studied by only 9.2%; and solid geometry 7.6%.

How does Tecumseh high school compare in the light of the above mentioned subjects?

In science we offer one year of biology, one year of chemistry, one year of physics and one year of general science. At least one year of science is required for graduation.

In mathematics, we offer one year of general mathematics, one year of elementary algebra, one year of intermediate or advanced algebra, one year of plane geometry and a year of solid geometry and trigonometry combined. At least one year of mathematics is required for graduation.

Seventy percent of our students enroll in biology; 41% in chemistry and 40% in physics.

Sixty percent of our students enroll in algebra, 55% in plane geometry, 12% in advanced algebra, solid geometry and trigonometry.

Thus, it seems safe to conclude that:

1. We have as complete an offering of mathematics and science courses as is regularly offered in any four-year public high school.
2. Considering the fact that biololgy is not required in our school, our enrollment figures compare favorably with national averages, being 1% lower. (Biology is required in many schools.)
3. Our enrollment in chemistry exceeds the national average by 6.6%.
4. Our enrollment in physics is 16.5% higher than the national average.
5. Our enrollment in advanced algebra and plane geometry is well over the national average of 32.2%; our enrollment in solid geometry exceeds the national average by 2.8%; and the trigonometry enrollment exceeds the national average by 4.4%.
6. Our requirement of at least one year of science and one year of mathematics for graduation places us in an enviable position among the public high schools of the United States.

☆

ALTHOUGH WE have been able to maintain relatively high academic standards, and are thus better than average, it does not mean that there is not room for improvement.

As a result of Sputnik, all schools will be raising their standards and we must continue to raise ours in all fields as we have been doing each year. We are doing well, we can do better.

How much better we do will be determined by the effect Sputnik has upon the parents of our students. Parents can do a great deal to help the educational level of our nation.

Here are five points for parents of students to bear in mind:

1. A good high school education cannot be acquired during school hours only. . .Parents should look to their children's homework assignments. If your child seldom or never brings school work home, contact his teachers or principal and ask about the situation.
2. Provide a good place in the home for study without distractions. No students should be expected or allowed to study in a room where television programs are being viewed.
3. Parents should study the report cards which are sent home six times a year, and should seek a conference with the classroom teacher, the counselor, or the principal if they are concerned about their child's progress. If parents are uncertain as to the quality of work to expect, an appointment should be made with the pupil's counselor or principal to understand better the pupil's academic ability.
4. Parents should regulate the number of social and other evening activities that crowd out or eliminate time for homework. Parents who feel that school extra-curricular activities demand too many nights out should take their complaint to the principal.
5. Finally, parental attitudes have much to do with the child's getting to school on time and attending regularly and also his attitude toward intellectual achievement. It is also the responsibility of the parents to see that the child is in physical condition to profit from class work. Pupils who fail to get adequate rest each night are too tired during classes to accomplish much.

☆

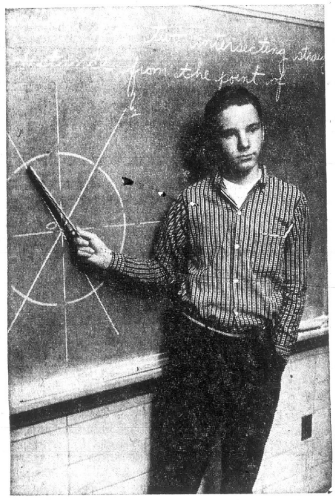
PARENTS MUST realize that their children are being offered an opportunity to get a good education. They can gain just as much knowledge as they wish.

We are in the process, through our new "honors system", of developing multi-leveled classes so that all students can do work that is challenging for them.

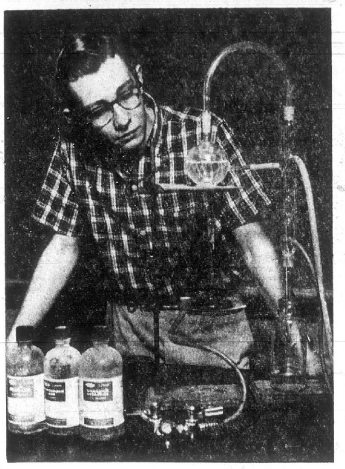
We are fortunate to have so many devoted, professionally-minded teachers developing these young minds. It is a rewarding experience for them to see interest shown by the pupils in their subject matter. Also rewarding is an interest expressed by the parents in the many phases of our school program.

In most cases, where community interest is high, major disciplinary problems are low. The school and it's teachers must be respected not only by the students, but also by the parents.

Remember, a student must be equipped in many ways when he emerges from school into the adult world. We, in the education field, are trying to meet as many of these needs as possible. Are parents meeting their responsibilities, too?



MORE THAN HALF—Geometry is taken by 55% of Tecumseh's high school enrollment. Nearly 25% of U. S. schools don't even offer the subject. In the Tecumseh geometry class of Jim Howard, sophomore Fred Jeschke explains a problem.



AHEAD IN CHEMISTRY—In Tecumseh, 41% of our high school students study chemistry, well above the national average of 34.4%. Here Ron Johnson, a junior in David Dick's chemistry course, views the distilling of water.

New Garden Club Is Formed, Will Be Named Soon

Mrs. Stanley Cook was elected president of the newly-organized and so far unnamed garden club at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Orrie Gilbert.

Other officers are vice president, Mrs. Earl Baldwin; recording secretary, Mrs. Royal Welch and treasurer, Mrs. Raymond White, Jr.

Mrs. Neil Pearson was chairman of the meeting and assisted in the organization of the club.

The group will meet each third Tuesday of the month and the next meeting will be held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. White on River Acres Drive at 8 p.m.

☆

A NAME WILL be selected for the club at this time and Leo Bishop will be the speaker using the topic, "Getting the Garden Ready" followed by a question and answer period.

Mrs. Robert Randall will be co-hostess.

There are two other garden clubs in the city, one, the original Tecumseh Garden Club and the other a junior club.

It was thought that a club meeting in the evening would facilitate a gardening organization for those who cannot attend afternoon meetings.

The other club membership is large and additional members would make it necessary to find a meeting place other than homes.

EASTER EGG TREE—Motorists going along N. Evans street, north of the Red Mill dam bridge looked twice as they passed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Howard last week. There stood an Easter egg tree in the front yard. The special decoration was a project of Mrs. Howard's Cub Scout Den 14 of Pack 73. When the photographer arrived to snap a picture none of the Cubs were on hand, so Mrs. Howard's daughter, Sandra, obligingly posed.

Good Attitude Helps to Make Driving Safer

The main rural traffic safety problem isn't much different from that of large cities, believes Richard G. Pfister, extension safety specialist at Michigan State University.

Even though road conditions, intersections and other physical conditions differ, the common problem found in all areas is poor attitudes, thinks Pfister.

Many intelligent, physically fit drivers have accidents, the safety specialist continues. None of these people actually want accidents but they get trapped by their attitudes.

Most people will have to admit that when an oncoming car fails to dim the lights, or when a car cuts ahead of them, or when an over-cautious driver is traveling too slow, they become annoyed and are tempted to respond with a change in their driving.

☆

HUMAN NATURE is such that people like to blame accidents on physical things such as speed or alcohol.

People are hesitant to admit that it isn't the speed that kills but it's the individual who speeds who is the real killer.

Alcohol doesn't cause accidents; it's the person who consumes it and then drives who is the potential killer, Pfister points out.

People also like to blame accidents on others. Some drivers can't understand why people walk on the "wrong" side of the road. But yet when they walk, they tend to make the same mistake.

Individuals who want to do something about improving driving attitude must be honest with themselves, Pfister maintains. The fact is that all who drive contribute to the traffic problem.

A good start can be made by improving courtesy, lawfulness, alertness and responsibilities in our own driving, Pfister concludes.

Presbyterians Commemorate 130th Birthday

Mrs. James Barton and James Hartsell recently compiled a history of the past five years of the Presbyterian Church.

It has been added to the previous one compiled by Anne Carson which included the first 125 years of service of the church here in Tecumseh.

A folder with the history and pictures of the church building as it is at present, both interior and exterior, was inserted in the regular church bulletins Easter Sunday.

These commemorated the 130th anniversary of the incorporation of the First Presbyterian Church of Tecumseh.

☆

INCLUDED IN the history were interesting changes that have taken place since 1952 when the Rev. George E. Walworth first came to this city to take over the pastorate of the church:

1. The former system of local church government composed of elders and trustees was replaced by the unicameral system.

2. The benevolence giving has tripled.

3. Another refugee family has been brought to Tecumseh.

4. The Woman's Association has disbanded their former groups and entered into a "mixing up" plan with six circles.

5. A study program for persons wishing to join the church is presented each quarter.

6. A great number of men have attended the men's meeting in Chicago coming back inspired and ready to work.

7. The Sunday School continues to grow.

8. Physically the church has had repairs, outside brickwork and masonry were restored and the steeple and heating plant renovated.

9. Steeple lighting and new chancel furniture have helped give the church the "new look."

10. The choirs have continued to provide fine music under the direction of several directors, at present, Jerry Langenkamp, with Mrs. Fred Dickinson, organist.

☆

ON MAY 1 the first candidate to the ministry, David Van Winkle, will graduate from McCormick seminary in Chicago.

During the past five years, 173 people have joined the church, 42 have transferred and 28 have passed away, leaving the membership figures at about what they were five years ago.

On May 28, 1958 this church will become a part of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America which will result from a merger of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America and the United Presbyterian Church of North America.

Indians Win Opening Tilt from Clinton

By GLENN WILLIAMS

Tecumseh opened its baseball season here Tuesday afternoon with a 6-2 win over Clinton.

Tecumseh scored four runs in a big second-inning rally and added two more in the third.

It was a non-league game for the Indians who open loop play here on Friday afternoon against the Monroe CC Falcons.

Bob Wilkins hurled beautiful two-hit ball for the first four innings before being relieved by Denny Harrison in the fifth.

Wilkins, the winning hurler, struck out nine Clinton batters while walking four.

Bob Jurasek, Clinton's second baseman, suffered a spike wound on his right hand while making a tag in the fourth inning and had to leave the ball game.

Tony Kasik, Bob Wilkins and Karl Cranston were the big guns in the Indians attack as Kasik banged out a triple and Wilkins a double while Cranston drove in two runs with a single in the second inning.

Actually, There's More to This Story

Ever see a three-bedroom home erected in less than eight hours?

If you'd have asked that question 15 years ago you probably would have gotten a sidelong glance for a reply.

Today, it's a different story, due mainly to the advances made in home construction through the extended use of prefabrication.

This city's pre-fab builder, Jack Shutt of Tecumseh Homes, Inc., represents National Homes.

Jack explains that National took a leaf from Henry Ford's book—following the assembly-line plan.

Its objective is to make new housing available at low costs, thus giving many families the opportunity of buying home who otherwise might never have had the chance.

At its plant in Lafayette, Indiana, National Homes produces a variety of pre-fab wall panels and ceiling trusses.

When midwest builders, like Jack Shutt want to put up a National Home, they order the ingredients from the plant and arrange a specific shipping date.

Beween the time Jack orders and the National truck arrives, his men construct a cement-block basement and lay the floor.

On the day of construction, the truck arrives from Lafayette sometime before 8 a.m., greeting the crew of six as it arrives for work under the direction of superintendent Roland Redman.

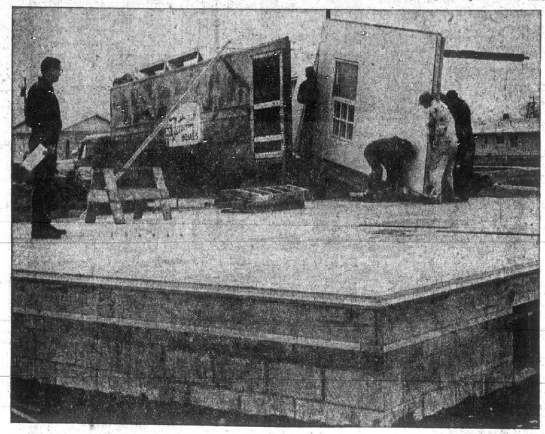
Unloading proceeds in an orderly and efficient manner. As each wall panel is taken from the truck it is immediately nailed into position.

The roof trusses follow, then the windows and frames and doors. All interior walls are placed inside the house.

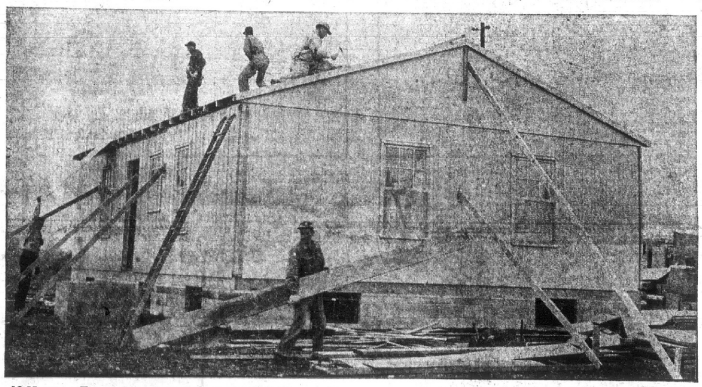
By quitting time, the home is under lock and key.

There is considerable work left, but for all intents and purposes, the home is up.

Tasks left—and these will consume better than 2 weeks—are siding for front, erecting interior walls, interior and exterior trim, taping and painting, wiring and plumbing, heating installation, linoleum in kitchen and wall-to-wall carpeting in the remainder of the house.



8:05 a.m. — The National Homes truck from Lafayette, Indiana is unloaded. As each wall panel comes out, it is nailed into its proper place. All items have been carefully packed into truck so that they will be removed in proper sequence.



10:55 a.m.—Exterior walls have been completely erected and all interior components have been unloaded and stored inside. The 20 roof trusses have been lag screwed into the walls and the crew is busy getting tar paper on the roof.

OUR MODERN CONSTRUCTION METHODS CAN SAVE YOU $ $ $

HERE'S HOW. By combining the skills of the country's foremost architects and modern manufacturing methods, National Homes are built with a minimum of costly field labor. Then too, the buying power of National Homes, world's largest purchaser of quality lumber, makes possible the use of No. 1 kiln-dried, west coast region framing lumber — even in our lowest cost homes.

Our newest Model Home will be open for public inspection Saturday, April 19. This home, with full basement and large landscaped lot, will sell for $12,750. We offer the new FHA terms for everyone — 21 to 61, veteran or non-vet — $395 down payment and we pay the closing costs. For veterans who qualify, we offer the latest GI terms — NOTHING DOWN. We can't be beaten for quality, price or terms.

FOR ALL WE HOLD SACRED . . . ATTEND CHURCH !

Youth—BY THE DRAWERFUL

In a nation as big as ours there is always a tendency to overlook the individual and to think only of groups. Youth gets the brunt of this generalizing.

About three percent of our boys and girls are delinquent. But some folks would have us believe that every child is a potential delinquent.

Time we realized that children aren't chicks! They don't grow up by the drawerful to have the same characteristics and habits.

Children respond to love, parental example, religious guidance. They possess an ever-increasing aptitude for responsibility, trust, and faith.

Most of our boys and girls will grow up to assume their rightful place in an orderly, Christian society. Some will populate our jails. But the destiny of the individual youth is not a matter of chance and percentage . . .

It is determined primarily by the conscientiousness of loving parents, and by the persistency with which his natural religious interests are cultivated.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

PICTURES THROUGH THE PICTURE WINDOW

The worn out, cartoon-caption type saying often associated with old time photographers is "Now smile at the pretty birdie please."

We reverse things a little and ask, "Now pretty birdie, smile at the people please."

Surprisingly enough, they do it. Birds and squirrels are wonderfully photogenic and they are amazingly cooperative. Some of them are regular little hams about posing.

We have two feeding stations right outside the big window which looks to the west. One is three feet away and the other about five feet. We keep the camera aimed on one feeder or the other and although both are adequately stocked with food, extra tid-bits are used to entice the birds into camera range.

Usually it works but occasionally the birds out of pure obstinacy insist upon going to the wrong feeder. All in all, however, we have been very fortunate in getting the birds to free-load from the feeder on which we're focused.

☆

NOTORIOUS FOR their bad manners from a picture taking point of view we love the bluejays. Their coloration is magnificent—when seen only as they flash by the window or streak from tree to tree, it's impossible to fully appreciate their intricate markings.

The jay's tail is long, wide and barred with black stripes; near its end the outer feathers are tipped with white. Between these black crossbars, the blue is bright and brilliant, there is actually an iridescent quality about it.

Anyone who says a bird's face cannot be expressive has never seen a close-up of a stately bluejay who has lost all dignity in a temper tantrum thrown over a tied-down string of peanuts.

The camera can show so well the raised topknot and the exasperated look of indignation.

Although smaller in size and much less flamboyantly colored, the natty little tufted titmice are also wonderful subjects. Always attracted to sunflower seeds or hunks of suet, their quick movements and perk cocky appearance is always a challenge.

Lately we have been fortunate in having large sunflower heads packed full of seeds. We place them on one of the feeders, aim the camera and then wait for the little grey ones with the big bright eyes to come. It's never a long wait and my, how they do love to select a seed and tug it out.

☆

ALSO INTRIGUED with the full sunflower heads are the white-breasted nuthatches. Although seemingly their long pointed bills should be awkward it bothers them not a whit.

Feet planted far apart, they cock their heads from side to side, sight a special seed and jab down for it. Never staying to eat on the feeder as the titmice sometimes do, the nuthatches fly to a nearby tree to hide the seed.

A comic picture is presented by these short square birds with the big feet as they hold the flat black seeds in the end of their long slender bills.

Perhaps the most difficult bird we've tried to photograph was the winter's big thrill, the little redbreasted nuthatch.

He seemed to know which feeder the camera was focused on and would deliberately dine on the other. Visit after visit he changed feeders as regularly as we changed camera positions.

It was maddening and I think he did it on purpose.

One can't be wrong all the time, however, and we did get several pictures of him jabbing at the suet which he so dearly loves.

☆

ONE OF THE fascinating things about bird photography is the constant striving to get a better picture. We are anxiously waiting for redbreasted's next visit to the feeder—I think we've thought up a new camera angle which will better show his red breast and black and white striped head.

Of all the birds we have in this area, the cardinals, to our way of thinking, are the loveliest. When seen in the brilliant sunlight perched high on the uppermost branch of a tall tree and whistling their joy of thanks for spring's arrival, the male cardinals are breathtakingly beautiful.

In the dead of winter they are equally pretty when perched on a fence post letting their vivid scarlet plummage stand out in sharp contrast to the dazzling whiteness of a new fallen snow.

So far, however, the pictures we've taken of them as they partake of our free lunch counter, have been disappointing. The black face masks, which we always thought gave them the dashing look of red devils, in pictures make them look cross and crabby.

We know our beautiful red cardinals are no grouches but we're still trying to get the picture that shows their happy personality.

☆

THE CUDDLY LITTLE chickadees are every bit as appealing when their pictures are projected on a 3' x 4' screen as they are in person. The film reproduces so well the soft texture of their black, white and grey feathers.

Seldom does the winter weather prove too much for the stout-hearted chickadees. As the winter winds whistle cold and strong they merely pull their black skull cap further down on little round heads and as their feathers blow, shiny little eyes peak out from beneath these caps and defy the elements.

The determination with which they attack the hunks of suet turned hard by the cold weather, is easily seen in a picture.

There are, needless to say, many other birds which visit our feeder and are excellent subjects.

Woodpeckers, mourning doves and even the pesky sparrows are wonderful models. Of course, there's always great excitement when a new bird visits.

Last year, for instance, we were thrilled at our good fortune in getting a clear sharp picture of a big hairy woodpecker. He only dined at the feeder once but through our prized picture we enjoy him often.

☆

AS MUCH FUN AS the birds are, our greatest joy, speaking as a camera enthusiast, is the squirrels. They are the original show-offs.

As they eat the corn and sunflower seeds from the feeder, it often seems that their every movement is deliberately planned.

Such posing.

Their little pug-nose faces register every emotion from frustrated anger at a well-secured ear of corn to delirious happiness over a particularly tasty nut.

Their silky soft fur and long bushy tails readily assume a life-like quality in our color transparencies.

When these comic acrobats are around, it's hard not to become shutter happy.

The camera came into our life about 18 months ago and it truly is an ingenious affair. Built and designed by three wonderful friends, I'll not go into its complicated technicalities.

The heart of the whole thing is a robot head which operates the camera and is controlled by a small switch which we pin to my bed.

Touching the switch with a slight upward motion of my wrist opens and closes the camera shutter and ignites the strobe light; a downward motion advances the film and cocks the shutter.

Once the camera is properly aimed and focused, I am on my own for a whole roll—usually 20 pictures. (And I must confess that when the picture taking is good and traffic at the feeder is especially heavy, I've been known to take a whole roll of film in one day.)

That such a remote controlled camera could be built seems to be nothing short of a miracle. My everlasting thanks to Walt, Ed and Guy!

REALTY VIEWS

"We like the house, but we are worried about this recession talk," said Luke Caldmont. "Do you think this is a smart time to buy?"

"Yes, I do," I said, "because practically all of the experts say that an upturn will come again before the end of the year. Anyway you've probably heard the definition I read of prosperity. It is 'that short period between the final installment and the next purchase'."

Luke laughted and nodded.

"Seriously though," I said, "Kiplinger has just written a book called "Boom and Inflation Ahead'. He admits we are in a mild, short set-back period now. But he forecasts better, more prosperous times ahead. In fact, he predicts a more-or-less steady inflation of values during the next 25 years. He mentions that real estate is the type of investment which rises in value during inflationary times."

"I'm glad to know that," Luke said, "there's no use of us hesitating any longer. Even though the economy is tight right now, I think we'll go ahead and buy."

"YOU should BUY now too, ahead of further inflation. May we help you?"

Should Get Birth Certificates-Now

Parents of children who will enter kindergarten, or first grade, for the first time next fall were urged today by Dr. John S. Wisely, director, Lenawee County Health Department, to obtain copies of the children's birth certificates as soon as possible, instead of waiting until the school registration period later this spring.

Delays can be avoided by asking for copies now.

Most schools require either a certified copy or a certificate of registration in order to establish that a child is old enough to enter school.

Certified copies and certificates of registration for children born in Michigan can be obtained from the city and county clerks where the child was born, or from the Michigan Department of Health.

State Health Department fees, as set by statute, are $1.00 for each certified copy and 25c for each certificate of registration.

Requests also must include the full name of the child, date and place of birth, and the full name of the parents, including the mother's maiden name.

Traffic Deaths Drop in March

Provisional figures compiled by the State Police show a 20% reduction in traffic deaths in Michigan during March as compared with the same month a year ago.

There were 94 reported fatalities, or 23 fewer than the 117 in March of 1957.

It was the twenty-first of the last 24 months in which deaths have gone down.

For the first three months of this year there has been an accumulated reduction of 54 deaths, or 16% under the same period last year. There were 25 lives saved in January and six in February.

Mrs. Rentschler Is Named to Committee

On April 14 and 15, the people of Michigan, through representatives of every major community in the state, gather in East Lansing to determine how much money will go to support state and national health and welfare agencies serving their communities.

Mrs. Truman Rentschler of Tecumseh will represent the local Community Chest.

This Committee hears the budget requests of 33 state and national health and welfare agencies which will be supported through contributions to the United Campaigns in their communities next fall.

The Budget Committee determines how much each agency will need to continue its program of service, education, and research during the following year.

Is That So!

By CLARA WALDRON

THE TECUMSEH DEMOCRAT

A bit of Tecumseh's past came back last summer, after an absence of 122 years. It is a first edition of the town's first newspaper, "The Tecumseh Democrat," published in "Tecumseh, Michigan Territory, August 1, 1835."

Its mast head carries the inscription, "Resistance to Tyrants Is Obedience to God."

The small four-page paper was returned to its hometown by Mrs. Eugene Rosacrans of Santa Monica, California, a former resident who has never lost her interest in Tecumseh.

Together with other, even more rare first editions of Michigan newspapers, Mrs. Rosacrans had received it from her father, the late L. W. Kimball of Clinton.

The 16-by-22-inch pages of rag content paper are remarkably well preserved and perfectly legible and carry much more interesting subject matter than many of the papers which followed it.

On the front page is the text of the "new" constitution of the as yet unoffocial State of Michigan—spot news in 1835.

At the end are the names of the drafting committee of Michigan citizens and of these at least five: John J. Adam, Selleck Boughton, Joseph Howell, Jr., Joseph Patterson and Eliphalet Clark were from Tecumseh.

☆

NEWSPAPERS OF that period did not so bemean themselves as to carry what is now considered news and this one was no exception.

Three marriages and one death are the extent of its local chitchat, but its editorial columns and advertisements contain much for the deceraing reader.

An obituary of Chief Justice John Marshall brings a sharp sense of the place in history as does the paper's whole-hearted support of the policies of the administration of President Andrew Jackson and the political aspirations of Martin Van Buren.

Accounts of several public meetings, however, have a more local slant.

One meeting, held in the Tecumseh Court House, dealt with the then hot issue of the re-survey of the Michigan-Ohio line.

Resolutions were adopted which breathed fiery denunciation of the proposed injustice and asserted:

"We will strenuously resist with all the means which God and nature and the laws of the country have put in our power the encroachment and usurpations upon our rightful territorial jurisdiction."

The final resolution declares, "The state of Ohio is not the Russian empire nor is the Territory of Michigan a tamely submissive Polish province"—all of which has an oddly modern sound.

In the same vein is a proclamation of the acting governor of the Territory, Steven T. Mason, offering a reward of $500 for the apprehension and delivery of "Two" Stickney (son of Toledo's mayor) who had wounded a Lenawee deputy sheriff during the boundary dispute. This was the only blood letting of that "war," but the tone of the dispatches indicate that feeling ran very deep.

Three other meetings were of a happier nature. Held in Tecumseh, Monroe and "Swain's-ville," Jackson county, all were for the promotion of the proposed railroad that was to run from Monroe to Marshall.

All called for a route that included Tecumseh.

☆

A "STOP PRESS" item in another part of the paper tells that Lieut. Berrien and his corps of government surveyors had that day reached the town for this all-important survey.

To be sure that survey turned out to be abortive and that first railroad was built by way of Adrian, but the enthusiasm was there and three years later was effective enough to bring a branch to Tecumseh.

The business heading of the paper says it was printed and published every Saturday morning by J. Ketchum Averill whose office was on the second floor of Fargo and Boughton's store on Lot 179 in the village of Tecumseh.

According to the original map of the village Lot 179 was the northwest corner of Evans and Brown streets, land now occupied by the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Driscoll.

Thus the town's first paper was published in Brownville and evidently some of the "first families" were displeased.

At any rate Mr. Averill in a rather plaintive editorial pleads for "Christian Charity" rather than "critism because, as a stranger, he did not know of local prejudices and that he would rouse "discontent and even IRE" by establishing his business on the other side of a "rivulet, dignified by the name of Evans creek which divides the town and separates us from the Court House."

Even a Deacon of the church had evidently called him down for settling on the wrong side of the tracks.

There is an announcement that the newly completed Episcopal church would "on Sunday, the second of August be opened for the first time for the celebration of Divine Service" and Mr. Averill, commenting on its simple yet elegant grace, its tasteful arrangements within and its picturesque location, describes it as standing, "confessedly without a rival in the Territory."

☆

THE ACTUAL newsprint evidence supplied by this paper contradicts historians here-to-fore considered reliable and illustrates how errors creep into all history.

It has been stated and believed that the first copy of the Democrat was published by a Mr. Beriah Brown in a shop located in that triangle of land north of the present Central school playground.

We know this was true later but obviously it was not the "first." The name of Mr. Averill does not appear again in early records so perhaps his unfortunate location across "the creek" meant he had a short career in Tecumseh.

All those who are interested in Tecumseh's background feel indebted to Mrs. Rosacrans for this paper. Now the question arises—what to do with it. It is too valuable and too interesting to be hidden in some unpurchased, dusty shelf.

Must it too be swallowed up by the vaults of some historical library?

Tecumseh has other records and historic objects which could prove of interest to its citizens. Could not the town supply a safe place for their display?

Pack 73 Meets on Another Date

Pack 73 Cub Scouts will meet April 14 at the Union Hall instead of April 28 as previously scheduled.

Forty-eight Scouts attended a skating party at the Skate Arena March 29.

Those accompanying them were Mrs. Arthur Holdridge, Mrs. Harold Milosh, Mrs. Byron Goodman, John Snyder, Seaman Packard, Don Morely, Wilmer Kiser and Neri Collingsworth.

City Patrol Boy Will be Selected for Capitol Trip

Automobile Club of Michigan has announced plans to send nearly 100 of the state's safety patrol boys on a four-day all-expense trip to Washington, D. C., as a reward for their outstanding service to schoolmates.

Tecumseh will be represented by a youngster to be selected from the city's safety patrol ranks within the next two weeks, according to Ernest P. Davis, Auto Club safety director.

"Members of our safety consulting staff will select the Tecumseh school with the most effective overall safety program and it will then be invited to name its top patroller," Davis said.

"He will be the city's official delegate to the 22nd AAA National Safety Patrol Rally."

The youngsters, from throughout the state, will meet in Detroit on May 8 and entrain for Washington. They will spend two full days in the Capital city meeting top government officials and seeing famous and historic sites.

Climax of the annual rally is the march down Constitution Avenue of over 30,000 patrol members from across the country. The giant parade, which includes television and movie celebrities, is the largest held annually in Washington.

The Washington trip is sponsored annually by Auto Club to honor Michigan's 50,000 safety patrollers. More than 2,000 youngsters have made the trip since 1936.

Indian Tracksters Open Season on Friday

A lot of "ifs" surround Tecumseh's track team this year despite eight returning lettermen from last year's co-championship outfit.

Coach Don Brazee is looking for help from promising sophomores and reports their development will probably determine the strength of the team.

☆

The local tracksters open the season schedule here Friday afternoon against Blissfield. The meet will start at 4 o'clock.

Letter winners back are: Gary Hanna, top half-miler in the league last year who has been switched to the dashes; Mike Walters, high and broad jumps, sprints; Ray Miller, broad and high jumps.

Jerry Crunk, Jerry Fox, pole vault; Rod Johnson, 440-yard dash; Al Dick, hurdler; and Jerry Kruse, miler.

Others working out and being counted on are; Jim Mangrum, Bob Marsh, Craig Knudson, sprints; Dick Solarski, Tom Walters, John Aho, Mike Tucker, hurdles.

Gary Elliott, Bob Long, Dave Weakly, Phil Hendershot, quarter-mile; Jack Sisson, Leonard Penrod, Dean Eddy, Carl Schmidt, Bill Ross, half-mile.

Greg Mason, Larry Robinson, Ivan Halberstadt, mile; Dick French, high jump; Jack Bryan, Jim Mangrum, broad jump; Roger Mead, Carl Bailey, pole vault; and Darrell Lowery, Jim Neitling, shot put.

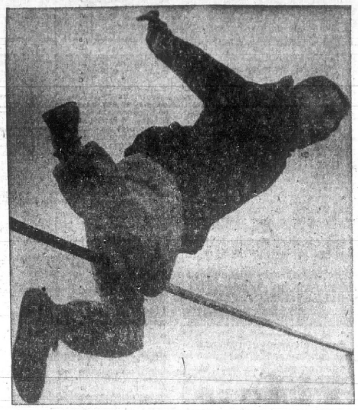
Coach Brazee reports times are ahead of last year's at this time, thanks to favorable running weather. He says the Indians should be strong in the high and broad jumps, the 440-yard dash, and Kruse should be one of the best milers in the league.

Tecumseh lacks any outstanding speedsters but has good balance in the dashes and middle events.

The 1958 track schedule here is:

Blissfield	April 11
Bedford	16
Milan	21
Monroe CC	23
Adrian	28
Hillsdale	30
Airport	May 8

The Central Michigan Relays will be held May 2; Albion College Invitational, May 10; league meet (here), May 14; regional meet, May 17; and state finals (MSU), May 24.



HIGH JUMPER—Senior Ray Miller, called one of the most promising members of the Tecumseh squad by his coach, goes over the bar in practice.

OVER HURDLES—Tom Walters is a sophomore who will compete in the high hurdles for Coach Don Brazee's Tecumseh high school track squad.

HALF MILER — Jack Sisson, a sophomore who lettered in basketball, will compete in the distances.

Buying Machinery Is Spring Farm Problem

To buy or not to buy a particular farm machine is a decision many of Lenawee county farmers are facing this spring.

This decision comes up whether the farmer is adding a new machine or replacing an older piece of equipment.

With today's price tags on new machines, some farmers are considering hiring custom operators to do particular jobs, states County Extension agent John Comstock.

Comparative costs of owning and operating the machine or hiring the work done are usually the deciding factors.

☆

WHEN A CUSTOM operator is hired to, say, combine a crop, the cost per acre is immediately known. Around Michigan this totals usually $5 to $6 per acre.

But when a combine is owned, both operating and fixed costs must be considered. And the farmer has to absorb all these costs.

There's a standard answer as to whether to buy or hire a custom operator. But a "break-even analysis" can help in making the decision.

This analysis determines the number of acres necessary to cover the expense of owning the machine. But it does not take into consideration the "value" of getting the job done on time.

Farmers can get help in figuring this "break-even" point at the county extension office in Adrian.

With Tecumseh Teens

BY MARY V. SEAGER

AFTER TWO WELCOME days of spring vacation, the high school students returned to THS to recover.

To recover from their tiring vacation, that is.

There were many promises made by the students to themselves for lots of different reasons. But I'll be willing to bet that most of the promises covered the term papers that are soon due in several classes.

Unfortunately, the vacation provided a good opportunity to watch the late-late TV shows, go to numerous local dances, and generally, do everything but the term paper. Oh well, there are still a couple weeks left, aren't there?!!

☆

DEADLINE FOR THE Herrick Foundation Scholarships is April 15.

All seniors planning to apply for a scholarship should have their applications in before that date.

☆

SIX-WEEK TESTS FOR THE second six-week period of the second semester will be given the week April 14-18.

☆

APRIL 18 THE JUNIOR CLASS is sponsoring the Junior Prom. This is one of the two formal dances of the year.

☆

THE NEWLY ELECTED TEEN Club legislature held a meeting March 31 deciding some matters of current Teen Club policy.

The legislature, consisting of members from each class and the committee chairmen and co-chairmen, meets every other Tuesday after school.

The officers and legislature members are: Greg Mason—President; Larry Yoakum—Vice-president; Doris Oliphant—Treasurer; Diane Fox—Secretary; Mike Ferguson—12th grade representative; Sara Wright, Dave Holden, Dave Hohenstein—11th grade representatives; Steve Kruger, Tom Walters, Mary Seager—10th grade representatives; Mary Lewis, Barbara Velandra and Clarence Champanois — 9th grade representatives; Gail Elliott, Linda Dicks—8th grade representatives.

It was decided that any damage done accidentally, if it wasn't great, would be paid for by the Club. Deliberate damage would have to be paid for by the culprit.

The person would be brought before the legislature and would have to give a good reason for his act. If the reason is not acceptable, he would have to pay full cost for the repairs.

It was also decided that professional held would be used for major repair work at the Club.

☆

The Teen Club wishes to extend its sincere thanks to Perry Cook of Cook's Electric for the gift of a good second-hand refrigerator, Tecumseh Electric for numerous wiring jobs, and to Paul Maves of Paul's Trailer Court for furniture and to Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Marsh for furniture.

The Club would also like to thank all the kind adults who have chaperoned at the Club for dances.

There was a fairly good attendance at the dance at the Wigwam last Saturday night. The new pool table is very popular with the boys.

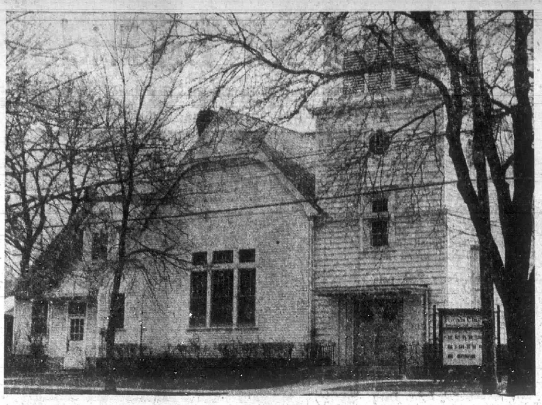
Bruce Baker Does Practice Teaching

Bruce Baker, a senior student at Western Michigan University, is busy this spring semester with practice teaching duties.

He is teaching bookkeeping, business law, and general mathematics at the Portage school.

Practice teaching one semester under the supervision of an experienced teacher is essential in order to receive a teaching certificate.

Bruce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Baker of Wisner road, Tecumseh. He graduated from the Tecumseh high school.



ANOTHER IN AREA CHURCH SERIES

The Society of Friends

The Quakers of Tecumseh, fourth group of the Society of Friends to be founded in Lenawee County, commenced to hold meetings at the homes of Aaron Comfort and Samuel Satterthwaite in the year 1842.

These two settlers were the founders of the local society. Their families, in which occurred three intermarriages, constituted the entire membership of the original society.

At a still earlier date, Friends from Tecumseh and Macon worshipped at the Raisin Valley Friends Meeting, which was established in 1831 and which today stands about seven miles southwest of Tecumseh.

In 1843, Tecumseh Friends purchased the old Presbyterian session house and moved it into the southwest portion of the village, this serving as the house of worship for nearly 50 years.

This building, now used as a dwelling house, is located on Adrian street.

☆

DAVID LEWIS was called as pastor to Raisin Valley, where he lived for one year, giving his Sabbath mornings to that meeting and the evenings to Tecumseh, seven miles away.

His heart seemed set upon this meeting, to build upon its waste places. Their place of worship was a small meeting-house in the suburbs of the village.

As a revival progressed, and interest and numbers increased, a plan was laid for a new and larger church in a more convenient location.

This plan was developed and executed the following summer and near the middle of November, 1891, the new church, carpeted and cushioned throughout, lighted and heated, was dedicated without a cent of debt.

The building committee consisted of Aaron Taylor, Thomas Mead, and J. Newton Satterthwaite, who was treasurer, and who at the time of his death had the original list of contributors for the church building as well as those who contributed to the parsonage fund in 1927.

"As early as two o'clock," states the 59-year-old account of the dedication of the church in the November 26, 1891 issue of the Tecumseh Herald, "people began to gather at the new edifice from all quarters and when three o'clock had arrived every seat was occupied, camp chairs filled the aisles, and even standing room was at a premium. The service was two hours in length, but was deeply interesting throughout and held the entire congregation to the close.

"About half past four, as the shadows of nightfall approached, the janitor "touched the button," and lo ! there was light. The congregation was shocked, — not exactly with electricity, but with delight, and the services proceeded as smoothly as though nothing had happened."

☆

IT MAY BE OF interest to many to know that among the gifts of money from eastern Friends secured through the efforts of David Lewis, was a gift from John Greenleaf Whittier, one of America's best loved poets, also a Quaker.

Up to the time of David Lewis it was the custom of the Tecumseh Friends not to employ a regular pastor, but to permit any of the members of the meeting, be they laymen or clergymen, to occupy the pulpit.

Among those who frequently "spoke in meeting" in the early days were Tristam Allen, William Charles, Sarah Jane Strong and Mary C. Wood.

Since the building of the present meeting house, the pastors in their order have been: David J. Lewis, Frank Fistler, James Hagemen, Edgar Williams, Lida G. Romick, Martha Barber, Edgar Wollam, J. William Chaney, Elizabeth Mott, Lewis and Mary Pim, Lawrence Linton and Edward Escolme who preached his first sermon on October 6, 1918 and served until September 1927.

Under the faithful leadership of Edward Escolme throughout 39 years, a great many changes and additions were made.

Among these were the building of the parsonage in 1927, excavating and finishing the basement, installing three restrooms, installing an electric organ and a new addition to the church.

☆

MR. ESCOLME, in the fall of 1957, was elected by the Yearly Meeting to the office of Evangelistic, Pastoral and Extension Board Superintendent with offices at Damascus, Ohio.

He was followed by the present pastor, Rev. Paul Brantingham.

The church is affiliated with the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends with headquarters at Damascus, Ohio. Malone College, our church school, is located at Canton, Ohio. This church is also affiliated with the National Association of Evangelicals.

The financial program has for years been "As much for others as for self."

We wholeheartedly support our missionary program, our college, the Friends Rescue Home at Columbus, Ohio and the church extension program of our Yearly Meeting.

This church over the years has always emphasized the importance of youth activities and young people's work. It has a Junior and Senior Christian Endeavor, Happy Band, Rocks and Rills, Junior Choir and a church orchestra.

Its youth have cooperated with the county Christian Endeavor activities and also the Quarterly Meeting and Yearly Meeting youth activities of our church organization.

The adult program includes Bible study classes, church school classes, missionary societies both men and women and an adult choir.

Currently the congregation is in the process of remodeling and redecorating The Tecumseh Friends Church and has not only made material progress, but through the years there has been a steady increase in membership.

Officers Elected by Association

Officers were elected for the coming year by the Girl Scout Association at their meeting held Wednesday, April 2, at the Scout Cabin.

Mrs. Clifford Knudson, Mrs. Arthur Woodward and Mrs. Austin Pickford, the nominating committee, presented the slate of officers: president, Mrs. Robert Anderson; 1st vice president, Mrs. Truman Rentschler; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Clyde Mitchell; secretary, Mrs. James Murphy; treasurer, Mrs. Robert Rumpf; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles Beland assisted by Troop 16; secretary of supplies, Mrs. Austin Pickford; registrar, Mrs. Russell Southwell and custodian, Mrs. Junior Fouts.

The Court of Awards will be held May 16 at the Union Hall.

Preliminary registration of crippled children is being completed for attendance at the Lenawee County Orthopedic Field Clinic on April 15 and 16.

The clinic is sponsored by the Michigan Crippled Children Commission as part of its statewide program of Aid To The Lenawee County Medical Society and other local organizations.

Local physicians may refer any crippled children under 21 years of age for consultation, examinations and recommendations, including children who have recently moved into the county and those not receiving active orthopedic care at this time. Parents of eligible children should contact the Health Department as soon as possible so that appointments can be made before clinic date.

The clinic, to be conducted by Drs. G. H. Bauer and R. W. Bailey of Ann Arbor, orthopedic surgeons, will be held on the above dates at the Methodist Church, Broad and Maumee Sts. Adrian, Between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Reports will be sent to the family physicians.

Children considered no longer in need of orthopedic follow-up will be discharged. Children 16 years of age and older who need physical or occupational therapy will be referred to the state agency concerned.

Tecumseh high school seniors, under the sponsorship of Donald Brazee, paid a visit to the Beautiful Caverns of Luray, Virginia, while on their recent trip. The students are pictured in the Palace of Splendors of the Caverns, one of the numerous large rooms in this huge cavity in the earth, the result of the action of water over a period of a million years or more. The students were on a six-day trip to Washington, D. C. with side trips to Monticello and Skyline Drive.

Table on Fertilizers Now Available

A handy reference table for farmers and fertilizer dealers to use in converting one fertilizer recommendation to another is now available from the county cooperative extension service office.

Soil scientists at Michigan State University prepared the table to serve as supplement to another bulletin, "Fertilizer Recommendations for Michigan Crops."

Copies of this publication may also be picked up at the extension office.

According to County Agricultural Agent L. G. Hall, the fertilizer recommendations are usually made as a given number of pounds per acre of a given grade of fertilizer, such as 300 pounds of 5-20-10.

BUT THE recommendation may also be expressed as a given number of pounds per acre of each of the three major plant nutrients and written 15-60-30.

If a given number of pounds per acre is the recommendation, it may be that your fertilizer dealer cannot supply that grade. But, very likely, he can supply a grade of similar ratio which is just as good.

However, you will need either fewer or more pounds to supply the same amount of plant nutrients, depending on their concentration.

The reference table can help in converting one type of recommendation to the other. Nearly 20 different ratios are included in the table.

The next 25 years may see the end of poverty as our most important economic problem, a speaker said recently at The University of Michigan.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marr

Grown-up "Kid Stuff"

The kids around here are sure pulling a lot of weight with local businessmen these days.

For instance, Monk McCarthy has collected and patched old inner tubes all winter. He'll pass them out for the swimming hole season—with this stenciled on: "Courtesy of McCarthy Auto Service."

And Mr. Troy, over at the bank, has put in three new shiny high chairs—for visiting mothers to park their kids in. There's a sign over the chairs: "Save now for a happy future."

From where I sit, I like the way people take to new ideas to promote their business. It shows that they are open-minded. We all could stand a little more of it in our personal lives too. For example, you may prefer tea or buttermilk to my choice of a glass of beer. But if we're "open-minded" we accept the other fellow's choice.

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

THE SEVEN-MAN industrial development group attempting to bring more manufacturing to Tecumseh may have hit pay dirt.

The fellows are in contact with a firm which would like to settle here, employ about 100.

The problem: 50,000 square feet of floor space is needed.

Jack Osburn, one of the group, asks in his realty ad this week if there are interested parties who would finance construction of a building on a lease-purchase agreement.

Jack says it will take about $200,000.

THERE'LL BE BARGAIN days again on Friday and Saturday in Tecumseh. Check off the specials, ladies, on page 3 of this issue.

SPRING DOES THINGS TO A fellow . . . like the cheery greeting this writer popped up with for Milton Flynn, retired New York investment advisor, as he strolled by the office.

"Hi, there young fellow," I smiled to the father of Mrs. Bob French.

Mr. Flynn grinned and responded, "You'll have to put that in writing. My friends would never believe anyone said that."

There it is, Mr. Flynn.

THE VFW'S ANNUAL MERchants and Manufacturers Show will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the United Products Workers Hall.

Official opening of the event—which has attracted exhibitions from 36—will be Friday at 6 p.m.

Festivities continue Saturday afternoon and evening, ditto Sunday.

The VFW members have worked hard putting together their M & M event and we're sure you'll enjoy attending.

IN LAST WEEK'S ITEM about the Wilbur Boyce family, we told about Julia being a straight-A student and class valedictorian this year.

"Lightning struck twice" we said, relating how her sister, Marie, had been similarly honored some years earlier. Actually, it turns out Marie was salutatorian.

But we should have said "lightning struck three times" — another Boyce daughter, Ruth, was valedictorian in 1950.

EACH WEEK, SENATOR POTter fires out a Washington newsletter to all Michigan newspapers.

Usually, it's too heavy on the political side to be useful, as far as we're concerned.

However, this week there was one section of general interest for our readers.

"New post office buildings will be blossoming all over Michigan by next spring.

Under the new commercial-leasing program of Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield, construction will be started by early fall on new buildings in Baroda, Bessemer, Carleton, Chesaning, Columbiaville, Concord, Diamondale, Flushing, Hartford, Hillman, Hopkins, Kalamazoo (Parchment Branch), Lake Orion, Marlette, Milan, Mount Clemens, Muir, Napoleon, New Boston, North Adams, Osseo, Oxford, Pontiac, Quincy, Rodney, Romeo, St. Clair Shores, Taylor Center, Vestaburg, Williamston and Wixon.

"These buildings will be built by private investors to the Department's specifications and leased for a period of years. The funds to equip the new post offices are available in presently authorized appropriations of the Post Office Department.

"And if legislation is forthcoming after the Easter recess to put an extra cent on first-class non-local letters over a three-year period, there will also be new post offices for the old ones in Dearborn, Jackson, Owosso, Wayne and Wyandotte."

Our question is: What about Tecumseh?

Four Tecumseh Youths Win Motorist's Praise

Four Tecumseh youths have been singled out for special praise by a River Rouge motorist whom they helped.

The lads—Don Moore, Howard Schmidt, Ansen Farmer and Don Farmer—proved real "friends in need" to Edward Kling of River Rouge.

Mr. Kling penned a letter to mayor H. H. Hanna the day after and The Herald is happy to reprint it.

95 Maple St.
River Rouge, Michigan

Honorable Mayor,

I am writing to inform you of some fine boys in your community who belong to a club known as the "Tecumseh Cam Twisters" whose motto is to promote safety and road courtesy.

While driving, last evening, enroute to River Rouge, Michigan from Logansport, Indiana our car developed carburetor trouble. On the outskirts of Tecumseh our car stalled and wouldn't start.

At this particular time, it was dark and raining.

Four boys in a car heading towards Monroe noticed our trouble and stopped to offer their assistance. These boys were from the above mentioned club.

Neither they nor my father, who has been a mechanic for 35 years, could diagnose the trouble. So they gave our car a push and followed us back to town to a filling station.

But, there was not a mechanic on duty being it was Easter Sunday night. Then, they suggested a filling station on the Willow Run Expressway. They followed us and pushed the car whenever it stalled.

When we reached the station near Willow Run Airport, there wasn't a mechanic on duty. Since they had gone this far, the boys said they would follow us to the front door of our home.

When we arrived home, they wouldn't accept anything but only said that they were glad to help us out. Finally, upon my insistence, they did accept a small monetary amount which I told them to use for gas or for their club as a donation.

Your honorable mayor, I wouldn't have taken the time to write this letter if I didn't think that the boys and their club should be brought to your attention and to the attention of the people of Tecumseh.

These boys and the club which they represent, who were courteous, thoughtful and charitable are boys which you and your community should be justly proud of.

I would appreciate anything that you could do to call the public's attention to these boys and the Tecumseh Cam Twisters for they rightfully deserve it.

Sincerely yours,
Edward Kling

$1,900,000 School Program

With the dedication of the $371,000 Herrick Park elementary school, another major step was realized in the current $1,900,000 Tecumseh school district building program.

Soon to be completed:

Tecumseh Acres school.

Six-room Tipton building.

Addition to Macon and Ridgeway structures.

Addition to Tecumseh high school.

Tecumseh Acres will serve 420 pupils, grades kindergarten-through-sixth — almost twice as many as Herrick Park. It will have a multi-purpose room, library and office in addition to 13 classrooms.

Tipton will have a completely new set-up with six classes and a multi-purpose room.

Macon is getting a pair of classrooms and multi-purpose, Ridgeway three rooms, multi-purpose and library facilities.

At the high school, there'll be a new cafeteria and additions to shop and home economic departments.

Finished last year, ah part of the $1,900,000 program, were six rooms at Patterson.

When you sit down and consider what is happening in this district, it's almost too much to believe.

Just two years ago 17 rural schools were annexed to the Tecumseh district—and in another year, pupils from all of these will be attending classes in new or improved setups.

There are probably some who feel that the end of the one-room school era is a tragedy. From a sentimental viewpoint, we agree.

But looking at is in terms of better programs, in better surroundings, from highly-skilled instructors, we welcome in the new.

Folks in this district have much to be proud of when they consider the status of their schools.

The Herald congratulates officials and public-spirited citizens who mapped out this excellent plan.

THE ENGAGEMENT OF Patricia Ann Douthit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Douthit of Chicago has been announced to Edward Davila of Mexico City. Mr. Davila is a brother of Mrs. Leslie Calhoun of Tecumseh.

10 Errors Too Many as Indians Fall, 11-3

Tecumseh's Indians fumbled away their game to Monroe Catholic Central here Monday by a score of 11-3, as they committed 10 errors.

Tecumseh took an early lead when Larry Yoakum led off the first inning with a triple. Karl Cranston scored him moments later with a single.

After Monroe CC scored three runs in the fourth inning, Tecumseh rallied for two runs in its half to tie it on a walk to Bob Wilkins, a single by Jim Curth and Bob O'Neill's long double.

Then the roof fell in.

Catholic Central scored four times in the fifth inning, added three more in the sixth, and one run in the seventh, while Hal Goethe allowed only one Tecumseh batter to reach base in the last three innings.

Goethe struck out six and was the winning pitcher.

Bob Wilkins worked the first five and one-third innings for Tecumseh before giving way to Denny Harrison, and was charged with the loss.

Tecumseh plays its next four games away, at Airport Thursday and then Hillsdale Monday.

Our Readers Write

Tecumseh, Michigan
April 13, 1958

To the Editor:

In reply to Mrs. Edna Codling's letter on page 3 in The Herald under the heading of "Our Readers Write" in the issue of April 10th, I shall be pleased to tell her and the community why I as a member of the Tecumseh Community Chest Board voted "yes" by ballot favoring the idea of a Lenawee County Fund for one year, at least, and affiliating with same.

In an earlier issue of The Herald I stated why I favor such a plan so I will confine my thoughts to the meeting of April 1st which was designed to give the public another chance to express its views on such a plan.

Eighteen or so besides the board responded to the call which is a very small number in proportion to our population. However, they entered into the discussion and several asked questions.

If I recall correctly, the question of the above named inquirer was whether or not the Tecumseh Service Club could have more money for its work, if it was needed, under the County plan and the answer was "yes" (Tecumseh would continue to set up the quota for its local needs).

Maybe that agency should increase its askings next fall, if there is a growing need for their services—that's a thought anyway. Judging from the nature of the questions and comments at that public meeting, at no time did I get the feeling that there was opposition.

However, I'll admit that no one rose to his feet and said in a strong voice that he favored such a plan. Therefore, the final decision rested with the board and after another 20 or 30 minutes of healthy discussion we used the ballot system and you know the result.

Therefore, no one can honestly say that the decision was made in haste because besides attending board meetings and public meetings, several of the board members have been attending meetings of the Citizens Committee for nearly two years to study the plan and I was one of them.

May I make it plain at this point that what might have been said in the corridor after the assembly was dismissed had no bearing on my vote. It is a day and age when one must have the moral courage to speak up in the meeting, if he wants a hearing.

Sincerely,
Ruth V. Rentschler (Mrs. T.)

The Editor,

Dear Sir,

Grammar is hard. It's hard to talk it, hard to write it, and even harder to teach it, and the teachers' task is not made any easier when the report cards they have to make out for their little monsters have grammatical mistakes built into them.

My ten-year-old daughter just brought home a dandy new type of report card called a Child Progress Report (Later Elementary) on page 2, in the last line at the bottom of the page under the heading HISTORY AND GEOGRAPHY, this sentence occurs: "This child is developing an understanding of man's past and it's influence on the present and future."

As a college teacher of English, I nearly have to belt university sophomores over the head to keep them from making this same mistake.

The mistake? "it's" means "it is." "its" is the possessive or genitive case and should have been used before the word "influence' 'in the sentence above.

Let's try to keep our language clean.

Yours truly,
Allan Seager

Dear Sir:

We are constantly being asked to write to our Congressmen in support of this or that measure, most of which are appeals for purely selfish ends. Here is a chance to appeal to our lawgivers in a totally altruistic spirit.

Compassion is perhaps the highest and finest of all moral principles. All of us who feel the least spark of pity for our less fortunate fellow creatures of a lesser species have an opportunity now to do a great deal towards the furtherance of mercy. In the Congress at the present time is a bill known as HR 8308. It has passed in the House of Representatives by a gratifying majority and is now being considered by the Senate.

The purpose of this bill is to insure the employment of humane methods of slaughter in the meat-packing industry. Some few of the packers now use merciful means of putting our food animals to death, but there are all too many who callously disregard animal suffering and employ methods of killing which are little short of barbarous. The enactment of this bill into law would right this grievous wrong and aid materially in the practice of the concept of "do unto others as you would be done by"—even though these "others" are only lowly animals destined for the American table.

PLEASE don't put it off. Strike a blow at brutality NOW. Defend those who cannot ask in their own words for a merciful death. WRITE TO YOUR SENATORS TODAY. Address: The Hon. Pat McNamara, and the Hon. Charles E. Potter, Senate Office Bldg., Washington, D. C. Letters to members of the Senate Agricultural Committee will also help. You'll enjoy your future meals more!

Sincerely,
John D. McColl

Blissfield '9' Beats Indians

In a game halted by rain after four innings last Thursday, the Sugarboys of Blissfield scored a 3-1 win over Tecumseh.

The win was Blissfield's second straight against no defeats.

It was erroneously reported that the game between Tecumseh and Clinton last Tuesday was the season opener. This was merely a practice game and does not count as far as wins or losses is concerned.

Tecumseh had good scoring opportunities in two of the four innings, but managed to score only one run, that coming in the second inning when Tony Kasic singled, Jon Weakly was hit by a pitch and Bob Wilkins grounded a single through the left side scoring Kasic.

Wilkins was on the mound all the way for Tecumseh and struck out eight while walking only two.

Dies in Adrian Home

Solemn High Mass for Gregory F. Forsthoefel was conducted Wednesday at St. Mary's Church in Adrian.

The Rosary was said by the entire parish at the Dunmore Funeral Home Tuesday evening.

Mr. Forsthoefel, a former Tecumseh Products employee, passed away suddenly at his home in Adrian Saturday evening.

He was chairman of the board of Reveo, Inc., of Deerfield. Only last Thursday he retired as president of Reveo to become chairman of the board.

Co-founder with Howard White, Sr. in 1938, he had been at the plant infrequently since last fall when he suffered a heart attack from which he never fully recovered.

☆

AN EXPERIMENTAL engineer in the refrigeration industry by practical experience, Mr. Forsthoefel came to Tecumseh Products in 1937, aided with the reorganization of Reveo in 1938 and then joined the new company in 1939.

In 1954, Revco pioneered the Bilt-In refrigerator and home freezer combination for the kitchen.

He was born in Cranberry Prairie, Ohio October 4, 1889.

He is survived by his wife, Ursula Desch Forsthoefel, seven children and 11 grandchildren, his mother, Mrs. Henry Forsthoefel, three sisters and three brothers.

REALTY VIEWS

"What do you think of the chances of selling my home for around $14,000?" asked Clark Mentor, who owned a brick home, about 12 years old, in a semi-business district.

"At that figure, the outlook is dark," I replied, "although I'd be the first to admit your house would sell for $14,000 if it were just three blocks further up the street, in a nice residential area."

"You mean the location makes that much difference?" Clark asked in amazement.

"Absolutely," I said. "What many people fail to realize is that you would actually lose money building a nice home in this district, or in any other poor residential area, even if you had the lot given to you free of charge. Whoever built your house, no doubt picked this lot because it cost $500 to $1,000 less than a lot in a good district. But it's a poor bargain, because the house on this lot is worth $3,000 less than it would be in a choice district. And, it will not only sell for less, but there will be fewer people interested in buying your house simply because they don't like the area."

"I can see," said Clark, "it is easier to get into a bad deal than to get out. But I think you're right. We'll have to make the price attractive to get our house sold."

In selling a home, it pays to get sound advice. Let us talk things over and then handle the details for YOU.

Almost everyone does! Even if you have no large block of securities or expensive jewelry, just count your hard-to-replace important personal papers. Kept about the house or office, they are exposed to the triple risk of loss by misplacement, fire, theft. Arthur Tells about His 'Day with Rubinoff'

By Arthur J. Collingsworth

(Writer's Note: I wish to express my thanks to Neville Hart, Rev. Robert Bergman, Richard Hicks, Dr. Richard Coak, Virgil Tucker, Thomas Riordan, James Lincoln, the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs for making this story possible.)

The story really began about 9:30, Monday evening, April 7.

Rubinoff and his company — Homer Phillips, his associate and his chauffeur — arrived at the Tecumseh Motor Court Motel.

Ambrose Hamaker, owner of the establishment, and I welcomed him.

Rubinoff explained they were late because they had just purchased a new car that day, and it had to be registered.

He went over to Bolden's Store and purchased some cookies, bananas and milk, which he ate in his room. He also said that night and the next day he was on a diet.

He showed a medal presented to him by the Federation of Musicians.

It was silver medal inlaid with diamonds and rubies for playing the world's largest attendance — 225,000 in Chicago.

☆

HE SAID the bejeweled coat of arms on his famous violin was being repaired because some of the diamonds were loose.

We looked over a full page of pictures he had received last year in the Detroit Times. He showed me a picture of his son who is 13 years old.

He played two selections on the violin.

About this time Richard Hicks, president of the Kiwanis Club, and chairman of his appearance, arrived.

Dr. Richard Coak joined us and the conversation went on until Dr. Coak suggested we get something to eat. We went to the Coak residence were Rubinoff, the chef, took over.

Mrs. Coak turned on the tape recorder and we heard the city hall banquet speech.

In the kitchen, the guest of honor sat to work preparing his special food — Hamburger a la Rubinoff. They were really wonderful. When you see Mrs. Coak, ask her for the receipt, which she uses now. We all enjoyed the hamburgs very much.

At 1 a.m. everyone left for home.

☆

THE NEXT MORNING at 9:26, Rubinoff arrived at city hall where Mayor H. H. Hannah officially welcomed him to this community. He was guided through city hall by city manager Ed Nelson.

He presented the city staff with autographed programs and his hamburgs seemed to be a city topic. The staff were all wearing miniature violins, with "Welcome Rubinoff" on them.

About 9:50 he arrived at the Herrick Park Elementary School and was impressed by the modern architecture. Mrs. Gordon Garlick welcomed him to the school and the children enjoyed the concert very much.

At 10:30 and 11:00 he gave concerts at the Central school, because the auditorium was too small to hold the complete student body at once. Wayne Kaiser, principal, introduced him.

☆

AT THE SCHOOL concerts, the principal would introduce Homer Phillips, his associate, who in turn would introduce Rubinoff.

HIS VERY LIFE—Rubinoff shows several of his Tecumseh fans the violin, which has been a part of him since his infancy. This happened during his short concert at the Parrott Nursing Home. In the group, from left, are Mrs. Sarah Boyd of Britton, Margie Parrott, 11; Bruce Parrott, 15 and Donna Jean Parrott, 17. This stop was one of several in his whirl-wind swing through Tecumseh.

Mr. Rubinoff told of school in Russia and what respect they should have for their school and teachers.

He then played "Around the World," excerpts from Polonaise and Souvenir and the "Ballad of Davy Crockett" in a few of the 15 different characteristic styles, such as Waltzes a la Strauss, Ireland, Scotland, Dragnet.

He proudly displays his 227-year-old Romanoff Stradivarius violin, explained how he had received two presidential citations, one from the late President Roosevelt and President Eisenhower.

He said the program he was presenting at night was the same he did for President and Mrs. Eisenhower, Vice President and Mrs. Nixon and members of the cabinet.

During the concert the students would sit quietly, mouths open, hands clasped on their laps while he played.

☆

WEST BRANCH, one of the smallest schools he has appeared in, was next. Earl Greene was there and Leslie Bennett, high school music teacher.

Mr. Kaiser brought a letter which had arrived. Later in the day I learned that the contents in the envelope were three letters from fourth graders of Morenci schools, where he had appeared a few weeks before. These letters were all written on notebook paper, expressing their gratitude for appearing there.

From there we went to the Tecumseh Country Club, where the guest was greatly impressed that a city our size had such a beautiful one.

At his luncheon table were Mayor Hannah, Virgil Tucker, Rev. Robert Bergman, Mr. Bennett, Mr. Philips, Mr. Hicks and myself.

He had a fair-size lunch, refusing more, because he said of his diet. He was introduced to many others dining there.

Rubinoff was interested in the furniture at the Country Club, which Manager Ray White told him was made in Sweden. Mr. Rubinoff made a special note of it in his notebook.

☆

HE ALSO SAID that the hamburger he had made the night before, he had made many times for the Roosevelts when he used to visit them at the White House.

He said that they had figured out he had given over 40,000 free school concerts.

He arrived at Patterson school at 12:50, had a few minutes to practice. Many of the students were waiting at the door to get in early and catch a glimpse of him.

At 1:15 the concert began. At the end he awarded Patterson a poster, a picture of himself, Will Rogers and John Phillips Sousa.

He autographed the poster and presented it to principal Mr. Gilam, on behalf of the school. He stayed overtime at Patterson, he became so interested in the school and students.

At 1:45 he arrived at St. Elizabeth, where he was given a special tribute. The students were standing while he entered and left. Sister Ann Xavier and Fr. Tom Collins welcomed him.

Rubinoff played special tribute to them, because the school had been on Easter vacation and had returned especially to see him.

He also presented Father Collins with a poster such as had been presented to Patterson.

At the conclusion of his visit he played "The Rosary," as an added attraction.

☆

HE WAS THEN whisked off to Parrett Nursing Home, where he began that concert at 2:35. The dining room and living room were crowded with patients. He chatted with a 97-year-old woman in German, her native language, then played a special selection for her.

From there he met Dick Meyers, manager of the Kroger store, and a member of the Kiwanis Club. He asked for two oranges and apples, which he received quickly.

Next he went to the post office for stamps, then gazed at the panel wood in the R.S. Moore Lumber Co. He took a special interest in a Luan type made in the Phillipine Islands.

He told Don Nettleman about the studio he was building in Hollywood, where he resides three months of the year. His family is there.

Tecumseh Products was the next stop. Mr. Hannah showed us to the office of R. W. Herrick, where Rubinoff played four selections amazing people in the next offices.

He played a favorite of Mr. Herrick's by Victor Herbert, who brought Rubinoff to America. Mr. Herrick and Rubinoff compared their former experiences and talked of Tecumseh.

At about 4:15 he left and returned to his motel, where he sat to work autographing programs, promised to children attending his main performance. He also practiced.

At 6 p.m. he was picked up and taken to the Methodist Church, for dinner with the Rotary Club.

Following the meal he played a couple of numbers, told members of the club. "This violin was made in 1731," then he looked over at the old piano and added "The very same year your piano was made."

Rubinoff related how Henry Ford took him when he only weighed 70 pounds and put him in the hospital under his personal care. He also said Mr. Ford asked him to write a Square Dance, which he did a few years ago.

☆

AFTER THE DINNER he went to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Herrick's residence, this time accompanied by James Lincoln, co-publisher of The Herald.

Mr. Herrick showed them through the house and Mrs. Herrick displayed her beautiful kitchen. Rubinoff was very impressed by the house.

He left for Tecumseh high school auditorium for his main performance. Before it began he went into the homemaking room across from the auditorium to practice.

Well over 300 people attended the concert. It was a fine climax for Rubinoff's Day in Tecumseh.

The next morning he left to do a concert at Kokomo, Indiana, and another busy schedule.

Fall turkey prices will be slightly lower this year, believes a Michigan State University farm economist. Expected heavy placement of poults now through June will push fall supplies up.

What's Your Record?

Harold E. West, who has driven over 1,600,000 miles without an accident, has been chosen Michigan's 1957 Driver of the Year!

His amazing total of accident-free miles amounts to an average of more than 5,000 a month during the 27 years he has driven a truck for the Geo. F. Alger Company, large Detroit trucking concern.

Like the 11 other truck drivers who were finalists with him in the annual competition (and the drivers of the thousands of trucks which keep Michigan's homes and factories and shops and farms supplied with the things they need). West makes a professional career of safe driving.

Congratulations, Harold West! Keep up the good work — and may your example be an inspiration to Michigan's vast motoring public!

By CLARA WALDRON

Folk-mote is the term that has come down from early Anglo-Saxon times for those gatherings, which New England later called "town meetings."

They were meetings of individual freemen where community needs were discussed, men elected and taxes levied to meet those needs.

They still hold them in some parts of those rock bound states. Boston reluctantly gave them up when her population reached 40,000 in 1822.

Westward migrating New Englanders brought the system with them and the transplanted New Englanders from New York state, who settled our town, were no exception.

Government at the grass roots is implicit in the written words they have left. A thin, weather beaten book with time-browned pages of carefully, often painfully, penned records gives us the bare bones of what must have been important and were probably well discussed decisions.

It covers the years 1828 through 1836, before the organization of the village; and registers the official acts of the township of Tecumseh.

The county of Lenawee had been created in 1822 and when the first settlers arrived it was the only government unit for their use. Apparently a county government was all they had for three years, but as Tecumseh had already been designated the county seat, they merely elected some of their number to the various county offices and did very nicely.

In 1827, the Territorial Legislature divided the county into three townships, Tecumseh, Logan and Blissfield.

Tecumseh's first town meeting was held in the home of General Joseph Brown. The minutes of that meeting have been lost but no doubt they were much like those of 1828 which begin "At a meeting of the inhabitants of the township of Tecumseh, convened at the school house in the village of Tecumseh on Monday the 7th day of April 1828, Thomas S. Howe was appointed moderator. The meeting then proceeded to the election of township officers," whereupon, Robert Cross was duly elected Supervisor for the ensuing year."

☆

IN THE SAME vein of formal phraseology is recorded the election of a clerk, two assessors, two commissioners of highways, one collector, two overseers of the poor (one of whom was Musgrove Evans) two constables and two pound masters.

Seven "overseers of highways" were elected for the seven road districts (later these were known as path masters) and the seven were also named to be "fence-viewers."

Considering the population, the "duly elected officers" must have just about exhausted all the willing workers of the body politic.

Following the elections they "resolved" that the sum of $25 be levied to be applied on a road "from Huyks to the Saline settlement," but that it "is deemed inexpedient to levy a tax of $25 for the erection of a bridge over the Raisin near Ezra Blood's."

It was also resolved that "all swine of weight of forty pounds or under be restrained from roaming at large" and that a tax of $50 be levied to de distributed among the several school districts of the town. (Mr. McDowell please note.)

☆

IN THE records of the years that followed they "resolved" to pay a bounty of from $2 to $5 for "all wolves killed within the township;" that the ponds be "kept up until June" and, in a burst of extravagance when the treasury showed a balance of $6.02, they resolved to buy a desk "for the town clerk to keep the book of the town."

That desk must have been a good shelter for the little "book of the town" has survived its 130 years in relatively good condition. We know it passed through the protecting hands of Perley Bills one of the town's early teachers and lawyers and of John J. Orr, who will be remembered for his interest in "the good old days." It was given by his daughter to the Public Library.

It would be a most fitting item for a town historical display.

Cured fertilizer will stay in good condition for several months if properly stored in a dry place, say Michigan State University soil specialists.

God's Love Takes Us Back To Him...

It is a solace in our hour of trial. In the passing of a dear one, we think of God's love, and that we all are taken back to Him. Thus the funeral becomes the beginning of a full measure of peace for those who care most.

Our services in your behalf are always with this in mind. We are humble instruments of worldly care as God's love claims that which is His.

Nine Writing Awards Uphold Long Tradition

By MARY SEAGER

Tecumseh's entries in the Southeastern Scholastic Writing Awards upheld a long tradition for Tecumseh with nine awards this year.

This is good considering the more than 9,000 entries from 258 schools. Many of these schools were large metropolitan high schools in or around Detroit.

Out of the 258 schools only about 88 received awards of any sort in both the Junior and Senior Divisions.

The awards will be presented May 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the Detroit Institute of Art auditorium.

Certificates of Merit will be given to those who won commendations or honorable mentions, gold-key winners will get dictionaries.

Martin S. Hayden, associate editor of The News, will be the principal speaker at the award ceremonies.

This contest is sponsored regionally by the Detroit News and nationally by Scholastic Magazine.

It is designed to encourage interest in creative writing among the teenagers living in Lenawee, Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

Tecumseh's award winners were in the Senior Division; Marilou Layton, Nick Touborg, commendations for their familiar essays; Larry Robinson, commendation for his historical article.

Junior Division winners were: Brenda Sprague, honorable mention for her short story; Linda Dean, Helen Miller, honorable mentions for their familiar essays; Diane Fuller, honorable mention for her letter; Camilla Grigg, Mary Tilton, commendations for their short stories.

With Tecumseh Teens

BY MARY V. SEAGER

THURSDAY AFTER SCHOOL 18 hopeful candidates gathered in the gym to tryout for the nine cheerleaders from which six will be chosen for the varsity.

The teachers that judged were Charles Gross, Carl Beattie, Nancy Cramer, Robert Breniff, Victor Lawson, Helen Sisson, Carol Sheffer and Mrs. Dale Jacobs.

They found it was terribly hard to pick the best nine because competition was so great. The girls this year were all good and there wasn't a great difference among them.

They were judged on their ability to do various cheerleading skills and the cheers using these skills — the jump, Whooper-dinky, splits, cartwheel and jump split.

Each girl was required to do two of each skill and then a cheer using that skill, after that she had to do a specialty such as the round-off.

The girls chosen will be picked for the varsity by the school sometime next week.

They are Rudy Roberts, Susie Owen, Carol Spangler, Vicky Baughy, Suzie Rohweder, Mary Colgrove, Kendra Ringman, Jeanie Hohenstein and Donna Nixon.

Six of these girls have been on the varsity squad for at least a year.

☆

IN THE GIRLS' CLASS basketball tournament the sophomores beat the freshman and the juniors forfeited to the seniors. The sophomores and the seniors will play the championship game Wednesday at 3:15.

Girls' class volleyball tournaments will start sometime next week. They will be run in much the same way that the basketball tournament was run.

☆

SOPHOMORES HELD A SUCcesful class party Friday night. Games such as basketball and volleyball were played until 10, then everyone danced to records. Coke and potato chips could be had for a small price. The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Vic Lawson, and Mr. and Mrs. Green.

☆

THERE WAS A REALLY good crowd at the Teen Club Friday night. The mural on the west wall has been finished. It looks very, very nice.

At the Tuesday meeting of the Teen Club Legislature the new policy of charging for damage done at the Club was put into effect.

Four club members were fined by the legislature. The fine money will be put into repairs, specifically, the door and fixing the rip in the pool table.

☆

Climaxing six-week tests is the Junior Prom which is sponsored by the Junior Class.

It is Friday night from 9 to 1 with Drexel Lamb's orchestra from Jackson. The girls will wear formals and the boys will wear suits. Corsages are permitted.

Friday morning and afternoon short class meetings were held to elect candidates for Prom King and Queen.

The Freshman class nominated Mike Tucker and Meredith Munger, the sophomores: Terry Hendricks and Doris Oliphant, the juniors: Greg Mason and Donna Roe, the seniors: Dave Elliott and Joyce Partridge.

The all-school election will be held sometime this week.

☆

MARILOU LAYTON, WHO won a first place in Declamation at the District contest in Adrian, will compete in the Regional Contest at Eastern Michigan College April 23.

There are seven other schools competing in the contest. Marilou will use "Gift of Love" for her declamation.

Six Are Baptised and Fifteen Join Methodist Church

"The Sunday after Easter was another great day at the Methodist Church in Tecumseh as six adults received the Sacrament of Baptism, and 15 adults joined the church," reports Rev. James Nixon.

Speaking on the theme, "What Time Is It?", Rev. Nixon gave the answer: "It is time to take Christ at His word, to follow Him in Thy Way, and to live the life that is Eternal."

Those receiving baptism were Lyle Hayford, John Frazier, Richard Brighton, John Perry, Mary Lou Perry and Mrs. Virgil Smith. They also joined the church.

Others joining the church were Joan Johnston, Mrs. Lyle Hayford, Mrs. John Frazier, Mrs. Richard Brighton, Mrs. Louis Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Connin, Elroy C. Johnston and Mrs. Helen Miller.

The next reception of members will take place on Pentecost Sunday, May 25.

Methodist Men Travel to MSU for Conference

This Saturday members of the local organization of Methodist men will travel to Michigan State University for an annual all-day conference.

It is the sixth such meeting, bringing together Methodist men from both the Michigan and Detroit Conferences of the Methodist Church.

Local Methodists will meet at the parsonage at 6 a.m. Saturday for coffee and doughnuts. They will leave at 6:30, and plan to arrive home late that same day.

Luncheon will be served in the Kellogg Center and two meetings in the University auditorium.

Speakers are Dr. Robert Bruce Pierce of Metropolitan Methodist Church in Detroit, Dr. Harry Denman of Nashville, Tennessee, and Bishop Marshall R. Reed.

The program also includes specific discussion groups on 16 subjects.

Those attending include Robert Wood, local president; also Carlos Jones, Maynard Lucas, Walter Hizer, Paul Hadsell and Rev. James D. Nixon.

Lawns can be fertilized in the spring. But to avoid "burning" the grass, it's best to put the dry fertilizer on before green growth starts, according to Michigan State University turf specialists.

DO TECUMSEH AREA FOLKS stack up pretty well with national averages when it comes to savings deposits?

We'd say yes.

Current savings at the United Savings Bank hit $5,256,000.

At the Adrian Federal Savings & Loan branch here the figure is $1,474,000 — an all-time high, reports John Surratt.

☆

A VARIETY OF PROMOTIONS have been tried — most of them with great success — to help shake off the recession trend.

One of the best ideas to be nurtured into reality was the "You Auto Buy Now" promotion begun by automotive dealers.

It has done so well moving cars that other lines have been picking up the theme.

Now, it's coming to Tecumseh.

The car dealers began the ball rolling.

The Herald agreed to keep it hopping and include every Tecumseh business which wanted to go along.

Considerable preparation has already gone into the "Tecumseh Buy Days" with its theme "You Auto Buy Something."

The results should be one of the biggest buying binges seen in Tecumseh in some years.

Merchant after merchant, when contacted the later part of last week by my hard-working partner, Jim Lincoln, said they certainly were anxious to become a part of the town-wide effort.

Almost immediately they began to map plans for "TBD", slicing prices to a point where potential buyers just couldn't say no.

There will be some zany specials, which always provoke interest and smiles — and a considerable saving to the shoppers while they last.

These will be listed in display and classified ads of next week's Herald.

Our newspaper is going to make a blanket coverage of the entire area, giving advertisers an audience of about 15,000.

A variety of free special events are going to be included, all to be announced next week.

These should be exciting days and a definite shot in the arm for community economy.

☆

BECAUSE OF TIME LIMITATIONS, a few merchants were not contacted in connection with the "Tecumseh Buy Days." Some of them will probably want to take part. Complete information can be obtained by calling 733.

DON JOHNSON BROUGHT hfs 85-piece Tecumseh high school band to St. Elizabeth's school for a 45-minute concert Tuesday morning.

St. Ann Xavier, principal of the Catholic school, invited the group — maybe she wanted to see how her former students who are members of the band are doing.

In any event, the St. Elizabeth's students really enjoyed the visit and the band had fun staging the show.

Meyers Delivers First '200'

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

This Ship Can Open New Era in Plane Building Here

When Kingsley Doutt, pilot for an Alpena manufacturing company, arrived at Meyers Aircraft in Tecumseh Monday history was being made.

After a cordial welcome from Al Meyers and other members of the local firm, Doutt climbed into a sleek black and yellow ship.

He gunned its 240-horse power engine, taxied into position on the Meyers strip, waved goodbye and rolled soothly down the concrete runway. In moments, the ship was airborne.

Doutt's departure marked the official end of a six-year effort by the Meyers firm — and the beginning of a bright new era in building aircraft here.

☆

DEVELOPING THE successful design of an airplane is a long and tedious task.

TEAM EFFORT — Building an airplane takes many skilled minds and talented hands. Fellows from Meyers Aircraft, which is now manufacturing this type ship, pose along the firm's strip. Key men in the front row are, from left, Beaumont Diver, in charge of inspection; Clarence Marillat, air frames; Joseph LeFevre, sales manager and promotion; A. H. Meyers, chief engineer; Raymond P. Batzold, test pilot and factory manager and Robert Ebert of Birmingham, designer of the hydraulic system. In the second row are the factory hands, all specialists in their own right.

The B-29 required eight years, with hundreds of engineers working around the clock. The new jet airliners were begun in the late forties, won't become operational until about 1960.

For the Tecumseh firm, only Michigan company which constructs airplanes, this was its third and by far most striking ship.

During World War II, Meyers fashioned OTW trainers, later came out with the Model 145.

The present, four-seater Model 200 executive plane has been on the drawing boards and in the construction and test stage since 1952.

☆

"PRIOR TO actual flight tests," explains Joe LeFevre, Meyers sales manager and promotion man, "Thousands of pages of airframe calculations and reports were submitted to the engineering division of the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

"Accompanying these were hundreds of drawings outlining each and every minute part, including electrical, hydraulic, radio and all other complex systems."

As this myriad of paper work was being approved, the first of three ships was built — No. 1 and No. 2 were prototypes or target models, each strictly experimental.

These underwent structure loading and stress analysis checks. The models were flown by Raymond Batzold, test flyer and Meyers factory manager, for proof of aerodynamic safety.

☆

THIS SAME checking program was then conducted by Ted Kalankowitz of Kansas City, Missouri, a flight test engineer representing the CAA.

The fellows at Meyers knew their ship had gone through the seven-month flight testing and passed on every count without delay for modification.

But there was still suspense while awaiting word from CAA. March 10 the certificate of approval arrived and the Model 200 was officially ready for production.

The Alpena firm of Petch Manufacturing Co. was the first to order a 200. Its final cost was $27,500, including radio and instruments which qualify it for night flying.

☆

LEFEVRE REPORTS that the company now has a backlog of orders from all parts of the country and that five more 200s have been started.

"As production increases, there is every promise Meyers Aircraft will become a leader in the light, personal, executive-type airplane field," he states.

The Model 200 has a range of 1,200 miles, its fuel capacity is 86 gallons in two wing tanks.

The Continental engine in the 200 can produce a cruising speed of 192 to 200 miles per hour. The powerful radio is capable of sending and receiving up to 200 miles.

'Buy Days' Come May 1 to Tecumseh

"Tecumseh Buy Days" will be staged here beginning May 1, with the slogan "You Auto Buy Something."

Merchants are teaming to put on this promotion which will include business places large and small.

It shapes up as a real break for the customers who will be able to locate exceptional bargains in almost every shop in town.

A parade, featuring the Tecumseh high school marching band, will open festivities a 4 p.m. next Friday. The "10 Little Indians" jazz combo will also participate.

Auto dealers will supply a raft of new models for the parade.

Boy and Girl Scouts are invited to take part in the parade, also children riding decorated bicycles, as are folks with old-time cars.

All those interested in being part of the parade should contact Harvey Wilson at 888, or merely meet in front of the high school, where the line of march begins May 1.

The parade will proceed down N. Maumee street to Chicago boulevard, then west to Pearl street, where the cars will be parked along the first block south of Chicago.

Bandsmen, who normally ride school busses home, will be provided transportation by auto dealers.

A "Tecumseh Buy Days" queen will be elected. Replica of the ballot and candidates can be found on page 3 of this issue and will be available at the stores of participating merchants after May 1.

Can $300 Grow on Money Tree? Church Hopes So

Church of the Nazarene's Class of Juniors, with Harold Lawhead as teacher, is largely responsible for the illuminated cross, which was erected in front of the church on W. Chicago boulevard this past week.

The cross had been used before, but the new fiberglass backing makes it more effective.

Another project of the Church will be a money tree, on which it is hoped to see $300 dollars grow.

The money is needed for several improvements within the church building such as a better piano, an aisle runner, a yard light and perhaps some classroom partitions, explains Rev. Dale Harvey.

The project was started Sunday, and it is hoped that the tree will produce the necessary money in six weeks.

May Be 'The' Year

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Golf Team Has Two Coaches

This may be Tecumseh's year in prep golf.

Agreeing on this statement are Coach Doug Murdock and "unofficial tutor" Leo Bishop.

"These boys should win the state championship," flatly states Bishop, the man that Murdock says should get all the credit for developing the Indian linksmen.

The Indians got off to a good start, dropping Adrian, 326 to 354.

Dave Lamkin turned in a 75, Max Smith had 81, Gordon Greiman, 84 and Dick Baker 86.

John and Dave Elliott, Dave Hohenstein, Dave Champanois and Ray Lasky round out the squad.

"Only one or two places on the team are secure," reports Coach Murdock. "Any one of the first six or seven boys could play on the team."

Coach Murdock's 1956 team won the regional title and tied for second in the state, then ended up in third following a sudden-death lose to Grand Haven.

Next action is against Adrian and Hillsdale on the Tecumseh Country Club Thursday.

Husband-Wife League Still Has Openings

There are still openings in the Tecumseh Country Club husband-and-wife bowling league for next season.

Alley reservations are now being made. For those who have not signed up yet and are interested in joining, call Hal Kelso at 14 this week.

This year's season closed Sunday with the awarding of prizes. The awards went to Mr. and Mrs. Hal Kelso and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Woods for the most games won; to Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hanna, Mrs. Kenneth Herrick and Virgil Tucker for the lowest pins for the season; to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Owen for the man and woman showing the most improvement; to A. A. Musch for high three-game series; to Mrs. James Freckelton, low single. Mr. and Mrs. Kelso were elected presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Woods, vice presidents of the bowling committee for the coming year.

Reports Given on 4-H Gardens

The Raisin Cookies 4-H Club met Monday evening at the Hoffmeister home with Brenda Porter, vice-president, presiding at the business meeting.

A bake sale will be held Saturday, May 10 at Baldwin's Hardware Store. Reports were given on vegetable and flower gardens.

Sharlene Hoffmeister gave a talk on "How to Make a Cold Frame."

Two new members, Ruth and Richard Davis, were added to the rolls. Linda Porter assisted Mrs. Hoffmeister in serving refreshments. Diane McNichol was in charge of games.

The next meeting will be May 5 at the home of Linda Porter on Occidental highway with Linda Porter and Carol Hand in charge of games. At this meeting reports on horses, sheep and dairy will be given.

Ever been discouraged when the furniture you've finished yourself has a rough, grainy texture? Dust is the culprit. To avoid it as much as possible, work in a dust-free room and rub the surface with a cloth moistened in turpentine and alcohol after each sanding, suggests Mary Shipley, assistant professor of related arts at Michigan State University.

About the 47c Recession

As you no doubt have noted in other stories this week, the businessmen of Tecumseh are going to stage a concentrated period of positive selling.

Harvey Wilson, soft-spoken and hard-selling Plymouth DeSoto dealer, is spark-plugging the event which encompasses the entire area.

He has called so many meetings in order to iron out the numerous details, Harvey sometimes meets himself coming as he is going. But the labor will pay off, we're sure.

The effort comes at an opportune time. Savings in Tecumseh institutions exceed $6,500,000 — which indicates there is money here, people just have to be encouraged to spend it.

Another auto dealer, Louie Schneider, points out that this has in actuality been a 47c recession, according to a statement issued by Buick.

"During the third quarter of 1957, the United States had its highest level of business activity in history.

"In the fourth quarter, consumer spending dropped at an annual rate of $1.2 billion. This was enough to trigger a net downward change at the rate of about $5 billion per year in business spending on inventory.

"It was enough to take us from the nation's highest level of business activity into an atmosphere of 'recession'.

"And yet, this $1.2 billion decrease in consumer spending averages out to only $24 per family per year, or less than 47c per week. If each of our 50 billion family or spending units had spent just 47c more per week at an annual rate, there would be less talk of 'recession' today."

Board Offers Good Mixture

To maintain an even balance of thought and action in any organization a good cross-section of membership is necessary.

So it is with the newly-elected Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

Examining the business connections and professions involved we find: a doctor, dentist, two auto dealers, a funeral director, jeweler, auto store merchant, real estate salesman and fuel yard owner.

Three of these men are middle-aged, the remainder in their thirties — another good mixture.

All of them have one objective in serving on this board: make Tecumseh bigger and better, develop its assests to the fullest.

We're convinced with such C of C leadership, the movement is bound to be a smashing success.

Certainly this community has every advantage of any town this size in the middle west — and then some.

We certainly wish every bit of good luck to the board.

New Scholars Should Receive Check-ups Now

Dr. John S. Wisely, director of Lenawee County Health Department, urges that all children entering school for the first time this fall have physical and dental examinations.

He also urges profection against smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and polio before they start school.

"Immunizations should be completed by June, if possible," Dr. Wisely said, "because the Lenawee County Medical Society considers it inadvisable to give them during the summer months.

"Children who have already had their initial immunizations may need a booster shot. The first two polio shots, given one month apart, assure at least 80% protection against the paralytic form of the disease and should be given as soon as possible; immunization is completed by giving a third dose of the vaccine in seven months."

Sheep raisers, keep a sharp eye on ewes for signs of lambing paralysis. Symtoms include weakness, stiff gait and difficulty geting up and down. Michigan State University livestock specialists say to get medical help at the first sign so rest of flock doesn't become infected.

FROM THE DESK OF OUR City Manager

For the past two weeks, the highway department has been busy repairing streets. We have used about 3,000 gallons of asphalt and 75 tons of stone, patching holes. I believe we have the worst ones under control.

We have been given a price of $1.80 per foot for curb and gutter.

We would like to start this work in Herrick Park on Center Drive.

We started putting the water main across the pavement on W. Chicago boulevard and will cross the highway at Cairns street.

There is no doubt but that the water in that area will go through, so I believe we should get this work done now, as we will have plenty of other work for the crane very soon.

I had a complaint from a party on Murray Drive regarding the gravel pit at the back of their property. They think this pit should be fenced in. The question is, who is going to pay for this fence?

We got a price of $1.15 per tree from the Davey Tree Experts. They were in town spraying last week, but I don't know if they have completed the job.

We have been landscaping the City Hall. Mr. Ammer donated the large shrubs, and the Tecumseh Garden Club donated $100 towards the low shrubbery. The grass seed is all in except for the small part west of the main entrance.

Soprano solos, "Sequidilla" from Carmen and "The Hills of Home" were sung by Mrs. Louis Caterina.

Two-piano duet, "Sicilienne," was played by Mrs. Arthur Schwartz and Mrs. Fred Oberlin.

Soprano and tenor duet, "It was a Lover and His Lass" was sung by Mr. and Mrs. Bennett.

Vocal trios, "April, My April" and "Moonlight Song" were offered by the Wintersteen sisters, Mrs. Robert Mohr, Mrs. Oscar Bryan and Marie Wintersteen.

A tenor solo, "The Vagabond," was sung by Mr. Bennett and two chorus selections, "Spirit Flower" and Psalm 150 by Caeser Franck.

PRO AND CON BUT MOSTLY PRO

Several months ago, when the ground was snuggled beneath a dazzling blanket of snowy whiteness, a long eared, fuzzy tailed rabbit was a frequent visitor. Some days he would come bounding through the yard at a breakneck speed.

Such amazing long leaps and bow slender and streamlined his body looked when stretched out to full length as it was at the mid-point of each leap.

The reason for this jet burst of speed was not discovered—he was not being chased nor had he been frightened, at least not within our range of vision.

The dash-for-safety theory was further discounted by the fact that Mr. Long Ears never seemed headed for any particularly protected spot; in fact, by-passed several.

We're inclined to think that the explanation was a combination of rabbit instinct and the boundless energy of merely feeling good.

☆

AT TIMES his pace was a much more leisurely one. With slow, unhurried hops, he would meander about the yard, pausing frequently to look around—it was almost as if he were enjoying the scenery.

These less frenzied visits were investigating forages too. His small twitching nose poked into everything. Such curiosity.

Time-wise, Mr. Long Ears' appearances were unpredictable. While he often showed up at midday, he was equally apt to be seen early in the morning or just at dusk.

When there were open, unfrozen spots in the creek they served as the rabbit's drinking fountains.

All the late afternoon visits which we observed seemed to follow much the same pattern. After hopping down the creek bank he would scamper across the ice to an open spot take a long cool drink and then scurry on up the creek, we presumed, to a snug, warm home.

Although we were never sure where this winter's rabbit lived, several summers ago a family of cottontails made their home in the lot to the north of us. The tall grass and tangled weeds apparently made an ideal homesite.

They used our back yard for an exercise area and their daily visits gave us a good chance to observe their growth. At first they were merely wee bits of brown fur with amazingly big ears, playing in the rose garden.

Each day, as their strength increased, they wandered further afield and it wasn't long before they were cavorting over the whole yard. It was sometime, however, before their tiny bodies caught up to their big ears.

☆

SO MUCH freedom proved exhilarating and it was soon apparent that the youngsters had made up a game.

To the non-participant it looked like a combination of tag and follow-the-leader. It was played on a course vaguely resembling a baseball diamond.

The leader would run from the rose garden to the pile of fireplace wood which was stacked in back of the garage. "Second base" he found somewhere between the house and the back porch ramp. Darting under the ramp he next would head for the picnic table along the creek bank and then "home" to the rose garden.

There were only two bunnies to play this exciting game, but they certainly made up in enthusiasm what they lacked in number. We lost track of how many times the two brown streaks circled the yard each day.

On the debit side and much to their discredit is the rabbits' insatiable appetite for tender young growing things. They seem to find new green sprouts especially succulent.

It is most distressing, however, in the cool early morning mist, to walk through one's garden and find that the small delicate leaves of a prize rosebush have been nibbled away.

At such times, its hard to remember how cute and appealing the little bunny rabbits were as they frolicked in the yard yesterday afternoon.

Actually we have been fortunate and have suffered comparatively little loss from the gnawers.

☆

OCCASIONAL rose bushes have been lunched on and we have almost given up on the crocuses. Fall after fall we plant the tiny bulbs and daydream about their bright cheerfulness in the early spring.

Come spring we find that instead of having provided ourselves with an uplifting warm weather preview we have merely provided Mr. Long Ears with a tasty meal.

Several neighbors have not been so fortunate in their plant loss due to rabbit nibbling. A newly set out hedge was so severely dined upon that some of the less hardy shrubs died.

It's also a sad fact that bark on small flowering trees has all too often proved to be irrestible. If only the rabbits would learn to be more discriminating.

Surely they should favor those of us who enjoy watching them scamper about our yards and reward our thoughtfulness in providing these play areas by dining elsewhere.

Such a thing is highly unlikely though and I suppose we shall always look at Mr. Long Ears with mixed emotions.

Balancing the good against the bad, the scales, to our way of thinking, are tipped heavily in favor of the rabbits. We enjoy watching their antics and hope their destruction is held to a minimum.

(Next Week: They're Still Coming)

One of the first steps toward possible weather control now is being taken at The University of Michigan in a study of rain drop size.

The low-waistline two-piece effect in spring cottons is new and youthful, especially in the "middy" look.

Pick 'Right' Crops to Get Top Income

Selecting the "right" crop to grow this season can put extra profit in the pocket this fall, declares L. H. Brown, farm economist at Michigan State University.

"Aim to produce the crops that will give the highest value per acre and still use the land according to what it can do best," the economist says.

The job of crop selection consists of fitting the crop to the capability of the land and then shooting for high yields.

Generally speaking, land of low capability will produce its highest value of crops if it is kept in hay and pasture from 50 to 70 per cent of the time.

On the other hand, high capability land will produce more profit if it is growing higher value crops like corn and wheat most of the time.

BROWN LISTS another reason for going after top yields of the "right" crop. It's the easiest source of farm income.

Why? Farmers have been able to reach a higher level of efficiency with crop production than with livestock, the economist says.

Labor requirements for corn, for example, have been cut from about 30 to 10 hours per acre over the past 20 years. But labor needed to care for one dairy cow is still around 10 hours — only about five hours less than two decades ago.

But don't get rid of all the livestock, Brown cautions. Livestock markets feed that is frequently hard to sell for cash and it also provides a market for labor which might find a poorer or even no market, elsewhere.

God's Love Takes Us Back To Him . . .

It is a solace in our hour of trial. In the passing of a dear one, we think of God's love, and that we all are taken back to Him. Thus the funeral becomes the beginning of a full measure of peace for those who care most.

Our services in your behalf are always with this in mind. We are humble instruments of worldly care as God's love claims that which is His.

Your Help Needed to Keep Parks Clean

Final preparations for the warm-weather season are underway in Michigan's 59 state parks and recreation areas, with a record number of parks users expected this year.

While many workers are busy painting, patching and cleaning up parks, others are setting up thousands of picnic tables, stoves and other equipment.

Some parks already report heavy use this spring from campers, picnickers and others seeking outdoor recreation.

WITH FAVORABLE weather during spring, summer and fall, park attendance is expected to surpass the 17,057,000 visitors recorded last year.

The all-time attendance mark was set in 1955 when 17,845,000 jammed into parks and recreation areas.

This heavy use creates a tremendous job of maintenance, and parks personnel are urging full cooperation by the public to keep parks clean and attractive.

Without such cooperation, parks workers are unable to handle these cleanup chores.

Litterbugs and vandals not only create an extra work load, but mar the beauty and function of parks for considerable visitors.

Lawbreakers may be ticketed for violation of parks regulations, but enforcement becomes an enormous problem in crowded parks.

OBSERVANCE OF a few rules of courtesy can make Michigan's state parks a more enjoyable place for family recreation:

1—Place all paper and other debris in trash barrels provided for this purpose.

2—Obey traffic and parking laws and other posted regulations.

3—Give parks equipment and facilities the care you would give to your personal property—they belong to you.

ELECTION OF PROM KING and Queen was held the latter part of last week.

Juniors ran the voting from a table outside the study hall.

This year the voting was for individuals, not couples. Even so, the winners were nominated as a couple.

The candidates were: freshmen, Mike Tucker, Meredith Munger; sophomores, Terry Hendricks, Doris Oliphant; juniors Greg Mason, Donna Roe; seniors, Dave Elliott, Joyce Partridge.

The Prom King and Queen, Terry Hendricks and Doris Oliphant, the sophomore candidates, were crowned at about 11:30.

Pictures were taken as they danced together. Doris was presented with a gold locket with 1958 engraved on it. Terry received a tie-clasp and cufflink set.

The high school gym was considerably changed from its weekday appearance. Blue and white streamers were hung from a center pole with white arbors at the four corners.

The masterpiece was a huge silver and red rocket in the center of the floor. Satellites were swinging from the baskets at either end of the gym. The theme of this dance of the future was "Atom's Eve".

Drexel Lamb and his orchestra was featured.

Cherry punch and home-made cookies were served by the juniors. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. John Babcock, and Mr. and Mrs. James Howard.

☆

THURSDAY THE SOPHOMORE girls won the class basketball tournament from the seniors by forfeit.

THE TEEN CLUB LEGISLATURE met Tuesday after school. Although the Teen Club wasn't open last weekend, it will be open this Friday at the usual time.

Win by Indian 880-yard Relay Team Provides Meet Victory

By GLENN WILLIAMS

In a track meet here last Thursday afternoon, Tecumseh and Bedford battled through the first 12 of 13 events tied at 52-52 points each.

This left it solely up to the 880-yard relay teams.

Tecumseh's outfit composed of Al Dick, Ray Miller, Jim Mangrum and Gary Hanna, breezed home in 1:39.5 to give Tecumseh both a race and meet win, 57-52.

Bedford copped eight first places to Tecumseh's five, but the Indians had eight second-place finishers, another tied for second and six third-place finishers.

☆

BEDFORD HAD two double winners in the meet, Dick Hammerstein in the half-mile and high jump, and Eric Warren, who won high and low hurdles.

Tecumseh winners, besides the 880 relay team, were Mike Walters in the broad jump; Gary Elliott, 440-yard run; Gary Hanna, 220-yard dash; and Al Dick, 100-yard dash.

☆

"THIS WAS one of the most closely run track meets I have ever seen," was Coach Don Brazee's statement after it was over.

And closely run it was. Bedford's medley relay team won by just a few yards after the race had been run almost step-for-step most of the way.

Gary Elliott had to come up with a terrific finish to edge out teammate Bob Long in the 440-yard run as Long finished scant inches behind.

PROBABLY THE most outstanding performance for Tecumseh with the exception of the 880 relay, was the broad jumping of Mike Walters and Ray Miller.

Walters scored 20' ½" to win the event, but was pushed hard by Miller's jump of 20'¼". Walters was a little below his leap of 20' 6" in the Blissfield meet.

Besides winning the broad jump, Walters placed second in the high jump and tied in the low hurdles, giving him a total of nine points for the day.

Gary Hanna and Al Dick were the top point getters for the Indians with 10 each. Hanna won the 220, placed second in the 100 and was on the winning relay team.

Dick took the 100-yard dash, placed second in the low hurdles and also ran on the winning 880 relay team.

100-yard dash—Won by Dick (T); Hanna (T); Seger (B). Time 10.8.

220-yard dash—Won by Hanna (T); Seger (B); Mangrum (T). Time 24.3.

440-yard run—Won by G. Elliott (T); Long (T); Weidmer (B). Time 55.6.

880-yard run—Won by Hammerstein (B); Sisson (T); Eddy (T). Time 2:17.6.

Medley relay—Won by Bedford. (Storer, Shwela, Estenbice, Spotts). 2:44.5.

880-yard relay—Won by Tecumseh. (Dick, Miller, Mangrum, Hanna). Time 1:39.5.

120-yard HH—Won by Warren (B); T. Walters (T); Salarski (T). Time 16.2.

180-yard LH—Won by Warren (B); Dick (T); M. Walters (T). Time: 22.5.

High jump—Won by Hammerstein (B); M. Walters (T); Miller (T) and French (T), tied for third. Height: 5'9".

Broad jump—Won by M. Walters (T); Miller (T); Seger (B). Distance: 20' 1¾".

Pole vault—Won by Kuntzs (B); Fox (T); Nowak (B). Height: 10'.

Shot put—Won by Dove (B); Snyder (B); Rollman (B). Distance: 42'8⅞".

Errors Again Prove Downfall of Indian '9'

Airport high school scored four runs in the bottom of the fifth inning in a game played at Carleton last week to hand Tecumseh its second straight setback in league play.

All Airport runs were unearned and the final score was 4-1.

Tecumseh's lone tally came in the sixth when Bob Wilkins led off with a home run over the left field fence.

Bob O'Neill of Tecumseh and Airport's Dick Sherman were locked up in a scoreless pitching duel until the Indian defense collapsed in the fifth.

In that inning the Jets put together three hits along with three Tecumseh errors for their four runs.

Wilkins replaced O'Neill during the inning and finished up without further damage.

In the 4⅓ innings he worked, O'Neill struck out six men, walked none and allowed six hits.

Wilkins hurled 1⅔ innings, striking out two and walking one.

Tecumseh's Indian baseball team traveled to Hillsdale Monday and came out on the short end of a 3-2 ball game.

Hillsdale took a 3-0 lead on a run in the second inning and two more in the fourth.

In the fifth inning the Indians broke into the scoring column on an infield hit by Stephenson, a stolen base and Jon Weakly's second hit of the game.

In the top of the sixth, Tecumseh tallied their final run as Larry Yoakum led off with a single and Bob O'Neill was hit by a pitch to put runners on first and second with none out.

After Kasik struck out, Lynn Frost lined a single to left field, scoring Yoakum, but O'Neill was out trying to move to third. Kruger popped out to end the inning and the rally.

☆

DAVE GRANGER, who went the distance on the mound for Hillsdale, allowed six hits.

Bob O'Neill started for Tecumseh and hurled the first inning, giving up all three Hornet runs on five hits. Bob Wilkins pitched the last two innings and didn't allow a man to reach base.

Jon Weakly was Tecumseh's leading hitter with two hits in four trips to the plate, driving in one run.

Tecumseh's JV team plays Adrian JV's here Thursday.

The varsity has a game Friday at Milan and then travels to Bedford Monday for another league encounter.

"Do you suppose we can afford a new car?"

Of course, that's really a question you will have to decide. But we will say this: The features of our bank auto-financing plan have helped many a family hereabouts to see its way clear to a new car. With its low borrowing cost and terms spreading repayment over a period of months, a bank auto loan fits conveniently into many a family's budget. If you have chosen your car and can meet the down payment (part or all of which your trade-in may cover), see us about financing the remainder of the cost.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Turnabout a la Tony

Have you met Tony yet? He's from Europe—and rents the old Whalen farm.

Tony's a good worker and has that farm running pretty slick. Funny though—on days off—Tony hangs around the barbershop listening to the political discussions. But he never says a word.

Last Thursday, though, Tony was there and was speaking his mind. When I asked him about the sudden change, he smiled and showed a brand-new set of citizenship papers. "Now I talk up like an American should," he said.

From where I sit, every citizen has a right to speak his mind—on all subjects. For instance, I happen to feel that beer is just about the best refreshment beverage there is. Nobody has to agree with my choice—but there's no arguing my right to "sound off" about it.

969 DOGS COMPETE

An entry of 969 dogs will compete in the Toledo Kennel club's 35th annual dog show in the Civic Auditorium, Toledo, on Sunday.

GLORIA SWEET

Gloria Sweet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raynor Sweet, displayed the best Home Improvement project at the Lenawee County Achievement Day program held April 12 at the Ridge Auditorium in Adrian.

Her display was an arrangement for buffet or mantle made up of pussy willows in a jet black bowl with white candles in black candle holders.

A miniature white deer was nestled in the arrangement. She will receive a blue ribbon and a money award when she attends the State contest in August.

REALTY VIEWS

Mrs. Edgeley, a silver-haired widow, stopped by the office to say, "I'm thinking of selling my large house. It's at least twice as much room as I need now. Would you please come by in the next day or two and tell me what it's worth?"

The house proved to be an older home, exceptionally well maintained, and modernized with new plumbing and heating fixtures.

"I'd like to get $16,000 for it," Mrs. Edgeley confided.

"I don't blame you," I replied, "and I'd honestly like to see you sell it for the maximum figure because I know you could use the money. Nevertheless, $16,000 is out of line with current values. Let me drive you past some homes of this type which we've sold in the past year or two. I'll tell you exactly what they sold for. Then you tell me what you think."

I pointed out four similar homes.

As we drove up in front of her home, Mrs. Edgeley said, "I'd be lucky to get $13,000, wouldn't I?"

"Yes," I answered, "that's about right. I wanted you to see for yourself rather than have you think I was beating the price down. Realtors are sometimes misunderstood. But now you know the market too."

"I'm glad you were so helpful," Mrs. Edgeley said. "I know my property is in good hands."

May we help you SELL your property too?

Trout Season Opens Saturday

An estimated 235,000 trout fishermen are checking equipment and regulations as the April 26 opening day of Michigan's 1958 trout fishing season nears.

Mild weather during recent weeks holds promise for a successful opener, particularly if some warm rains make an appearance during the week preceding the season.

Streams generally have been low and cold this spring, and some precipitation probably would boost catches when the season gets underway.

The beginning trout season also opens all trout waters in the state to fishing for other species, except bass.

In addition to the $2 resident fishing license, Michigan trout anglers also must purchase a $2 trout stamp. Other regulations are listed in the "1958 Guide to Michigan Fish Laws," available from license dealers or Conservation Department offices.

Expert Badge Won by Tom Baldwin

AUGSBURG, Germany — Army Sgt. Thomas B. Baldwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ned N. Baldwin, 311 W. Chicago boulevard, recently received an Expert Infantryman Badge in Germany, where he is a member of the 11th Airborne Division.

Sgt. Baldwin completed a series of written and practical tests on all phases of the infantry soldier's duties and skills.

An assistant squad leader in Troop C of the division's 17th Cavalry, he arrived overseas in February 1956.

A 1954 graduate of Tecumseh high school, the 20-year-old soldier was employed by Orville Allshouse & Sons Construction, Adrian, before entering the Army in November 1954.

Linda Lang from Saline was a recent guest of Linda Whelan.

Trains Ended Brief History of Stagecoach

ANN ARBOR — Stagecoaches jouncing smartly along Michigan's corduroy or plank roads were a familiar sight a little over a century ago ,according to information in The University of Michigan Historical Collections.

The late Roger L. Morrison, formerly a member of the U-M faculty, wrote in a transportation article: "Stagecoaches appeared upon the roads as soon as they became passable for that form of travel.

"In 1830, there was a semi-weekly stage from Detroit to Tecumseh. In 1832 the line was extended to Niles, and in 1833 stage service was established between Niles and Chicago."

The stages were drawn by four horses and were of the "Rockaway" type, the carriage bodies being suspended on leather straps. The driver sat on a high seat in front and the luggage was strapped on behind and on top. The coaches carried mail as well as passengers.

☆

THERE WERE many taverns along the stage routes and they did a thriving business. "In fact, so great was the demand upon some of these taverns that travelers were often obliged to sleep on the floor," Morrison wrote.

The old tavern at Clinton has been moved to Ford's Greenfield Village and the Walker Tavern at Cambridge Junction on the Chicago Road (in the Irish Hills) is now a museum and antique shop.

But the Iron Horse finally crowded the stagecoach off the roads. The beginning of the end of the stagecoach was marked in 1836 by the operation of the first railroad train from Toledo to Adrian, on the Erie and Kalamazoo Railroad.

Two years later, trains were also operating between Detroit and Ypsilanti and between Detroit and Royal Oak. Several other railroads were also under construction and 24 had been chartered.

By 1846 the railroad had reached Kalamazoo, and in 1849 it was extended to Lake Michigan, connecting with steamboats for Chicago. And so the stagecoach was eliminated as a necessary link in through travel from Detroit to Chicago 16 years after it had been first established between these two points.

Clinton Post Open on May 6 for Inspection

The Michigan State Police will observe Michigan Week May 4 to 10 by flying the state flag at all posts and holding open house on "Hospitality Day" Tuesday, May 6, according to Sergeant Carl Anderson, commanding officer of the Clinton post.

A similar program was held last year and attracted thousands of visitors to the various posts throughout the state, Sergeant Carl Anderson said.

Although visitors are welcome at anytime, the special visiting hours at the Clinton post "Hospitality Day" will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Officers will be on hand to escort persons through the building, explain equipment and answer any questions regarding department operations.

"We extend a very cordial invitation to be with us," Sergeant Carl Anderson said.

Siena Heights Offers Graduate Degree Work

Siena Heights College of Adrian is now empowered to grant masters' degrees in certain new areas of work.

The graduate program will be carried on in the summer, with a limited number of courses being offered in the late afternoons or evenings during the school year.

Siena Heights accepts only women students in the undergraduate division, but the graduate division will be co-educational.

Pre-registration for graduate students will be held June 8.

Sister M. de Paul, O.P. is chairman of the college council on graduate study, and Sister Alice Joseph, O.P. is acting as secretary.

Scouts Will Attend Tiger-Senator Game

Pack No. 4 of the Cub Scouts plan to attend the baseball game between the Washington Senators and the Detroit Tigers, June 18, at Briggs Stadium in Detroit.

Den 5 of this Pack visited the Comfort Brick and Tile Yard last week. Mrs. George Anderson is the Den Mother of this group.

Den 8 of Pack 4 visited the State Police Post in Clinton last Tuesday with their den mother, Mrs. Douglas Hall, and Mrs. Paul Wilcox.

They were impressed by the map showing where the accidents have occurred and also by having their finger prints taken.

Salvage an old door—a flat one with no moldings—cut it to size and refinish it for a new coffee table. You can buy any size or shape legs for it at your local hobby or furniture shop, say Michigan State University home economists.

Help Goodwill, Help Economy

President Dwight D. Eisenhower has set aside the week of May 4-10 as National Goodwill Industries Week.

The theme of Goodwill Week is to "buy now and give the items that you replace to Goodwill Industries."

In difficult times it is more important for people to have a spiritual lift than it is during prosperous times. They receive this boost in morale by helping others.

When the public buys now and gives the items to be repaired to Goodwill Industries, they help the economy in three ways:

1. The money they earn is placed in circulation, giving a boost to the State tax picture.

2. When discards are given to Goodwill Industries, handicapped workers who would be on charity rolls are able to hold down self-supporting jobs.

3. These physically handicapped persons pay federal taxes instead of consuming them. Last year those employed at Detroit Goodwill Industries paid nearly $150,000 in taxes.

Corn Loans Available Through End of May

"Loan and purchase agreements will be available through May 31, for 1957-crop corn," Arthur Capper, Chairman of the Lenawee Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, has announced.

Unlike price support programs for most of the "basic" crops, the corn loans and purchase agreements will be available to all growers of 1957-crop corn, both within and outside the commercial corn area.

VOL. 107 — ONE HUNDRED EIGHTH YEAR — NUMBER 30 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, MAY 1, 1958 | 18 PAGES — TEN CENTS A COPY

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

LIKE WE HAVE BEEN SAYING . . . things can't be too bad . . . take for instance the housing business. Jack Shutt, who builds the National Homes in Sunset Acres, sold five houses last week.

Or, the oft-bemoaned movie industry . . . "As long as there's a Disney, we'll survive," might have been the feeling of a smiling Walt Nichol, manager of the Strand, the past weekend.

Still glowing over the success of the Disney production, "Old Yeller", which smashed all box office records last month, Walt scored again with another Disney movie, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

Patrons were standing in line to get seats at the Friday showing, which this writer, the red-haired wife and our two young ones attended.

Our little family ended up in two seats, mon and dad with children in their laps . . . did I say little? My 45-pound son must have gained another 45 between 7:15 and 9 p.m.

When the nasty old queen fell to her death, on the screen, after getting Snow White to take a bite from the poisoned apple, the place was in an uproar with cheers reverberating throughout the theatre. I'll have to admit, I was pretty pleased myself to see the old gal take that fatal tumble.

As we said, things aren't so bad.

THIS WEEK'S EDITION GOES before nearly 15,000 readers, some of whom do not normally receive The Herald in the mail.

This message is directed to those folks:

We would like to have you on our mailing list and during Tecumseh Buy Days ONLY, new subscribers in Lenawee county can sign up for $2 a year. Outside the county, the price will be $3.

This is $1 less than a one-year subscription regularly runs.

For your convenience, there's a coupon at the lower right portion of the front page. Fill it out, attach $2 and slip in an envelope. Be sure it's postmarked by May 10.

☆

WHEN THE BUSINESS places in a town combine for community-wide promotion, it's always exciting.

Like the school examination stimulates thinking of the students a selling spree jacks up each merchant. He begins to explore various avenues of approach, might stumble onto something that would never have been uncovered had the promotion not come along.

Of course, the astute buying customer is always on the lookout for a saving and the selling spree offers plenty.

Tecumseh's auto dealers, who got "Tecumseh Buy Days" started, are to be congratulated. Likewise deserving of praise are the other merchants who joined hands to make this a complete community project.

☆

THERE'S GOING TO BE A world of gimmicks during "Tecumseh Buy Days."

One has to do with regular pay of auto agency help—it will all be in $2 bills.

Weekly car outlet rolls total $4,500, which means quite a few race-track bills will circulate in the area.

Parade Thursday

★ ★ ★

Opens 10 Bargain-Happy Days

With a parade down Chicago boulevard Thursday at 4 p.m., "You Auto Buy Days" open in Tecumseh, will continue through May 10.

These 10 bargain-happy days will find merchants throughout the city offering some exceptional specials. Most of them can be found in the advertising columns of this week's Herald.

The Tecumseh high school marching band, directed by Don Johnson and led by drum majorette LaVonne Lister, wil head up the parade.

The musicians are going to lead a stream of new cars, decorated bicycles and uniformed Scouts down N. Maumee street from in front of the school to Chicago boulevard and then west through the business district.

Youngsters are welcome to take part in the parade, states Gerald Smith, who will be its marshall. They can ride bikes, dress in uniforms or costumes. They should meet at the high school by 4.

☆

THE FOUR candidates for the role of "You Auto Buy" queen—Joyce Partridge, Donna Roe, Doris Oliphant and Meredith Munger — will be featured in the line of march, riding in convertibles.

The girl who wins the crown is going to be awarded a $50 U.S. Savings Bond, a gift of the Tecumseh auto dealers.

Anyone who shops in Tecumseh can vote. Ballots are available at the stores and showrooms of "You Auto Buy Days" merchants.

Banners have been hung at the east and west entrances to the downtown business row, pronouncing the event. Smaller signs are blossoming all over town.

The new Chamber of Commerce has played a part in helping to organize the promotion, handling the distribution of display material from Eggleston's Jewelry.

"The 10 Little Indians", an ensemble of teen-age jazz musicians, will present a two-hour session in the downtown area Friday night from 7 until 9.

Following Thursday's parade, the car dealer's new models will be placed on outdoor display along Pearl street, just south of Chicago.

Seven Rooms Ruined by Fire

Seven upstairs rooms in the George Blanchard home on Rogers highway were badly damaged by fire Saturday morning.

The blaze was spotted between 9 and 9:30 by Mr. Blanchard as he stood at the barn and looked for his wife to join him from the house.

Neighbors, who also saw the smoke, rushed to help and in quick order had removed the entire furnishings.

Origin of the fire is not known.

Temporarily, Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard and his mother, Mrs. Nettie Blanchard, only occupants of the house, are living in two downstairs rooms.

The home is insured and repair work is expected to be started soon.

Products Keglers Compete in ABCs

Tecumseh Products bowling team spent the weekend in Syracuse, New York, participating in the ABC bowling tournament.

Those attending included Gordon Greiman, Walter Morden, Clarence Marsh, Dermont Poley, Sr., Darwin Creger and Robert Hoekstra, substituting for Virgil Tucker.

NEIGHBORS HELP — When neighbors of the George Blanchards saw their Rogers highway farm home on fire Saturday they rushed to help remove furniture. Tecumseh and Holloway departments answered the call. The structure was insured.

Six-Team League Set for Softball

A six-team men's softball league has been formed.

All games will be played under the lights of Recreation Field, probably on Monday and Wednesday evenings, reports Vic Lawson.

Signed up so far are clubs from the Products Union, Odd Fellows of Britton, Macon Community Church, John & Bill's Cities Service and a team from Clinton. Addison will also probably furnish one.

An organizational meeting was held last week and another gathering is scheduled Monday at the coaches' office of Tecumseh high school.

Band Boosters Sell Listing to 1,612 and 882 Calendars

Fred Dickinson reported at the Band Boosters meeting Thursday evening that 1,612 listings had been sold for the calendars, along with 882 calendars.

Members voted to buy a case for the new string bass that the band has.

Mrs. James Barton was presented with a pen and pencil set for chairmaning the area with the highest sales and Mrs. E. S. Oyer for the highest individual sales of calendars and listings.

The Band Boosters Club expressed appreciation to Tecumseh residents for their fine acceptance of the project and announce that the calendars will be delivered in June.

They'll open Thursday with a parade, voting for a queen and some welcome bargains for shoppers. Auto dealers, who sparkplugged the town-wide promotion with Harvey Wilson as chairman, will stage an outdoor display, along S. Pearl street.

'Michigan Week' Opens with Mayor Exchange

"It's great to live in Michigan" themes the annual Michigan Week, which opens Sunday with Spiritual Foundation Day.

On Monday, "Mayor's Exchange Day," Edgar Kesterke, Berrien Springs No. 1 Citizen, will come to Tecumseh while Oley Hanna goes to that community.

Mrs. Hanna will accompany her mayor-husband on the trip.

Mayor Kesterke has said that he will remain in town for Monday night's regular council session since Berrien Springs is considering the mayor-council-city manager type government and he wanted to gather information on Tecumseh's setup.

☆

MICHIGAN WEEK was started in 1954 by a group of citizens and businesses, with a three-fold purpose.

1 — To advance the economic and social progress of Michigan through use of every practical means.

2 — To promote among Michigan residents and the people of the United States better understanding of the advantages Michigan offers as a place for living, working, playing and carrying on a business.

3 — To get all Michigan people working together to make Michigan an even better place in which to live, work and play.

☆

ALL MICHIGAN residents, urban and rural alike, are being urged to send picture post cards of Michigan scenes to persons outside the state during the week's observance.

"Write on the card some word of pride in Michigan," the committee urges. "It would add up to a lot of good advertising and the biggest expression of individual enthusiasm for a state that the mails have ever carried."

"Michigan Week affords all of us an opportunity to take another look at the many resources and advantages of our great state and to do everything we can to let everyone know about Michigan and to work together to make it an even better place," says Edward J. Heckman of Grand Rapids, this year's general chairman.

Car Knocks Down Boy on Bicycle, Fails to Stop

Police received a report Tuesday of a hit-and-run accident, involving a car and nine-year-old boy on a bicycle.

Lee Selders, a fourth grader from Patterson school and son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Selders of 714 Ternes road, was struck along N. Union street shortly after noon.

Lee told his mother, as did others who saw the incident, that the car was driven by a woman, who slowed but did not stop.

The bike was damaged and Lee's leg skinned when the handle bar scraped it.

JERRY HEBB . . . off to Washington

Jerry Hebb Named for Washington Trip

Jerry Hebb, 11-year-old Patterson school student and son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hebb, has been named to represent Tecumseh safety patrollers at the 22nd National AAA Safety Patrol Rally in Washington, D. C., May 8-11.

Jerry, who lives at 516 W. Chicago boulevard, will make the four-day all-expense trip along with 100 other safety patrollers from the state as guests of Automobile Club of Michigan.

The youngsters were selected as the most outstanding of the 50,000 patrol boys who daily safeguard their classmates at crossings at 2,200 Michigan elementary schools.

During the honor trip to Washington, they will join 30,000 other patrollers from across United States and Canada for the traditional march down Constitution Avenue. The five-mile long parade is the largest held annually in the Capitol.

The Michigan delegation will meet congressmen from their home districts at a special luncheon arranged by Auto Club in one of Washington's leading hotels.

☆

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS of the trip include meeting entertainment world notables and visiting historic landmarks and important government buildings.

The youngsters will assemble in Detroit on Thursday, May 8, for registration and a physical check-up before boarding their private railroad cars.

The Michigan patrollers will leave Washington Saturday evening and arrive in Detroit, Sunday, May 11.

Youngsters from outside the Detroit area will be escorted to and from their homes by members of Auto Club's safety and traffic department. Two registered nurses will accompany the group on the trip.

Kindergarten Registration Starts May 12

Kindergarten registration will be held the week of May 12, at the offices of the Central and Patterson schools.

Parents may enroll their children at either school.

Monday, May 12—Parents with last names starting with the letters A, B, C, D, E or F.

Tuesday, May 13—Parents with last names starting with the letters G, H, I, J, K or L.

Wednesday, May 14 — Parents with last names starting with letters M, N, O, P or Q.

Thursday, May 15 — Parents with last names starting with letters R, S, T, U or V.

Friday, May 16—Parents with last names starting with letters W, X, Y or Z or any people who were unable to register on scheduled day.

The Michigan law regarding kindergarten reads as follows: "A child who has reached his fifth birthday on or before December 1, of this year, may enroll in a kindergarten."

At the time of registration it will be necessary to present the child's birth certificate.

Junior Baseball Tryouts

Tecumseh's summer recreation program gets started Saturday with tryouts for boys' junior baseball — an activity patterned after the Little League.

Vic Lawson, in charge of the 1958 season, invites boys born between August 1, 1945 and August 1, 1948 to participate.

"There will be a place for every boy wishing to play ball," Vic states, "Whether in the major or minor circuit."

Parents should accompany youngsters to tryouts, which will be held at Recreation Field, and carefully observe the schedule:

9 to 10:30 — 10-year-olds.
10:30 to 12 — 11-year-olds.
1 to 2:30 — 12-year-olds.

☆

THERE WILL be four sponsors — Jaycees, Kiwanis, Exchange and Rotary — each having a major and minor unit. Adult coaches will be provided for all teams.

"Boys not making the 15-player major teams will be assigned to the minors," according to Mr. Lawson.

A brand new, grass-infield fenced-in park is planned for the Junior League. It will be located just north of the swimming pool and will be ready for all games, beginning in June.

After the juniors are organized, the program will begin plans for a 13 to 16-year-old baseball loop. Details of this will be announced later.

Ah, the Magic Season

Spring is the magic season. Bright, warming sun just does things to folks, be they nine or 90.

The Tecumseh area has already enjoyed some balmy days and with each one the out-of-doors has attracted men, women and children by droves. Lawns and gardens have been worked over until, if they could speak, they probably be willing to shout uncle.

Just as warming as the rays from Old Sol is the feeling one gets driving through the area and seeing the tremendous pride citizens hereabouts take in their property.

It's nice to know your "neighbors" throughout the community want to have their expanse as neat, clean and attractive as it is humanly possible to get.

Now we swing to another aspect of spring—sports.

Elsewhere in this week's issue we report two items, which should carry quite a bit of interest for the sports-minded.

A tennis club has been formally founded by a group of enthusiasts, who display their deep love for the game not merely with flowery phrases, but by popping out of bed at dawn and bouncing onto the court at 6 a.m.

This is real adulation.

The club has 14 charter members and hopes to interest more folks in the game.

If we can possibly persuade our sleepy-headed photographer to meet with the racqueteers at one of their sessions, we'll run a picture spread on this newest Tecumseh organization.

Local golfers have been busy oiling up their swings for the current campaign and area courses have seen their share of flying divots.

But the big news in golfing is the Tecumseh high school team—already touted as potential Michigan champs.

Certainly the lads have been getting some of the finest tutoring obtainable from able Leo Bishop. Leo is as proud of his "boys" as if they were all his sons.

Leo's lessons have been paying off regularly and now the team has established a record-breaking aggregate score of 318 — which average out to 79½ strokes per player for 18 holes.

That's real shooting. Just ask the Saturday afternoon player, who continually fights the good fight to break 100.

Guy Bruce Manwaring gave the invocation and Mrs. Vern Manwaring presided as toastmistress.

The tribute to the sons was given by Mrs. Benjamin Antrobus. Her son, Bruce, responded.

Following group singing, with Mrs. Herbert Dillon at the piano, Mrs. Antrobus delighted the banquet audience with a presentation of a colored mammy singing "Shake, Rattle and Roll" and "A Good Man is Hard to Find."

Besides the Downard baby, presentations were made to Mrs. Fred Sheldon, Harley H. McConnell, Mrs. Stanley Cook, Mrs. Jerry Hand and Mrs. C. O. Bailey. Mrs. B. O. Bashore pronounced the benediction.

The table decorations were carried out in a Mexican motif with flags and miniature burros that Mrs. Hal Kelso brought back from a recent trip to Mexico. Others on the decorating committee were Mrs. Carl Kempf and Mrs. Robert Smith.

Golfers Establish Record

With three of its four-man team shooting in the seventies, Tecumseh high school's golf team established an all-time record while defeating Monroe Monday.

The 319 total was the lowest margin ever recorded here.

Max Smith led the parade with 74, Dave Lamkin had 76, Dick Baker 79 and Gordon Greiman 90.

Monroe was badly outclassed, posting a 402 team total.

In a triangle session last Thursday, Tecumseh (337) swept past both Hillsdale (345) and Adrian (374).

In that meet, with the linksmen battling poor weather conditions, Smith posted a 78, Lamkin, 81; Geiman, 87 and Baker, 91.

Leo Bishop, Tecumseh Country Club professional and "unofficial coach" of the THS unit, has already dubbed this year's team as a definite threat for the state championship.

Ray Larned Stars on College Team

KALAMAZOO—Outfielder Ray Larned is one of the outstanding performers on the freshman baseball team this spring at Western Michigan University.

Larned, 18, who stands 6-3 and tips the scales at 228 pounds, graduated, as an honor roll student from Tecumseh High in 1957 where he participated in four sports.

He played center, fullback and end on the football team four years, gaining All-State honorable mention honors in his senior year. He also played center on the basketball team four years and threw the shot on the track team one year.

He was a fine third baseman and pitcher on the baseball team four years. He was voted the most valuable senior athlete.

Ray is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Larned of 301 Chippewa street, Tecumseh.

Best Adrian

A clutch win by sophomore Jack Sisson in the half-mile run and another by the 880-yard relay team in the final event gave the Tecumseh high school thinclads a 55-54 win over the Adrian Maples here Monday.

Adrian led 50-45 with only the half-mile and the 880 left.

Sisson covered the distance in the 2:12.8, which is about four seconds faster than his best previous time.

The 880-relay team composed of Al Dick, Bob Long, Jim Mangrum, and Garry Hanna whizzed to victory in the sparkling time of 1:38.4, its fastest of the season.

Mike Wafters was Tecumseh's only double winner with first in both the high and broad jumps.

Gary Hanna captured first in the 100, second in the 220 and ran a leg on the winning 880 relay team.

The winning medley relay unit, with Ron Johnson, Bob Marsh, Ray Miller and Long also turned in its best performance of the year.

Gary Elliott captured the 440 dash for Tecumseh's other win.

Wilkins Hurls 2-Hitter, Knocks in Winning Run

Bob Wilkins pitched beautiful ball Monday afternoon, allowing the Kicking Mules of Bedford only two singles, then drove in the game's only run in the sixth inning.

Wilkins and Ron Sugg, Bedford hurler, were locked up in a tight pitchers' duel for the first five innings before the Indians got their only run with two men out in the sixth.

Lynn Frost singled to lead off the sixth, stole second base. After Kasik struck out and Yoakum popped out, O'Neill worked Sugg for a walk.

While O'Neill was batting, Sugg let loose with a wild pitch allowing Frost to move to third.

Wilkins lined one off the pitchers glove that the shortstop fielded, but couldn't make a play on with Frost scoring from third.

Wilkins was never in serious trouble as he struck out fifteen Bedford batters while walking only two. Bedford didn't get a hit until the sixth.

The Indians play Monroe CC there Thursday and then are home for the remaining three games.

Yoakum Homers Twice as Indians Win First

Led by third-baseman Larry Yoakum, Tecumseh trounced Milan's Big Reds there Friday, 8-3, for the Indians first win of the season.

The club has lost three.

Yoakum had a perfect day at the plate as he belted out two home runs, a double and a single, driving in five runs and scoring four times himself.

The Indians scored three times in the first inning as Jon Weakly led off with a walk, Lynn Frost singled and Yoakum smashed his first home run of the game down the left field line.

After Milan had tied it up with one run in the first and two more in the second, Tecumseh came up with two tallies in the third to go ahead for good.

☆

WEAKLY STARTED the third with a single, Frost forced him at second, Yoakum then doubled over the left fielder's head, scoring Frost. Yoakum scored moments later on a single by Karl Cranston.

The Indians added two more runs to their total in the fifth on four singles and a Milan error.

Tecumseh's final run came in the seventh inning when Yoakum belted his second homer of the game with one out and nobody on.

Bob Wilkins who took over the pitching chores from O'Neill in the third inning was the winning pitcher. Wilkins allowed only one hit over the last five frames while striking out nine. O'Neill hurled the first two innings, giving up three hits, three runs, struck out one and walked two.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor:

It was such a pleasure to attend the Spring Rhapsody last Friday evening. The students, Mr. Johnson, and Mr. Bennett are to be commended on their excellent performance.

Surely, everyone present must have received a lift from the music and special acts and, as a result, fully realized that live music is much more interesting than the recorded.

May I extend thanks to those in charge for their choice of music which provided not only good timing but also for cooperation, precision, and showmanship.

Besides having audience appeal, the selections were well suited for special talents and, best of all, for giving the many an opportunity and confidence to perform.

As a result the audience was very appreciative and well behaved. A good performance is always appreciated by the audience whether large or small. It was also very gratifying to observe the loyalty of the student body and let us not overlook the interest displayed by the parents, relatives and friends.

We can be very proud of the fine arts departments in our high school and may the teachers in those departments continue to have friendly relations because the success of one depends on the others.

Sincerely,
Ruth V. Rentschler (Mrs. T.)

Grace Elizabeth Moore Marries James G. Wilson

Grace Elizabeth Moore and James G. Wilson were united in marriage by Rev. George E. Walworth at the First Presbyterian Church of Tecumseh Sunday afternoon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heck Moore of 811 Red Mill Drive and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melbourne W. Wilson of 609 Outer Drive.

The sanctuary was artistically decorated with all white flowers, the altar vases and tall white hampers were filled with snap dragons and carnations.

The setting was softened with natural green palms. On the end of the alternate pews of the center aisle were clusters of white carnations and green tied with white satin bows.

☆

LINDA WARREN, a sorority sister of the bride, sang the "Tri-Delt Wedding Hymn" after the mothers were seated and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a princess styled bridal gown of white Peau de Soi silk with long fitted sleeves and a rounded neckline formed into a point in the back, large hand made roses of the silk defined the low hip line in back.

The same roses held back the fullness of the train giving the dress a sheath look. It is an exclusive Maude Bell creation.

She carried a cascade arrangement of white butterfly roses edged with strands of tiny ivy.

☆

MRS. JOHN BROWN, cousin of the bride from Detroit, was matron of honor wearing a princess style cocktail length dress of white Peau de Soi. A tailored bow of Nile green velvet was caught at the base of the pointed neckline with streamers of the ribbon falling to the hemline.

She wore a picture hat of the Peau de Soi with a bow of the Nile green ribbon and carried a modern bow arrangement of white Eucharis lilies centered with tiny yellow rosebuds.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Lawrence Gersey of Constantine, Michigan, Mrs. Thomas Will, Mrs. Robert Hastings both of Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Richard Fielder, sister of the bride.

They wore identical gowns of the same style and color as Mrs. Brown's and carried the same bow arrangements of Eucharis lilies. The double bow was of Nile green velvet tubing centered with a cascade of flowers.

Polly Anne Fielder, niece of the bride, wore a bouffant dress of white and carried a nosegay of tiny pink rosebuds edged with pink tulle. The bride's nephew, Robert L. Moore, was the ring bearer.

☆

MAJOR ROBERT H. WILSON from Alexandria, Virginia served as his brother's best man and the guests were seated by James Morse of Saline, James Breitenwischer of Burlington, Iowa, Robert D. Moore and Richard L. Fielder of Tecumseh.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Moore wore a light blue lace sheath with matching accessories and pale pink camellias. Mrs. Wilson wore a dress of blue lace and chiffon with white camellias.

Hosts at the church were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Purcell and Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Butler.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Tecumseh Country Club where Ken Edwards furnished music for the enjoyment of the 400 guests.

A six-tiered bridal cake was topped with lily of the valley and Demur rosettes, edged with white tulle. A bridal wreath of smilax, pike rosebuds and carnations encircled the cake.

Hostesses at the reception were Mrs. Frank K. Smith, Mrs. Karl M. Schneider and Mrs. F. C. Hanna who were assisted by Mrs. M. R. Blanden, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sisson, Mrs. C. W. Hanna, Mrs. William Macbeth, Mrs. Earl Woods, Mrs. Vincent Haight, Mrs. H. H. Hanna, Mrs. O. W. Farver, Mrs. C. L. Diekinson, Mrs. Louis S. Schneider, Mrs. Clark Rathbun of Fowlerville.

Joan Gideon of Kalamazoo, Gretel Bailey and Nancy Wren, sorority sisters and roommates of the bride, registered the guests.

Mrs. James Morse and Mrs. Robert D. Moore cut the bride's cake. Betty Morgan and Mary Nixou, the bridegroom's cake; Cathy Clark, Ann Caris, Joan Sluggett, Betty Boynton, Connie Campbell, sorority sisters, Mrs. James Creswell of Milan, Mrs. David Murphy of Clinton and Mrs. John Sisson of Romulus served the punch.

Jane Dillon, Carole and Beth Moore had charge of the gift table.

☆

THE CAKE TABLE, centered in front of the large stone fireplace, was flounced with a covering of white net over pink taffeta and was draped with strands of smilax.

The mantle was banked with a lovely arrangement of pink and white flowers and tall pink candles.

The serving tables were centered with beautiful flowers in silver bowls, flanked on either side with silver, three-branch candelabra, holding tall pink candles.

Throughout the club many flowers and candles added to the glow of the wedding reception. All assistants at the reception wore corsages of pink carnations.

☆

FOR THEIR wedding trip to Texas for one week, the bride wore a light blue and gray ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage of butterfly roses.

The bride is a graduate of Tecumseh high school, the School of Nursing of the University of Michigan and the Physical Education Department. She is affiliated with the Delta Delta Delta Sorority.

The groom is a graduate of Tecumseh high school, the Ohio State University and Albion College and is serving in the United States Army.

Guests were present from Toledo, Detroit, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Three Rivers, Adrian, Hudson, Chicago, Flint, Ann Arbor and Midland.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the Country Club Saturday evening given by Mr. and Mrs. Wilson.

WHAT'S COOKING IN TECUMSEH

Bread and Rolls

Mrs. E. H. McConnell this week gives us her recipe for bread or rolls.

These have the most delicious crispy outside, soft and tender inside.

She has a special talent with food, whether it be preparing vegetables from the McConnell garden or a fish, freshly caught by her or Mr. McConnell.

It seems to be as natural for her to make food taste delectable as it is to breathe.

She and Mr. McConnell, known around about as "Ted," have done a lot of traveling in recent years, visiting one son, Russell and his family, in Maine, besides trips into Canada, Mexico and this past winter Florida.

Taking colored slides on these trips, besides those of the flowers they grow and the birds that frequent their garden and lawns has become a hobby they both enjoy.

The pictures of Mexico, displays of products of that country and favorable commentary while showing them, has done much to acquaint people of this area with life as it is there.

Their mutual interest in nature gives them much to enjoy both at home and while traveling.

While in Florida Mrs. M. gathered a fine collection of shells from the Gulf of Mexico and learned the names of each one, thus adding to her already extensive knowledge of mineralogy and botany.

Russell, previously mentioned, is Chief Quarter Man Welder at Portsmouth, New Hampshire Navy Yard where he has been employed since 1935.

He and his wife have two children, Mrs. Norman Barrett and Larry, a junior in high school.

They have another son, Sgt. Raymond McConnell, who is a detective with the State Police, living in Mason with his wife and young son, Steven.

Jack, the youngest son, was killed during World War II. His wife, Syble and son, Jack Edward, are living in Milan.

☆

HERE IS THE recipe for bread or rolls:

1 cup scalded milk
2 cups warm water
3 tbsps. shortening
1 cake compressed or dry yeast
1 cup sugar
3/4 tbsp. salt

Using a bowl large enough to raise batter dissolve yeast in warm water. Add shortening, sugar and salt to hot milk and when melted add to water and yeast.

Add 2 cups flour and beat until smooth. Add enough more flour to make a soft ball and knead until smooth in bowl.

Let raise until double in bulk, mould into rolls or loaves, brush with butter and bake.

For cinnamon rolls, roll thin and spread with butter, brown sugar and cinnamon. Form into a long roll and cut into sections about one inch thick and set cut side up, in pan. Brush with butter, let raise till light and bake about 375 degrees.

Chorus, Band Perform Before Packed House

BY DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

An outstanding performance was presented Friday evening by the Tecumseh high school band and chorus at the Union Hall before a capacity audience.

Following a few remarks of welcome by band director, Donald Johnson, the band played two opening numbers.

After the chorus sang three selections, under the direction of Leslie Bennett, the band presented a novelty number, "Little Bop Riding Hood" with Bill Fielder announcing.

"Around the Corner" by the chorus, accompanied by Marilyn Helzerman on her harp and Jim Lambes on guitar, was featured as well as their "Elijah Rock" in the next group of choral numbers.

A bass choir of cornets, baritone, bass, french horns and trombones played two numbers followed by the band playing, "Syncopated Clock."

Carl Bailey, accompanied by the harp and guitar, sang "Scarlet Ribbons."

☆

THE "10 LITTLE INDIANS" dance band, made up of regular band members, scored a real hit with three numbers.

The chorus presented a delightful number, "The King and I" featuring silhouette dancing and a pantomime by Mary Lou Perry. They were accompanied by Helen Miller at the piano, Marilyn on her harp and Jim on his guitar.

The rollicking rhythms of "Colorama" and "Oklahoma," played by the band, filled the hall, to the immense satisfaction of the audience.

The concluding number, "Nation's Creed," sung by the chorus and played by the band made a fitting finale.

Jerry Woodward was the announcer.

It is the opinion of this writer that Tecumseh may well be proud of the fine work done by the music department of the high school under the capable direction of these two hard-working directors, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Moore and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton F. Moore spent Sunday afternoon in Lansing with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bruder and family. The Bruders have a new baby boy named Paul Charles.

Mrs. Perry Cook entered the University Hospital in Ann Arbor Monday.

Children's Day Will Be Sunday

Children's Day will be observed Sunday in the Church School of the Methodist Church. This is one of a number of events marking National Family Week.

The program will be presented in the Sanctuary and members of the Children's Division of the Church School will participate.

Family Night on Thursday, May 8, will continue the observance of this special week.

VFW Post, Auxiliary Win Contest Mention

Tecumseh's VFW post and Auxiliary won an honorable mention in the recent 1958 Michigan community service contest.

Tecumseh competed in the division for posts and auxiliaries with up to 250 members. Harrison was the top winner in the section.

Ann Arbor won in the division over 450 members and Roseville in 250 to 450.

Care Keeps Cottons Looking Good

Spring and summer resin-treated cottons are getting prettier to look at and easier to care for every day.

Here are a few do's and don'ts to keep them that way, says Margaret Werner, retailing instructor at Michigan State University.

DO use a mild soap and warm water. DON'T soak the garments because it may soften the finish.

If no other washing instructions are given, DO use a shorter-than-usual cycle (about 5 minutes) and tumble or drip dry.

When you bleach, DO use a powder bleach. DON'T use chlorine bleaches unless the label says they're harmless. Chlorine absorbed by the resin treatment may weaken and discolor the fabric.

DO SQUEEZE water out gently in your hands. DON'T twist or wring; it tends to cause wrinkles and may injure the finish.

If ironing is necessary, DO use only a warm iron with light pressure. Resin-treated cottons absorb less moisture, so you don't need a hot iron.

Polished and embossed cottons need some extra care. Iron polished cottons with a subdued sheen on the right side—those with a high luster on the wrong side. Just freshen embossed cottons. Use very light pressure and iron over a towel, otherwise you will flatten the pattern.

DON'T starch resin-treated garments. It isn't necessary and may interfere with the finish until you wash it out.

Mr. Farmer, See Your Agent for Crop Help

Farmers who haven't been satisfied with their corn crops can get help on selecting the right hybrid for this year's planting from the county agricultural agent.

Agent Louis G. Hall points out that there are many hybrids from which to choose and sometimes it's difficult to pick the one that will do best on a particular farm.

The first step in selecting a hybrid is to know the limitations of the soil and climatic conditions on the farm. This informations is needed before the best hybrid can be selected.

One area of Michigan, including parts of north central and the north portion of south central Michigan including the eastern edge of the thumb, presents a lot of problems for farmers selecting a hybrid.

There is considerable variation in the climatic conditions and soil in this area of the state.

One hybrid that makes an excellent full season crop for this area is Michigan Certified Hybrid 350. Ears are attached to a short shank, the deep kernels on a small cob dry quickly in the field and ears give excellent shelling percentage.

Michigan Certified 350 is rated as a 90-day relative maturity corn. Farmers wanting an earlier corn might want to try Michigan Certified 250 or 160. If you can't settle on one hybrid, you may want to plant two and arrange them so the results can be compared.

Power Boats Don't Bother Fish Biting

ANN ARBOR — If you're one of those fishermen (and who isn't) who curses loudly above the roar each time a motor-powered boat passes nearby, Prof. Karl Lagler of The University of Michigan has news for you.

Professor Lagler, chairman of the U-M Department of Fisheries, writes in Popular Mechanics magazine that both his scientific research and personal experiences has convinced him that:

1) Motorboats seldom harm fish — large, small, or even eggs;

2) Motorboats, seldom, if ever, keep fish from spawning;

3) Motor noises do not appear to disturb fish;

4) And — most important to fisherman — the noise of nearby motors has not been shown to affect the rate at which fish bite.

An ardent angler in his own right, Lagler bases his conclusions on research in the field spanning 10 years sparked at the start by his own fishing experiences.

Are fish often injured by power-driven boats? Rarely, says Lagler, mainly because of their unusual ability to avoid collision with other objects. Observation of fish traveling in schools illustrates this point, he says.

For instance, he has seen channels loaded with boat traffic. If the boats harmed the fish, then the shores would be littered with dead fish most of the time, he theorizes. Such is not the case, however.

Minister's Widow, Mrs. Minnie Schwede Dies in Motor City

Funeral services were held in Detroit and the Immanuel Lutheran Church in Britton Wednesday for Mrs. Minnie Schwede, widow of the Rev. Frederick Schwede. She died after an illness of one month.

She had been living in Detroit for the past 13 years, but previous to that time she and her hnsband lived in Britton.

She is survived by two sons, Edgar of Detroit and Alfred of Tecumseh, and seven grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her husband November 23, 1947 and two sons.

Burial was in Lakeside cemetery.

Fall Hog Prices Will Stay High, Expert Predicts

Fall hog prices will stay high enough to make the farmer a profit providing consumer buying doesn't drop any more than is currently predicted, thinks John Ferris, farm economist at Michigan State Universities.

Prices will be down a little from last fall's level due to a little larger pig crop. But Ferris believes that the drop will be only slight because the increase in the pig crop is only modest considering the high hog-corn ratio of last year.

Total December-to-May pig crop is expected to be around 6 per cent larger than a year ago. Most of this increase was farrowed in the December-to-February period. In the more imuortyant March-to-May period, only 1 per cent more sows are expected to farrow.

Ferris continues that the shift to earlier farrowing should help even out the great variation in rate of slaughter from summer to fall.

Ten years ago, about 22 per cent of the pigs farrowed in the December-to-May period came in the first three months of that period. Last year, however 29 per cent were farrowed between December and February and 32 per cent arrived in the winter months this year.

The farm economist expects the peak in slaughter this fall a little earlier than usual. The peak has been in December, but in 1956, it was in November and last year it was in October.

About 13 per cent more sows and gilts are expected to farrow this summer. There's no immediate threat to the slaughter market price level. But Ferris warns that if this increase continues into the fall and spring farrowing seasons over production problems can probably be expected in 1959.

If farmers would restrain themselves as they did this year, the economist concluds, hogs could make money for them next year, especially if corn prices hold to levels of this last year.

Principal Attends Session on Planning

Neville L. Hart, Tecumseh high school principal, attended a conference on the Michigan High School Planning for the Future Thursday evening, Friday and Saturday of this week at the University of Michigan.

Six hundred representatives from every segment of the secondary school program and from every phase of teacher education in the state have been invited to participate.

This will be a working type conference with approximately 75% of the time devoted to small working groups — each group discussing the aims and purposes of secondary education, methods of organizing secondary schools, financing of schools, and proposed curricular changes in the secondary program.

Newest Sports Group Is Devoted to Tennis

At a meeting in the offices of Doctors Bob Laidlaw and Bob Murray last Thursday, the Tecumseh Tennis Club was organized.

Its main purpose is to stimulate interest in tennis.

Dr. Muray was elected president and H. Lee Prettyman, secretary-treasurer.

After deciding on the name, Tecumseh Tennis Club, discussion followed concerning ways and means of increasing participation in tennis by both young and old.

Charter members in attendance were Robert G. Anderson, Jack Curtiss, Gene E. Mackey, Ira Montague, Robert J. Murray, H. Lee Prettyman, Warren Puffer and Perry Satterthwaite.

Other charter members are J. C. Beardsley, J. D. Cook, Carl Fosbender, Dwight Helms, Maynard Lucas and Ray White.

Eight of this group were on the courts for an hour's workout early Friday morning.

"We invite anyone interested to join our club by contacting any of the members—but join or not, let's all get out and enjoy tennis, one of the greatest of sports," says Dr. Murray.

THE HIGH SCHOOL BAND has been extremely active this past week.

Last Tuesday they played in uniform at St. Elizabeth's school.

On Wednesday morning, there was assembly consisting of the cheerleaders' election and a concert by the band and the chorus.

Among the numbers played were: "University", Colorama", "Oklahoma"; and "High Tower." The chorus performed separately.

Friday bandsmen performed in the "Spring Rhapsody."

☆

CHEERLEADERS ELECTED were Mary Colgrove, Jeanie Hohenstein, Kendra Ringman, Carol Spangler, Donna Nixon, Suzie Rohweder and Susie Owen, substitute.

☆

THE STUDENT COUNCIL met Thursday.

Doris Oliphant was presented with a gift certificate for being the hardest working non-officer student council member.

The council discussed its spring picnic, but there has been no date set.

The Junior High May Dance, May 9, is being sponsored by the council.

☆

THIS WEEK, FRIDAY CLASS meeting of the tenth and eleventh grades will be held to nominate the class candidate for Student Council president.

Monday there will be an assembly where the nominating and acceptance speeches will be given.

On Thursday, after several days of campaigning, the all-school elections will be held.

The losing candidate will be a council member-at-large, so the council will not lose valuable services.

☆

MONDAY MORNING, DURING first hour, all the high school students gathered in the gym to hear Stephen Haboush speak on his experiences as a shepherd on the Sea of Galilee when he was a young man.

Dressed in native costume, he and his wife, Leah, showed many beautiful examples of embroidery and handicraft from his homeland.

☆

ALL EIGHTH GRADERS WHO hope to take Algebra as freshmen next year took the Algebra Prognostic test Monday morning immediately after the assembly.

The Language Prognostic Test will be given on May 5.

Tuesday, the juniors took the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

This is a three-hour examination covering most of what they have learned during the past years in high school. If they receive a high score, it is possible for them to receive tuition, etc., for four full years of college.

☆

THE TEEN CLUB LEGISLATURE met last Wednesday after school.

☆

HAL BRODERICK'S ORCHESTRA played a benefit dance at the Teen Club Friday night. There was a good crowd.

Through My Window

THEY'RE STILL COMING

It's for sure now, spring is here in all her glory—isn't it wonderful. The weather is getting better, the days are getting longer and longer, the signs of spring are everywhere.

Now that the first of May is here we can begin to look for the wild flowers which the proverbial April showers will bring and there are still many summer birds who have not as yet made their appearance.

May is the last big month of the spring migration and as would be expected, it will be a busy, busy time.

Again, as with the listing of the March and April returnees, our source of information is the bird list published by Cranbrook Institute. Please remember that the dates are approximate and that the list pertains to southeastern Michigan.

☆

SOME OF THE birds scheduled to arrive this month and who will be with us all summer are: Eastern kingbird, the first of May; black-crowned night heron, veery and rose-breasted grosbeak, the second; crested flycatcher and least flycatcher, the third, oven-bird, the fourth; whip-poor-will and scarlet tanager, the eighth; Eastern pewee, the tenth; ruby-throated humming bird and orchard oriole, the eleventh; ruby-throated humming bird and orchard oriole, the eleventh; indigo bunting, the twelfth; the hawk, the fourteenth.

Recognize some favorites?

The Eastern kingbird, about 8½ inches long, is most often found chasing insects near water or low swampy places and is recognized quickest by his black tail with its white trimmed band.

Although listed as a summer resident, we have been privileged to have the rose-breasted grosbeak visit us for only a few days.

As this striking black-and-white bird, with the scarlet red breast spot, flits through the trees, with their tiny new green leaves, he is breathtakingly beautiful. Wish we could show him the chart that says he stays around all summer long and convince him to nest nearby.

MORE OFTEN heard than seen, the whip-poor-will's distinctive three syllable whistle is known to all and always invokes pleasant memories.

The spring plummage of the scarlet tanager is among the most spectacular in all bird-dom. Before the leaves are full size and hide his movements, the tanager is often seen high in tree tops, searching for the leaf-eating insects which are the mainstay of his diet.

Another bird who gains full glory only in the springtime is the indigo bunting. A mere 5½ inches long, the male is an all over blue, which, when seen in full sunlight is startling intense.

Fond of old pastures and woodland clearings, we only occasionally see the indigo bunting along the creek bank — I'm afraid we're becoming too civilized for him.

Finally, although it's by no means the last of the familiar birds, we have the ruby-throated humming bird. This tiny helicopter patrols the gardens, ever searching for and probing into bright, nectar filled flowers.

☆

THERE ARE many warblers and vireos who will also arrive this month. Some will be enroute, but others will spend the season with us.

For the real enthusiast who has time and opportunity to carefully look and observe, the list of warbler arrivals would include the black-throated green warbler, May second; Nashville warbler and black-burnian warbler, the sixth; black-throated blue warbler and Kentucky warbler, the eighth; blue-winged warbler and magnolia warbler, the ninth; prothonotary warbler, golden-winged warbler, Tennessee warbler, northern parula warbler, and the Cape May warbler the eleventh; cerulean warbler and prairie warbler, the twelfth.

Kirtland's warbler, whose long secret summer home on the Au Sable river was discovered by Norman A. Wood, arrives the fourteenth; bay-breasted warbler and Canada warbler, the fifteenth; Wilson's warbler, the seventeenth; mourning warbler the eighteenth; black-poll warbler, the nineteenth and the Connecticut warbler, the twenty-fourth.

Although fewer in number, the vireos, like the warblers, are busy migrating this month. May fourth should bring back the Eastern warbling vireo; the yellow-throated vireo returns on the fifth; blue-headed vireo, the seventh; red-eyed vireo, the tenth and the Philadelphia vireo, the eighteenth.

☆

AS MENTIONED before, many of the above warblers and vireos are transitory birds, seen here only as they pause for a short break in their intinctive northward flights.

Other migrants are: semi-palmated sandpiper and the common tern, May first; semi-palmated plover, the fourth; olive-backed thrush, the eighth; grey cheeked thrush, the ninth; olive-sided flycatcher, the sixteenth and his close cousin, the yellow-bellied flycatcher, the eighteenth.

By the last of May most of the migration, over our part of the country as least, is finished. It's a great thrill as one by one we welcome our friends and any day which brings us a glimpse o fa new bird is a lucky one indeed.

Happy looking.

Look Before Leaping on Summer Vacation

Try your vacation on for size, says Robert J. Furlong, Michigan's tourist chief. "Don't buy your summer fun sight unseen."

For the 11 years he has been executive secretary of the State of Michigan Tourist Council Bob Furlong has been conducting a one-man Look-Before-You-Book campaign.

"We're making some progress," he says, "but there still are thousands of vacationers who contract for summer accommodations without bothering to look them over.

"I have a friend," he says, "who would go to the window and check if I told him it was raining outside. But he'll rent a summer cottage by telephone without even having directions for finding the place. And all on the say-so of a neighbor whose second cousin by marriage was there in '39 'and liked it fine.'

"Then, of course, he finds he is cramped for space (neighbor's second cousin didn't have four children), the fishing doesn't suit him, the kids don't like the beach and his wife objects to cooking oven an open fire.

"And whose fault is it? He calls me and complains about the poor facilities of Michigan and demands that the Tourist Council do something about it. My reminder that one man's milk toast is another man's heartburn falls on deaf and angry ears."

☆

THIS IS THE perfect season of the year to do your summer recreation shopping, the tourist expert says, and he has the procedure broken down into four steps involving only a three cent stamp and a quiet weekend.

First thing to decide is what part of Michigan you want to visit and what facilities you require.

Second, write the Tourist Council, Lansing 26, Michigan, for more information, stipulating, of course, what part of the state you are interested in.

The Council will send along general information and then forward your name and address to the regional tourist association (There are four in Michigan) in which the area of your vacation choice is located. This organization will ship specific information on resorts and accommodations available.

Third item—and most important—armed with this information, go shopping. Visit the vacation spot you have selected, look over several resorts, perhaps, make your selection and close the deal.

The good resort operator will welcome your interest. He is anxious to have you satisfied and if you stay with him after inspecting the premises he's sure you'll be happy.

But don't delay too long. Remember, there are 10 million vacation hungry persons looking at Michigan's water wonderland right now with longing eyes.

REALTY VIEWS

"Looks like I should be able to buy a home at last," said a young man, Gary Stormer. "I've wanted to before but didn't have the down payment. However, the new F. H. A. terms make it a cinch."

"Yes," I replied, "we can offer you, or any qualified buyer, a nice selection of good homes with low down payments."

"I'm anxious," Gary said. "I've observed several of my friends who have bought homes in the past. They tell me that buying a place is an easy way to save money, since you automatically save a portion of your payment every month."

"It's the easiest money you'll ever make in your life," I replied, "because the payments are usually no more than you'd pay for rent."

"I know," Gary said. "And building up an equity in a small home makes it possible to have the funds at hand to swing a bigger home later."

I grinned and said, "Say, who's giving this sales talk"

Gary laughed, "I'm sold. Let's find a house."

Naturally, we did.

May we show you our choice selection of good homes—available NOW on easy down payments?

VOL. 107 — ONE HUNDRED EIGHTH YEAR — NUMBER 31 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, MAY 8, 1958 | 18 PAGES — TEN CENTS A COPY

Queen Will Be Crowned on Friday

One of the high points in the current Tecumseh "You Auto Buy Days" comes Friday evening when the queen is crowned.

The coronation will take place between 7 and 7:30 p.m. at the intersection of Chicago and Evans—the Four Corners of business row.

Radio Station WABJ, with announcer Steve Trent at the mike, will air the entire 30-minute proceedings.

Along with the queen crowning will be the radio debut of the "10 Little Indians" dance band, which has lent its full support to the "You Auto Buy Days" promotion.

The group performed last weekend from a flatbed truck, originally was scheduled to patrol Chicago, but because of a drizzling rain, had to play under cover.

"Auto Buy Days" got off to a rousing start last week with a gala parade. Merchants up and down business row, who had bargains galore, reported brisk buying over the Friday and Saturday period.

"Buy Days" wind up officially with closing hours Saturday evening—will probably go down as one of the biggest shopping binges seen in Tecumseh in some years.

Voting for queen, with ballots obtained in "You Auto Buy" business places, will continue until noon Friday. All ballots must be delivered to The Herald by that time in order to be included.

TECUMSEH HERALD PHOTO

WHICH ONE? — Who, of this lovely quartet, will be chosen queen of Tecumseh "You Auto Buy Days"? The answer will be revealed Friday evening, between 7 and 7:30, at a special program from the Four Corners of the business section. Contestants, photographed after last week's parade, are from left, Joyce Partridge, Donna Roe, Meredith Munger and Doris Oliphant. You still have an opportunity to vote. Ask for a ballot from "You Auto Buy" merchants.

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

YOU AMONG THE LOVERS of sport may have noted in recent weeks the terrific, detailed coverage of local athletic events.

One man gets the credit for that — Glenn Williams, our "sports editor without portfolio" who volunteered to cover various games and events a few weeks back.

And Glenn has been doing a bang-up job.

It's unlikely we could ever hope to get all the minute details, as Glenn does, simply because they're still only putting 24 hours in a day.

That's the way it is with much of the news-gathering in a weekly operation — too many things happening, too few to get on-the-spot details.

Help from club secretaries, coaches and other volunteers is invaluable to the production of this newspaper and thousands of other weeklies like it all across America.

Right here and now we'd like to pay tribute to those folks.

We can say without being trite, this is your newspaper. Certainly many of you help to produce it from week to week.

☆

"YOU AUTO BUY DAYS" continue through Saturday and if next weekend is like the last, we'll be mighty happy.

Despite chilly and rainy weather part of the time, things went exceptionally well.

Here are a few spot reports:

Butler Motor Sales sold five new cars, a truck and got underway two more new-car deals.

Ned Rosacrans of the Rosacrans Store: "A swell Saturday!"

Dick Eggleston of Eggleston Jewelry: "Best Friday and Saturday we've had this year."

Ned Baldwin of Baldwin's Hardware: "This is one of the best things we have done in a long time."

Ralph Hodges of Hodges Drug Store: "We should do this at least once a month."

Don Smith of Don's Grill. "Our fish and steak 'You Auto Buy' specials have surpassed expectations and will continue through Saturday."

Harold Easton of Easton's Friendly Service: "I'm entirely in favor of 'You Auto Buy Days'. They created a lot of downtown traffic, gave people an opportunity to view cars at their leisure. I was completely happy with the results."

Harold Green of Green's Clothing, "A good idea. Went off very successfully."

Mike Hite of Hite's Hardware — "A great success."

EVERY BOY AND GIRL WHO owns a bicycle, every person who drives a car should look at the display in the window of Hite's Hardware.

It has to be seen to get the full impact.

Mr. Church estimates that the work will take about two weeks and he is in the process of making arrangements to serve his customers during the construction period.

New A&P Market Will Be Ready This Summer

Construction on A & P's new food store is proceeding on schedule and is expected to be ready for occupancy by early summer, it was announced by Vice-President R. R. Betz of the Toledo Unit, which operates company stores in parts of Michigan, Indiana and Ohio.

The foundation and walls, roof and plumbing are virtually complete, and parking facilities for some 135 cars is now under construction.

The new store, located at Evans and Brown, is designed as a one-stop food shopping center and will offer Tecumseh area consumers an opportunity to purchase all their food needs in one place.

One of the major features of the new store is the new-type self-service meat department with refrigerated production line for the preparation of meat items.

The exterior of the building will be buff brick with a modern tower sign mounted on the roof. The interior will have such modern features as tile floors, fluorescent lighting and color-keyed departments.

The new building has been engineered for quick, convenient shopping. A speedy checkout system is included in the overall plan to provide the maximum in convenient and shopping comfort.

Dads Must Help in 13-to-16 Age Baseball League

Boys between 13 and 16 are being organized into a baseball league and so far 80 have signed up.

An important meeting for players is slated for Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the new city hall, reports Vic Lawson.

All young men interested in taking part should attend. They must be accompanied by their fathers.

With a heavy schedule for the summer, Mr. Lawson emphasizes that there will have to be adult help to make this circuit possible.

This will be regulation baseball. Four sponsors are sought.

MANAGER LOOKS — Alton Snyder, manager of Tecumseh's A&P outlet, takes a look Tuesday at progress of the grocery firm's new super market at N. Evans and Herrick Park drive. The huge A&P signs and parking lot lights are already up, the area is now being graded. According to the schedule, the store will be open this summer.

Beautiful Weather Heralds 'Buy Days'

Beautiful weather heralded the beginning of the "You Auto Buy Days" in Tecumseh. The Tecumseh high school band led the parade of shiny new cars supplied by local auto dealers.

The colorfully attired band in orange and black uniforms followed the color guard.

Behind the band in bright convertibles, came the Queen candidates dressed in pastel formals.

The freshman candidate, Meredith Munger, dressed in green, rode in a yellow Ford convertible.

Doris Oliphant, the sophomore, was dressed in pink and also rode in a Ford.

A brilliant red Chevrolet carried Donna Roe, dressed in blue.

Joyce Partridge, the senior in pink, was in a beige Plymouth.

☆

BALLOTS FOR QUEEN can be deposited at The Herald until May 8. The girl chosen Queen will be presented with a $50 savings bond and will be crowned during a parade downtown Saturday afternoon.

Following the candidates were all the new cars from local auto dealers.

The dealers participating in the parade were Tecumseh Equipment, Fisher Pontiac, Keith Bailey Oldsmobile, Butler Motor Sales, Schneider Bros. Garage and Wilson Motor Sales.

Driving the 1958 models were teen-agers from the high school. Scattered in among the standard models were a Vauxhall and an Opel. There was a Corvette and a 1928 Buick supplied by Schneider Bros.

☆

THE FARM IMPLEMENT companies also had some of their wares displayed. Participating were Partridge Implement, Tecumseh Equipment and Hoyt Whelan.

There were trucks from Rumpf Trucking, Des Ermia's Furniture Store, Helm's, Partridge Implement, Easton's Mobil, Morley's Gulf, Beach's Fleetwing, and Keith and Don's Fleetwing retail.

Gloria Dei Church to Be Dedicated Sunday Afternoon

Tecumseh's newest church, the Glori Dei Lutheran, will hold dedication services Sunday afternoon at 3, Rev. Robert Bergman, pastor, announces.

The church has remodeled and redecorated the old Brownville school for its services with the sanctuary seating 130 people.

Dr. Frank Madsen, president of the Michigan Synod, will be the dedication speaker and Rev. Bergman will officiate at the service.

Open house will be held at the church and parish house after the service.

Church officials started negotiations with the Tecumseh school last fall for the building and took over the building about the middle of March.

Tractor Operators Contest Will Be Held on Area Farm

The "golf ball" layout is this year's feature of the County 4-H Tractor Operators Contest.

The event is scheduled for Saturday on the C. M. Brown farm, two miles east of Tecumseh on M-50 and 1/8 mile north on Henderson road.

The operators' contest gets under way at 9:30 a.m. with the plowing contest to follow.

Fred Long, Tractor Project chairman, and John Comstock, County 4-H Extension Agent, have planned the event to include members of the three tractor clubs.

Operating skill, mechanical and written knowledge of the tractor will be judged.

The public is invited to see the abilities of these boys. A lunch will be available on the grounds by parents and members of the Macon Rangers.

MEETING CANCELLED

In view of the conventions to be held this month the regular meeting of the WCTU has been cancelled.

Cooperation Necessary for School Census

If a woman with a big green book knocks on your door, she's not selling anything, she is the school census taker.

Mrs. Don Brazee and Mrs. Vic Lawson are touring the city, book and pencil in hand, performing the task of taking the general school census.

The census started May 1 and will continue throughout the month.

Mrs. Brazee and Mrs. Lawson must find out the number of children in each family, under the age of 19-years.

If a family is not at home when the ladies call or if no one answers the door, their job is to keep returning until they can complete the census taking.

The cooperation of the families is requested to help in expediting this vital project.

'Quite a Town' Says Guest Mayor Here

"You've got quite a town," visiting mayor, Edgar Kesterke of Berrien Spring exclaimed Monday.

He and Mrs. Kesterke spent the day in Tecumseh, while this city's chief executive and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Oley Hanna, were in Berrien Spring during Michigan Week's annual Mayor Exchange Day.

The guest went on, "I was particularly impressed with the great amount of construction work in the subdivisions.

"This town has not really felt the recession," he opinioned.

Mayor Kesterke went on to heap praise on Tecumseh for its assets — the hospital, Tecumseh Products, Quaker Oats, schools, athletic fields, country club, swimming pool.

"This city, for its size, has much more than many larger ones," the Berrien Springs mayor added.

Mr. and Mrs. Kesterke had a tightly-packed agenda from the moment they arrived Monday morning until they left late that evening.

The guest mayor attended the regular council meeting and during it, mused, "Same problems here that our community has."

Worth $250,000

New automobiles will again be parked along the sidewalks of Chicago boulevard in business row Friday and Saturday, the final two 'You Auto Buy Days" in Tecumseh. Last week, the presence of the cars added a carnival touch to the festivities and helped sell a number of autos. It's interesting to note that Tecumseh's dealers currently have nearly one-quarter of a million dollars worth of new cars on hand.

Diane Handy Wins 2nd Place in USA Essay Contest

Diane Handy, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clare E. Handy of 4391 Comfort road, won second prize in the 1958 National Essay contest of the American Federation of Mineralogical Societies.

She received a $25 savings bond for her essay entitled, "Why Should I Be a Member of a Mineral and/or Gem Society."

Diane is a student in the fifth grade at the Central School taught by Thelma Younglove of Britton.

Safety Check for Vehicles May 23 and 24

Annual motor vehicle Safety Check for Tecumseh motorists will be held May 23 and 24, along Pearl street, just south of Chicago boulevard.

Hugh Walters is general chairman of the public service event, jointly sponsored by the Jaycees, Rotary, Exchange and Kiwanis.

Representatives of the various groups are mapping arrangements, have met twice at Butler Motor Sales, explains Carlos Jones, who is in charge of publicity.

A vehicle Safety Check gives motorists an excellent opportunity to be sure their cars are in safe driving condition before the peak vacation an dsummer travel season.

The new "circle of Safety" theme also reminds drivers of their individual responsibility to check their own driving to check accidents.

This annual Safety Check program fills an important traffic safety need. It creates an awareness of the importance of having vehicles checked regularly and maintained in safe driving condition.

Nearly 48 million, or two out of three vehicles in the nation, operate with no official check of their safe driving condition.

More than 2½ million vehicles were voluntarily safety-checked last year and one out of every five needed immediate service attention to one or more items affecting safe driving condition.

Single Ring Rite Unites Mr. and Mrs. Fred Penrod

Tecumseh Friends Church was the scene of the wedding Friday of Ruth Arlene Meads, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Meads, and Gerald E. Penrod, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Penrod, all of Tecumseh.

Rev. Edward Escolme, assisted by the Rev. Paul Brantingham, performed the single-ring ceremony before an altar banked with palms, centered by a bridal wreath of white snap dragons, flanked by cathedral candelabra.

Mrs. Amos Wilson, church organist, played a prelude of nuptial music as the guests were seated, ending with the traditional Wedding March as the bride approached the altar on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage.

Sharron Muhn sang, "I Love You Truly," just preceding the ceremony.

☆

THE BRIDE'S floor-length gown of embroidered batiste, fashioned with a square neckline and three-quarter length sleeves is a family heirloom. It was worn first by her grandmother, Mrs. G. A. Abner, in 1913 and again by her mother in 1937.

Her finger-tip veil of double illusion was fastened to a crown of white rose buds and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and pink rosettes.

Serving as maid of honor was Gerry Hirsch, wearing a ballerina length gown of blue lace and carrying a colonial bouquet of pink carnations and pink rosettes.

Georgia Meads, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid in a gown of white nylon over blue and carrying a colonial bouquet of pink carnations and white daisies.

Ashley Chase served as best man. The guests were seated by Richard Meads, brother of the bride, and Nicky Penrod, brother of the groom.

☆

MRS. EDWARD ESCOLME was hostess for the reception, in the church basement, which was held immediately following the ceremony.

The pink-covered refreshment table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom and flanked with crystal candle holders.

The cake, a gift of Mrs. Clarence Randolph, aunt of the bride, was surrounded by a wreath of greens and pink carnations. Mrs. Randolph baked and decorated the cake.

Lois Brugger was in charge of the guest book. Karen Penrod assisted with the gifts, Mrs. Randolph served the cake, while Mrs. Charles Sinkey and Mrs. Ronald Goodacre were at the silver service.

Others assisting were Vonnie Penrod, Mrs. Melvin Muhn, Mrs. John Kelly, Mrs. Marvin Johnson and Mrs. Walter Wiemer.

☆

MRS. MEADS chose a dress of pink with white accessories for her daughter's wedding, while Mrs. Penrod wore navy with white accessories. Both mothers wore carnation corsages.

For their wedding trip through southern Ohio, the bride wore a green nylon sheath with white accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

The bride is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and attended the Stautzenberger Secretarial School in Toledo.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor-length gown of Chiffili embroidered tulle with a beaded lace flower applique on a sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves.

She wore a finger-tip veil of French illusion fastened to a tiara of sequins and pearls with a diamond shape of rhinestones in the center.

She carried a white lace covered Bible with an arrangement of White Bouquet rosettes with tiny ivy leaves interspersed with the flowers to form a cascade effect. She wore a gold cross, the gift of the groom.

A DAY WITH DORA
BY LINDA DEAN

Being born and raised on a farm which has been given over to the breeding of Jersey Cattle, farm operations and dairy cattle have been a daily topic of discussion ever since I can remember. Since I am the third oldest in a family of five children, and with two older brothers, I have never had to take part, in any of the farm chores, but I have become interested in dairy cattle because of my father's and brothers' interest.

The breeding of purebred Jersey Cattle is a business that takes time and years of experience to reach it's goal, which is to develop a breed that will win national recognition from the standpoint of correct type and high milk producing ability. This is every dairy farmer's ambition to increase resale value of his cattle, or to develop in a herd even one individual which will become a national champion in the show ring.

Out of some five thousand Jersey Cattle shown throughout the United States each year, only one is picked from the entire group for National Grand Champion.

Because my brother, Jim, is a 4-H member, he has owned Jersey Cattle since he was ten years old. He was fortunate enough to have a cow, by the name of Masteraim Sleeper Dora, develope into a pleasing individual and become a candidate for the great Jersey show. This kind of an animal being in great demand by Jersey breeders through-out the world. Therefore, my brother had a choice of either selling Dora or preparing her for the National Jersey Cattle Show in Chicago, and showing her there himself.

He wanted to go to college that fall and because he needed the money, and because it would take so much time to get Dora ready for the National Show, he felt it was wiser to sell her.

Having arrived at this decision, he consigned her to the Folck Classic sale which was to be held in Springfield, Ohio in about six weeks. No one except a person who has had the experience, knows the hard work and care that goes into conditioning an animal for a show as great as this one. The animal has to be halter broken, taught not to be afraid of crowds, and trained to be led in a showing. Horns and hooves have to be trimmed and polished, coats are groomed and brushed to perfection. Halters, blankets, brushes, and all equipment and livery have to be immaculately cleaned. Because of all this it sometimes takes a period of two months to get an animal ready to be shown.

At first, only my father and brother were planning to make this trip to Springfield. But when the time came, my brother was taking final exams at college and was unable to make the trip. So Mother and Dad decided that it would make an ideal family vacation.

Dad had made reservations and we were to stay at the Shawnee Hotel at Springfield. This was a thrill for we kids, since it was our first stay at a hotel.

The afternoon that we arrived, we went out to where the sale was being held to see Dora. We had a lot of compliments on our cow, and everyone wished us luck.

Because the Folck sale was so important, Jersey breeders and buyers were there from all over the United States, Canada, parts of Europe, the Island of Jersey, and Cuba.

Every animal was in excellent condition. Each there was the best in her class or herd. It is hard to explain the great thrill and pride that one feels at seeing these truly beautiful animals. People who know and love fine Jersey cattle could really appreciate the splendid selection of animals assembled for that memorable day.

At last the sale was started, and one by one the cattle were sold, until only a few were ahead of Dora. So far, the top-selling animal was a cow considered one of the best, which sold for $6,500. We began to wonder if Dora would be able to top this figure.

Finally they led Dora into the sale ring. When a person has worked and cared for an animal, only then can he feel that great sense of pride upon seeing her displayed.

The bidding on Dora started. As bids grew higher, tension mounted. One by one, bidders dropped out, until only two were left. The bidding went on, back and forth, as prices rose, until finally a climax was reached. The last competing bidder dropped out, after almost twenty minutes of steady bidding and Dora was finally sold for $7,000, which topped the sale.

Then with Dora and her new owner, my family and I had our pictures taken in the sale ring. This was later printed in Jersey and farm magazines.

Dora's new owner is Gustave Schirmer, a very wealthy man who is a publisher of sheet music and of many of America's popular records. He owns Harmony Farms a Jersey Cattle farm in Old Lyme, Connecticut where Dora is now kept.

Several months after my brother had sold her, Dora went on to win the National Jersey Cattle Show in Chicago, Illinois. Although we no longer owned our beautiful Dora, the experience that we had in raising her, and the pride we felt in showing her made my trip to Springfield one I shall never forget.

Reservations are being held for the troop, but will be opened to the Explorer Post the second week in July. Boys interested are asked to get the registration fee of $5.50 to Mr. Wilson at once.

NICE GOING — So says Jim Butler, district manager of Chrysler Corp. to Mrs. Helen French of Wilson Motor Sales, who holds an award the company presented her with for accounting proficiency.

Mrs. Robert French Cited by Chrysler for Her Proficiency

Mrs. Robert French, accountant for Wilson Motor Sales, Inc. was honored for accounting proficiency by Chrysler Motors Corporation.

Put Storage Items Near Place of Use

If the "cleaning bug" gets you started working on storage closets this spring, it may be a good idea to do some rearranging.

Take this from Eunice Pardee, home management specialist at Michigan State Univehsity.

When you "houseclean" closets or storage areas, sort and store things according to their use.

Items that are used often—nearly every day— should be stored where they're easy to reach, points out Mrs. Pardee.

And be sure to put them near the place where they are first used. For instance, bathroom cleaning supplies should be stored in or very near the bathroom.

☆

THINGS THAT are used occasionally or just seasonable may be stored in less convenient places. It may even take stretching, stooping or climbing to get them depending on how often you use them.

Take a good look at items—the ones that you seldom or never use. It's a good idea to sort them over—maybe some should be thrown away, suggests Mrs. Pardee.

Some of the ones you decide to keep may be moved to an attic or the basement to make room for more necessary things in closets or storage units.

When you rearrange your storage put things that you use often where they are "easy to reach, and easy to grasp."

Contact Postmaster When in Doubt

The variety of items that people send — or try to send — through the mails is amazing, says postmaster Jack Metcalf.

Certain types of letters and packages are in violation of law and subject to penalties of up to $5,000 in fines and five years imprisonment, or both.

One of the better known nonmailable items is chain letters. Others are lottery advertising and lottery tickets, sweepstakes tickets, obscene matter, articles relating to birth prevention, liquor, firearms, explosives, matches, caustic acids, treasonable statements, poisons and poisonous reptiles.

In general, any articles, compositions, or materials which may kill or injure another, or injure the mails or other property are non-mailable.

Primary purpose of the law is to protect the mails against damage, to protect those who handle them against personal harm, and to protect the public against fraud.

The burden rests with the mailer to insure that he has complied with the law. So if you are in doubt contact Postmaster Metcalf.

Phone Company Seeks Changes

General Telephone Co. of Michigan is seeking adjustments in several non-recurring services — some increases, some decreases.

On a new installation, the rural business charge would go up from $6 to $7.

In rural home installation, from $5 to $6.

Both city business ($5) and city home ($4) installations would be the same. Changing a business hookup billing when now owners take over, would increase from $2.50 to $3.

Moving a phone from one location to another in a rural business establishment would go down, from $4.50 to $4. The same service for a rural residence would also drop, from $4.50 to 4.

The company wants a "change-instrument" decrease, in rural areas, from $4 to $3.50.

The proposed revamping of this rate structure must be approved by the Public Service Commission.

KICKING OFF THE STUDENT Council election campaigning was the sophomore class meeting held Thursday in the cafeteria.

The class nominated Doris Oliphant as their candidate for council president to succeed outgoing John Elliott.

Chosen to give the nominating and seconding speeches were the sophomore debate team members, Marilou Layton and Roger Mead. The class of '60 was lucky as it had Thursday and Friday to plan their campaign before the speeches on Monday.

The juniors nominated Dave Champanois, with junior debate team members giving the nominating speeches. Astride Freimanis and Greg Mason were chosen at the class meeting Friday.

Monday morning, during third hour, the Student Council nominating speeches for president were given. The present juniors, sophomores, freshmen and eighth graders were there.

After the closing speech, John Elliott thanked the student body for its cooperation during the past year.

All during this week signs appeared urging the students to vote for either Doris or Dave. This leads up to the election May 8 in the study halls on Thursday.

LEO REPORTS

By LEO BISHOP

As a golf professional and greens superintendent, I get both views on the use of electric golf carts at country clubs.

There are pros and cons on the issue of cart useage and everyone certinly has his own ideas, but there are two points we cannot overlook as to why the carts are here to stay.

In the past, while the boys were in school, it was impossible to get a caddy to take care of the membership that wanted caddies.

But the most important reason, which I'm sure every golfer will agree, is that in the past those golfers who could not have had the pleasure of playing golf are enabled to.

I mean those physically handicapped that could not walk even one hole and are now enjoying golf whether it is 9, 18 or 36 holes in one day.

And these golfers should have every chance to play and enjoy their favorite sport. As a golf pro, I'm very pleased to see the carts put to such good use.

☆

ON THE OTHER hand, many people have stated that carts will ruin a golf course.

Speaking as a greens' superintendent, I should say that if the carts are taken care of and if the user is careful, I cannot see where they will hurt the course.

Then, there is the oft mentioned fact that golf is played for exercise. Yes, if you are in good shape or young enough for four or five miles of walking over hill and dale not to mention all the swinging in between.

As a golf pro, it is my concern that the youth of our community is greatly affected by the use of golf carts, since the carts are slowly, but surely replacing our caddies.

As everyone knows, our finest golfers come from the caddy ranks. Nevertheless, the boys are losing out on a place to get the training to play and work with boys their own age.

Caddying helps build their character in sportsmanship as well as helping them earn money while they train.

It is of great importance to parents, the community and the country club that we here at the club share a small part in helping our youngsters stay "in the middle of the road."

Regardless of what has been said at this club or the many thousands throughout the nation the carts are here to stay.

'Bouquet of Melodies' Will Feature Three Singing Groups May 18

"Bouquet of Melodies," a musical recital program featuring performers from this community, will be presented at the Tecumseh Methodist Church Sunday, May 18, at 3:30 p.m.

"A variety of musical performance will offer every listener, music to his liking," said Leslie Bennett, director.

Three local choruses will appear, singing music of many different styles. They are the high school chorus, which is sponsoring the event, the Music Club chorus, accompanied by violins and the St. Elizabeth Church chorus.

Other vocal offerings will be solos and duets. Many instruments will be featured including trumpets, guitars, the accordion, harp, piano and pipe organ.

A free-will offering will be taken to be used for a "robe fund" for the high school chorus.

Trackmen Collect Eight First Places

By GLENN COLLINGSWORTH

In a dual meet held here April 28, the Tecumseh Indian thinclads remained undefeated in league competition as they swept to an easy 64⅔ to 44⅓ win over the Hillsdale Hornets.

Tecumseh captured eight first places, five second places, a tie for second and seven third places in piling up its total.

There were no double winners in the meet, but Gary Hanna of Tecumseh came the closest of anyone, missing by about two inches. Hanna won the 220-yard dash and finished about two inches behind Hillsdale's John Moyer in the 100.

He also ran the anchor leg of the 880-yard relay and this time won by inches as he staved of a terrific last ditch attempt by Hillsdale anchor man Larry Lentz to give Tecumseh the race.

The medley relay event was close and this time it was Bob Long, anchor man, who turned the trick. Long was about five yards behind when he started his run and then passed the Hillsdale man in the stretch to win by about two yards.

Other Tecumseh winners were Jerry Kruse in the mile run; Mike Walters, broad jump; Ray Miller, high jump; Jerry Fox, pole vault; and Darrel Lowery, shot put.

Shot put—Won by Lowery (T); Spahr (H); Broesamle (H). 39'1¾".

Youngsters Speak at Kiwanis Session

Julia Boyce and Alfred Dick, high school seniors, and Nancy Beland, junior high school pupil, were speakers at the Kiwanis Club last week.

The seniors told of their experiences through high school and Nancy spoke on "Looking Forward To High School." The meeting concluded a three-week program by John Pobude in which he lectured to his fellow kiwanians about the objectives of the American Educational system of today.

Mrs. Edna Staulter, musician for the club, was presented with a gift when she left. The presentation was made by Carl Lamb.

Out-of-town guests were Charley Hadley of Fontana, Calif., and Lawrence Hickey of Detroit. Five members of the Kiwanis Club attended the 21st annual International meeting observing "Good Will Week" between the United States and Canada.

The meeting was held at the Elmwood Cassino in Windsor, Ontario, and those attending were Fred Hadley, Richard Meyers, Gene Tuckey, Harold Kopke and David Ousterhout.

Three new members and a transfer have been added to the roll, while the "Tween" for the week is Fern Hannah, who lost 3½ pounds. Susie Werth and Barbara Bailey are "KOPS in Waiting."

There is room for more members. Anyone interested in joining may call Norma Jaqua, Onsted, 769-W, Tecumseh; Colfax 5-8440 Adrian or 17F4-1 Tipton.

BY RICHARD WILLIAMS

Another word for citizenship is "membership." We are members, or citizens not only of the city, town, village or county in which we live, but also of our State and the whole United States of America.

When you are a member of an organized group, you expect certain benefits of membership. In return, you are expected to be loyal to the group, to be guided by its rules and to take part in its activites.

In the same way, as a citizen of your community, state and nation, you are one of a group of people who have joined hands to help and protect one another. In return for your rights and privileges of citizenship you have certain duties to perform — to obey the law, for example; to take part in the election of public officials, to pay taxes for the support of your government and, if need be, to fight in defense of your country.

☆

RIGHTS AND responsibilities of citizenship go hand in hand. As a citizen of the United States, you have the right to a free education in the public schools; but you also have the responsibility to do your best to take the fullest possible advantage of the educational opportunity in order to prepare yourself for a life of useful service to your fellow citizens.

Your family has the right to fire and police protection, but also the obligations to help prevent fires, to obey laws and to pay taxes for the support of such essential government services.

Adult citizens have not only the right to vote, but also the duty to take part in elections and to become well acquainted with the issues and the qualifications of candidates.

☆

GOOD CITIZENSHIP begins in the home. The home — or family — is our oldest form of self-government. Today many a family lives democractically with the children respected as individuals sharing in making decisions that affect the group.

In such a home the children are given as many privileges and duties as they show Mother and Dad they are capable of handling.

There are many things you can and should do as a citizen in your home. One of the easiest, but most important, is to be courteous, fair and helpful to other members of your family at all times.

To your parents and others older than you are, you owe respect. And if you have younger brothers or sisters, you want them to look up to you, so you must give them the kindness, protection and leadership they "look for in a big brother."

You recognize that each member of the family has rights, so you don't "take over" the house, the yard, the conversation or the family activities with your own likes and dislikes. You find little ways to be helpful to Mother and Dad — yes, and to Sister too.

☆

FOR OVER one hundred years, one of the most prized possessions in the world has been a certificate, paper or passport that is evidence of United States citizenship. Driven out by force or fear of an oppressor's might, or simply seeking greater opportunity than they had in their own country, millions have left their homelands to begin a new life in America.

Those of us born and raised in the United States rarely appreciate the worth of our citizenship unless we have occasion to travel to foreign lands or to learn from refugees what it has meant to them.

The time will come when you will need proof of your citizenship — probably when you reach the age to vote. Evidence of citizenship is required for many other things, too.

The evidence most commonly used and accepted is a birth certificate, telling when and where you were born, and bearing the seal of a public official. If you were born abroad of American parents, you should have evidence of your parents' American birth or naturalization.

☆

IT ISN'T exactly a happy thought that most naturalized citizens know more about our government, especially our Constitution than do those born in this country.

Many Americans go through a lifetime without having read the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, not realizing how these two great documents have guaranteed to them the rights to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," and the privilege of living under a "government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

You practice good citizenship from day to day and year to year until it becomes a habit, an attitude. You practice it by serving other people at home, in school, on the playground, at work and at church.

A good citizen has a "Bill of Responsibilities" to live up to as well as a Bill of Rights to live under. You can measure how much of a citizen a person is by the way he meets his responsibilities.

When you get through measuring someone who is a good citizen — perhaps one of our Presidents, a Governor, The Community Chest president, or your Dad — you will find he is a "big" man, a tough-minded idealist with his "head in the clouds" but his "feet on the ground."

Junior Contest Winner

By MARY ALICE STUTESMAN

(Editor's note: This is one of the American Legion Auxiliary "American Essay Contest" winners, written by Mary Alice Stutesman, a fifth grader at Central school.)

Come and take a walk with me through our town, and I will point out to you our benefits as American citizens. It is just a middle-sized, typical American town.

As we begin our tour, we come upon a newly-erected hall. Here we find the center of our protection. No fear is attached to the police. They are known to be our friends and helpers.

Across the street is a city park. Here a picnic is in progress. We see clean, healthful, abundant food—just an everyday part of our life in this wonderful country.

Continuing toward the business district, our eyes are greeted by many large stores. This big drug store was passed along from father to son. Now come with me to the largest hardware store. This started out as a very small shop on the edge of town, run by one of the poorest boys in the neighborhood. With borrowed capital and much hard work, he has built up this thriving business. Last year he opened another branch in the northern part of the state. In this land, what these men have done, your son and mine can do.

A series of large and small steeples can be seen towering above the treetops. The Presbyterian, Church, the Baptist Church, the Church of the Nazarene, and the Catholic Church are among those that are visible. Our Pilgrim fathers might not be happy about everything that has happened in the churches which they come to establish, but they would certainly be glad to find that the people here are still free to worship God after their own free will.

Standing on the street corner is a lad who is selling newspapers. We hand him a coin, and begin to look through the paper. Nearby is the printing shop. There are no government officials standing guard to see what is published. There are few laws governing what may or may not be printed.

After we journey several blocks, yellow busses and a large orange brick building come into view. A new addition is being built, for our school is growing. Here, the students represent our citizens of tomorrow. Rich and poor, brilliant and slow, study together to become useful citizens. Their ancestry or wealth make no difference. Everyone has opportunity for education.

Further on, we see a sign posted at the side of the road. It reads: "Quiet, Hospital Zone." Our large hospital building has many windows, most of which have flowers of varying size and color. Inside, everything speaks of cleanliness and sanitation. The sick are being cared for with latest methods and finest modern equipment.

On the edge of our city stands the postoffice. Here, thousands of letters are sent out all over the world, mailed by their senders with confidence that they will reach their destination in the shortest possible time, without having been pried into or censored by government officials.

Above the roof of the postoffice waves "Old Glory," the symbol of our freedom. Not only while you and I are taking this walk along the streets of our town, but wherever we may travel throughout the face of the globe, this flag guarantees our protection as fortunate persons: citizens of the United States of America.

STOP OUT AND SEE US WE HAVE MOVED TO 509 N. EVANS

After a little effort we have a new office. It is not the best in the world but sure is nice and clean. All the people who helped me with it are O.K. in my book. Ted Templeton, Wes Haeussler, Bill Willy, Jim Shiels, Bill Pool and even Del King who helped paint. They all helped get this thing done with the least cost. Oh, yes, don't let me forget Pete Cook, Lord knows he sure helped out. So Thanks.

Also, now that we have moved I think we should have a "You better house buy now" week. Not just for the parade, but we need the business. It will be a little hard moving the houses downtown but we have a few we might be able to do it with.

Out here in the new joint, there will be Lamar Brown, L. E. Brown, Sr., and Del King ready to work for you. Call any of them and they will list your home or sell one to you.

You know there is nothing like the smell of a new place. It's good, or didn't you ever notice?

We have some extra good buys this week.

2-bedroom home just outside of Tecumseh. Small down payment.

2-bedroom cottage on Wamplers Lake. Make an offer.

Sharp 2-bedroom with full basement and recreation room. $700 full down payment, FHA balance.

3-bedroom, full basement, aluminum siding. Make an offer.

4-bedroom, 2-car garage, all brick, large living room on Ridge Hwy.

2-bedroom, all brick, full basement in Onsted. Price reduced, come and look at it.

We have plenty of others to show you. We could use some homes out of town with small down payment. There are a lot of people this time of year that think they want to get out in the wide open spaces.

Oh, yes, when you call into the NThe office now and a voice answers that is not a man's, don't hang up. It could still be the right number. Ruth King, Del's wife is also out here. She will take a message.

Nights, call Lamar Brown, 35F4 Onsted; Tobe Brown, 10-J Tecumseh; Del King 849; and if they're not around, call me at 7050-W.

An interesting order for wedding invitations was placed at The Herald office this week by Beatrice Montalvo, a young lady of Spanish descent, who will be married May 24 to Joe Rodela in the St. Mary's Church in Adrian.

Her order was for 125 invitations in Spanish and 25 in English. This humble servant had "some fun" typing up the copy for them in Spanish, but was truly pleased with the appearance of the printed invitation when it was completed.

Newly-Seeded Lawns Need Lots of Water, Booklet Points Out

Newly seeded lawns need lots of water. In fact, the most important step in caring for a newly seeded lawn is to make certain that the surface layer of soil always contains enough moisture to keep little seedlings alive after the seeds germinate.

Louis G. Hall, Lenawee county agricultural agent, advises watering the lawn as often as is necessary to keep the surface moist. Use a fine spray to avoid washing the soil. You may need to sprinkle the new seeding two or three times daily.

After the grass is one inch tall, you can water the lawn by soaking the soil to a depth of four or five inches. Then allow it to dry until the grass shows signs of wilting.

Begin mowing the lawn as soon as the grass is three inches tall. A sharp mower is essential for cutting new seedings. Set the cutter bar to a height of two inches and maintain the grass at this height.

More information on making and caring for a new lawn is contained in a Michigan State University Extension folder available at the Lenawee county extension office. A copy is free for the asking. The number of folder is F-211.

Squeeze Play Wins Contest for Tecumseh

The Tecumseh Indians waited until the last of the seventh inning here Monday afternoon before they unleashed their batting attack to score three runs and defeat Airport 3-2.

The Indians managed to get only two hits off Airport's Dick Sherman in the first six innings.

Then in the seventh, Bob Wilkins led off with a double over the right fielder's head. Steve Kruger lined a single to left-center with Wilkins stopping at third. Bob O'Neill then lined a triple between the left and center fielders, scoring Wilkins and Kruger.

After Stephenson flied to center Dick Horvath came up and laid down a perfect squeeze bunt with O'Neill crossing the plate with the winning run.

Wilkins was on the mound all the way for the winners and allowed only two hits. Wilkins struck out ten Jet batters, walked five.

Linksmen Lose Meet

Tecumseh high golfers dropped their first match of the season last Thursday, bowing to Jackson St. Mary's and Jackson St. John's in a triangular meet at Jackson.

Team totals were St. Mary's, 332; St. John's 347, and Tecumseh, 357.

Local scorers were Dave Lamkin, 81; Max Smith, 85; Gordon Greiman, 91; and Dick Baker, 100.

In a practice against Brighton Monday, Tecumseh's team totaled 171 for nine holes, and their opponents, 179. The foursome score for 18 holes at the practice match was 326.

The regional matches will be held at the Brighton course on May 16.

This Thursday, the local linksters play at Monroe and then meet Hillsdale here Monday.

Rotunno Named Head of League

Of the 180 boys who signed up for junior baseball, 140 turned out for tryouts Saturday.

There'll be another session this Saturday:

10-year-olds — 9 to 10:30
11-year-olds — 10:30 to noon
12-year-olds — 1 to 2:30

Mike Rotunno, new Tecumseh high school assistant football coach, will be working on the summer recreation program with Vic Lawson and have charge of this junior program, which is similar to Little League.

Two more sponsors are needed for this division.

Pee-Wee Loop

A pee-wee league, for boys 7, 8 and 9, will be formed when school is out, as part of the summer recreation program, states Vic Lawson.

The boys will play softball in regularly scheduled games.

By GLENN WILLIAMS

Bright and early (6:15) last Friday morning, Coach Don Brazee and 11 of his track and field men left for Mount Pleasant and the twelfth annual running of the Central Michigan College Relays.

Yours truly and my companion for the day, Chris Roll, also made the trip as spectators. We arrived at our destination about 9 o'clock and soon the festivities were under way.

Ray Miller and Mike Walters were the first Indian thinclads to get in action as the high jump was first on the schedule. We didn't do too well in this as it was cool and nobody could seem to get loosened up.

Next on the list was the sprint medley relay and our team composed of Bob Long, Alfred Dick, Gary Hanna and Gary Elliott ran their fastest race of the year in the time of 2:42.5, which was good for eighth place.

The event was won by Ludington and River Rouge, which tied for first in the time of 2:38.5.

We didn't have another entry before dinner so the boys took their lunch break until 2 o'clock.

☆

IN THE AFTERNOON, Mike Walters and Ray Miller started things off in the broad jump. Walters finished in sixth place, barely missing on fifth as he soared 19'7" and Jack Schultz of Mt. Morris had a leap of 19'7½" for fifth place.

Willie Prewitt of Willow Run broke the existing record in the broad jump with a leap of 21'10" on his first try eslipsing the mark of 21'6¼" set in 1954 by a former Tecumseh star, Bill Benham.

Next came the middle distance relay and our only points of the day. The team of Jerry Kruse, Dave Weakly, Ron Johnson and Jack Sisson scored a fifth.

Sisson, who ran the anchor leg, took the baton in seventh position and then moved into fifth at the start of the stretch and held it for the rest of the way.

The scoring in the relay races went 10-8-6-4-2.

☆

EACH OF THE boys on the middle distance relay team received a medal inscribed "fifth place, middle distance relay, Class B, 1958 on one side and "Central Michigan College Relays" on the other.

Tecumseh's time in the middle distance event was 6:25.6 compared with the winning time of 6:15 by River Rouge.

The Indians 880-yard relay team composed of Hanna, Dick, Miller and Jim Mangrum covered the distance in 1:39.9 to win the second heat.

However, there were six heats in all and the winner was decided by time. As a result, Tecumseh finished in eighth position with Willow Run winning first place with 1:33.45.

☆

RIVER ROUGE, with 47 points, emerged the victor in Class B for the second straight year while Willow Run was runner-up with 38½.

Tecumseh finished in a five-way tie for 29th place with Caro, Milan, St. Clair, and St. Johns.

There were 51 Class B schools entered this year with some 500 individual contestants.

Norm Kersey and Joe O'Donnell gave Milan its two points with fifth places in the 100 yard dash and 120 yard high hurdles respectively. Milan, as you may recall, beat Tecumseh earlier in the season in a dual meet for their only defeat.

Slo-Ball Circuit Being Organized

An old timers slo-ball league will perform this year if enough men in town are interested.

Vic Lawson hopes to have four teams, playing games probably on Thursday nights under the lights.

In slo-ball a 14-inch "mush" ball is used and pitches must arch higher than the batter's head.

Civic groups interested in making up teams should contact Vic Lawson.

Cranston Homers, But Indians Still Lose to Monroe

Karl Cranston, Tecumseh Indians third baseman, belted a two-run homer against Monroe CC Thursday to give Tecumseh a 2-1 lead, but it didn't last long as Monroe bounced back with two in their half of the third and added two more in the fifth for a 5-2 victory.

Bob Wilkins, Indian hurler, gave up only two hits, but his Tecumseh errors proved too much of an obstacle.

This game was the second time this year that coach Dermont Poley, Jr., had sent a man into the game as a substitute and his first time up he hit a home run.

Earlier this season at Airport, he sent Wilkins into pitch for Bob O'Neill with two away in the fourth. His first time at the plate in the sixth inning, Wilkins belted one over the fence in left field for a home run and Tecumseh's only run of the game.

Last Thursday, Coach Poley sent Cranston into play third base in the second inning and his first time at the plate in the third, Karl lined a homer between the right and center fielders with a man on for Tecumseh's only runs of the game.

FOR ALL WE HOLD SACRED . . . ATTEND CHURCH!

Dear Molly,
On Mother's Day I'd like to be able to give you a thousand and one frills and fruitcakes. Instead, I will give you only a corsage to wear to church and this letter.
For on this Mother's Day, I'd like to say some of the things husbands sometimes forget to say. I'd like to tell you how much I love you, and how proud I am that you're my wife as well as our daughter's mother.
When I see Cathy walking out of Church School last week, it did something to me. She's learning right from the start some of the things I missed, and I have you to thank.
Much of a churchgoer when we got married, you could never have won if I had nothing else to be grateful for. I could never forget that it was you who taught me what the Church means to me, and so many things — and above all else, I am grateful to God for bringing us together. For church this morning my prayer will be one of thanks — for yesterday for today for always.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily

Dairy Student Aid Program Is Announced

If you'd like college training in dairy manufacturing but are short of funds, you will be interested in a newly established "work-as-you-learn" dairy program at Michigan State University.

An assistance program for undergraduates in dairy manufacturing will begin with fall term of 1958.

Under this program, the student will work about half-time in the dairy plant and go to school half-time. By going to summer school, the student can graduate in four or four and a half years while gaining two years experience in dairy plant operation.

The student's pay will cover nearly all, if not all, of college expenses, including room and board.

Either young men or young women may apply for one of the work-as-you-learn positions, a "B" average or better in high school.

Interested persons can get more information by writing Dr. T. I. Hedrick at the Dairy Department, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Before Rate Increase . . .

A series of minor rate changes for telephone installation and service work has been proposed by the General Telephone Co. of Michigan.

Making the final decision will be the Michigan Public Service Commission.

A news release from the phone company, announcing the proposal, winds up with this statement:

"In view of constantly increasing cost of telephone equipment and labor, it may be necessary for General Telephone to apply for a general upward adjustment in local service rates in the future."

A rate increase is not sought at this time, but certainly one is in the offing.

We're awfully afraid, the firm won't be getting any loud voices of approval from Tecumseh area patrons.

The reason for a future upward turn on phone rates — increasing costs of equipment and labor — are probably legitimate enough.

However, until this section of United Telephone's territory switches to a dial system — and that probably won't be for two or three years yet — the Public Service Commission, if it sought opinion here about the equity of a rate increase, would likely receive little affirmative comment.

The antiquated "Number, please" system is as up-to-date as the Model A Ford. Great during it's era, but this isn't it.

We hate to complain, but getting a local call through is sometimes a major project. It's not necessarily the fault of our operators, who often find it physicially impossible to get everyone through as they call.

That's the reason the dial system was invented and went into common use in the Thirties — except in places like Tecumseh.

Before tackling a rate increase, we think phone officials should look over construction schedules again and see if there isn't a possibility of speeding up plans to bring Tecumseh dial telephones a lot sooner than two or three years.

When the McCrates Buy Shoes

When the Robert McCrate family of rural Britton goes on a shoe-buying junket, it's an evening-long affair — and an expensive one.

You see, there are 10 all told, eight lovely children, mom and dad.

As Mr. McCrate tells it, "it takes the price of a good load of corn" to have his family shod.

To be exact — $83.04.

That's what it cost following last week's session at Procter's Shoe Shop in Tecumseh.

Properitor Wes Proctor had a busy time fitting all the McCrates, then happily allowed a discount for a "quantity purchase."

Says Wes, "We'll always give discounts to families with eight children — or more."

Mr. McCrate farms 200 acres, raising mostly grain. Of these he owns 118, rents 100. The whole family pitches in with the chores.

What about groceries?

Mrs. McCrate answers that one. "Well, when it comes to milk, we need three half-gallon cartons a day, four loaves of bread."

Among other tasks for mom: packing five lunches daily.

The two older McCrate boys go to Britton-Macon high school, the other six to St. Elizabeth's in Tecumseh.

Through My Window

We've been invaded. Hordes of big black birds have taken over, they're everywhere—on the yard, in the trees, at the feeders and even along the edge of the creek.

Commonly called blackbirds, the Audubon Bird Book identifies them as grackles. As migratory birds, they summer with us and spend the cold winter months basking in the warm sunshine of our southern states.

Beating their listed date of arrival by several days, our first grackles showed up way back on the fifth day of March.

Not realizing that we were soon to be overrun by their kinsmen, we were happy to see these first returnees.

Among the first birds to return from their southern vacation, the grackles are always welcome as forerunners of the long awaited arrival of bright sunshine, blue skies and balmy weather.

☆

WE DIDN'T realize that this year, finding the living good, they would send the glad word to their relatives.

In the past we've had our share of grackles but this year they arrived in such numbers as to make it ridiculous. Much to our displeasure we seem to be living in a grackles' paradise.

It's hard to admit, because they are such pests, but when seen in the proper light, the grackle is quite handsome. His blacker than black feathers have an irridescent quality and, when seen in bright sunlight, take on a metallic sheen.

His shiny black back often looks like burnished copper and his head sparkles and reflects every hue of lovely purple.

The male grackle is about 12 inches long and has a large wedge-shaped tail; the female, slightly smaller, is less "shiny," her back and head have a much duller metallic cast.

☆

MUCH OF THE bird's menacing, forbidding appearance must be due to his all over blackness. The large, sharp bill, which curves slightly downward at the tip, dominates the head; it's heaviness is accentuated by a receding forehead. Even the bird's large legs and claws are black.

The only break in this all over blackness, the only relief, is actually the feature that climaxes the sinister appearance. These birds have cold and cruel looking yellow eyes.

In many respects, grackles could be called under-sized crows. The color is the same and their movement on the ground is similar. Grackles don't just walk across the lawn, they strut. Looking like small Napoleons their every step is insolent.

They take possession of a yard and dare other birds to chase them away. The most crow-like trait and the one about which we are most worried, is their tendency towards nest robbing.

Cannibalism is easily believable of a bird who so looks the villian. As handsome as their plumage is, the bird's true self is seen in those calculating, cat-like eyes. Just as their appearance is evil, so are their actions.

☆

TO THE BIRD'S credit (and this is just what the book says, we have found them woefully lacking in good traits) grackles play an important role in keeping the insect population down.

When patrolling the lawn and searching the trees, they are ever on the look-out for tasty and tempting insects. It has been estimated that almost one-third of their diet eonsists of insects, many of which are of the harmful species.

Unfortunately, the remainder of their diet consists, among other things, of scratch feed, sunflower seeds, suet and corn. The food we put out for the cardinals, titmice and other happy birds is stolen by the grackles before they ever have a chance at it.

When the black thieves take over the feeder even Master Bluejay must wait and eat leftovers. To show how complete has been the grackle invasion, I understand that next door they are stealing the corn put out specifically for the squirrels.

Those black menacing bills can shell an ear of corn almost as fast as it is put out. Now when a bird can hold off hungry squirrels the matter is serious.

Technically classed as a song bird, the grackles have voices which by no stretch of the imagination can be called musical — they're not even mildly pleasing.

"Birds of America," edited by T. Gilbert Pearson, has a wonderful description of the grackle's attempt to sing. "His demonstration of his proficiency in the art divine consists in drawing in his head in turtle fashion, puffing out his body, ruffling up his feathers and then emitting a sort of asthmatic squeak, which suggests the protest of a rusty hinge."

It should be added that when the squeak is finally forced out the grackle's head is thrown back and his long, sharp beak is pointed straight up. This "Henny Penny, always looking for the sky to fall down" stance makes the ridiculous squaks all the more absurd.

☆

ALL IN ALL, Mr. Grackle is a bird caricature of the old silent movie villian. One can easily picture him throwing his black cape over his shoulder and twirling the straggly ends of his long black mustache. We just hope that as in the old time melodramas, where good always triumphed over evil, our surplus of grackles will leave before too much damage is done to this year's nestlings and before our bird food budget is completely wrecked.

Betty Day Sings in Spring Concert

It's Double Header for Tommy Gallant on 8th Birthday

Tommy Gallant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gallant, Jr., enjoyed a double-header birthday celebration this year.

On Sunday a family dinner was held in his honor. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson of Toledo, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gallant, Sr. and son, Eugene of Adrian, Georgia Dinse and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Westgate of Tecumseh.

April 29 was his eighth birthday and eight children gathered at the Gallant home after school. They played games. Each child received a prize and made place mats for the table.

Preceding dinner the children visited Tommy's three-week-old baby lambs and fed them from a bottle. They also saw a mother bantam hen with 12 baby chicks.

Dinner was served from a table centered with a decorated birthday cake in the shape of a little dog made by his grandmother Gallant.

SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE HERALD!

REALTY VIEWS

"I don't like the ad you wrote about our house," Mrs. Hager said on the phone.

"What don't you like about it?" I replied.

"Well," she said, "it says For Sale or Trade. To me that cheapens our property. It makes it sound like we are anxious to get rid of it."

"Mrs. Hager," I said, "That might be your reaction. But I think it has a different meaning to a buyer. And that's the person the ad is designed to please. A buyer might think, 'Here's my chance to buy a bigger place without worrying about selling my own place. I'll trade it.' And he'd feel the same if his money were tied up in a trailer house, on a car, or anything else you might accept in trade. The ad encourages such a buyer to appear and present his deal."

"Well," she answered, "it might have that effect. We really are anxious to sell because my husband is moving to Lansing this week. I'll go along with your idea a few more days."

A day or two later, a young man came into the office. "I'd like to trade my car on this house," he said, pointing to the ad on Mrs. Hager's home. Fortunately, he liked the house, and a trade resulted.

"You're just lucky," Mrs. Hager said with a smile.

May we help you SELL or TRADE your property?

Health Study Playing Role in New Research

Tecumseh's Community Health Study will play a vital part in another University of Michigan project—reasearch in crippling disabilities.

The newest endeavor was made posible by a grant of $11,734.77 received from the Michigan United Fund.

Research will be conducted within the framework of the School of Public Health's study now progressing in Tecumseh.

Financed in part from a state appropriation for research in human resources, the Tecumseh project is concerned with diseases, physical environment, habits, occupations, diet, social contacts and status, and their relation to chronic diseases.

The statistics thus far gathered will provide a valuable background for the researchers from the Maternal and Child Health Unit.

The Maternal and Child Health Unit of the U-M's School of Public Mealth will carry on the research project under the direction of Dr. Donald C. Smith, associate professor of maternal and child health.

"Methods of determining how widespread the crippling disabilities are in a particular community will be of tremendous value to professional workers everywhere," Dr. Smith points out. "If successfully developed, it is hoped that these same methods may be used in a state-wide study of handicapping conditions in childhood."

☆

THE NEWEST RESEARCH, originated by the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Michigan, Inc. will involve an intensive pilot study to develop accurate methods for determining the incidence and prevalence of cerebryal palsy and other related handicapping conditions such as epilepsy and multiple sclerosis, and the need for program services.

Seed Corn Donated to Youth by Dealers

FFA and 4-H members with corn projects, obtained samples of seed corn donated by Lenawee County dealers Saturday.

Two five-pound samples, enough for one acre of corn, were packed by Vo-Ag boys of Adrian and distributed at the 4-H Office on the Fairgrounds.

The members obtaining the corn were advised to keep careful records of expenses, fertilizers used, and yields and to exhibit at the Fall Crops Show.

Avoid Summit, Berlin Editor Tells Students

EAST LANSING — The Western nations need a free Berlin and should avoid an immediate summit conference with Russia, suggests the editor of the largest independent newspaper in Berlin.

"Any summit conference now would result in a victory for the communists," declared Helmut Meyer-Dietrich, chief editor of the Berliner Morgenpost, who is a visiting lecturer in the School of Journalism at Michigan State University this term.

What is needed first, the editor stated, is a "Western summit conference so the free nations can iron out their own differences before they try to meet with the Russians."

☆

MEYER-DIETRICH, a vigorous anti-communist in the direction of his quarter-million circulation newspaper, thinks the Western powers present a "sad picture."

"We lack imagination and are completely inactive," he commented. "Iniative has passed into Russian hands. What we need is another unconventional weapon like the Berlin airlift of 10 years ago. We should be making proposals all the time, putting the Reds in the position of having to say 'No' once in a while."

"Berlin," the editor pointed out, "is the only place in the world where the rival systems of communism and democracy can show their real strength in working side by side."

"The city," he explained, "by its mere existence hinders the communists from cutting off the numerous human contacts between Germans from the West and from the East. It would be much easier for the communists to pervert the truth if nobody knew it."

Council Halts Gas Stations

There won't be any new gas stations in Tecumseh for at least one year, city council ruled Monday evening.

In a special session, held jointly with the community's planning commission, the council unanimously adopted a motion calling for a "moratorium on gasoline service stations."

Feeling the direct effect of the ruling will be Roy Richard, local bulk supplier for Leonard Oil who sought to build a station on M-50, across from the Cities Service outlet.

The discussion about new gas stations started last fall when Jack Osburn received council approval for one at Herrick Park and N. Evans street, in conjunction with the new A&P super market.

At the time, the planning commission recommended against permitting another station. Members asked that there be a holdup until they had a chance to draw up a master plan, which would pinpoint all commercial locations.

☆

THE REQUEST by Richard reopened the question.

This time, the planning group asked to meet jointly with city fathers and learn the "feeling of councilmen."

When the session opened general discussion wavered back and forth between allowing Richard's request.

Several on the planning group asked council for the moratorium, but one of its members, Jim Smith, said that doing so at this time would be a "hurtful decision to a man (Richard) who has lived up to all the rules" (i.e. requirements of new business construction.).

After nearly two hours, mayor Oley Hanna called for a vote by councilmen.

☆

ACCORDING TO the city's charter, the community governing body has the power to restrict the number of gasoline stations—the only type of business so named—for matters of traffic and health safety.

Although it is in the charter, there never has been an ordinance on the books stating exactly how many stations there can be. Monday's motion stops any new station construction until May 1959.

It was pointed out that Tecumseh already had 17 service station locations and three other places where gasoline is sold in connection with other businesses.

The national average is one station for every 1,000 people.

☆

DURING THE meeting, John Hamilton pointed out that bringing a new station into town could mean the prompting of present stations to "get sharper, give better service."

Mayor Hanna commented that the moratorium idea was appropriate so that a "complete survey of the situation could be made."

General expression was that the master plan for the entire city should be completed before granting any requests.

This task will probably take between six months and a year, planners stated.

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

THERE'S LITTLE DOUBT that Mrs. Neil Pearson of 501 W. Pottawatamie is one of Tecumseh's most scientific gardeners.

She has utilized almost every square inch of ground around her home for flowers—hundreds of varieties.

If you're an expert you'd probably recognize the Reichenbachia, the Orangeman, the Knockout, the Maryrandall.

Mrs. Pearson has them and about 400 more, each carefully tagged on foot-high sticks next to the flower.

Keep an eye on Mrs. Pearson's garden if you want to view some of the most colorful blooms in town.

☆

FOR SOME WEEKS NOW, IF you thought Glenn Kohler was a bit on the nervous side, you were right.

Glenn's real estate agency has been handling the sale of the Admiral building, which recently went to the H. W. Tuttle Co. of Adrian.

In the early stages of negotiations, it was imperative that everything be kept secret. Glenn was jumping when he saw his shadow, wondered if it would leak the story.

Then it happened.

"I hear we're getting a new industry in the Admiral building," a businessman casually inquired of Glenn.

"Golly, where did you hear that?" Glenn gulped.

"Why Mr. X told me. How about it?"

"No speaka da English," Glenn gurgled and fled.

But everything turned out just fine and Mr. Kohler is all smiles again. Despite the fact the word did get around, everything sailed smoothly — Glenn sold a building and Tecumseh got another industry.

☆

AND SPEAKING ABOUT NERvous people, my partner and I usually go through an Indian war dance each Wednesday night when we settle down after getting out the week's edition and read the blame thing.

We know that there are bound to be a couple of typos (typographical errors, to the young of heart) and usually in the most embarrassing places.

Old Mr. Typo never finds his way into an unimportant story—he always ends up in the biggest yarn of the week.

In handling the volume of material we do in the compact time provided (everything happens 24 hours before the presses roll), it's a wonder more stuff isn't jumbled.

The last two weeks we've produced 18 pages and over the recent months it has been 14 or 16 consistently.

When we look around the area, we note the other weeklies and their average page totals:

Blissfield Advance—8
Manchester Enterprise—4
Dundee Reporter—10
Clinton Local—6
Hudson Post-Gazette—4
Morenci Observer—6
Petersburg Sun—4

And several of these weeklies—all good ones—have only seven columns per page. There isn't too much difference in the staffs on the larger papers.

All of which probably proves that we attempt to cram in too much news and advertising per issue in our sincere effort to give the best possible coverage to this area.

The unfortunate result often is Mr. Typo. But I guess we'll always have him a member of the family.

HERE'S OUR CONGRATULATIONS to the folks who helped make "You Auto Buy Days" such a success in Tecumseh.

The promotion came off in fine fashion, proving once again that unified action and effort will produce results.

It's always good to see folks working together and they certainly did during YABD here.

Change Routes

The Post Office recently changed the routing of some mail delivery in Tecumseh.

All of Occidental highway, which was previously on city route 1, is now on the mounted route, as is all of River Acres, which previously was Rural Route 2.

7 Explorers Go 72 Miles on Canoe Trip

Seven boys of Explorer Post 87 took a 72-mile canoe trip over the weekend.

They were accompanied by their advisor, Franklin Fergus, Marvin Wagner and Howard Wilson, Jr.

The group put its five canoes in the water at LeRoy bridge, near Adrian, and traveled to Blissfield before camping for the night Friday.

They traveled a distance of about 20 miles.

☆

SATURDAY THEY made Deerfield, about 36 miles, and Sunday the trip ended at Dundee, another 16 miles.

For five of the boys the 72-mile trip was the first of its kind they had taken. Jerry and Dennis Ireland had accompanied Mr. Wilson on a similar trip from Norville to Tecumseh by canoe.

Tents, groceries and other camping necessities were packed with the young men. Only mishap was the upsetting of one of the canoes.

Kindergarten Registration Will Conclude

Registration is being held this week for children who will be attending kindergarten classes throughout the Tecumseh public school system in the fall.

The child's birth certificate must be presented at the time of registration.

Normal production operations will continue, states Mr. Church.

RICHARD O. COOK

Legislation Will Be Topic at 'Breakfast'

Federal and state legislation will be discussed at a free coffee and donut session in Don's Grill Friday from 8 a.m.

The gathering is being sponsored by the Michigan Retailers Association and local merchants are invited.

It features a talk by Richard O. Cook, assistant executive secretary, who was recently named to "Who's Who in the Midwest" for his outstanding legislation work for the retailing industry in Michigan.

Such issues as minimum wage, employment security and major taxation will be given coverage by Mr. Cook.

This is another in a series of "legislative breakfasts" that will find the Michigan Retailers Association staff bringing the 1958 legislative picture to retailers in communities throughout Michigan.

Smoke Eaters Answer 4 Calls

Local smoke eaters answered three fire calls last week and one false alarm. The latter occurred last Thursday when the telephone workmen tangled some wires touching off the siren.

A faulty gas water heater in the Tecumseh Restaurant started a fire in the basement May 7 causing extensive damage which forced the establishment to close down for a few days.

The other property damaging fire was last Thursday on Palmer highway in a home owned by Mrs. William S. Miller and occupied by John Sexton.

A defective chimney started the fire which, burned out the roof and upper story of the house, causing an estimated $5,000 damage. Although this was out of Tecumseh's district the smoke eaters answered the call.

Saturday morning an oil fire broke out in back of Bug's Super Service and was quickly squelched.

Tennis Club Members Will Fix-Up Courts at Thursday Meeting

Members of the Tecumseh Tennis Club meet Thursday at the city courts for a clean-up fix-up session.

The three local courts will be hosed down and backstops repaired.

Persons interested in joining the club are asked to attend.

Dr. Bob Murray, president of the newly-formed group, states there has been a noticeable jump in interest in the game, adding with a grin, "Now it's difficult getting a court on which to play.

Auto Rodeo Sunday

The annual teenage automobile rodeo, sponsored by the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be held here Sunday afternoon, in front of Central school on N. Ottawa street.

Teenagers must be 16, 17 or 18-years-old, possess a driver's license, and pass a written examination, available from Bob Breniff, Tecumseh high school coach and teacher.

Contestants also must have no traffic violations during the past six months.

The driving contest is statewide with area winners to vie for the state championship and a $500 scholarship later this summer at Detroit.

Entry forms will be available at the time of the contest at the school.

Walt Davenport is chairman of the contest and local and state police, the judges. Automobiles with conventional and automatic transmission will be provided by Tecumseh car dealers.

New Industry to Employ 100

Tecumseh is going to have a new industry, which will employ 100.

It will be the H. W. Tuttle Co. of Adrian, manufacturer of heating elements for major appliance builders.

Among Tuttle customers are Admiral, General Electric, Whirlpool and Westinghouse.

The Tecumseh operation will be in the former Admiral Television building on S. Evans street, just south of the Quaker Oats building.

Tuttle purchased the structure and is planning some immediate improvements. When this work is completed, the company will be able to outline its exact production schedules.

Founded 20 years ago by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Tuttle, the company has had Mrs. Tuttle as president since 1946. Her son, H. W. Tuttle, Jr., is executive vice-president.

Mrs. Tuttle is a vigorous business woman and most capable as the guiding light of this growing industry.

"My philosophy is simple," she once said. "I meet each day fearlessly and during that day accomplish everything that I can. The next day, I do the same thing."

One of the reasons for the present Tuttle Co. expansion is its recently being licensed as the only company in the nation to manufacture and sell "Adaptatherm," a new electrical heating process.

Adaptatherm was invented by B. B. Sabouni of San Francisco. An electrical resistance wire, insulated with fibre glass and molded into aluminum, Adaptatherm is a lifetime heating coil. It provides nearly identical temperatures over wide areas, has no heat loss.

Possible uses for Adaptatherm: surface units for electric ranges, in dryers, die for extruding liquid plastic, deicer on airplane wings, solid unit for heating water, heater for radar installation.

"No matter where you want to put heat without loss at uniform temperature through the medium of molded metal, we can put it there," states Mrs. Tuttle.

Mothers Gulp More Than Tea at This Party

Mothers of Cub Scout Den 1 were appropriately honored — also amazed, as well as horrified —to see their young sons serving them tea Friday afternoon from Den Mother Mrs. Fred Dickinson's very best china.

It was the culmination of three weeks work by the little men, making and writing invitations, arranging costumes and preparing skits they used to entertain their moms.

As the honored guests arrived at the Dickinson home each Cub presented his mother a corsage he had made from a pink carnation and a lacy doily.

The boys enjoyed gingerale in their cups as they spent a social hour with their mothers and a game. (No china was broken).

A PRICELESS RECIPE

In a health emergency, the little slip of paper on which your physician writes his prescription is priceless. You wouldn't part with it under any circumstances.

However, once the emergency has passed, human nature being what it is, you are apt to forget how valuable the prescription really was. Maybe you even grumble a little at its out-of-pocket cost, failing to remember the doctor's professional skill, the countless hours of pharmaceutical research and many other factors that made the "recipe" possible in a health crisis.

Permit our prescription department to fill your next "recipe for health."

'Mixed Grain' Now Is Wheat Acreage

Any acreage of grain in Michigan that has enough wheat present to cause crops to be classified as a "mixed grain" under the official grain standards of the United States, will be classified as wheat acreage.

So says ASCO.

The "mixed grain" acreage and the wheat acreage shall be added together to make the total wheat acreage for the farm.

If the wheat producer believes that there is not enough wheat present to cause the crop to be classified as "Mixed Grains," he may apply to the county committee for a downward adjustment.

Parade Focuses Attention on 'Check'

A parade will help focus attention on the annual vehicle Safety-Check May 23 and 24.

Complete with the high school marching band and a decendent of Chief Tecumseh, the parade will be held at 4 p.m. on May 23.

Also taking part are going to be Boy and Girl Scouts, Brownies, junior baseball players in full uniform, new cars and house trailers.

The Safety-Check begins that same day, at 2 p.m., continues until dark. Dick Boehmer of Consumers Power is in charge of the checking crew, which will go over cars as they come down S. Pearl street to Chicago boulevard.

The following day, the check continues from 10 a.m. until dark.

It's free and those whose vehicles pass 100% will be given an opportunity to win gasoline and groceries, valued up to $90, in a special drawing.

☆

"CHECK YOUR CAR — check your driving — check accidents" is the theme of this year's safety-check.

Tecumseh police chief George Kilbourn states,

"Even the best driver may not be able to avoid an accident if his car is not in safe driving condition. Each motorist must assume individual responsibility to help reduce accidents caused by unsafe vehicles.

"Drivers should have their cars safety-checked regularly and keep them in safe driving condition to be sure they can SEE, STEER, STOP SAFELY.

"One out of every five vehicles checked in a nationwide safety-check last year needed immediate attention to one or more of the ten items affecting safe driving condition."

The ten items in a Safety-Check are brakes, front and rear lights, steering, tires, exhaust system, glass, windshield wipers, rear view mirror and horn.

COULD BE YOU — So warns police Chief George Kilbourn (right) and Carlos Jones as they urge people to take part in the annual Safety-Check May 23 and 24. It's free and may help prevent your car from ending up like this one, which reached the end of the line at Lee Purkey's Garage.

Long, Tedious Task

There hasn't been much publicity about the Chamber of Commerce since the election of officers — but that doesn't mean there hasn't been considerable action.

The current project: hiring a capable, full-time executive secretary.

And a long and tedious task it is.

Board members knew this when they dove into the job the very day they were elected—and they don't wont to settle for anything less than the most-qualified man available.

They have been conducting personal interviews and expect to continue this for several weeks. In any event, the secretary will not be named until complete and careful consideration has been given each candidate.

Another Chamber effort, soon to be started, will be a booklet about Tecumseh, mainly for use as a direct-mail advertising piece to prospective industry.

This brochure will up-date a similar booklet prepared some years ago.

One of the features of the new one will be a series of pictures of Tecumseh.

Two 'In the Works'

Naturally, it is with great pleasure that we report another industry coming to our community.

We chatted with Mrs. Madeline Tuttle, president of the company, in her busy Adrian office last week and couldn't help but feel this is going to mean a lot to Tecumseh.

At the same time we thought of two other items on the industrial front which make the picture appear even rosier.

These two other potential industries, are still "in the works"—and neither may ever materialize—but both have possibilities.

What's particularly fascinating is that Tecumseh is being considered so seriously by outside industry as a place in which to settle.

And why shouldn't they? We have an excellent "industrial climate"—that's what the boys in the ivory towers call it. Besides, we boast the type of city which needs no selling job on the part of plants to key employees. Schools are excellent, housing new and well-plannned, adequate shopping center, pleasant streets and neighborhoods, good government.

At the same time, we don't want to rush pell-mell after every industry which comes along. Tecumseh certainly is in a position to do some careful checking before opening its doors and rolling out the welcome mat.

For 50th Anniversary They Repeat Vows

HOLLOWAY — Mr. and Mrs. Velentine Prochaska of Deerfield celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary by repeating their marriage vows in a complete ceremony Sunday at St. Alphonsus Church.

Fr. Zigmund Osmialowski officiated.

Beautiful baskets of tulips and lilacs decorated the altar.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Prochaska's sister, Mrs. Kathryn Horak of Deerfield.

Best man was Andrew Yurnikl of Blissfield.

The bride had a corsage of yellow roses, tied with gold silk ribbon. The groom wore a yellow carnation in his lapel.

☆

A RECEPTION was held at the American Legion home in Blissfield from 2 to 7 p.m. There were 300 relatives and friends on hand.

The couple has lived for 39 years in Deerfield, also at Blissfield, Ogden and Dundee. They are engaged in farming.

They are parents of five children, Mrs. Charles Koman of Britton, Mrs. John Kobut of Deerfield, Mrs. Joseph Bakus of Ottawa Lake, Joe of Tecumseh, and John who was killed last summer in a tractor accident.

There are 18 grandchildren.

Deanie Displays Faith

Deanie, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. ElRay Finnegan who live on Comfort road southeast of Tecumseh, was playing with the Lawrence Cote children, his next door neighbors, last Thursday afternoon when a violent thunder storm came up.

His grandmother, staying with him while his parents worked, called him home. He reluctantly came into the house saying that he wasn't afraid of the thunder. Mrs. Finnegan explained to him that she knew it, but she didn't want him to get wet.

Without a word Deanie went into the living room, sat down on a stool, and bowed his head. In a few minutes his grandmother heard him talking very low and the only words she could make out were "Please God."

She went to him and asked what he was saying. He rpplied that he was praying, asking God to hurry the storm over so he could play again.

☆

In about ten minutes the storm was over so she called to him saying that the rain was over and he could go outside again. She said God had answered his prayers.

Deanie raced to the kitchen door and looked out. He turned to Mrs. Finnegan, his eyes shining and said,

"Yes sir, Nana, He did. The sun is shining." With that he went close to his grandmother, put his little hands together, placed them on his chest, raised his eyes upward and said very clearly,

"Thank you, God. Thank you, God. I love You."

Then with a slam of the screen door and the scurry of small feet he was off to be with his playmates again.

Mrs. George Finnegan, Deanie's grandmother, asks this question, "If a five-year-old can have such faith, what do grown-ups have to worry about today?"

Frame House with Trees

Trees are probably the most important feature in providing an attractive setting for a house, believes Joseph T. Cox, extension specialist in landscape architecture at Michigan State University.

But he urges homeowners to select the location for the trees carefully. A general rule of good landscape design, if you're in a position to choose your own trees, is to plant those that will frame the house, giving it an air of spaciousness and stability.

In choosing trees for this purpose, consider the angle from which the house is most likely to be seen. Usually this is from the view of the approaching visitor or the passerby.

☆

THEN PLAN your trees so the area in front of the house will be simple and uncluttered and the surrounding trees will balance and frame the building.

Cox advises limiting the use of large shade trees to the back or sides of the house, if possible. In those positions, they will occupy the center of attention.

Medium-sized trees are especially useful behind the rambling, modern houses to soften harsh roof lines. Trees that are too large will dwarf the house.

But for trees to be planted in front of the building line, great care should be taken to choose species and size that will complement and not hide the house.

LAMAR CHEEVER SALESMEN DOUG AYLESWORTH

By GLENN WILLIAMS

WELL, BASEBALL SEASON is almost over for another year at Tecumseh high school. One game remains to be played. The Indians are hosts to Bedford Thursday in the final.

Tecumseh has done fairly well this season, winning three and losing five. They have a league record of two and five, but most of these defeats could have just as well been victories with a hit at the right time.

The sore spot this year has been the fielding, which should improve in another season, since all but two will be back next year.

Karl Cranston and Jon Weakly are the only seniors.

Bob Wilkins, regular pitcher, has been turning in some sterling performances this year and should be even better next year. Behind him are Bob O'Neill and Dennis Harrison, both of whom can do creditable jobs when called upon.

☆

NEW LETS LOOK AT THE track team.

The trackmen have done very well this spring, winning seven dual meets while losing only to Milan.

It had entries in both the Central Michigan and Albion relays.

The middle distance relay team composed of Jerry Kruse, Dave Weakly, Ron Johnson, and Jack Sisson took fifth place at the Central relays a week ago Friday.

Then, last Saturday at Albion, Ray Miller tied for first in the high jump at 5'7" and Mike Walters took fourth in the broad jump.

In case of a tie, such as in Miller's case, they flip a coin to decide who gets the medal for first and who gets second.

In this instance, it was Miller's lucky day as he won the toss and received his first-place medal and Tecumseh got 4½ points. Added to the two that Walters picked up, it gave Tecumseh 6½ points for the day.

And now, a special salute to coach Don Brazee for his fine work in building up this fine team. This is only Mr. Brazee's second year as coach of the track team and I think he has done a swell job.

Once again, congratulations to the track team and Coach Brazee for a fine season.

Baker Posts 74, Team Sets Record

The Tecumseh Indians golf team set a new school record at Tecumseh Country Club last Wednesday afternoon, posting a sizzling 314 to defeat Jackson St. John by 20 strokes.

It was a revenge win for the Indians, who suffered their only loss of the season in a triangular match at Jackson May 1 with St. John and Jackson St. Marys. Both Jackson schools are class A.

Dick Baker of Tecumseh had medalist honors for the meet with a 74, which tied the individual record set earlier this season by Max Smith. Dave Lamkin was right behind Baker as he shot a 75. Max Smith had an 81 and John Elliott an 84 to round out Tecumseh's scores.

Baker shot a 39 for the first nine holes and then came back with a one-under-par 35 for the back nine and his 74. Lamkin had a 35 the first nine holes, but faded to a 40 coming in.

Storage Can Be Problem in Your Home

How's the storage in your home? Most homes have two big problems—not enough space and waste space in the storage areas that are available, says Eunice Pardee, extension specialist in home management at Michigan State University.

To take care of "not enough space" you may be able to build in or add moveable storage units to your home.

Clothing closets can be added in the bedroom through the use of "built-ins" on the wall. "Built-Ins" might be used in a wall between two bedrooms making storage in both rooms.

Or you can close in one corner by using the new "accordian" doors.

IN SOME homes rearranging existing closets with special places for things stored will stretch storage space to hold more.

Try adding shelves that are spaced to fit items you store — a long narrow slot for guns, low poles for childrens' coats leave plenty of room for higher poles for short adult garments or out-of-season clothing.

Boots and rubbers call for storage near the entrance. Direct traffic of family members to the back entrance and have a rack with slats on top and a sliding tray underneath near the door. Boots are set on the slats and dirt and moisture fall through to the tray which is easy to pull out for cleaning.

A SINGLE—16" by 16"—file drawer takes very little space and can be a great helper for keeping business papers in order. With the many types of information you get on care of appliances and clothing these days you probably need a place for them, too.

Have folders for care of appliances, guarantees for appliances, care of clothing tags or other information that has to be kept but is now cluttering up valuable drawer space—usually so disorganized you can't find what you want.

Hillsdale Ace Holds Indians Scoreless

Hillsdale's Hornets handed the Tecumseh Indians their first shutout of the season by beating them, 2-0, behind the two-hit pitching of Dave Granger Thursday.

Tecumseh had only three baserunners in the game. Lynn Frost singled with two out in the first.

In the sixth Richard Stephenson led off with a walk and Dick Horvath beat out a bunt down the third base line, giving the Indians runners on first and second with nobody out.

Jon Weakly sacrificed the runners along to second and third. However, the next two batters were set down in order to end the threat.

☆

GRANGER WAS at his best against the Indians as he struck out 11 men while giving up one walk. He was backed in the field by errorless play on the part of his teammates.

Bob Wilkins pitched a creditable game, allowing only five hits while striking out 10 and walking none.

Weakly, Indian second baseman, made the fielding play of the game in the sixth inning when he went into short right-field to knock down Tanner's grounder and throw him out at first base.

Thursday afternoon Monroe was beaten, 332 to 365. Max Smith took medalist honors for the Indians with a 78. John Elliott had an 81, Dave Lamkin an 84 and Dick Baker an 89.

Monday afternoon, the Indians lost their second match of the season to Hillsdale's Hornets, 338 to 316.

Dave Lamkin was medalist with an 81, followed closely by John Elliott who shot an 82. Max Smith had an 84 and Dick Baker a 91.

Tecumseh travels to Brighton for the regionals Friday and then if it qualifies, will participate in the state meet a week from Saturday.

Freshman Rally Isn't Enough

Tecumseh's freshman baseball team put on a last-ditch rally here Monday afternoon, coming up with four runs in the seventh inning, but didn't quite make it and lost to Saline, 11-7.

Steve Kruger, David Brooks and Mike Robison each had two singles in three trips to pace Tecumseh batters.

Dennis Harrison started on the mound for Tecumseh, but was relieved by Kruger after the fourth inning. Harrison was the losing pitcher. Delbert Poskarbiekicz was behind the plate all the way.

Monthly News

A message from Ralph Hodges, "Your Pharmacist"

THERE ARE MANY SPECIAL EVENTS DURING MAY.

Beginning with May Day, which is also Child Health Day, there are national weeks for Correct Posture, Be Kind To Animals, Goodwill, Foot Health, Fishing, National Defense, Girls Clubs, Hospitals, Sunday Schools, Pickles and even Rabbits. May is United Cerebral Palsy Month and, of course, consecrates Memorial Day on the 30th.

MOTHER'S DAY, MAY 11th, IS ONE DAY EVERYBODY CELEBRATES.

Appropriately, we all remind ourselves that without Mothers, none of us would be here. We'll give Fathers a little credit next month, but this one day, at least, Mother is queen.

OUR PHARMACY IS MOTHER'S PERMANENT HELPER.

She' visits us often to secure the many health-aids that keep her loved ones well. When sickness strikes a member of her flock, mother entrusts us with the compounding of the prescriptions her physician prescribes.

MOTHERS KNOW THAT PHARMACISTS ARE DEDICATED TO THEIR BETTER HEALTH.

We hope that they will come to us for any information or help a pharmacy can ethically supply.

REALTY VIEWS

"Will you take an exclusive listing on my home?" said a man who introduced himself as Mr. Endright.

"We might," I replied. "Why do you ask?"

"Because your office just sold a house to the best prospect I had on my home. I was trying to sell it myself. I showed him my house but I hated to follow up, for fear he'd think I was too anxious. Anyway, I didn't know the best way to go about it. I'm not a real estate salesman, just a willing seller."

Mr. Endright continued, "Your office, on the other hand, sold my prospect another home. The place he bought is no better than mine. If I'd have listed my home with you a month ago, it would probably be sold today—perhaps to this same man. In any event, there's no sense in continuing to make mistakes. I'm going to turn the selling job over to you."

An inspection showed Mr. Endright's home was quite appealing, and the price was in line with the market. We accepted the responsibility of selling it. And after a few weeks of effort, we sold it.

Mr. Endright grinned from ear to ear when we presented the signed purchase contract to him.

Through My Window

MR. AND MRS. — AH, LOVE.

Every year there is one spring performance to which we eagerly look forward. It concerns our favorite birds, the cardinals, and among other things involves the seasonal reformation of the haughty, arrogant male into an attentive, lovelorn suitor.

For weeks and weeks we had heard that Mr. Cardinal was making overtures to his mate, but in our line of vision only the most casual of meetings had taken taken place.

Three Sunday ago, however, the beautiful pair came to our feeder for a leisurely lunch and thereby afforded us one of the big thrills in bird feeding. It was a performance which we eagerly anticipated each spring.

Although the weather was uninviting, the sky was heavy laden and the threat of rain was imminent, there were indications from the very start that it would be a good bird day.

The grackles, who lately have been overrunning everything, were somewhat less in number. There were many around, of course, but they were not dominating the yard and feeders as they often do.

☆

ALL THROUGH breakfast we watched bluejays, nuthatches, woodpeckers and tufted titmice eating their morning meal. We were happy with the company of our old friends but about 11 o'clock we were treated to the thrill of thrills, the piece de resistance, Mama and Papa Cardinal flew in.

We saw them working their way from tree to tree towards the feeder and what a lovely sight they made. The male, brilliant in his new spring suit of scarlet, led the way and never more than a short branch away came his soft colored, lady-like mate.

What a picture they presented as they hopped through trees, whose branches were still only thinly veiled with the misty green of tiny new leaves.

Finally, a last look taken from the maple tree nearest the feeder satisfied them that all was to their liking and they came down. Fortunately the tray was piled high with scratch feed and sunflower seeds.

☆

AS THE FEMALE cardinal majestically settled herself on the outer rail perch, the male went directly to the food and started searching for tasty tidbits.

Satisfied that he had found the best tasting seed he went over and tenderly fed it to his waiting wife. This went on for better than 30 mintues.

Occasionally she would spot his kind of seed and then, with no loss of dignity, she picked it up and showing as much tenderness as he, feed her mate. It was, as always, one of the most touching scenes ever enacted on our feeder and we sat enthralled, not five feet from it all.

Although the scientifically minded person would undoubtedly label the cardinal's behavior as mere instinct, part of the mating ritual, we can't accept such a cold unromantic explanation.

As they looked at each other their eyes had the soft warm glow of true love. Great and tender devotion was shown by the male bird as he cared for and saw to the well being of his mate. Actually, we felt privileged to witness such a moving display.

It seems strange to say and perhaps anyone who has not witnessed this exchange will not understand but really, our day was better for having seen the cardinals. Their visit was the highlight of our bird watching that day and, even after they had gone, the memory of their simple unaffected devotion left a warm glow.

☆

DURING THE DAYS that have followed we have seen our cardinals often. They play through the trees, collect nesting material along the bank, bathe in the creek, hop about the yard and while sitting on the fence, bask in the warm sunshine.

Wherever they are and whatever they're doing, we always marvel at their beauty. It amuses us to observe how close they stay to each other.

We remember back in winter time how Independent Master Cardinal was and how patiently his demure wife had to wait for a turn at the feeder. Then she had to be contended with his leftovers. But now, oh, how things have changed.

Since that first cardinal Sunday, the devoted pair has made daily trips to the feeding tray. Most often they come together, but on the few occasions when he visits alone she is never far away.

THEIR MEALS together always follow the same pattern as the first—he picks out the choicest and best and feeds them, ever so nicely, to her. On his trips alone we have niticed that she is always sitting on a branch in the nearby maple tree.

Here, like a queen receiving homage from her court, Mrs. Cardinal accepts food brought up by her husband. Her appetite must be large because his trips from the feeder to the tree are quite frequent.

Do you suppose that as she graciously enjoys this lavish attention from her now oversolicitous mate she ever thinks back to last winter?

We are not sure where the cardinals have set up housekeeping, but we wish them the best of luck in raising their family. We hope that when the children are of proper age, they will be brought to the feeder and introduced to the joys of our free buffet.

(Next week: Wildflowers)

Mr. and Mrs. Don Aebersol and family were guest of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gittus at a birthday supper in honor of their son, Sunday at Temperance.

370 Children Registered for Treatment

Sodium fluoride treatments for Tecumseh children have been scheduled for July 23 through August 25. These will be given at the Patterson school in the kindergarten room.

Three hundred seventy children have been registered, the largest number in the Tecumseh area since the program was started four years ago.

Scheduling will start soon and individual appointment cards will be sent by mail to each child about July 15.

The treatments will be given in four parts and each individuals treatment will be completed within a seven-day period.

Child Study Clubs No. 1 and 2 are supplying most of the work for this program, but other assistance will be needed. Anyone willing to work a few hours may call Mrs. Lee Prettyman 1187-M or Mrs. Norman Bailey 340-J. Any help will be appreciated.

The technicians applying the treatment will be from the University of Michigan and are students that will graduate from Dental School next year.

Georgia Newsman Sends Tecumseh Story

Mark Warren of The Columbus, Georgia, Ledger-Enquirer writes, "I ran across the following historical article on the original Tecumseh which I thought might be of interest to your readers."

Published in The Versailles (Kentucky) Sun, the item should be fascinating to folks in the area.

By Charles F. Hinds
Secretary-Treasurer of Kentucky Historical Society

In 1919, the Kentucky Historical Society received a remarkable Indian collection.

Among the items were the bullet-torn and blood-stained battle flag Tecumseh carried at the Battle of the Thames and some property of his braves—a striking iron used in starting fires and a pair of flannel homespun leggings.

Tecumseh, or Tecumthe, was born in 1768 in Old Piqua on the Mad River in Ohio.

His father, a Shawnee, and his mother, a Creek, had recently migrated with their tribe from Alabama on the invitation of the fierce Wyandottes.

Puckeshinwa, father of Tecumseh, was killed in the battle of Point Pleasant in 1774 or soon thereafter. Methoatashe, the mother of the then six-year-old Tecumseh, made the impressionable boy swear that he would devote his life to taking revenge on the "Long Knives" who had killed Puckeshinwa.

After his father's death, Tecumseh was adopted by the Shawnee chief, Blackfish. Blackfish had lost a son at the hands of Daniel Boone on a raid into Kentucky.

The old Shawnee adopted sons, white and Indian, to fill the void left by this loss. Three of Tecumseh's foster brothers were Richard Sparks, Benjamin Kelley and Stephen Ruddle — all Kentucky boys.

The strangest foster brother of them all was Daniel Boone, captured with 30 others at Blue Licks in 1778. Blackfish named Boone, with whom he was much taken, "Big Turtle" — some say because a turtle denotes wisdom; others, because of the obvious contradiction suggested by the quick-witted Boone and the slow turtle.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Shades of Tom Sawyer

Everybody knew Community Hall couldn't go another season without a paint job. So Judge Cunningham asked for volunteers—and about a dozen people raised their hands.

Trouble was most of the volunteers never got around to working. Weeks went by. Last Thursday the Judge got an idea.

He painted the name of each delinquent volunteer—in big letters—across the part of the building the man had agreed to paint. That did it—we'll have a freshly painted Hall by the weekend!

From where I sit, sometimes we have to be reminded of our obligations. Like every so often, I try and point out how important "neighborly respect" is in a community. You may prefer soda pop. I like an occasional cold glass of beer. We ought to respect each other's choice. Excuse me now, I've got to go help paint Community Hall.
